Things to know . . . About The Hayner Public Library District

SEASONS GREETINGS from the Board and staff of The Hayner Public Library District. We wish you the happiest of holiday seasons and the brightest of new years!

HAYNER HOLIDAY HOURS

The Hayner Public Libraries will be closed on December 24th, 25th and 26th in observance of the Christmas holidays. The Libraries will also be closed on December 31st and January 1st in order to ring in the new year. All locations will be open on the observance of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday, January 17th, and President's Day, February 21.

TACKLING THOSE TAXES!

Forms for filing federal and state tax returns–both Illinois and Missouri–will be available at the Main and Alton Square Branch Libraries beginning in January. Many blank forms are available, as well as a complete set of all tax forms for photocopying purposes.

STOCKING STUFFERS!

For your favorite reader–or future reader–how about a Hayner Public Library District library card. All District residents are eligible for a three-year card, and individuals outside of the District may acquire one with the payment of a non-resident fee. Start your children off right with the gift of reading . . . and a card to The Hayner Public Libraries.

HAYNER PRESIDENT TO SERVE LIBRARY SYSTEM

Kevin Botterbush, president of The Hayner Public Library District Board, has been elected to serve a one-year term as President of the Board of the Lewis and Clark Library System. The System provides services to 131 member libraries.

Homebound Program shares & cares with terrific service

Following Stephanie Munson, Hayner's Homebound Program Coordinator, from home to home as she makes her rounds, one quickly sees what makes this service the popular success that it is with its patrons: Stephanie and her volunteers each have an instantly discernible warmth and a genuine concern for their patrons, and it shows in the developing friendships.

"It's wonderful! I read everything Stephanie brings me in a week! It's so nice to have her come visit."
–Mrs. Grace Moore

"I don't drive, so it's so convenient for me. I really enjoy books and certainly appreciate this program"
–Mrs. Alice Maker

The Homebound Program began in 1987 to provide library services to patrons who were unable to leave their homes to visit the Library, or who were in nursing homes or hospitals. The Homebound Program has just one basic criteria: Patrons must be unable to reach the Library on their own. Once a month, the Homebound Program visits patrons, bringing books and materials. Videos are delivered weekly on Fridays. Stephanie and her eight volunteer assistants, who circulate nearly 1,100 items monthly through the program, work from a small alcove at the back of the Main Library, extending beyond its walls the Library's services, sharing its dedication to the joy of reading and sending a message of caring and friendship to those patrons unable to travel to the Library.

"My daughter told me about (the Homebound Program) and I'm glad she did. I love to read and I look forward to my visits!"
–Mrs. Elsie Gibson

"In the last five years, the number of patrons using the Homebound Program has grown steadily to around 200 to 250," explains Stephanie. With each visit, the Homebound Program's volunteers bring more than just library materials.

"Let me be very clear about this," states Stephanie with an earnestness in her voice, but a smile on her lips. "The program isn't about 'delivering' things. The Homebound Program is about sharing and caring. We don't just drop books off at the door." Each visit finds the Hayner Homebound Program workers spending time to talk and to get to know their patrons, learning their interests, and, as Stephanie states, learning from them.

In a recent visit, Stephanie stopped in the homes of three patrons, each enthusiastic readers in the Homebound Program.

Alice Maker has been a regular patron for two years. Though an active individual-she volunteers one evening a month at Alton Memorial Hospital's gift shop, among other activities-she is unable to drive to the Library and greatly appreciates the convenience of the Homebound Program's services.

At the home of Elsie Gibson, another patron of the program, Stephanie engages in a lively conversation on contemporary topics with the robust woman who learned of the Homebound Program just a year ago through the Hayner newsletter.

In her final stop, Stephanie visits Grace

Meet the workers of the Library's unseen nerve-center

Each month, more than 700 items–books, compact discs, cassettes, etc.–are acquired by The Hayner Public Library District and logged in to its catalogue system. All of this purchasing and processing happens in an unseen room on the lower level of the Hayner Memorial Library Building and is handled by a crew of unsung Hayner heroes: The cataloging staff.

Led by Barb Ulffers, the five-woman team handles a herculean task each month in what amounts to the nerve center of the District's operations.

Along with Library Director Mary Deane Huntley, Adult Services Librarian Susan Kulasekara, and assistant cataloguer Carmen Brewer, Barb reads book reviews in Kirkus Reviews, Publishers Weekly, The Wilson Library Bulletin, and others, along with video and audio catalogues. When three or more of these staff members initial a review, the item is ordered and added to the Library's collection. Patricia Stalcup handles the acquisitions and purchases for Hayner.

"I began work at Hayner as a part-time high school worker, typing catalogue cards," Pat recalls with a laugh. Now she orders many books electronically by phone, usually from Baker & Taylor, a library supplier. She's the first to actually see the item when it arrives, unpacking and putting the pre-assigned ISBN number into Hayner's computer. Pat also handles some of the stamping and gluing of pockets into books, as well as labeling the books' spine and other preparation tasks.

Pat then hands off the book to Barb, the Library's chief cataloger. A Hayner worker since 1980, Barb assumed her current position last spring. If the item already has a record in Netcat–the Network Cataloguing System–she enters the information and assigns a bar code number for circulation. Assisting her are Carmen and Reynae Womack.

Carmen, who began work at Hayner in April of this year, assists in cataloguing, especially serial books–books that come out every year, such as travel guides, or come in sequence. "It's fun. I like working in a library," she says, having worked in the library of Northeastern Missouri State where she pursued her major in sociology.

Reynae not only works in "the back room," repairing books and entering bar codes, but works part-time as an Adult Division library assistant and an occasional storytime reader.

Jan Harnetiaux also works as a library assistant at the Adult Library's front desk, but spends much of her time double checking all library card applications and working on updating files.

"They make quite a team back there," says Director Huntley. "Most people don't even know they are there. But believe me, they'd know in a hurry if they weren't!"

"White Christmas" theme for children's party

"I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" will be the theme of The Hayner Public Library District's annual Children's Christmas Party which is to be held on Saturday, December 11, 2:00 to 3:30 p.m., in the Youth Library.

The Library will be decorated as a winter wonderland of white, silver and gold, and partygoers will participate in a family story time, enjoy refreshments provided by the Friends of the Library, discover treats to take home, and have a chance to visit with Santa Claus. Children of all ages are invited to attend, and must be accompanied by their parents. The party is free and open to the public. To register, telephone the Youth Library at 462-0651 beginning Monday, December 6 at 8:00 a.m.

many diet-related titles at Hayner.

But eating right's just half the battle. Get up off that couch and try Ellington Darden's Soft Steps to a Hard Body or Angela Lansbury's Positive Moves: My Personal Plan for Fitness and Well-Being. Suzanne M. Levine suggests you Walk It Off! 20 Minutes a Day to Health and Fitness, while Joyce L. Vedral offers up The Fat-Burning Workout: From Fat to Firm in 24 Days or her Gut-Busters: The 15-Minute-A-Day, 12-Week Plan. Exercise your library card and check out these, and many other, exercise titles, now available at Hayner's Main Library.

After School Craft series plans holiday activities

Hayner's After School Craft series for kids continues this winter on the second Thursday of the month. Registration for the 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. workshops opens on the first Monday of the month. Space is limited for the programs which are designed for children ages six to nine.

Making Christmas angel ornaments will be the focus of the December 9th session. Each child will make two ornaments-one for the Library's Christmas tree and one to take home.

Upcoming sessions include a January 13 workshop on crafts commemorating Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday and Valentine's Day crafts on February 10.

For more information on the After School Craft series, contact Rosemary Buford at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

Reference collection includes specialized encyclopedias

The last issue of Hayner's news letter featured an article on the many sets of encyclopedias available for reference use and circulation at the Main, Youth and Branch Libraries. In addition to these, Hayner offers a variety of specialized encyclopedias on a variety of subjects in the reference section of the Main Library. These include:

Encyclopedia of Philosophy
Encyclopedia of Psychology
New Catholic Encyclopedia
Encyclopedia Judaica
Encyclopedia of Sociology
International Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences
Encyclopedia of Careers and Vocational Guidance
Encyclopedia of the American Constitution

New titles added to Hayner's extensive collection of holiday music on compact disc

Hayner's Main Library compact disc collection contains many recordings of holiday music by popular, classical and country-western artists, including Alabama, Kiri Te Kanawa, Julie Andrews, Tony Bennett, Placido Domingo, Peggy Lee, Mannheim Steamroller, and many, many others. New this holiday season are:

Black Christmas: Spirituals in the African-American Tradition
Serenade for a Christmas Night/Philip Brunell
A Charlie Brown Christmas/Vince Guaraldi
A Jazz Christmas: Hot Jazz for a Cool Night
Christmastide/Jessye Norman

Two new microfilm readers have been installed at Hayner's downtown Main Library location. The new readers offer greatly improved service for users with their auto-load and image rotation and zoom features. The machines also are instantly adaptable for reading microfiche. Best of all, the readers can print plain paper copies of the pages displayed. A wide range of periodicals on microfilm is available for review on the readers.

THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT'S HOMEBOUND PROGRAM is offered to any District resident unable to reach the Library on their own. The Program provides a full-range of library materials–books, videos, periodicals through friendly and safe in-home visits by our volunteers. Telephone Stephanie Munson at 462-0651 for information.

Coretta Scott King Award-winning books to be displayed

In honor of the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday, the Youth Library will have a special display of Coretta Scott King Award books beginning Monday, January 17, and continuing through the end of the month.

The Coretta Scott King Award is given annually by a committee of the American Library Association to the author and illustrator of books for children that best express the black experience in America. The award is named in honor of the widow of civil rights leader Martin Luther King, Jr., and honors her continuing commitment to the cause espoused by her husband.

Now hear this!

Great books, on tape!

Whether it's for listening as you travel or relaxing around the house, Hayner's collection of Books-on-Tape offers a wide range of popular and classical fiction, as well as "how-to" and foreign language tapes, to listen to.

Popular fiction tapes include works by such authors as Sara Paretsky, Danielle Steel, Stephen King, Agatha Christie, Louis L'Amour, Tony Hillerman, James Michener and Mary Stewart. Among the classical titles to be found on tape are Les Miserables, The Scarlet Letter, A Room With a View, Ethan Frome and novels by Charles Dickens and Jane Austen.

Among the many foreign language courses offered from our Books-on-Tape collection are Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Russian, Spanish, Swedish, Yiddish, and many, many more.

These, and many other titles, are yours for the listening at Hayner.

Moore and reminisces with her as they read one of Mrs. Moore's journals, written in 1919. A warmly remembered story of a visit from Alton's Robert Wadlow while Mrs. Moore worked as a store nurse at Chicago's Marshall Fields highlights their conversation.

"I learn so much from these people," says Stephanie of her Homebound visits. "And it means so much to them to be able to have these visits and pursue their reading interests."

Stephanie and her volunteers bring a selection of books with them on their monthly visits. Requests for magazines, audio tapes and newspapers are also met. Among the more popular items requested by patrons are large print editions of books and videos. Each week, the Homebound Program's volunteers load up their personal cars, driving the length and breadth of the District.

"I rely on my volunteers so much," says Stephanie, smiling as she reflects on the dedication of her workers. Many of the volunteers have been with the program since it began, including one of her close friends, Kathie Rain (see page 4). Other volunteers include Bernadette Duvernoy, Dr. Edward DuVivier, Evelyn Keehner, Jeri Rothe, Jody Stuart, June Weinrich, and Spiv Woefle.

For information on being included on the Homebound Program's routes, or on becoming a Homebound volunteer, contact Stephanie Munson at 462-0651.

Active & energetic, Homebound volunteer helps friends

When Kathie Rain learned that her good friend, Stephanie Munson, had begun work on a program for homebound patrons of The Hayner Public Library District, she mentioned that if Stephanie ever needed any help . . .

Friends since high school, Stephanie immediately pressed Kathie into service, an agreeable task which, seven years later, now finds the energetic volunteer visiting between twenty-five and thirty patrons in her monthly visit to Skyline Towers.

"I'm a book person," she says as she explains both her motivation and enjoyment in being a Homebound Program volunteer. "I can't imagine being somewhere where you can't read. That would be awful!"

Homebound Program volunteer Kathie Rain

A Godfrey resident, Kathie pursues a variety of other interests, including teaching exercise classes at Metro Sports, spending time in her herb and perennial gardens, and enjoying time with her family-John, her husband, her recently married daughter Rachel, and son, Cliff.

"I rely on her so much," states Stephanie. "If one of my other volunteers isn't available, Kathie steps right in to substitute."

Hayner "Fine" Foods: An overdue amnesty

Any overdue books lying around the house? Do you have a fine mounting that would rival the national debt? Then head down to the Library with a can of food-and the overdue book-to help feed the hungry and erase your fine.

The Library will be accepting canned goods in lieu of fines for all overdue items during the month of December. One can of food will be accepted for each overdue item, and will be donated to local charities to feed the hungry during the holiday season. Please join the Library in supporting this worthy cause.

In honor of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday

America celebrates Martin Luther King's Birthday on January 17, 1994, in recognition of the slain civil rights leader's contributions to our society. In addition to Doris Faber's Martin Luther King, Jr. (available at Hayner's Branch Library), the District suggests reading any of several civil rights-related books it has available. These include The Civil Rights Movement: An Eyewitness History by Sanford Wexler, available at both the Main and Branch libraries; African Americans: Voices of Triumph and Race Matters by Cornel West at the Main Library; and Challenging the Civil Rights Establishment: Profiles of a New Black Vanguard by Joseph Conti and This Little Light of Mine: The Life of Fannie Lou Hamer by Kay Mills, available at the Branch Library.

Hayner's Youth Library holds a special collection of books related to King, including A Picture Book of Martin Luther King, Jr. by David A. Adler, My Life With Martin Luther King, Jr. by his widow, Coretta Scott King, and Happy Birthday, Martin Luther King by Jean Marzollo. Other suggested reading includes Freedom's Children: Young Civil Rights Activists Tell Their Own Stories by Ellen Levine and We Shall Overcome: Heroes of the Civil Rights Movement.

The Libraries also hold materials on the African-American experience on video and compact disc in both the Main and Youth Libraries. Come in to the Libraries to learn more about these during Black History Month in February.

Things to know . . . About The Hayner Public Library District

HAYNER HOLIDAY HOURS

The Hayner Public Library District will be closed on April 3rd, Easter Sunday. The Library will be closed for Memorial Day Observances on Sunday, May 29th and Monday, May 30th.

BRANCH LIBRARY OFFERS FAXING AND PHOTOCOPYING

As part of its "full-service" library mission, the Hayner Branch Library offers photocopiers for patron use and FAX service. Patrons may send or receive documents by FAX for just $1.00 for the first page, 25¢ for each additional page. The Branch's FAX line is 618/463-1277.

FEDERAL & STATE TAX FORMS AVAILABLE

Every imaginable Federal and State tax form is available at The Hayner Public Library's Main and Branch Libraries. In addition to the extensive selection of blank tax forms, the Library has a complete set of all tax forms for photocopying purposes. As helpful as Hayner librarians are, they are unable to offer you tax information and advice.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?— THE HAYNER NEWSLETTER

The Hayner Public Library District is now entering its third year of publishing a quarterly newsletter. While this newsletter is intended to bring District residents news of the Library's activities, as well as information on new books, materials and services, we would appreciate hearing from you about your views on this publication and the role you feel it should serve. Please take time to complete a survey form, available at each of Hayner's locations, beginning March 1st, regarding the District's newsletter. Your assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Convenient Hayner Branch grows in popularity

Location! Location! Location! The age old theory of what the key ingredient in a successful business is has never been proven better than in the case of the highly successful Hayner Public Library Branch at the Alton Square Mall. The ever-rising circulation figures demonstrate the popularity of the convenient facility, used by patrons of all ages for a variety of purposes from enjoyment reading to school research to a place for weary shoppers to sit down, rest a minute, and catch up on the latest magazines and newspapers.

"We get comments all the time on how convenient we are," comments Beverly Hicks, Branch manager, on a recent busy Saturday. "We offer all the resources of the District, and those things we don't have right here, we can quickly get from downtown."

Within the Branch's 3,500 square feet are more than 30,000 volumes, 40 magazine and newspaper subscriptions, a sizable reference collection, a best-sellers and rental books section, a photocopier and a FAX machine for patron use, and access to the ILLINET On-Line Computer System (see story on page 2). Like the downtown locations of The Hayner Public Library District, the Branch is a part of the Lewis and Clark Library System's inter-library loan program, giving access to the collections of the 133 member libraries.

The Branch location was the result of an innovative offer by the May Company to provide the space next to Famous-Barr on the upper level of the Alton Square Mall for a branch library. With a grant from the Illinois State Library, interior construction was completed in time for then Secretary of State Jim Edgar to cut the ribbon at the official opening on November 22, 1985. The opening made The Hayner Public Library District the first library in the state to offer a branch location in an enclosed mall, and only the third such facility in the nation.

"The opening of the Branch was instrumental in the passage of our tax referendum in 1986," explains Mary Deane Huntley, Director of The Hayner Public

Publication party planned to honor young authors

The 1993-1994 Hayner Literary Annual: The Great Flood of '93 will be published by The Hayner Public Library District on Wednesday, March 23rd. Students in grades 3 through 8 from nine public and private schools in the Library District participated in the annual literary project, with thirty-three young authors selected by their teachers for inclusion in this year's issue.

The young authors and their families, along with their teachers and principals, will be honored at a publication party at the Youth Library. Each author is to receive a copy of this year's Annual which is distributed to all the participating schools and teachers. A copy of the book, autographed by each of the authors, will be placed in the Library's permanent Illinois Room Collection. A copy will also be available for circulation at the Youth Library.

Hayner is proud to announce the 1993-1994 Young Authors as:

THE 1993-1994 HAYNER LITERARY ANNUAL: THE GREAT FLOOD OF '93

Third Grade: Maureen Blaine, Evangelical School; Alicia Johnson, Austia Parham, and Matt Schillinger, Clara Barton School; Jason Plunk and Rose Vellof, Eunice Smith School; and Derek Vaughn, Lovejoy Accelerated School. Fourth Grade: Kim Anderson, Evangelical School; Megan Aulabaugh and Joe Dressel, St. Mary's School; Samantha Bellamy, Abby Lewis and Daniel Norman, Eunice Smith School; and Nancy McDonald and Julia Schillinger, Lovejoy Accelerated School. Fifth Grade: Michael Crammond, Evangelical School; Zachary Deeder, Nancy Engelmann and Chelsea Mead, Eunice Smith School; Kelly Lappin, St. Mary's School; Erin McCann, Lovejoy Accelerated School; Suzanne Rice, Gilson Brown School; and Aaron Sickmeier, Clara Barton School. Sixth Grade: Lisa Hampton, St. Mary's School. Seventh Grade: Billy Brooks, Elizabeth Goodrich and Amy Herrin, East Middle School; Jenny Campbell and Erin Hendrix, West Middle School; Graham Eschbacher, St. Mary's School; and Andrew Harshbarger, Jr. and Eileen Maguire, North Middle School. Eighth Grade: Beth Sproull, St. Mary's School.

High school youths find employment as library pages

Providing many with their first-time jobs, students from high schools within The Hayner Public Library District find challenging employment as library pages at the District's three locations.

Helping patrons, re-shelving books, "reading the aisles"--a time consuming chore of checking shelves to see that books are in proper order--are just some of the assignments pages are charged with. The most commonly asked question they hear is "Where's the card catalog?"--a question often heard as patrons adjust to the computerized system that requires using one of Hayner's many catalog terminals. One of the attractions to working in a library regularly commented on by the pages is a working atmosphere that is preferable to working in a fast-food restaurant as many of their friends do--"No grease," laughs one.

After School Craft series for kids continues

The After School Craft series for children ages 6 to 9 continues this spring with Thursday afternoon sessions from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. once a month at the Youth Library. Registration for each month's program opens on the first Monday of the month and closes when all twenty available places are filled for that month.

Irish crafts will honor St. Patrick's Day on Thursday, March 17th, and Earth Day will be celebrated with a "recyclable craft" on Thursday, April 14th. A flower craft notes May Day in the final program on Thursday, May 12th. To register, call Rosemary Buford at the Youth Library, 462-0651. All Library programs are free of charge.

ILLINET, a computerized system which gives you access to the collections of over 800 Illinois libraries through interlibrary loan, is now available at the Branch Library in addition to the downtown Main Library. Ask a Hayner staff member for assistance in using this powerful resource.*

Library District. "The residents of Godfrey and Fosterburg recognized what valuable assets the Branch and the Library District were, and they voted to join the District by a four to one margin."

The increasing use of the Branch has been attributed to many things. "There's been an increase in population in the areas near the mall," explains Branch Manager Beverly Hicks. "And parents find it a real help when they can get the kids to the Library for their school projects while running other errands here at the mall. Everyone enjoys the acres of free parking, and, of course, we're open expanded hours."

"Friends" schedule May book sale to benefit Library

The always popular and highly successful Friends of the Library Spring Book Sale is scheduled for May 12-14.

People will start lining up early for the 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. preview on Thursday, May 12th, when admission is $2.00 to have first crack at the 25¢ paperbacks, the 50¢ hardbacks, and the 10¢ magazines. Admission is free when the sale continues from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Friday, May 13th, and 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 14th.

"Our October book sale netted the Friends more than $2,000," reports Sarah Huber, secretary for the volunteer group. The sales generate funds for the Library's Christmas Youth Party, the Summer Reading Program party, and for needed equipment and purchases for the Library.

People arrive early, armed with empty boxes, to haul off their finds at the preview of the Friends of the Library's Spring Book Sale in Hayner's garage on State Street, across from the fire station. The sale is scheduled for May 12-14.

Preschool Story Time registrations coming up

The Hayner Youth Division is currently taking registrations for the spring session of Preschool Story Time for ages 3 to 5. Children must be 3 years old as of March 1, 1994, to register for this session. Two groups are available—Tuesdays or Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m.—and meet at the downtown Youth Library. The sessions begin on March 8th and 9th and run for six consecutive weeks through April 12th and 13th. Registration is limited to 25 children in each group, with registrations be taken until the sessions are filled. Call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0651, to register for these free library programs.

Artist donates print

The large and colorful print now adorning the wall of the Hayner Branch Library is a gift to the Library by the artist, Martha Pacquin, in memory of Alton resident, Mae Secor.

"Mae was a very dear friend of mine who, tragically, was killed in an automobile accident," explains Pacquin. For twelve years, she cared for my children while I taught school. She became a wonderful surrogate mother to all of us."

The large, full-color print is an artist's proof, and one of just six its size. The scene depicts children playing near the bandstand in Alton's Riverview Park, site of the summer Alton Muny Band Concerts, near Pacquin's home.

Making the Library work for you on school projects

This is the time of the year when the Library is filled with students of all ages looking for information for their book reports, research papers, debates and speeches, science fair projects, state and/or country reports, extra credit questions and trivia quizzes. Here are a few simple tips to help make the library experience simpler, easier and happier for you and your family.

ONE Start early. Don't wait until the night before to do your research. The Library has a lot to offer, but it can't be found in the fifteen minutes before closing the night before your project is due. The Hayner staff can help you get books and materials from other libraries, but it takes a minimum of 24 hours and can take up to two weeks, depending on what you want and where it must come from.

TWO Every time you use a book, magazine or newspaper article, or some other resource in your research, be sure to copy down the complete information to identify the source in your bibliography or list of sources. For books, this can include the author, complete title, publisher, place of publication, date of publication, and page number where you found the information. Your teacher will tell you what information you need. Two weeks after you've returned the book to the Library, you might not be able to find it again to get this information-someone else may have checked the book out.

THREE Parents, no matter how much easier it might seem to come to the Library and look for the materials your child needs while he or she is at soccer, track, piano lessons or scouts, bring the kid with you! It could save you multiple trips back and forth when your child tells you that the first books you brought home are not exactly what he or she was looking for.

FOUR Be sure to bring pencils, pens, paper and change for the photocopy machine when you come to the Library. Sometimes the information you need is contained in a reference book, and reference books can't be checked out of the Library.

FIVE If you can't find it, ask for help! The Library staff is always happy to assist you. That's what they're there for!

Hayner youth librarian says "Ni hao!" upon return from trip to China

by Pam Klipsch
Youth Services Librarian

Ni hao!" (pronounced nee-how!) means "Hello, how are you!" in Chinese, and it brings back a flood of happy memories of my two weeks in the People's Republic of China last November.

I was one of 65 librarians who accepted an invitation to join a library delegation sponsored by People to People International's Citizen Ambassador Program, that visited school and public libraries in Beijing, Nanjing, Suzhou and Shanghai as part of a professional exchange. Members of the delegation came from all across the United States, Canada and Bermuda, and included school library media specialists, youth services librarians, library administrators, library school faculty, and publishers of books for young people.

We visited district (public) libraries for children, provincial central (state) libraries, the National Library of China in Beijing, and school library media centers in primary, junior middle and senior middle schools, as well as the Shanghai Children's Palace (an after school community center), and the Shanghai Children's Publishing House, one of only two publishers in China specializing in books for young people.

Everywhere we went we were greeted with smiles and eagerly welcomed by librarians, teachers, and students alike. The children were especially wonderful--dressed in bright colors, with shining faces and ready smiles, they giggled politely at our attempts to speak Chinese, and eagerly tried out their English on us.

In addition to our professional activities and contacts, we also made time for some cultural excursions, and I fulfilled one of the great ambitions of my life on the clear, brisk afternoon when we climbed the Great Wall of China at Badaling, just north of Beijing. The stark green mountains, and the gray line of the Great Wall, over 2000 years old, zigzagging off into the distance, while the wind drowned out all other sounds around me, is something I will never forget.

Another cultural experience, for me, was learning to eat with chopsticks. It was a sink or swim experience--all of our meals, except breakfast, were prepared and served in Chinese style, and there were no knives and forks available. It was a real challenge, but as none of the 65 delegates starved to death, it was a challenge that we (more or less) successfully met!

China was an amazing experience, and someday I hope I will be able to reciprocate and welcome a delegation of Chinese librarians to our beautiful library here in Alton.

Homebound Program volunteer takes along her special warmth on visits

The bright and smiling eyes are the first clue that June Weinrich is the type of warm and caring individual who exemplifies the Homebound Program of The Hayner Public Library District. When one hears her speak of the little favors she occasionally does for her patrons—picking up a loaf of bread or stopping for a book of stamps--one realizes the special-ness of this volunteer.

"I had an elderly friend who made use of the Homebound services," she says in reference to the Hayner program which brings library materials into the homes of those unable to reach the downtown or Branch locations. "I thought it was a pretty special thing. So one day I just came down and talked to Stephanie (Munson, coordinator of the program) and volunteered."

Homebound Program volunteer June Weinrich

With the Homebound Program as a volunteer for three years, June visits two patrons in their homes and two more in Eldercare, taking along books and conversation. "One of my patrons does painting. He likes picture books of tropical birds and fish which Stephanie finds for me to take to him." Some of her patrons are hearty readers, prompting her to take along as many as ten different titles in a visit.

"I really enjoy visiting these people. They like company and companionship, and I hear a lot of interesting things." Often June finds what a small world it is as she discovers mutual acquaintances among her patrons. "I never have any trouble finding things to talk about with my friends when I visit."

A lifelong Alton resident, June is looking forward to a variety of travel plans with her husband of 42 years, Gail, now that he is retired from McDonnell-Douglas. A trip to Texas to visit one of their three daughters comes shortly before a trip to New Zealand to visit a former exchange student they once hosted in their home. Journeys to the South Caribbean and Georgia are also planned. Already busy with a number of volunteer activities, June and her husband have become Friends of the Library and are considering other volunteer involvements.

An avid reader herself, June has been recommending "Having Our Say," the autobiography by centenarians Sarah and Elizabeth Delany.

Movie buffs find Oscar history & trivia at Hayner

The Academy Awards will be given out on Monday, March 21st! What will win the Oscar for Best Picture at the 67th annual awards ceremony? Will it be The Fugitive, In the Name of the Father, The Piano, The Remains of the Day, or Schindler's List? Whatever movie wins, it will become part of the fascinating history of Hollywood and the Academy Awards. The Hayner Public Library District has on its shelves a number of books related to this topic which becomes a national obsession each spring.

For starters, to find out every last detail of the Academy Awards ceremonies, see The Academy Awards Index, as well as two other film reference books, Film Facts, The Film Encyclopedia and Who Was Who On Screen. Armed with these facts, read up on the history of the Oscars in Backstory: Interviews with Screenwriters of Hollywood's Golden Age, The Academy Awards: A Picture History, or Behind the Oscars: The Secret History of the Academy Awards. For those who disagree with Oscar's choices over the years, there's Alternate Oscars: One Critic's Defiant Choices for Best Picture, Actor and Actress—From 1927 to the Present.

Hayner has plenty of titles for biography-lovers, too. Our star-studded biography collection includes Vivien Leigh, Fasten Your Seatbelts: The Life of Bette Davis, Bob Hope's The Road to Hollywood: My 40-Year Love Affair With the Movies, and many more.

HOLIDAY CLOSINGS

The Hayner Public Libraries will be closed for Labor Day Weekend on Sunday, September 4 and Monday, September 5. For the Thanksgiving Holiday, the Library will close at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 23, and will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 24. The Library will be closed for the Christmas holiday on Saturday, December 24, Sunday, December 25, and Monday, December 26. For New Year's, the Library will be closed Saturday, December 31 and Sunday, January 1.

COLLEGE CATALOG COLLECTION

The downtown Adult Library holds a remarkable collection of course catalogs for approximately 50 colleges and universities throughout Illinois and Missouri. Potential students can browse through these in order to preview schools in making a college selection.

LIBRARY OFFERS LISTS OF VIDEO COLLECTION

All three Hayner locations now have an alphabetical listing available of the library's video collection. To see the list, just ask for it at the circulation desk of any of the Hayner Libraries.

READ ALONG/LISTEN ALONG!

The Youth Library has over 300 conveniently packaged book-and-cassette packs in its ever growing collection of talking books/audio tapes for pre-schoolers to high schoolers. Great for car trips or at-home storytimes, each is packaged in a plastic carry bag with handle.

Notable reference collection: Library's cornerstone

The reference section of The Hayner Public Library District's downtown main library serves as a cornerstone to the Library's extensive collection of materials. Encyclopedias, almanacs, dictionaries, atlases and other commonly held reference materials are just the beginning of a remarkable collection.

Though non-circulating—the reference materials are for in-library use only—the large collection holds many surprises; patrons may be unaware of many of the Library's reference resources. Ranging through a wide selection of topics and subject matters, the reference section is a rich resource for research projects, information, statistics, and guidance to other resources and materials.

Though one would expect to find Encyclopedia Brittanica, Compton's Encyclopedia, and World Book Encyclopedia in the collection, a variety of other encylopedias can be found. The Encyclopedia of Careers and Vocational Guidance describes and evaluates 74 major industries and career fields. The Marshall Cavendish Encyclopedia of Family Health contains over 900 articles on topics having to do with health care and diseases. The 16-volume Encyclopedia of World Art covers art history, artists, works of art, and much more. These are just a few of the wide selection of encyclopedia titles.

Job hunters and those seeking career information find Hayner's reference collection to be a wealth of information. The Job Hunter's Sourcebook lists sources of information on 165 occupations, while The St. Louis Job Bank serves as a guide to St. Louis-area employers, professional development services and executive search firms. Sorkins' Directory of Business and Government is an additional source for learning about companies in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Literary interests are served in the reference collection through a number of titles, including Contemporary Authors and Contemporary Literary Criticism, two sets giving biographical information and critical evaluations of authors and their works. Genreflecting: A Guide to Reading Interests in Genre Fiction is an invaluable resource for readers, describing authors and titles in a range of genres, including westerns, mysteries, romances, and science fiction. Need a poem on a special subject? Forgotten who wrote a particular poem? Utilize Granger's Index to Poetry to find the answer.

These are just a very few of the subjects and titles to be found in the Main Library's collection. The Hayner Public Library's reference collection can be the information source for your projects or queries, or it can be just the start, a key to unlocking a multitude of other informational doors.

Rousing close to summer program rewards readers

Hayner Public Library's Youth Division celebrated another successful summer reading program at its annual party at Hathaway Hall, Lewis & Clark Community College, on Thursday night, August 4. More than 500 kids, proud parents and friends attended the festivities which featured "Princess Diana" of WFUN—95.8 "Planet Fun" Radio and the Boehmer Family Jugglers of Jerseyville as entertainment.

Pam Klipsch, Youth Services Librarian, announced that 863 youngsters registered for the library summer program this year, with 567 completing the program and receiving free paperback books from the library for their reading awards. The young readers completed time slips totaling 12,133 hours of summer reading fun during the eight week program.

Large-print books, a BIG hit with Hayner patrons

On a recent evening, Hayner Library patron Virginia Manns was perusing the collection of large-print books available at the Main Library.

"It's wonderful," she said as she pulled a large-print edition of Katherine Hepburn's autobiography, Me, from the shelf, and gesturing towards the numerous shelves in the Library's Homebound Program section. "All of these books are large-print."

Popular with both Homebound Program patrons and library patrons, the large-print book collection continues to expand under the direction of Program Coordinator Stephanie Munson. "We're trying to keep the collection growing at a rate of 50 new titles a month," explains Stephanie.

Best-sellers, romances, mysteries, westerns and classics fill the shelves, and the non-fiction selections are growing as well. Among the titles added recently to the large-print collection are: Accident by Danielle Steel, The Chamber by John Grisham, Tunnel Vision by Sara Paretsky, K is for Killer by Sue Grafton, Bad Love by Jonathan Kellerman, The Trail to Seven Pines by Louis L'Amour, and many titles by Agatha Christie.

Hayner patron Virginia Manns selects one of the hundreds of large-print books available in the Main Library's collection located in the Homebound Program's section.

New non-fiction titles have included Not That You Asked by Andy Rooney, See, I Told You So by Rush Limbaugh, 50 Simple Things You Can Do to Save the Earth, and Love Can Build a Bridge by Naomi Judd.

For more information on both the large-print collection, available to all Hayner patrons, and the Homebound Program, contact Stephanie at 462-0651.

New library parking lot completed

The use of the downtown Hayner locations recently became even more convenient with the completion of the Library's expanded and more accessible parking lot. "We're investing in downtown," states Library Director Mary Deane Huntley of the new lot and its landscaping and brick entry ways.

Include Hayner Branch in "back-to-school" shopping

It's 7:30 on a school night and there's a sudden cry of "I gotta have this report tomorrow! I need a book from the library!" Okay, don't panic, you've still got thirty minutes before the downtown locations of the Hayner Public Library close, and almost two full hours before the Alton Square Branch does. So you've got the crisis handled—if your child has a library card!

While "back-to-school" shopping at Alton Square Mall, take five minutes to stop in at the Hayner Public Library Branch to get your student really ready for the new year with a library card. (It's just as easy and convenient at the downtown locations.)

Remember, a parent or guardian must sign the application card.

Have you discovered Hayner's fax service?

Music "tool" added to reference collection

The New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians is a "classic" tool for music reference, and the Hayner Main Library is proud to announce that it has acquired the latest edition of this monumental work.

In its 20 volumes are approximately 22,500 articles on composers, performers, instruments, musical genres and terminology. About 16,500 of the articles are biographical .

One of the major changes in this edition of the Grove is the inclusion of much more information on non-Western and folk music.

As the Grove self states, it "seeks to discuss everything that can be reckoned to bear on music in history and on present-day musical life."

Summer readers, J. D. Jr. Volunteers recognized

of four age categories who turned in the highest number of reading hours, were announced at the party. They were: Billy Miller, 5, who attended preschool at the Montessori Children's House last year, in the Age 0-5 years category; Kenny Perry, 6, who attended Lewis & Clark School, in the Age 6-8 years category; Angela Magee, 11, who attended East Middle School, in the Age 9-11 years category; Angela Stephens, 12, who attended West Middle School, and Courtney Weaver, 12, who attended North Middle School, in the Age 12-15 category.

Above, families choose from the thousands of books won by successful summer readers!

The Friends of Hayner Public Library Traveling Trophy is awarded annually to the school that has the largest percentage of its students completing the summer reading program at Hayner Public Library. This year the trophy went to Montessori Children's House of Godfrey. Faith Lutheran School of Godfrey finished in second place, Evangelical School of Godfrey finished in third place, while Sts. Peter & Paul Catholic School of Alton took fourth place.

Ten young people were honored for their participation in the library's J. D. Jr. Volunteer program this summer. Each contributed 50 hours of volunteer time to the library. Receiving tee-shirts and certificates for their efforts were: Olivia Neal, a student at Alton High School, cited for her fourth consecutive year of volunteer service to the library; Ruth Fink, a student at East Middle School; Nedina Gillian, Laura Leese, and Christine Ventimiglia, all students at St. Mary's Catholic School; Maura Hand and Lori Schweitzer, both students at North Middle School; Kelly O'Neal and Julianne Plunkett from Sts. Peter and Paul Catholic School; and Maureen Rund of West Middle School.

Names were drawn at random for the grand prizes from a barrel containing over 48,000 time slips filled out and returned to the library by the summer reading club participants. A $25 cash award went to Ryan Moat; Scott Yanta, won a $15 cash award; and a $10 cash award went to Monica Hornsey-Harpole.

Winners of free pairs of St. Louis Cardinals baseball tickets went to Alex Cronin, Laura Green, Emily Jones, Benjamin Pursley, Erin Stahlschmidt, Hart Stanley, Sarah Truckey, Daniel Wilson, and Kristin Zilm. Free passes to the Florissant Discovery Zone were won by Joshua Lee Headrick, Charles Hughes, Aaron Leese, Daniel Mellenthin, and Elisa Wallace.

Our yearbook collection won't be complete without . . .

Your help! The historic Illinois Room, located in Hayner's downtown Main Library, houses an almost complete set of The Tatler, the Alton High School yearbook, dating back to 1905

Missing from the collection are volumes for the years 1915, 1919-21, 1923, 1933-36, 1939, 1941, 1942, 1945, 1946, 1954, 1960, 1978, 1980, 1981, 1990, 1993, and 1994.

Likewise, the Library's collection of The Explorer, the Marquette High School Yearbook, which goes back to 1961, is missing the years 1963, 1976, 1978, 1982, 1984, and 1988 to the present.

If you have copies of these yearbooks which you could donate, contact the Library at 462-0651.

Now on Hayner's Rental Books shelf

Hayner's Rental Books are a great alternative for patrons who don't wish to wait on lengthy reserve lists or pay the high price of a hardcover book. For just $2.00 for a two week rental, readers can catch the latest titles while they're hot! Currently on the shelf are The Chamber by John Grisham, Disclosure by Michael Crichton, "K" is for Killer by Sue Grafton, Accident and The Gift by Danielle Steel, Remember Me by Mary Higgins Clark, and The Agenda: Inside the Clinton White House by Bob Woodward.

Youth Library plans fall storytimes, craft program & school visits

PRESCHOOL STORYTIME

Registration for the fall session of Hayner's popular preschool storytime for ages 3-5 will open on Saturday, September 3. Children must be three years old as of September 1, 1994 to be eligible for this session. There will be two groups offered—one on Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m and one on Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m. Program dates are: September 13/14, 20/21, 27/28; and October 4/5, 11/12, 18/19. Registrations are taken on a first come, first served basis and are limited to 25 children. To register for preschool storytime, call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

Hayner is also offering a holiday session of storytime. Registration opens on Saturday, November 5. Children must be three years old as of November 1, 1994 to be eligible for this session. There will be Tuesday and Wednesday morning groups, with programs beginning November 15/16 and running weekly through December 13/14.

AFTERSCHOOL CRAFTS

"Food Stuff" is the theme for this year's afterschool crafts program for ages 6-9, featuring incredible crafts made from edible materials. Craft programs will be held monthly on the third Thursday of each month, beginning in October, from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. Registrations are taken on a first come, first served basis and are limited to 20 children. Registration for the October program will open on Monday, October 3. The program will be held on Thursday, October 20. Registration for the November program will open on Monday, November 7. The program will be held on Thursday, November 17. To register, call Rosemary Buford at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

SCHOOL STORY VISITS

Hayner's Youth Services Librarian and storyteller Pam Klipsch will be available to visit grades 3-8 by appointment during October and November. This fall Pam will present a program of stories on the theme "Three Wishes Wiser," using traditional folklore and fairy tales. The program is 40-45 minutes in length. Bookings for the fall story visits will be accepted beginning on Monday, September 26, and continue until all available dates and times are filled. If more than one teacher in a building wants to book this program, they should coordinate a schedule so that all classes can be visited on the same day; one person should call to book the visits.

All library programs are free and open to any resident or cardholder of The Hayner Public Library District.

Library Board Member sprouts green thumb!

It's undoubtedly fortuitous, or at least symbolic, that as The Hayner Public Library District continues to grow and develop it has a Board Member who has a distinct green thumb.

Robert Thomas, Board Member and Past President, is the manager of Godfrey's The Greenery, a landscape design and garden center/nursery. As manager, his horticultural talents have been put to good use over the past three years.

Thomas is the immediate Past President of the Board, having served in that capacity from 1991 to 1993, having first been elected to the Board for a six-year term in 1986. Born and raised in Alton, the son of Harrold and Charlotte Thomas, he was re-elected to Board in 1992 for a second six-year term.

"I enjoy being on the Board of Directors of the Library," Thomas states. "It is important that we keep it accessible and visible to everyone in the area. A strong library district makes a great contribution to our quality of life in this area."

HPLD Board Member & Past President Robert Thomas

Thomas enjoys reading, but has time to just keep up with trade journals and catalogs on plants. When he can, he enjoys reading science fiction and fantasy books.

Youth Library plans Literary Annual

Plans are under way for "Three Wishes', the Hayner Youth Library's Literary Annual The Annual, a joint project of the Library and the schools, public and private, within the district, is open to students in grades 3 through 8, with teachers choosing the one best writing project in each class for inclusion. Students are asked to write an essay, story, or poem on the theme, "What I would wish for if I had three wishes," not to exceed 500 words. Contact Pam Klipsch for entry information at 462-0651.

Halloween frights & fun planned for family party

Bobby Norfolk, Emmy Award-winning host of KMOV-TV's "Gator Tales," will be the guest storyteller at Hayner's annual "Sparks and Spooks" Halloween program, Thursday, October 27, from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m.

Lively and popular storyteller Bobby Norfolk

Join Bobby for a session of old-time ghost stories around the fireplace in the historic Youth Library building. The program is for children ages 6-11; very young children may find the program "too scary." All children must be accompanied by an adult 18 years of age or older. Costumes are optional, and all children will receive Halloween treats to take home.

The party is free to all Hayner Public Library District patrons and cardholders. Registration opens Monday, October 17 and is limited to 75 children. Telephone 462-0651 for more information.

Things to know . . . About The Hayner Public Library District

SEASONS GREETINGS from the Board and staff of The Hayner Public Library District. We wish you the happiest of holiday seasons and the brightest of new years!

HOLIDAY CLOSINGS

The Hayner Public Libraries will be closed on December 24, 25 and 26 in observance of the Christmas holidays. The Libraries will also be closed on December 31 and January 1 and 2 in order to ring in the new year. All locations will be open on the observance of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday, January 16, and President's Day, February 20.

A "WHOLE EARTH" UPDATE!

The Whole Earth Catalog, a 25-year old standard, has been updated as The Millennium Whole Earth Catalog, now available in the Library's reference section. The standard subjects are still there, along with newer topics such as the CD-ROM, virtual reality and the Internet.

THAT TAXING TIME OF YEAR

Forms for filing federal and state tax returns–both Illinois and Missouri–will be available at the Main and Alton Square Branch Libraries beginning in January. Many blank forms are available, as well as a complete set of all tax forms for photocopying purposes.

CAREER INFORMATION CENTER

Hayner has recently updated its collection of career books. For example, the downtown Main Library now has a 13-volume set of books called Career Information Center which explores a variety of careers. These books, along with many others in our career section, can be checked out of the Library.

Friendship & caring 'delivered' in Homebound Program

At the rear of the downtown Main Library, and up just a few steps, is an alcove area unfamiliar to most patrons of The Hayner Public Library District. Yet it is from here that monthly more than 1,100 items from the Library are circulated. It is from here that the Library shares its dedication to the joy of reading by sending a message of caring and friendship to patrons unable to travel to the Library. For it is from here that Hayner's Homebound Program Coordinator, Stephanie Munson, and her group of eight dedicated volunteers, reach out into the community in a manner unique for a Library.

Stephanie Munson, Hayner's Homebound Program Coordinator, prepares boxes of books, large-print books and videos for her volunteers to take with them in their visits to Library patrons' homes.

"We began the program in 1987," explains Stephanie. "We were phasing out our Bookmobile, but wanted to find a way to continue to provide library services to people who couldn't travel to us." Along with Library Director, Mary Deane Huntley, Stephanie traveled to Quincy to learn about their service to the homebound. "We were impressed with what they were doing," Stephanie states, "but brought the concept back to Hayner and adapted it for our community."

Two things have remained constant since the program was first instituted: "From the start, the only criteria for a Homebound patron was a patron's inability to travel to the library," explains Stephanie. "Age and circumstances are not factors. And the program is not about 'delivering' things. The Homebound Program is about sharing and caring. We don't just drop books off at the door."

Hayner Homebound Program volunteers spend time talking with their patrons, learning their interests and, in turn, learning from them. The discernible warmth and concern Stephanie and her volunteers embody has brought each some very personal rewards.

"It always amazes me how happy people are to see us," comments Kathie Rain, a Homebound volunteer who regularly visits patrons at the Skyline Towers Apartments. "It's nice to have people look forward to seeing you. It's very rewarding." It's also helped Kathie increase her collection of recipes as "We're always passing recipes back and forth on my visits."

For Evelyn Keehner, who, with her sister, Spiv Woefle, makes regular rounds for the program, the developing friendships with her patrons has also had its rewards. She has particularly fond memories of one patron: "We had one lady we used

Inter-library loan opens doors to more libraries for you

The Hayner Public Library District has nearly 135,000 books and items for circulation, but hundreds of thousands of other volumes are available to Hayner patrons through the inter-library loan of the Lewis and Clark Library System (LCLS).

As a member of the system, Hayner has quick access to the collections of other LCLS member libraries, including best-sellers, non fiction works, videos, and audio recordings. The availability of titles can be determined by using the Public Access Catalog (PAC) in the Library or with the assistance of any librarian. When locating a title on PAC, follow the on-screen directions which will direct you to the location of copies of that title in other libraries. PAC will tell you the availability of these titles--Is it on the shelf at that library? Is it checked out at that library?—and then you may request the copy or be put on the reserve list at the check out counter. (It is not possible yet to request the book directly through the PAC terminal.)

Hayner also has access to ILLINET–the ability to tap into the holdings of more than 800 Illinois public & university libraries.

The Hayner Library will forward your request to the library holding the title you are seeking, and, if the copy is available at that library, it will be delivered to Hayner within one or two working days. The title will be held for you at Hayner for several days for check out. When you are finished with it, simply return it to Hayner for shipment back to the original library.

Stories and edibles highlight winter youth activities

PRESCHOOL STORY TIME

Registration for the Holiday Session of Preschool Story Time is now open. Children should be three years old as of November 1, 1994, in order to register for this session. Registration is limited to 25 children in each of the two groups which meet on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings at 9:30 in the Youth Library. Story Times will be held November 15/16, 22/23, 29/30, December 6/7 and 13/14. To register for story time, please call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

AFTER SCHOOL CRAFTS

After school craft sessions for ages six to nine continue on a monthly basis. The theme of this year's craft program is "Incredible Edibles," featuring crafts made from foods. Registration for each craft opens on the first Monday of the month and is limited to 20 children. Craft programs are held on the third Thursday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at the Youth Library. Registration opens December 5 for the December 15 program; January 2 for the January 19 program; and February 6 for the February 16 program. To register, please call Rosemary Buford at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

SCHOOL STORY VISITS (K-2)

Librarian and storyteller Pam Klipsch has prepared a program of humorous traditional tales on the theme "I Wish I May, I Wish I Might" for grades K through 2. She will be available to visit classes by appointment during the months of February and March. Teachers may call to schedule visits beginning Tuesday, January 3, 1995. Teachers in the same building are encouraged to work out a schedule so that Pam can visit all the classes in a school on the same day. Pam can do multiple classes as a single group if necessary. The program lasts about 30 minutes.

While an envious T-Rex looks on from behind, Youth Services Librarian Pam Klipsch welcomes a family of dragons who have come to reside in the Youth Library. From left to right are Casper, Cassandra, Deidre and Egg.

The historic Jennie D. Hayner Memorial Library—Hayner's Youth Division—will be decorated for a "Jewel of a Christmas" this holiday season. Stop by and see the decorations during regular hours.

Coretta Scott King Award-winning books

Author Angela Johnson and illustrator Tom Feelings are both winners of the 1994 Coretta Scott King Award for their recent books. The award is presented annually by the Coretta Scott King Award Task Force of the Social Responsibilities Round Table of the American Library Association. Awards are given to an author and to an illustrator for the most outstanding contributions to books for young people which promote better understanding and appreciation of the culture and contribution of all peoples to the realization of the American Dream.

For outstanding contributions to books for young people, promoting better understanding & appreciation of the culture & contribution of all peoples to the realization of the American Dream

Ms. Johnson's book, Toning the Sweep, and Mr. Feeling's work, Soul Looks Back in Wonder, edited by Phyllis Fogelman, are both available at the Hayner Youth Library. The Youth Library also has copies of nearly all of the available award-winning books since its inception in 1970, while the Alton Square Branch Library has many of the titles as well. Contact the Library for more information on the award-winning books and their availability.

The awards commemorate the life and works of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and honor Mrs. Coretta Scott King for her courage and determination to continue her husband's work for peace and brotherhood.

to take around to see the Christmas lights. We'd drive all over the area, seeing things she never knew were here."

"I've learned so much from the people I visit," says Stephanie. Her eyes twinkle as she tells of learning a new crochet stitch from one of her friends.

Still unique in the state, the Homebound Program has grown steadily each year, currently serving around 250 patrons throughout the District. Once a month the program's workers bring books, large print books, books-on-tapes and other materials on their visits. The large demand for videos is met with weekly Friday visits. The Homebound Program's volunteers load up their personal cars and drive the length and breadth of the District to make their visits.

"Helen Leigh is my newest volunteer," says Stephanie, "and I'm pleased to have her joining this group of dedicated, caring individuals." Many of the volunteers have been with the program since its inception and, in addition to Kathie, Spiv and Evelyn, include Bernadette Duvernoy, Dr. Edward DuVivier, Jody Stuart and June Weinrich.

For information on being included on the Homebound Program's routes, or on becoming a Homebound volunteer, contact Stephanie Munson at 462-0651.

New databases here

FirstSearch, a series of databases published by OCLC, is now available at all Hayner Libraries. The Illinois State Library is making these databases available to Hayner for no cost until June of 1995. Available databases are:

WorldCat--a worldwide database of books and other materials

Article1st--an index of articles from over 8500 journals

Contents1st--the tables of contents of over 8500 journals

ERIC--an education index

GPO--an index of U. S. government publications

MEDLINE--an index of articles from medical journals

Although the databases will not be available for the public to use, Hayner staff members will be more than happy to do a search for you.

Children's holiday party planned

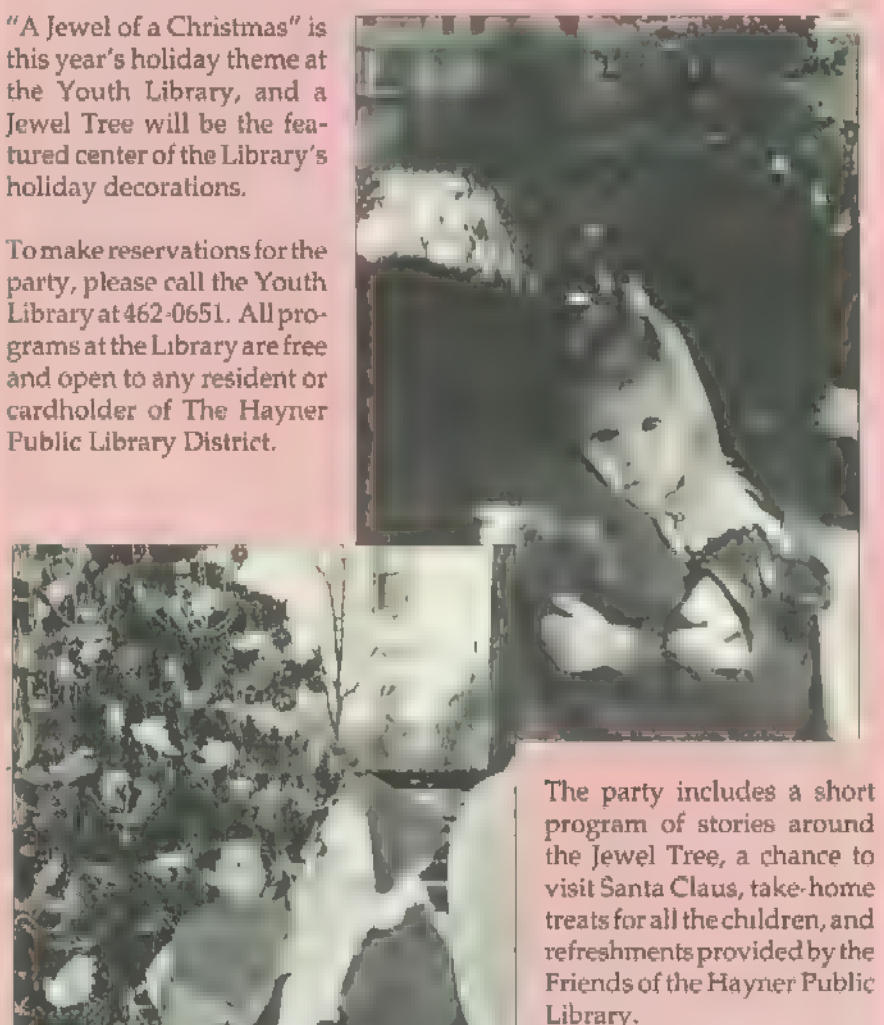
The annual Children's Christmas Party will be held at the Youth Library on Saturday, December 10, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Children of all ages and their parents are invited to attend the party. Reservations will be accepted beginning Saturday, December 3.

"A Jewel of a Christmas" is this year's holiday theme at the Youth Library, and a Jewel Tree will be the featured center of the Library's holiday decorations.

To make reservations for the party, please call the Youth Library at 462-0651. All programs at the Library are free and open to any resident or cardholder of The Hayner Public Library District.



The party includes a short program of stories around the Jewel Tree, a chance to visit Santa Claus, take-home treats for all the children, and refreshments provided by the Friends of the Hayner Public Library.

Anyone unable to attend the party is invited to drop by the Library during regular hours through the holiday season to enjoy the decorations.

Family video program scheduled for Martin Luther King Holiday

The Youth Library will celebrate the Martin Luther King Holiday with a special family video program on Monday, January 16, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in the Metzger Conference Room on the lower level of the Youth Library. Children of all ages accompanied by an adult are invited to attend. The program will feature videos from the Library's collection.

In addition to the program, the Youth Library is sponsoring a Black History Hunt game for grades 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12. Game sheets will be available at the Youth and the Alton Square Branch Libraries beginning Monday, January 16. Completed game sheets must be returned to the Library no later than the close of business on January 31, 1995. All those who correctly answer all the questions on their game sheets will be entered in the prize drawing on February 1.

Costume collection isn't just off the rack

Looking for some ideas for your Mardi Gras costume? Doing some research on the dress of a certain era? Then look no farther than Hayner's extensive collection of resources on costumes!

Hayner has lots of costume books, both in its reference collection and in general circulation. The latest addition in reference is a new copy of Costume 1066-1990s by John Peacock.

The Hayner Public Libraries will be closed on December 24, 25, 26 , & 31 and January 1 &2 . All locations will be open on the observance of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday, January 16, and President's Day, February 20.

New encyclopedia set donated to Branch

Through the generosity of The Jennie D. Hayner Association, a new set of the 1994 Encyclopaedia Britannica has been donated to the Alton Square Branch Library. The volumes are to arrive in early 1995. The Association is an organization in support of They Hayner Public Library District.

Growing video collection on the move

Okay, now pay attention. The Main Library's video collection is moving to where the compact disk and books-on-tape collections are now, except that some of videos will be in the familiar cases and some will be on existing shelves, except that these shelves will look different because they're getting doors. Got that?

Let's try it again. Because of the dozens of new videos arriving--new movies, foreign films, exercise videos, videos on yoga and tai chi, and many, many more--the collection is moving to new quarters in the downtown Main Library. The growing video collection will move to the area currently occupied by the audio collections (to your left as you come in the front door). These collections--compact disks and books-on-tape--will move to the area now occupied by videos (to your right as you come in the front door).

Non-fiction videos and foreign films will be stored on the existing shelves in what is currently the audio section, but the shelves will be fitted with glass doors. The familiar existing video cabinets will house the large collection of movies on video once they are moved.

New titles include Amadeus, El Cid, The Rocky Horror Picture Show, The Crying Game, Cannery Row, The Snake Pit, All the President's Men, and Love Among the Ruins. Videos from Hayner may be checked out for one week and are not renewable.

Amiable hospital administrator serves on Library Board

On an early winter afternoon, Hayner Public Library District Board member Francis Martin amiably leads a visitor on a tour through the ongoing renovation and expansion of Alton Memorial Hospital. Wending his way through the confusion, Francis, who works for the Vice President of Finance at the hospital, displays much of the humor and friendly manner that his fellow Board members have come to appreciate.

Born in Alton, he now lives in rural Foster Township and is completing a six-year term as a District Board member this coming spring. He admits to a desire to eventually withdraw from public service. For sixteen years he was the Town Clerk of Foster Township.

Having lived for a time in Minnesota, Francis Martin remains fond of the area and enjoys fishing in the northern reaches of the state. He enjoys reading non-fiction, while his wife, Penny, prefers fiction, and he's especially interested in books on finance, investments, and business.

Hayner Board Member Francis Martin

"Hayner is lucky to have him," states Mary Deane Huntley, the District's Library Director. "He brings a nice perspective to the Board."

Amnesty for overdue items benefits charities

The holiday spirit has moved the staff of the Hayner Public Libraries to forgive and forget . . . as long as you feel generous and a bit repentant! The Library will be accepting canned goods in lieu of fines for all overdue items during the month of December. One can of food will be accepted for each overdue item, and will be donated to local charities to feed the hungry during the holiday season. Please join the Library in supporting this worthy cause.

Magazine Article Summaries database arrives

Periodical research just got easier at the Hayner Main and Alton Square Branch Libraries with the arrival of the Magazine Article Summaries Full Text Elite database, available from EBSCO. This database indexes over 400 general interest magazines and includes a summary of every article indexed.

In addition, the full text is included for over 130 of these magazines, meaning that you can print entire articles out right at the computer. Full-text magazines available in the MAS Full Text Elite database include Life, Money, New Republic, Newsweek, American Heritage, Smithsonian, Popular Science, Psychology Today, and Science News.

At the Main Library, the new database will replace the InfoTrac database, which will be leaving the Library in February of 1995.

Beverly Hicks, Alton Square Branch Library Manager, demonstrates the MAS Full Text Database. Terminals are available at both the Branch and Main Libraries.

"Caring" program reaches 250 Homebound patrons

Not limited to the holiday season of giving and caring, The Hayner Public Library District's Homebound Program continues to grow. Dedicated to sharing the joy of reading, the warmth of friendship, and the amenities of a remarkable library, the Homebound Program is now entering its eighth successful year of providing an outreach service to District patrons unable to reach the Library

"Since the start, the only criteria for a Homebound patron has been the patron's inability to travel to the Library," explains Stephanie Munson, Homebound Program Coordinator. "Age and circumstances are not factors."

Over the years, Stephanie and her volunteers have seen the demand for the program increase while the number of options available for patrons has increased. From her desk in the Homebound section of the downtown Main Library, Stephanie dispatches her 9 volunteers who make their regular rounds, bringing to their patrons titles from Hayner's regular and large print book, video, audio and periodical collections.

"This program is not about 'delivering' things," cautions Stephanie. "The Homebound Program is about sharing and caring, taking time to talk with people, getting to know them, becoming friends. We don't just drop books off at the door."

The program's volunteers happily commit themselves to their visits, circulating more than 1,100 items to the approximately 250 patrons currently served. Loading up their personal cars with library items and driving the length and breadth of the District, the dedicated group consists of Bernadette Duvernoy, Dr. Edward DuVivier, Evelyn Keehner, Helen Leigh, Kathie Rain, Iris Saaf, Jody Stuart, June

Holiday party celebrates "Old-Fashioned" Christmas

An Old-Fashioned Christmas" will be celebrated as the theme for this year's annual children's holiday party, Saturday, December 9, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in the Hayner Youth Library. Decorations and party activities will portray an American pioneer Christmas celebration. Featured activities will include a family storytime, refreshments courtesy of the Friends of the Hayner Public Library, a visit with jolly old St. Nicholas, and party favors for each child to take home.

Registration for the Christmas party has already begun. To register, please call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

Helping Library Aid Rosemary Buford prepare rag doll decorations for the Youth Library's "Old Fashioned Christmas" tree are (l. to r. ) Ian Brake, 10, and Jordan Brake, 5, of Godfrey, and Melissa Darr, 10, of Alton. The rag dolls were a project of the After-School Crafts program.

After-School Crafts are "Hand-Me-Downs"

The After School Craft's program takes on a "Hand-Me-Down" theme this coming year. Registration for the February to May series opens Saturday, January 20 at the Hayner Youth Library. The group meets on the third Thursday of each month from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

On February 15, the craft session will make paper dragons, on March 21, finger wigglers. Crafts for April and May are still being determined. The program is designed for children ages six to nine. Space is limited to the first 20 registrations. To register, please call Rosemary Buford at 462-0651.

All library programs and activities are free and open to any resident or cardholder of The Hayner Public Library District.

That taxing time of year

Tax procrastinators take heed. Monday, April 15, 1996 will be here before you know it. Forms for filing federal and state tax returns--both Illinois and Missouri--will be available at the Main and Alton Square Branch Libraries beginning in January. Many blank forms are available, as well as a complete set of all tax forms for photocopying purposes.

Weinrich, and Spiv Woefle.

"These are just wonderful people, very special people," states Mary Deane Huntley, Library Director. "I know they always tell us they get as much out of this experience as they give, but we deeply appreciate their time and commitment. The Homebound Program wouldn't be possible without them. And Stephanie just does a super job."

Stephanie has been coordinator of the program since it began in 1987. "I was in charge of the Bookmobile, but when the Library phased that out we started looking for other ways to continue to provide library services to people who couldn't travel to us," she explains. "I have made many friends over the years and I have learned a lot from them. I'm hoping to make many more friends in the years to come."

For information on being included on the Homebound Program's routes, or on becoming a Homebound volunteer, contact Stephanie at 462-0651.

Branch's new globe is tribute to special library friend

The Alton Square Branch Library has made a special purchase in memory of a Hayner Public Library District Board president. Intriguing children and parents alike is a lighted world globe the Branch has purchased to honor Forrest E. Cook, District president from 1985 to 1987.

"Forrest was very active in helping to win the referendum to become a library district," explains Beverly Hicks, Branch Manager. "He was always very supportive of the Branch.

"This is such an appropriate tribute to Forrest because it gets the attention that he gave to the library. He is sadly missed by all."

Exploring the world with the Branch Library's new illuminated globe are Wendy Berry, 17, and Christopher Williamson, 10, both of Alton. Purchased in memory of former District Board president Forrest E. Cook, the globe is being enjoyed by families who spend time locating cities, countries, and, particularly, Illinois.

"Literary Annual" reminder for teachers

Teachers are reminded that their selection of the best class entry for this year's Hayner Literary Annual: "The Best and the Worst Days of My Life," is due at the Youth Library by 5 p.m. on Friday, December 22.

Entries may be no more than 500 words in length, and may be poems, stories or essays. Each entry must include the student's name, home address, school, grade, teacher's name, and a signed release from the student's parent giving permission for the Library to publish the work.

New databases coming on PAC

Look for these two new databases that are coming soon on Hayner's Public Access Catalogs (PAC):

Business Index—full text of articles from business journals

New York Times Index—full text of articles from the New York Times

Patrons will be able to print articles from these indexes at the computers. Both indexes are published by University Microfilms International (UMI). Look for more indexes to be available in the not-too-distant future on the Hayner PAC terminals.

Kindermusik program kontinues

Kindermusik, a program of music and movement activities for parents and their children, continues this winter under the direction of Deborah Hawkins, a certified music teacher and member of the faculty of the St. Louis Symphony School of Music.

The program is open to children ages one to five, accompanied by an adult. The group meets on the third Monday of the month from 10 to 10:30 a.m. in the Youth Library. Meeting dates are December 18, January 15, and February 19. Registration for this series opens Saturday, December 2. Please call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0651.

Holiday baking suggestions from Hayner's shelves

All aglow over the cookies and treats provided by the Friends of the Hayner Public Library for the annual children's holiday party, these two party-goers make a careful selection. Perhaps the Friends used recipes from the many holiday baking books available at Hayner.

Bake up some holiday treats from these suggestions, available on Hayner shelves:

Festive Gingerbreads by Evelyn Howe Fryatt

The Joy of Gingerbread Housemaking on video

The Christmas Cookie Book by Judy Knipe

Christmas Cookies and Candies by Barbara Myers

New Treasury of Christmas Recipes: From Your Favorite Brand Name Companies available at the Branch Library

The Gingerbread Book by Steven Stellingwerf

School story visits theme "Succeeds"

If At First You Don't Succeed" is the theme of Library storyteller Pam Klipsch as she makes her visits to kindergarten through second grade classes this February and March. The presentation lasts about 30 minutes.

Schools wishing to book Pam for more than one class are asked to organize a schedule for all classes in their building on the same day, and to have just one teacher contact Pam. Doing this will maximize the number of visits she is able to make. Bookings for story visits will begin on Monday, January 29. For more information, contact Pam at 462-0651

Alton Square Branch celebrates tenth birthday!

Achieving a remarkable milestone, The Hayner Public Library District's Alton Square Branch Library has recently celebrated it's tenth anniversary.

"We've been here ten years, offering all the resources of the district from this convenient location," exclaims Beverly Hicks, the Branch's manager who has been a part of the satellite library since it first opened. Then Secretary of State Jim Edgar was on hand to help in the ribbon cutting when the state's first branch library in an enclosed mall opened on November 22, 1985. The May Company, developers and, at the time, owners of the Alton Square Mall, had made the generous and innovative offer to the District of the 3,500 square foot space.

The convenient and popular Hayner Branch Library at Alton Square.

In addition to Beverly, three other employees have been staff members of the Branch from the start. They are Marylin Bromaghim, Patricia Heffron and Carolyn Walters.

LARGE PRINT books are available to all

Many current best-sellers by today's popular authors are available in large print editions. These can be found in the Homebound Section of the Main Library, and are available to all patrons. For more information on large print books, ask any librarian, and consult the new titles on page 2 for recent large print editions.

Things to know . . . About The Hayner Public Library District

SEASON'S GREETINGS . . .
from the Board and staff of The Hayner Public Library District. We wish you the happiest of holiday seasons and the brightest of new years!

HOLIDAY CLOSINGS
The Hayner Public Library will be closed on December 24, 25 and 26 in observance of the Christmas holidays. The Libraries will also be closed on December 31 and January 1 in order to ring in the new year. The Libraries will be closed for staff development on Friday, January 17. All locations will be open on the observance of the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday, January 13, and President's Day, February 17.

THINK PERMANENT! THINK LAMINATION!
Preserve those treasured photos or clippings or add that professional touch to a presentation using Hayner's new laminating service. The downtown Main Library can now laminate documents up to 25-inches in width and of any length for just 5¢ an inch.

FINE AMNESTY
During the December holiday season, canned goods will be accepted at the Library in lieu of December-only library fines as part of the Library's seasonal food drive.

Homebound Program: 'Caring & sharing' all year-round

After nine years as one of the more unique and successful library service programs in the state, The Hayner Public Library District's Homebound Program continues to grow and meet new demands for its services.

Stephanie Munson, Homebound Program Coordinator, loads up new shelves with even more large print titles, available for all Library patrons.

At its core are two basic tenet that have dynamically propelled the program: The Library's materials should be available to all District patrons regardless of their ability to travel to the Library and the consistent expression of personal concern and interest from the Library staff and program volunteers

"The Homebound Program has always been about sharing and caring, taking time to talk with the patrons we're serving, getting to know them and becoming friends," explains Stephanie Munson, Coordinator of the Homebound Program since its inception. "This program is not about 'delivering' things."

From her desk in the recently renovated Homebound section of the downtown Main Library, Stephanie dispatches her eight volunteers who make their regular rounds, bringing to their patrons titles from Hayner's regular and large print book, video, audio and periodical collections

"The strength of this program comes from the commitment of these volunteers," Stephanie insists. "They load up their personal cars with the library items and drive all over the District. Each one has their own method of getting to know their patrons, what they like to read, video titles that might interest them

"These are very special people," she continues as she speaks of the volunteers. The dedicated group consists of Dr. Edward DuVivier, Evelyn Keehner, Kathie Rain, Iris

Library plans activities for Martin Luther King Holiday

In honor of the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday, the Hayner Youth Library will present a Martin Luther King Pride Video Film Festival, Monday, January 20 through Thursday, January 23 Video films from the Library's collection of African-American videos will be shown from 3 to 4 p.m and repeated from 7 to 8 p.m. each day in the Metzger Conference Room on the lower level of the Hayner Memorial Building, 401 State Street (Youth Library).

Family film festival, displays scheduled

The list of films to be shown will be posted in the Youth Library during the week of January 13. No registration is necessary.

Additionally, the Main, Youth and Alton Square Branch locations of The Hayner Public Library District will feature special book displays and selected resource lists of African-American materials from the Library's collections for children, young adults and adults. These displays will be held from January 15 to 31.

Aloha!: Youth Holiday Party features unique theme

The sounds of the pounding surf, a gentle tropical breeze, the strumming of a ukulele, why, it must be the annual Hayner Youth Library holiday party. What?

A Christmas Luau is planned for children of all ages as the annual holiday party, scheduled for Saturday, December 14 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in the Hayner Youth Library.

"Last year's theme was 'An Old-Fashioned Christmas," explains Pam Klipsch, Youth Services Librarian. "This year we wanted to try something really different. This is a chance for children to experience Christmas in a very different culture."

Decorations and party activities will follow the Hawaiian theme throughout the Library. Featured activities include a family storytime, refreshments courtesy of the Friends of the Hayner Public Library, a visit with Santa Claus–Hawaiian-style, of course–and party favors for each child to take home.

Registration has already begun and is accepted by contacting the Youth Library at 462-0652.

Celebrating families is theme of school story visits

'We All Live Together' is the theme of Library storyteller Pam Klipsch as she makes her visits to kindergarten through second grade classes this February and March. The presentation lasts about 30 minutes.

Schools wishing to book Pam for more than one class are asked to organize a schedule for all classes in their building on the same day, and to have just one teacher contact Pam. Doing this will maximize the number of visits she is able to make. Bookings for story visits will begin on Monday, January 27. For more information, contact Pam at 462-0652.

Winter After School Crafts scheduled

Registration for the February to May series of After School Crafts opens Saturday, January 18 at the Hayner Youth Library. The group meets on the third Thursday of each month. The program is designed for children ages six to nine. Space is limited to the first 20 registrants. To register, please call either Heather Whiteside or Cathie Lamere at 462-0652.

Understanding all the holidays of the season

The "holiday season" takes on a variety of meanings for a variety of people, and The Hayner Public Library District encourages patrons to become familiar with and enjoy the many aspects of the season. The Library's shelves are stocked with a variety of titles relating not only to the celebration of Christmas, but Hanukkah and Kwanzaa (see the list at right).

Hanukkah

Hanukkah--or Chanukah as it is sometimes spelled--is the Jewish festival commemorating renewed services in the Temple at Jerusalem. The Temple had been desecrated by Antiochus IV, but was restored under the leadership of Judas Maccabaeus.

Also known as the Feast of Lights and Feast of Dedication, Hanukkah begins with the 25th day of Kislev and lasts eight days. On the first night a candle is lighted and on each successive night a new one is added

This year, Hanukkah begins on Friday, December 6 and ends on Friday, December 13.

Kwanzaa

Kwanzaa is an African American festival developed by Maulana (Ron) Karenga in 1966 as an alternative to what he saw as Christmas commercialism and to celebrate African ancestry.

Kwanzaa is the Swahili word for "first fruits of the harvest." The week-long family celebration begins on December 26 and concludes on January 1.

Each nigh of Kwanzaa, one of seven green, red and black candles is lit and one of seven principles--unity, self-determination, collective work, cooperative economics, purpose, creativity, and faith--are discussed.

During the celebration, gifts related to the history, culture or community of African-Americans are exchanged.

A taxing time of year

Oh, sure--you think you have plenty of time, no need to think or worry about it yet. But--surprise!--Tuesday, April 15, 1997 will be here before you know it.

Forms for filing federal and state tax returns--both Illinois and Missouri--will be available at the Main and Alton Square Branch Libraries beginning in January. Many blank forms are available, as well as a complete set of all tax forms for photocopying purposes.

All library programs and activities are free and open to any resident or cardholder of The Hayner Public Library District.

'Literary Annual' deadline reminder to teachers

Teachers are reminded that their selection of the best class entry for this year's Hayner Literary Annual: "Our Greatest President," is due by 5 p.m. on Monday, December 23 at the Youth Library. Homeschoolers may also participate with one entry per family.

Entries may be no more than 500 words in length, and may be poems, stories or essays. Each entry must include the student's name, home address, school, grade, teacher's name, and a signed release from the student's parents giving permission for the Library to publish the work.

'Our Greatest President'

The Literary Annual will be published in March 1997 and all participants will be invited to attend a publication party at the Youth Library. For more information, contact Pam Klipsch, 462-0652.

Homebound Program: 'Caring & sharing,' continued from page 1

Saaf, Jody Stuart, June Weinrich, and Spiv Woelfle. Stephanie is also aided by Bernadette Duvernoy, a long-time volunteer for the program who has recently joined the Hayner staff as a library assistant.

All told, the Homebound Program circulates more than 1,100 items each month to the approximate 200 patrons currently served.

"Making the Library accessible to all is a priority of Hayner," comments Joyce A. Reid, the District's newly appointed Executive Director. "Stephanie and her volunteers are to be commended for all they have done to achieve this goal."

Joining the staff of the Hayner Main Library is Bernadette Duvernoy who serves as a library assistant for the Homebound Program.

The only criterion for a patron to be a part of the Homebound Program's services is the inability to travel to the Library. Age and circumstances are not factors. For information on being included on the Homebound Program's routes, contact Stephanie at 462-0651.

Once upon a preschool holiday storytime . . .

The holiday session of Preschool Story Time is underway and meeting at the Youth Library on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. The meeting dates are December 3/4, 10/11, and 17/18. There are still spaces available in both groups for children ages 3 to 5 years. Register, by calling Gloria Mitchell at 462-0652.

BE A WINNER WITH TEAM IREAD

Enjoy a winning season this summer as part of Hayner Library's Team IREAD. Registration for Summer Reading Club opens Saturday, June 7 at the Youth Library and the Alton Square Branch Library. Even the smallest prereaders can participate by listening to books being read to them! Children under the age of 12 must be accompanied at registration by an adult. Just fifteen minutes of reading time each day can put you in the winner's circle this summer!

If you are age 12-15 you can sign yourself up for our Teen Team and help us select the ten best books for our Hot Picks of Summer 1997. The winning books and the Teen Team will be featured in the library's Fall Newsletter.

Read six hours and win a Team IREAD decal! Read twelve hours and win a Team IREAD pencil! Read eighteen hours and win a Team IREAD button! Read twenty-four hours and win a Team IREAD poster! Read thirty hours and win a Team IREAD medal and have your name and picture displayed in the Youth Library's Hall of Fame! Everyone who turns in at least six hours of reading time by August 4 will be eligible to attend our End of Summer Party on August 7 at the Riverbend Arena, Lewis & Clark Community College, and receive a free paperback book as a reading award. Those who cannot attend the party can pick up their books at the Youth Library between August 8 and 30.

The school with the highest percentage of readers completing the summer program will be awarded the Friends of Hayner Library Traveling Summer Reading Trophy for 1997.

All library programs and events are free and open to all residents and cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District. For more information, call the Youth Library at 462-0652 or the Alton Square Branch Library at 463-1276. Registration for all programs and events opens June 7 unless otherwise indicated.

Due to demand, we regret that we cannot accept any summer program registrations by phone. Registrations must be in person only at the site indicated.

The Metro Brass Ensemble is the featured entertainment at the End of Summer Party on August 7 at the Riverbend Arena.

THE TELEGRAPH INDEX PROJECT

The TELEGRAPH INDEX PROJECT has been a work in progress for some twenty years. Its intent was to create an index of the past editions of the TELEGRAPH and its predecessors, THE ALTON EVENING TELEGRAPH, THE ALTON OBSERVER, THE WEEKLY TELEGRAPH & THE DAILY TELEGRAPH.

This project began in 1977 and proposed to continue the detailed indexing of the daily newspaper which had first been undertaken in the 1930s as a federal work project. That first effort had indexed the TELEGRAPH from its initial publication in May 1838 through 1934. The index made the TELEGRAPH a priceless resource for local history and genealogical researchers. The new project, funded initially by the Jennie D. Hayner Association with some assistance from the Alton Foundation, has thus far completed indexing the 1930s, 1970s and 1980s with current plans to go back and fill in the intervening thirty years while simultaneously keeping up with the editions of the 1990s.

Articles from designated River Bend geographical areas were to be indexed and edited by Subject and Name Headings for speedier research purpose for the use of the library patrons. In order to accomplish this goal, all newspapers had to be screened, articles selected, proofed, data entered and then proofed once again before being microfiched for posterity. All the Subject Headings and Name Headings also had to be revised and updated from decade to decade as events such as business, social and legal entities progressed, closed or changed.

The index project was for some years financed under the auspices of the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association but in the 1980s became an ongoing fiscal commitment of the Hayner Public Library District Board of Trustees.

Current staff members of the TELEGRAPH INDEX PROJECT are Martha Fry and Midge Hallett and they are housed in the Tech-Support Services of the library and are supervised by Barbara Ulffers. The index is used on a daily basis by patrons who are doing historical or genealogical research. They also use the index for clipping and xeroxing personal or family articles that they either missed clipping or lost since the article's publication date. The microfilm readers are used for quick location of articles needed and also have xeroxing capabilities built into the machines in order to instantly produce copies of information needed and are a most popular service for patrons.

The work is ongoing and continues to be indexed through the current date. Looking back in time, some of the most valued information that has been obtained for books of the history of Alton and its cultural institutions have only been possible through the insight of civic leaders and the Hayner Library Board and personnel through the years, who from early on recognized that these recorded writings would be the only standing links of the community's historical events to those of the future

PATRON PROFILE

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

Welcome to Patron Profile! The staff at Hayner Library enjoys the opportunity to get to know many of our patrons. We are often amazed at the diversity of your background and experience! From all walks of life, all parts of the country, you have made Alton your home. We consider ourselves fortunate to make your acquaintance and thought it would be interesting to share your stories with our readership.

Rena Altenritter, a long-time resident of Alton, is a lady of seemingly boundless energy. She works part-time in Schnucks' floral department and also provides caretaking services for two local senior citizens. She comes by the library often to rent videos or pick up a new biography. Mrs. Altenritter's own biography would make a fine story itself!

Mrs. Altenritter grew up attending school in New York during the winter and working the family farm in Vermont during the summer. After high school, Mrs. Altenritter was off to Italy to study at the School of Fine Arts in Milan. The entrepreneurial urge was too strong to resist, and she gave up her studies to tour Italy with her father and work at setting up an import/export business. Upon returning to the states, Mrs. Altenritter embarked upon another career. Living in Woodstock, New York, she had her own radio show interviewing many of the famous artists from the local art colony.

Though Mrs. Altenritter met her husband, Ted, at the tender age of seven, they did wait a few years before they were married. Her husband was a merchant seaman with one significant problem – he suffered from seasickness. Thus he decided to give up life on the sea for life on the river. The Altenritters moved to Alton in 1958, and Mr. Altenritter went to work for the Corps of Engineers in St. Louis.

Mrs. Altenritter's husband has passed away, and her children are grown. Her son lives in Boulder, Colorado, and her daughter lives in Minnesota.

Mrs. Altenritter has big plans for this fall. With a crew of 30 people, she is going to sail a 130-foot ship up the coast of Maine. And next year she will be working on a dude ranch, horseback riding and driving cattle! Best wishes, Mrs. Altenritter, for a great trip – we look forward to hearing your tales of the high seas.

Patrons at the Hayner Main, Youth and Branch libraries may now place their own reserves on books, videos, and other materials without asking for help at the circulation desk. You may place the reserves either from an online catalog at any site, or from home if you can dial into our catalog with a computer and a modem.

When you see a record for an item you want to order, type R to request the item. The computer will then ask you to enter your library card number (this can be found on the back of your library card). After you enter your number, you will get a message saying that your request has successfully been entered. We will call you when the materials you have requested arrive.

Please call the library if you have any questions about this new service!

Twelve members from the Hayner Library staff will be participating in the American Cancer Society's First Annual Relay to be held on June 13 and 14 at Lewis & Clark Community College. "Hayner Hoofers" is the name adopted by the team. They will be participating in a 24-hour relay which begins at 6 p.m. Friday, June 13 and ends at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 14. Each participant is responsible for raising $100 for the Cancer Society. Come cheer the staff on during the weekend.

LAMINATING SERVICE

Do you realize that there is another little known service available to you at your library? It is our laminating service. Prolong the life of special keepsakes or add protection to important documents by simply taking advantage of the laminating machine we have in the business office area of the library. It's quick and easy especially if you keep the following in mind:

1) Please call ahead! Due to the extreme heat the machine puts out, we only "fire it up" when it's needed. Call us and allow approximately 30 minutes and we will be ready when you arrive.

2) The cost is .05 per inch of item(s) to be laminated with a nominal service charge of $1.00 added.

3) All items must be laminator ready when you arrive. Smaller pieces must be taped together with approximately 1/2" of space between each piece. (Please remember to tape on tape, front to back, so the tape won't catch on the laminating film.) Sorry, but supplies are not available at the library.

4) Our laminator can accommodate items up to 25 inches wide and any length!

5) The laminating service is available from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday. Service is not available on weekends. The laminating machine is in the library's business office, located on the lower level of the Youth Library, rear entrance.

OPEN HOUSE AT HAYNER BRANCH

On Sunday April 26, 1998 the branch library at Alton Square celebrated the expanded and remodeled library. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, presented an American flag to Director Joyce Reid at the ribbon cutting ceremony. "I think the concept of having a library in a shopping mall is an excellent idea," Costello said. "This beautiful facility is an excellent tool for information and education that fits the needs of all ages."

The remodeled facility was designed by Architect John Rapp and construction was completed by J.J. Wuellner & Son, Inc. The expanded area includes an enlarged circulation area, a leisure reading area for patrons to read magazines and newspapers, an expanded computer area with four computers for Internet access, two IBM compatible computers and two Macintosh computers, the new children's section includes a fire engine bookshelf which was donated by the Alton Fire Fighters.

When the branch library opened its doors to the public in November, 1985 it was one of the first library branches in the nation to be located in an enclosed mall. In its twelve year history the branch library's collection and services have grown. Circulation figures have tripled since opening in 1985 with a yearly circulation of 44,662 items as compared to 144,443 at the close of the 1996-97 fiscal year in June, 1997.

The ongoing support of the community and two significant grants through the Illinois State Library have made the branch facility an integral part of the library district. In 1985 the library received a $130,000 library service demonstration grant to provide library services to the then unserved areas of Godfrey and Fosterburg. As a result of a successful referendum in March 1986 the library district was able to expand its boundaries to these two additional areas. The library district covers an area of 71 square miles.

The second significant grant that allowed the branch facility to enlarge its space was a public library construction grant in the amount of $76,906 in September 1997 which help to partially fund the branch expansion. Once again this was made possible through the office of the Secretary of State and State Librarian's office Live and Learn funds.

MARYLIN BROMAGHIM RETIRES FROM BRANCH

by Bernadette Duvernoy, Library Assistant

On June 30, Marylin Bromaghim, part-time Library Assistant at the Alton Square Branch Library, will retire after 12-1/2 years of service. Marylin was one of the original Branch employees when the Branch Library first opened in 1985. She was working as a part-time Library Assistant and was also working full-time as a school librarian. She retired from her full-time job in 1988 after 27 years as Librarian for Central East and North Middle Schools.

Marylin has seen a lot of changes at the library. When she started, all check-outs and check-ins were manually recorded, and card catalogs were maintained. Today, borrower services and card catalogs are all computerized, and the library's offerings go far beyond just books—they now include audiotapes, videos, large print materials, internet access, word processing, and many community service programs.

Marylin is an Alton native but has lived in Godfrey for the last 20 years. After attending Alton schools, she received a B.S. degree from Shurtleff College. She continued her education, attaining a Master's Degree in Instructional Materials from SIUE. She has taken library science courses at Washington University and additional Master's level training at SIUE.

Marylin has been widowed twice. She has two sons (one in Alton, another in Sullivan, Missouri) and a daughter who is a teacher in Germany. She also has four grandsons and one great-granddaughter.

Marylin has always balanced her professional career and raising a family with many years of church and community service. A 49-year member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Marylin has taught Sunday school, acted as superintendent of Sunday schools, sang in the choir, and is currently a member of the guild.

Marylin was a den mother and scout leader for seven years, played trombone with the Alton Civic orchestra for 15 years, worked with Caravan and Oasis (where she is currently on the Board and has been President), and served on the YWCA board. She is a lifetime member of the National Education Association, Treasurer of the Retired Teachers' Association, member of a local investment club, and is a local officer for Business and Professional Women, where she has also served as District Director.

And what does Marylin do with her spare time?? She is, naturally, a book lover—particularly a fan of mysteries. She reads about a book per day. She swims a half mile per week and holds season tickets for the St. Louis Symphony. She and her sister Glady Butler, also an Alton native, own a family cottage in Vermont. They plan to visit there this summer (where Marylin says the grass will be to the top of the door).

The Library will certainly miss Marylin and the many skills she brings to the staff—mostly, we'll miss Marylin. Marylin says she has really enjoyed her years with the Library and has made many good friends among both staff and patrons.

Thank you, Marylin, for your years of dedicated service to the Library and our community. ■

Wishing you all the best in your retirement!

YOUTH LIBRARY

Dive Into Books At Hayner This Summer

Register for summer reading club between June 6 and July 3 at either the Youth Library or the Alton Square Branch Library. Reading club is open to all kids ages birth through fifteen—prereaders may participate if an adult agrees to read to them.

Children under twelve must be accompanied by a parent or other adult care-giver who co-signs the registration. Teens (ages twelve-fifteen) can register by themselves. Registration for all summer programs is in person only—no telephone registrations accepted.

Those who complete at least six hours of reading and turn in their time slips by August 3 will win a free paperback book as a reading award. Books will be distributed at the End Of Summer Party on August 6 at the Riverbend Arena, Lewis & Clark Community College. If you can't make it to the party,you can pick up your award book at the Youth Library between August 7 and 29

Reading club members also receive incentive prizes for every six hours of reading time completed up to thirty hours. Those who read thirty hours or more are added to the Deep Readers display at the Youth Library. Those who read the longest time in each of our four age divisions are declared our Reading Champions for 1998. The school with the highest percentage of students completing the summer reading club at Hayner wins the Friends of Hayner Public Library Traveling Summer Reading Trophy. And of course we will have our regular Grand Prize Drawings for cash prizes from the barrel of reading time slips!

This year for the first time you can count time spent surfing the Internet — at home or at the library — towards your reading club time. Summer reading club is an excellent way to keep kids reading and to maintain their reading skills through the summer break.

Studies have shown that children who read on a regular basis during the summer need less time to get back up to speed when school resumes in the fall, and are ready to learn new skills more quickly.

New children's area at Branch

Students who don't keep up their reading over the summer spend more time on review and remedial work when school begins because what they learned before has grown rusty from disuse.

It's also important for parents and other adult care-givers to set an example by their own reading behavior. When kids see parents and other adults reading and enjoying reading it reinforces the notion that reading is an expected and valued activity for everyone in the family. Set aside an hour before bedtime for family reading time for everyone— parents as well as kids. Or set aside one night a week for reading and sharing books instead of television or computer games. Make sure there are newspapers and magazines and books available in your home, that you visit the library on a regular basis, and that your children see you reading and talking about what you have read.

Think of it as an investment in your child's future — there is no more certain guarantee of a successful future than the ability to read fluently and with appreciation and pleasure. Literacy is not just a skill, it's a way of life!

For more information about the summer reading program at Hayner, call the Youth Library at 462-0652.

Summer Activities Programs At Hayner

Registration for all activities programs opens June 6 unless otherwise noted. Register in person only at the Youth Library. Registration closes for each program when all the available places for that program are filled. Minimum age requirements for some programs are effective June 1, 1998. Registration for activity programs is limited to residents and cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District. There is no charge or fee to attend any library program. For more information on activity programs please call the Youth Library at 462-0652.

Small Fry Preschool Story Time

Preschool story times for ages 3-5 are held on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. Program dates for the summer session are June 16/17, 23/24, 30/July 1, 14/15, 21/22, 28/29. Programs include stories, songs, rhymes, movement activities, puppet shows and videos.

Mr. Sandman And The Lullaby Ladies Visit The Beach

Our family bedtime story program is held on Tuesday nights at 7:15 p.m. Children ages 2-5 accompanied by an adult are eligible to attend, and pajamas are optional. Program dates for the summe session are June 16, 23, 30; July 14, 21, 28. Programs include stories, songs, rhymes and puppet shows.

Catch Of The Day Family Crafts

Family crafts and activities for ages 6-11 are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at 2 p.m. Adults are encouraged to attend and assist with the crafts. Program dates are June 16/17, 23/24, 30/July 1, 14/15, 21/22, 28/29. We will have separate sign up sheets for each weekly program, so you can pick the programs that appeal to you or fit your schedule, or you can sign up for the whole series.

J.D. Junior Volunteers

This is our popular summer service project for ages 12-15. You can pick up the application packet at the Youth Library beginning May 1. We will begin accepting volunteer applications on Tuesday, May 26. Each volunteer works in the Youth Library one day a week from mid-June to early August. Enrollment is limited to ten volunteers.

In addition to our age-specific programs we offer some all-ages programs.

Under The Boardwalk Summer Video Film Festival

Video films are shown on Thursdays at 2 p.m. Children of all ages are invited to attend, accompanied by an adult care-giver. No registration necessary. Program dates are June 18, 25; July 2, 16, 23, 30. The list of films to be shown will be available starting June 6.

Second Annual Summer Storyfest

A story telling festival for children of all ages accompanied by an adult care-giver, featuring the myths and magic of the Riverwind Storytellers will be held on Sunday, July 26, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the Youth Library. Refreshments and attendance prizes for all! We will take phone registrations for this special event only, beginning July 18. Call the Youth Library, at 462-0652

Meet Our New Staff At The Youth Library

Two new part time staff have joined the ranks of the Youth Library! Kim Allton, a graduate of Alton Public Schools, is completng her bachelor's degree in special education at SIU-E, and works full-time as an aide at Gilson Brown School. Kids coming into the library are amazed to find "Miss Allton" popping up here, there and everywhere!

Susan Mielke recently completed her master's degree in divinity studies at the Aquinas Institute of St. Louis University. This mother of grown children and active member of St Matthew's Parish was born and raised in England but has lived in Calhoun County and (since the Great Flood of 1993) in Alton.

Both Kim and Susan bring enthusiasm, energy, intellectual curiosity and love of kids to their positions as library assistants. Welcome aboard! ■

SURF THE NET DURING SUMMER VACATION

The Internet can lead you to some amazing, spectacular, mysterious web sites just for kids and the adults who care about them. A question often asked in the Youth Library is "What makes a great site?"

The World Wide Web is a lot like a flea market with a vast selection of sites of varying quality. Sometimes it's hard to tell what's worth looking at, what's junk and what's hidden treasure. The best sites take advantage of the Web's unique features to enrich the user's experience.

Here are some basic guidelines to help you select the best for children—or yourself.

1. The purpose of the site is clear whether it's to entertain, persuade, educate or sell.
2. A source is clearly identified. Contact information is provided.
3. Advertising should not over shadow content.
4. The graphic design should be appealing with text that is easy to read.
5. The content should be well organized and easy to under stand.
6. The information should be current and updated regularly.
7. Users should be able to get around the site easily.
8. The page should be consistently available and load in a reasonable amount of time
9. A user should not have to pay a fee or type in personal information.
10. The skills required to use this site should be appropriate for its intended age group.

The next time you visit the Youth Library ask for their notebook with favorite web sites for kids and parents or if you have access to the Internet at home try the following web site for some ideas: www.ala.org/parentspage/greatsites. Let us know if you find a really neat site to add to our notebook. Have fun surfing the Net! ■

PATRON PROFILE
by Bernadette Duvernoy, Library Assistant

Living here in Alton, it is easy to daydream of the allure and romance of working on the river. Samuel Clemens' experiences on the Mississippi River in his youth provided inspiration for several of his great works. He even used the river to inspire his pen name, Mark Twain. ("Mark Twain" was the riverman's term to identify when the river bottom is at a depth of two fathoms, or 12 feet.)

The Alton/Godfrey area is home to a sizeable community of river pilots, and I was anxious to learn about this fascinating life from Michael Brinkman, a lineboat pilot with over 30 years of experience on the river. A Godfrey native, Michael started on the barge line as a deckhand in 1964 and became a pilot in 1967. His work schedules require that he be on the boat 30 days, then 20 days off. While on the boat, he works 12-hour shifts (usually midnight to 6 a.m. and then noon to 6 p.m.). Michael admits that the schedule doesn't make it easy to get much rest, and one never quite adjusts to so much time away from family (he has four children and four grandchildren), but he loves the river which he finds incredibly beautiful. He also describes some storms as "quite humbling." Michael remembers one time when he was on the lower end of a tornado outside of Hamburg, Illinois. The entire barge was blown up against the bank and the rain was blowing up the windshield and through the door.

Michael describes the fiberglass covers on a barge as 32 feet wide and over a ton in weight. During another storm, the high winds caused a cover to lift off the barge and sail through the air like a frisbee!

Michael normally pilots a 15-barge tow with a 10-11 man crew. The cargo may be grain, steel, or sometimes chemicals. Each of the barges has a holding capacity equal to 15 railroad cars or 80 big tractor trailers. When running full, the tow will require 5000 gallons of fuel per day.

Michael says one of the big challenges of his job is the fact that the river system here was really designed for the old steamboats (packet boats) of the 1940s. These boats were 25-35 feet wide and 120-130 feet long. Today's 15-barge tows are 105 feet wide and over 1000 feet long. Piloting up the river and through locks can have some tight moments! The Melvin Price Lock and Dam is 110 feet wide; since the barge is 105 feet wide, this leaves only 2-1/2 feet of clearance on each side of the barge—like threading a needle with a very large thread!

Another concern of the pilot is managing the strong, changeable currents of the river, as well as avoiding the large amounts of debris that find their way to the river--particularly during flood stage.

One of the biggest dangers (and aggravations) on the river is the power craft and pleasure boaters who have no knowledge of the "rules of the road." Says Michael, "They don't know how dangerous it is to be close to a barge--if they can't see the captain, he can't see them. I have at times had to post a lookout."

Michael has had so many varied experiences on the river, including running a 14th-century replica of the Nina from Peoria, Illinois to Owensburg, Kentucky. It's clear from talking with Michael that he has a great love for the beauty and adventure of the river—and he certainly must have nerves of steel to deal with the temperamental whims of Mother Nature!! ■

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK PUPPET WINNERS

During National Library Week, April 19-25, 1998 library users visiting the library were encouraged to register for a drawing of a frog hand puppet at Hayner's three locations. The winners of the loveable frogs were John Mulrean from the Youth Library, Dot Minks from the Branch Library and Rita Backstrom from the Adult Library. Congratulations, winners and we hope you are enjoying your frog with family and friends.

Other activities during the week included a family storytelling program in the Youth Library garden featuring Marilyn Kinsella, storyteller and the River City Ramblers presented an evening of Dixieland music in the Jimmie Keller Reading Room of the Main Library ■

HAVE WE BEEN HERE BEFORE?

Fifty years ago, in 1946, there were 6,000 black and white TVs in the entire country, mostly in well-to-do homes. Three years later, in 1949, there were three million TVs, and, in 1951, there were 12 million. Today, more Americans have TVs than have telephones.

Fifty years ago, people argued about whether TV was a tool or a toy: would it just provide mindless entertainment, or teach our children and bring the world closer together? People had asked similar questions about the radio, movies, the telephone, and even the telegraph in the 1840's! Today, they are asking the same kinds of questions about computers and the information superhighway.

But the answer is always the same: it isn't the technology. It's the way people use the technology that makes the difference.

A lot of people believe that television could have been much better for children if parents had gotten involved back in the 1940's and early 1950's, letting the networks know what they wanted for their children. If you want the information superhighway to be something other than home shopping and video games, now is the time to get involved.

The library can provide you with helpful guidelines in using the information superhighway; what to look for when purchasing a computer; what it involves to become connected to the Internet and many other helpful hints.

Following is a look at technology over the last 100 years:

Parents and New Technology:
The Last 100 Years

1890's: How can I afford a telephone at home?

1900's: Why do my children know more about automobiles than I do?

1910's: Should I take my children to the moving pictures?

1920's: Why do my children know more about radio than I do?

1930's: Are radio programs too violent?

1940's: Are comic books a bad influence on my kids?

1950's: Is TV good for my child–or not?

1960's: What are my children learning from rock & roll?

1970's: Are TV programs too violent?

1980's: Is my child playing too many video games?

1990's: Is being online safe and beneficial for my child?

The above article has been taken from the The Children's Partnership Internet site: http://www.childrenspartnership.org/pguide-98/part1198.html. This site provides many other helpful guidelines for parents and children using the Internet. ■

THE FORMULA FOR LIFELONG EDUCATION

As everyone is gearing up for back to school activities, the library will be distributing bumper stickers promoting the idea that the library is the place for lifelong education. All you need to do is show your Hayner library card to receive a bumper sticker. If you do not have a library card, all you need to do is fill out an application and provide proof of residence within the library district. Any of our circulation desk staff can assist you in getting a library card or renewing your current one.

September is designated as National Library Card Sign-Up Month. Every child or young adult (ages birth-fifteen years) who signs up for a library card at the Youth Library or Alton Square Branch Library for the first time in September will receive a free paperback book. ■

"Fall Into Books" Preschool Story Time

Registration for the fall session of Preschool Story Time for ages 3-5 will open Saturday, September 5 at the Youth Library. We offer two groups, meeting on Tuesday or Wednesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. The session runs for six weeks, from September 15/16 through October 20/21. Children must be three years old by September 1, 1998 to attend this session of story time. There is a limit of 20 children in each group, and we will take registrations in person or by phone until all available places are filled. The program includes stories, rhymes, songs, fingerplays, puppets shows, rhythmic activities and videos. For more information call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

"Treehouse Tales" Preschool Story Time Starts At Branch

Preschool Story Time for ages 3-5 starts this fall at our remodeled and expanded Alton Square Branch Library. The group will meet on Thursday mornings at 10 a.m. The session runs for six weeks, from September 17 through October 22. Children must be three years old as of September 1, 1998 to attend this session of story time. There is a limit of 20 children in the group, and we will take registrations at the Branch Library in person or by phone, starting Saturday, September 5, and continuing until all available places are filled. For more information call Rhoda Cairns at the Alton Square Branch, 463-1276

Holiday Session of Story Time

Registration for the Holiday Session of Preschool Story Time will open Saturday, October 31 at the Youth and Branch Library locations. For more information, call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0652 or Rhoda Cairns at the Branch Library, 463-1276.

"Mr. Sandman's Bushel Basket Of Sleepy Stories"

Our Bedtime Family Story Time for children ages 2-5 and their parents meets at the Youth Library on Tuesdays at 7:15 p.m. Registration for the fall session opens Saturday, September 5 at the Youth Library. Children must be two years old as of September 1, 1998 to attend this session. There is a limit of 15 children plus adults for the group, and we will take registrations until all available places are filled. Meeting dates are September 15 through October 20. Children may come in their pajamas. Mr. Sandman and the Lullaby Ladies present a program of stories, songs, rhymes, and puppet shows. For more information call Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

There will also be a Holiday Session of Bedtime Story Time. Registration will open Saturday, October 31 at the Youth Library

"Apple-A-Day" After School Crafts

Registration for the first semester series of After School Crafts for ages 6-11 opens Saturday, September 5 at the Youth Library. We have two groups, meeting on the second or third Thursday of each month from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. There is a limit of 20 children per group, and registations will be taken in person or by phone until all available places are filled. Parents are invited to participate with their children. Each month will feature a different apple craft. Meeting dates are September 10/17, October 8/15, November 12/19 and December 10/17. For more information call Heather Whiteside at the Youth Library, 462-0652

Epic Tales For Schools

Youth Services Librarian Pam Klipsch will visit your school by appointment during October and November with her popular storytelling series for grades 3-5 and 6-8. This year Pam will be telling the stirring adventures of Gilgamesh, the hero-king of ancient Mesopotamia. This is one of the world's oldest stories, from the fabled land between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers in what is now Iraq.

We will begin taking bookings for this program on Monday, September 28. We ask that teachers in the same building who wish to take advantage of this program should coordinate scheduling and have one teacher call to book for everyone. The program lasts 45 minutes, so up to three consecutive sessions can be booked in the same building on the same day. For more information on this program call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Hayner Short Story Contest For Teens

The library is sponsoring a short story contest for students with cash prizes of $50, $35 and $20 for the first, second and third place winners in each division: sixth-eighth grades and ninth-tenth grades. Stories may be on any subject, with a maximum length of 500 words. All entries must be submitted to the Youth Library no later than December 23, 1998. All students attending schools located in the library district are eligible to participate. Home schoolers who live in the district may also participate.

Entry forms will be available at the Youth Library beginning October 1. All submissions must be typed and double-spaced, and include permission for the library to publish the material, signed by the student's parent or legal guardian.

All entries will be published by the library in a book that will be distributed to all the participants. A committee appointed by the library will judge the winning entries. The prize winners will be announced and the books distributed at a publication party at the Youth Library in March 1999.

Teachers Please Note!

The Youth Library provides many services for teachers, including our popular book boxes for classrooms, booklists and videographies to order, teacher materials, Internet searches, school visits and library tours by appointment for classes, teacher in-services and parent groups. All of these services are also available for homeschoolers. Please call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652, for more information.

PATRON PROFILE: Dave Douglas

by Gwendolyn Duvernoy, Library Assistant

Godfrey native Dave Douglas is a staff favorite and the subject of this issue's Patron Profile. Dave works in Granite City at Chestnut Health Systems in the Mental Health Chemical Dependency Treatment Center. Dave's career has always focused on caring and tending to the needs of others. His vocation in great part was a result of a terrible accident in which Dave was involved when he was 19. While riding his motorcycle, Dave was hit head-on by a drunk driver. Dave's injuries included multiple fractures (he has a plate and 10 screws in one leg, and a plate and four screws in his arm), internal injuries and he required a tracheotomy. His near-death experience left him in a coma for three weeks, with doctors concerned for his chances of recovery.

Upon regaining consciousness, Dave suffered from memory loss and had to relearn how to walk and talk. He spent over three months in Barnes hospital getting "pieced back together." It was during this difficult recuperation period that Dave determined to pursue his interest in medicine. He also made a promise to himself that he would always treat his patients with the utmost care and respect

Dave started as a emergency medical technician in 1978. He has done residential counseling and has been a Head Start teacher's aide He earned his LPN degree in 1984 and returned to Lewis & Clark Community College in 1990 to complete an RN degree. Dave's nursing experience has been widespread from nursing home care, home health supervisor, surgical and psychiatric nursing, to his current role treating those suffering from mental illness. Dave says, "I have done everything in nursing from clamping the cords of newborn baby twins to holding the hand of a lady as she passed from this life to the next."

Dave's wife, Kristina, is a recreational therapist at Alton Catholic Children's Home. Dave credits their very close, supportive relationship as being critical to helping each other deal with their high level of job stress.

Dave's other outlet for stress is his art, on which he works every day. He primarily works with pen and ink as a cartoonist and character illustrator He has sold many of his illustrations and recently designed an award-winning beer label based on an idea from his stepson Adam, the label is being published in "Brew Your Own." He has also had several of his cartoons published in "Today's Advantage."

Dave says that it is "the aesthetics of the transitory" that makes his art so important to him--that is, the beauty of the process of creating art is the objective, not the finished product. Dave is also a "junk" sculptor, making art from anything and everything, "turning one man's trash into another's treasure." He sculpted a 10-foot globe from the steel bands that wrap lumber--this is now in his wife's herb garden. He has also built a fence and a bridge out of wooden pallets.

Dave and his wife live in Godfrey along with their chickens, four dogs,

Dave Douglas Self-Portrait

four cats and a peahen (a female peacock).

Dave has several other loves in his life, including time "hanging out at the library," cycling, and his pride and joy, Olivia Kay, his seven-month-old granddaughter.

Dave's parting message was to ask us to remember that mental illness is like any illness that affects an organ in the body. If the brain is the affected organ, the result is disruption to the cognitive and emotional processes, but this disease can be treated. Just as we maintain compassion and caring for someone affected by other diseases, so must we maintain compassion for those affected by a mental disease ■

The Traveling Puppet Show is also available to visit preschools and kindergartens in the library district by appointment. Please call Gloria Mitchell or Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652, to book the Traveling Puppet Show for a visit to your classroom.

SPECIAL EVENTS AT HAYNER MAIN/ALTON BRANCH

September

September is National Library Card Sign-Up Month. Every child or young adult (ages birth- fifteen) who signs up for a library card at the Youth Library or Alton Square Branch Library for the first time during September will receive a free paperback book to keep along with the new card.

America Links Up: Kids Online Week is September 14-20. Sponsored by the American Library Association, America Online, the Center for Media Education, the Children's Partnership, Enough Is Enough, Microsoft, and the U.S. Department of Education, and endorsed by the Illinois State Library. This is an opportunity for parents, teachers and kids to become more familiar with the resources of the Internet, and the ways in which parents can ensure that their children have safe and rewarding online experiences.

Hayner Public Library will participate by providing displays, brochures for parents, links to recommended resource sites for parents, teachers, children and teens at all three Hayner locations, and opportunities for parents and kids to check out the Internet together via Hayner's public Internet access.

Freedom To Read Week is September 27-October 3. This annual celebration of America's First Amendment freedom to read and view the great diversity of ideas and opinions is co-sponsored by the American Library Association, the American Booksellers Association, the Association of American Publishers, and the Library of Congress Center for the Book.

Hayner Public Library will participate by providing displays of books and other materials that have been the target of censorship attempts in school or public libraries during the past year. Brochures and related information will be available at all three Hayner locations. Stop by the library and find out what books some people think are too dangerous for you or your children to see!

October

Hayner Public Library will participate in the annual Lincoln-Douglas Days event in downtown Alton by providing crafts in the Children's Area on Saturday, October 3.

Area Violinist To Play At Adult Library

Pete Pancella

On October 5, 1998, the Hayner Adult Library will feature a performance by violinist Pete Pancella. Mr. Pancella is the founder and director of the Lewis and Clark Camerata, now in its third year at Lewis & Clark Community College. Other groups that have been under his direction include the Louis IX Consort at the St. Louis Cathedral, the Greenleaf Madrigal Singers, and the Decatur Youth Symphony. He is also a member of IFDA, the International Folk Dance Association, and is a frequent guest fiddler in the area folk dance scene. Being familiar with a wide variety of styles, he is in high demand as a teacher and performer. He and his colleagues provide serious music at church and other formal settings, and everything from Cajun to Scottish at social functions.

Accompanying Mr. Pancella will be Mary Neist, currently the Director of Music and Liturgy at Holy Infant Church in Ballwin, Missouri. There she directs vocal and handbell choirs, and plays regularly her main instruments, organ and piano. A collection of her piano music, "Plainchant for Piano," was recently published by MorningStar Music. With a background in music education, Miss Neist enjoys teaching as well as performing. Her degree in music has been enriched over the years with a Masters in Liturgy from the University of Notre Dame and post-graduate study in voice and organ.

The concert will feature some of the most requested music from the violin repertoire, dance music from around the world, some bluegrass, and maybe even a little Dixieland. It will take place on Monday, October 5, at 6:30 p.m., in the Jimmie J. Keller Reading Room at the Adult Library. Seating will be limited, so please call the Adult Library to register at 462-0651.

Our Annual Sparks & Spooks Halloween Story Telling for children ages 6-11 accompanied by adults will be held Thursday, October 29 from 7-8:30 p.m. in the Youth Library. Join the Riverwind Storytellers for a program of spooky stories and songs told by firelight in the historic Hayner Memorial Building on State Street where the ghost of Jennie Hayner sometimes walks!

Registration for this program opens Saturday, October 17 by phone or in person at the Youth Library. Space is limited to 75 children, so we will take registrations until all available places are filled. Each child who attends the program will receive a Halloween treat to take home. For information call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

November

National Children's Book Week, November 15-21, is an annual celebration of children's books and reading sponsored by the Children's Book Council. The Youth Library and the Alton Square Branch Library will feature special displays and handouts for parents and children during this week.

As part of this week, the Illinois State Library sponsors Family Reading Night at the Library. Registration for Family Reading Night will open Saturday, November 7 at the Youth Library and the Alton Square Branch Library.

The Youth Library will hold its Family Reading Night on Wednesday, November 18, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Parents and Children Read Together Time is from 6:30 to 7 p.m., followed by Family Story Time with special guest Sergeant Charles Eschbach from the Alton Police (7-7:30 p.m.), with refreshments, free paperback books for all the children, and a prize drawing for a $25 gift certificate to finish up the evening.

The Branch Library will have a similar program on Thursday, November 19, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Our special guest for Story Time at the Branch will be Alton Fire Captain Michael Harvey. For more information on these programs call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652 or Rhoda Cairns at the Branch Library, 463-1276.

NEW DATABASE AVAILABLE ON HAYNER PAC TERMINALS

Those of you who use Hayner's PAC terminals to find magazine articles may have noticed a change in our online database from InfoTrac to EBSCO. The new EBSCO MAS FullTEXT Ultra database, published by EBSCO, is now available on our public access catalog terminals through the Lewis & Clark Library System. The database indexes over 550 periodicals dating back as far as 1984, as well as 400 periodicals dating as far back as 1990. Many of the articles are available in full text and can be printed out right at the computer. The new database also includes the full text of over 5000 Magill Book Reviews.

Please ask a Hayner staff member if you would like help using the new database. ■

BLOOD DRIVE AT THE LIBRARY
The American Red Cross will be holding a blood drive at the library on Saturday, December 19th from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. in the conference room which is located in the lower level of the Youth Library at 401 State Street. A goal of 25 donors has been set for the day. Please stop by and donate a pint of blood on that day.

MEET THE LIBRARY BOARD

All public libraries within the state of Illinois are governed by a Board of Trustees. Members of the board are elected by the residents within the library district. Terms of office are for six years. Every two years the library holds an election for library board trustees. In the April, 1999 election three seats on Hayner's board will be up for re-election. Any interested resident living within the library district is eligible to run for the election.

Nomination papers for the April 13, 1999 Consolidated Election can be picked up from the library's business office during regular hours: 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Signatures of fifty residents of the library district are required. Petitions can be filed beginning January 25, 1999 through February 1, 1999.

As a library board trustee, an individual has an opportunity to be part of a seven member board that helps plan the library district's future, develops policies, and has a voice in short term and long term planning. Monthly board meetings are held the second Wednesday of each month. A board member can take advantage of the various local and regional seminars held for library board trustees that discuss library issues. A library trustee can become as active as he/she wants on the regional, state and national levels.

Current members of the library board include Kevin Botterbush, President; Ann Sheppard, Secretary; Francis Martin, Treasurer; Nancy DeGrand, Jody Morrissey, Mark Repking and David Roller. Many of the members have served on the library board for a number of years. We appreciate the time and service that they have given to the library district. Present board members represent 36 years of service cumulatively. ■

FOOD FOR FINES DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON

Beginning November 27 and continuing through December 31, 1998 anyone that has an overdue item checked out from the library can pay their fine with a canned goods food item. All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the local food pantry in the Alton area. Even if you do not have an overdue item feel free to donate items for the food drive. Happy Holidays! ■

WIN A ST. BERNARD PUPPET...

Drop by the library during the holiday season to register to win one of three St. Bernard hand puppets that the library district will be giving away. Any Hayner library card holder is eligible (except employees and their family members). Winners will be announced live on the air on WBGZ on December 18th. Boxes for the drawing will be at all three Hayner locations: Main Library at 326 Belle Street, Youth Library at 401 State Street and the Branch Library at Alton Square. ■

Youth Librarian Receives National Recognition

Youth Services Librarian Pam Klipsch has been cited by the Illinois Library Association and the American Library Association for her leadership in intellectual freedom and public access issues in libraries. Pam is one of five librarians named by the Illinois Library Association for inclusion in a National Honor Roll celebrating the 30th anniversary of the ALA's Office for Intellectual Freedom and the Freedom To Read Foundation.

Pam Klipsch

Pam has been involved in ALA and ILA intellectual freedom activities throughout her library career, having served on both the state and national intellectual freedom committees and as chair of the ALA Intellectual Freedom Round Table. She has written articles and edited publications dealing with these issues, organized programs and continuing education activities for librarians, and participated as a speaker and trainer for librarians and library trustees at state and national conferences.

Youth Library Receives Literacy Award

The Lewis & Clark Reading Council, local affiliate of the International Reading Association, has bestowed its 1998 Celebrate Literacy! Award on Hayner Youth Library, for promoting literacy through library services to children and families. The award was presented at the Reading Council's fall banquet, and accepted on behalf of the Youth Library staff by Hayner executive director Joyce Reid Jacquelyn Ruff, a teacher at Mark Twain School in Alton, is vice-president of the Reading Council. The Youth Library has partnered with the Adult Literacy Program at Lewis & Clark College and the Alton Public Schools in an on-going series of family literacy projects funded by grants from the Secretary of State's literacy initiative.

More Firefighting Books...

Once again the members of the Alton Fire Fighters Local #1255 have donated money to purchase numerous educational books on firefighting. The fire engine and all the materials donated by Local #1255 have made a tremendous impact on the children. It has helped to further the idea that firefighting is indeed a noble profession. Thanks once again to a great bunch of guys! ■

Special Events at Hayner

Saturday, December 5
3 p.m.

Gifts of the Season, an afternoon concert by the critically acclaimed a cappella singing group, Pieces of Eight, will be presented in front of the fireplace in the historic Reading Room of the Youth Library, deocrated in honor of the season. The program will include songs of Christmas, Hannukah, Kwanzaa and the Winter Solstice. Immediately following, refreshments will be served in the Metzger Conference Room on the lower level of the library.

The group previously performed at the library during National Library Week in 1997 and return by popular demand for this encore engagement. Pieces of Eight appears under the auspices of Young Audiences of St. Louis.

Registration for this program will open on Saturday, November 21. Because of space limitations, we can only accommodate 75 people.

Registration will be accepted in person or by phone until all available places are filled. This is a family program, suitable for all ages. Children must be accompanied by an adult. To register, please call the Youth Library at 462-0652

2 - 3:30 p.m.

The annual Children's Christmas Party will be held at the Youth Library. This year our theme is An Animal Christmas and our tree and other decorations will carry out this theme. The party includes stories, a sing-along, a simple take-home craft, and a visit with Santa and his Elves. Refreshments will be provided by the Friends of the Library and favors for all the children.

Registration for this program opens Saturday, November 28. Register in person or by phone at the Youth Library, 462-0652. This is a family program, suitable for all ages. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

10 a.m.

The second annual Martin Luther King Jr. Brotherhood Breakfast will be held in the Multimedia Room of Advanced Technology Center (ATC) Building on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College. This event is co-sponsored by the Family Literacy Connection of LCCC and the Alton Housing Authority.

Breakfast includes juice, cereal, toast and bacon, sweet rolls and coffee. The library staff will provide a program of stories, crafts and puppet shows in honor of Dr. King and his principles of non-violence and brotherhood. Each child attending the program will receive a free paperback book as a memento

Registration for the program opens on Saturday, January 9, at the Youth Library at 462-0652. The program is limited to 100 people. Registrations will be accepted in person or by phone until all available spaces are filled. This is a family program, suitable for all ages. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

Thursday, February 4, 1999
7 p.m.

Second Annual Eunice Perry Memorial Program will feature Clifton L. Taulbert, award winning author of Once Upon a Time When We Were Colored. The Last Train North. Watching Our Crops Come In, and Eight Habits of the Heart, as the featured speaker for the evening's events. The program will be held in the Hatheway Hall Auditorium at Lewis & Clark Community College.

Clifton L. Taulbert

The program will open with a performance by the Alton High School Gospel Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Norma Jean Henderson. At the conclusion of the program Afrocentric Books of St. Louis will provide a book fair in the lobby of the auditorium. There will be a receiving line and Mr. Taulbert will autograph copies of his books on request.

The program is free of charge and open to all. Hayner Public Library established the Eunice Perry Memorial Program in 1997 in honor of the late Eunice Character Perry, a long time Alton resident and tireless community activist. A community advisory committee works with the library staff to plan the program.

Pre-School Story Times: "Holi-Tales"

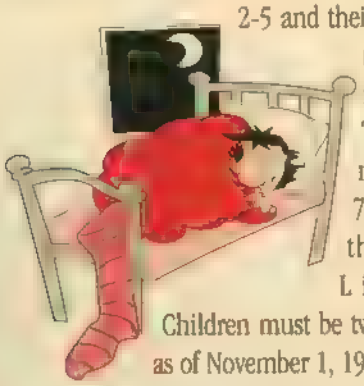
Pre-School Story Times for ages 3-5 are going on now at the Youth Library and the Alton Square Branch Library. Groups meet on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings at 9:30 at the Youth Library, and on Thursday mornings at 10 at the Branch Library. Children must be three years old as of November 1, 1999 to attend the holiday session of story time. There is a limit of 20 children per group. Registrations can be in person or by phone until all available places are filled. The program includes stories, rhymes, songs, fingerplays, puppet shows, rhythmic activities and videos. The six week session concludes December 15, 16, 17. To register call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0652 and Rhoda Cairns at the Branch, 463-1276.

"Mr. Sandman's Visions of Sugarplum Stories"



Bedtime Family Story Time for children ages 2-5 and their parents is now meeting on Tuesday nights at 7:15 p.m. at the Youth Library. Children must be two years old as of November 1, 1999 to attend this holiday session of bedtime story time. There is a limit of fifteen children plus adults for this group. Registration will be taken in person or by phone until all available places are filled. Children may attend in pajamas. Mr. Sandman and the Lullaby Ladies provide a program of stories, songs, rhymes and puppet shows. The six week session concludes December 15. To register call Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

After School Crafts: "Flower Power"

Registration for the second semester series of After School Crafts for ages 6-11 opens Saturday, January 2, 1999 at the Youth Library. There are two groups, meeting on the second or third Thursday of each month from 3:30-4:30 p.m. There is a limit of 20 children per group. Registrations will be taken by person or by phone until all available places are filled. Parents are invited to participate with their children. Each month will feature a different "flower" craft. For more information call Heather Whiteside at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

"Elephantasies": Tales for Primary Grades

Youth Services Librarian, Pam Klipsch, will visit your school by appointment during February and March with her popular story telling series for grades K-2. This year Pam will be sharing tales–tall and not-so-tall–about elephants.

Booking for the program will begin Monday, January 25. We ask that teachers in the same building who wish to take advantage of this program should coordinate scheduling and have one teacher call to book for everyone. The program lasts 35 minutes. Three consecutive sessions can be booked in the same building on the same day. For more information on this program call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Short Story Contest Deadline: December 23rd

December 23rd is the deadline for entries in the Hayner Short Story Contest for Teens Students in grades 6-8 and 9-10, who live or attend school in the Hayner Public Library District are eligible to participate. Cash prizes of $50, $35 and $20 will be awarded to the first, second and third place winners in each division Stories may be on any subject, with a maximum length of 500 words

Entry forms are available at all Hayner locations. All entries must be typed and double-spaced, and accompanied by permission for the library to publish the material, signed by the student's parent or legal guardian.

All entries will be published by the library in a book that will be distributed free to all participants. A committee appointed by the library will judge the winning entries. The prize winners will be announced at a publication party in March.

Teachers Please Note!

The Youth Library provides many services for teachers, including our popular book boxes for classrooms, booklists and videographies to order, teacher materials, parenting materials, Internet searches, school visits and library tours by appointment for classes, teacher in-services, and parent groups. All of these services are also available to homeschoolers. Please call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652, for more information.

The Traveling Puppet Show is also available to visit preschools and kindergartens in the library district by appointment. Please call Gloria Mitchell or Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Remember the Library is Free for All!

All library-sponsored activities are free of charge and open to all residents and cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District. ## PATRON PROFILE: Ed & Leah Meyer

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

About 4 years ago, Alton native Ed Meyer did something many of us dream about--he decided to turn his avocation into his vocation. He left a 15-year career as a river-boat pilot and now with his wife, Leah, owns and operates Summerfield Farm at 1704 West Delmar Avenue. Their first year, the Meyers sold pumpkins out of a tent. Now, after four years of hard work and long hours, you can visit Summerfield's large market-barn where homegrown and local produce, herbs, flowers, seasonal decorations, fine breads, jellies, gift baskets, even jewelry and ornaments are sold. Stopping by Summerfield is one of my favorite Saturday morning errands!

Leah is an artist and graphic designer and, with manager Carley Maholland, creates fun displays and decorations among the flowers and herbs, including some of the most original scare-crows (and scarecrowettes) you have ever seen (for sale, too!). Carley is also a floral designer. She and Leah create beautiful flo-ral arrangements and gift baskets. Summerfield market changes with each season. During the fall, you'll find apples, pumpkins, mums, Halloween decorations, corn stalks, gift baskets, jellies and more. Companion bread is available fresh on Saturday mornings. (This goes quickly!) Summerfield's hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 10-6 and Sunday from 10-5.

From the day after Thanksgiving until Christmas the market will offer Christmas trees (multiple varieties), Christmas wreaths, pine rope, jewelry, ornaments, cit-rus, Amish jellies, and Christmas baskets. Ed and Leah contribute a portion of proceeds of all the Christmas tree sales to the Godfrey Volunteer Firefighters Association. Ed was a volunteer firefighter himself for six years.

The market's hours in November are Saturday 10-6 and Sunday 11-5. December hours include weekdays. On Christmas eve, the market closes for a few months, but Ed and Leah stay busy. Ed studies and attends seminars on farm marketing. He also volun-teers his time working for the University of Illinois Extension Council for Madison and St. Clair Counties. Leah maintains several clients from her graphic design business she developed in her "pre-farm days". She is also an artist--she paints watercolors and designs the jewelry and orna-ments sold at the market. Leah created the Summerfield farm logo, which won "Best Farm Logo in the State of Illinois 1996" at the Specialty Growers' Conference. She also gives gener-ously of her time to community service. She has made all the art-work and ornaments for the "Celebration of Christmas" at Rock Springs Park since the festi-val's inception until 1997.

Come the early spring, the mar-ket opens up with hydroponic tomatoes (raised in Pittsfield), asparagus, lettuce, greens, bed-ding plants, perennials, mulch, and landscaping supplies.

The farm grows its own tomatoes, which are available around July 1 (they're wonderful and they have a great salsa mix too!), beans, peppers, and more. Through the summer, the market also carries local Calhoun peaches, sweet corn, melons and a great variety of all the local fruits and vegeta-bles we are lucky enough to enjoy in this area. The farm also offers cut flowers and herbs, or you can cut your own!

Ed and Leah have lots of plans for the future, too--Ed has planted blackberries, asparagus and red and white grapes to be available next year. They are also evaluat-ing building their own green-house and converting their farm-house into a gallery and garden shop. The phone number at the farm is 466-2678. Stop by any time and browse around--there's always something different. ■

BEYOND WORDS CELEBRATING AMERICA'S LIBRARIES PHOTO CONTEST

Amateur and professional photographers are invited to capture the spirit of the library in the Beyond Words: Celebrating America's Libraries Photo Contest sponsored by Hayner Library in celebration of the Bicentennial of the Library of Congress in the year 2000.

Photos should demonstrate the best of what the library has to offer–whether it's a place to study, surf the Internet, enjoy a story, check out a new mystery or video,–and/or how the library makes a difference in a person's life. Today's libraries provide an array of resources to build a nation of readers and lifelong learners. Photos can be taken anywhere the library makes a difference.

The contest is open to photographers of all ages. Winners will be chosen in three divisions: professional, amateur/adult and amateur/youth (ages 6-17). Rules and entry forms will be available December 7, 1998 at all three Hayner locations. Entries will be accepted from December 7, 1998 to April 2, 1999.

Prizes will be awarded in each division. They include: 1st place: $100; 2nd place: $50; 3rd place: $25 and honorable mention $10. Winners will be announced during National Library Week, April 11-17, 1999.

The top three winners in each division will be forwarded for judging in the national Beyond Words: Celebrating America's Libraries Photo Contest sponsored by the American Library Association and the Library of Congress

Contest rules and entry forms can be picked up at any three Hayner Library locations beginning Monday, December 7th. Get your cameras ready ■

DISPLAY WINDOWS AT BRANCH LIBRARY

We would like to thank Grace Monroe and Charlotte Johnson for doing our display windows at the branch library in Alton Square Mall. All of the historic displays are being done by these two ladies. We appreciate them volunteering their knowledge, time and materials. The response to the local history has been overwhelming. ■

L+I+B+R+A+R+Y: THE FORMULA FOR LIFELONG EDUCATION

During the library's past fiscal year (July 1997 through July 1998) a total of 334,900 items were checked out by circulation staff. During this same time period 325,464 people visited the library; 6,130 reference questions were answered. Over 20,000 items were added to the library's collection. The library has over 160,000 items in its total collection.

Keep up with the pack…use the library ■

THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

Serving Alton, Godfre & Foosterburg Spring 1999 Vol. VII, No. 3

FRIENDS OF THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

How does one define a "friend of the library?" A Hayner friend can be defined as a concerned individual interested in making literature and reading available at a very reasonable price. A friend is also a person who collects peoples' treasures and shares them with others.

The Friends group for Hayner began in 1981 with 9 members that has grown to 46 members in 1999. Every Monday morning a group of 12-15 friends are at the Barrett Building at 327 State Street sorting through donated items for their upcoming spring book sale.

At the outset of their existence, the Friends made a conscious decision that their focus would be to help the Youth Library with its end of summer reading program activities and holiday programs and to sponsor a fall and spring book sale each year. The Friends first book sale held in May, 1982 netted $350. Over the years book sale receipts steadily increased to over the $4000 range in 1998.

The library has been the recipient of these funds. Throughout the years the Friends have purchased such items as computers, printers, art prints, summer reading trophies, puppet theater, laminating machine, copy machine, Robert Wadlow films and videos of the new Clark Bridge.

Two often asked questions of the Friends group include "What do you do with the books left after a book sale?" The books are offered to teachers, nursing homes and nonprofit organizations--recycling in progress. The second question asked is "What types of books do you want for a book sale?" The Friends take any type of materials and will pick up from an individual's home if necessary. A person just needs to contact the library and arrangements will be made for any pickup of materials.

Officers of the Friends group include David Strasser, President; Susan Wilikinson, Vice-President; June Weinrich, Secretary and Pat Renault, Treasurer.

If you would like to become a Friend of Hayner Library contact one of the officers or you can mail a check for your membership to Friends of Hayner Public Library District, 401 State Street, Alton, IL 62002. Membership fees are $2 for students; $5 for an individual membership; $10 for a family membership; $25 for a patron membership, $50 for a contributor membership; and $100 for a life membership.

Come meet the Friends in action at their upcoming spring book sale that will be held on May 6th, 7th and 8th at 327 State Street. ■

LIBRARY HOLDS BROTHERHOOD BREAKFAST IN HONOR OF DR. KING'S BIRTHDAY

The second annual Martin Luther King Jr. Brotherhood Breakfast for families was held on January 18th in the Multimedia Room of the Advanced Technology Center Building on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College. The Family Literacy Connection of Lewis & Clark Community College and Alton Housing Authority were co-sponsors of the event with the library. Each child attending the program received a paperback book as a memento.

Families were entertained by stories of Martin Luther King and a puppet drama titled "Respect" performed by Steve Fahrig and Olivia Neal from the Youth Services department of the library. The program ended with everyone holding hands and singing "We Shall Overcome" led by Olivia Neal. ■

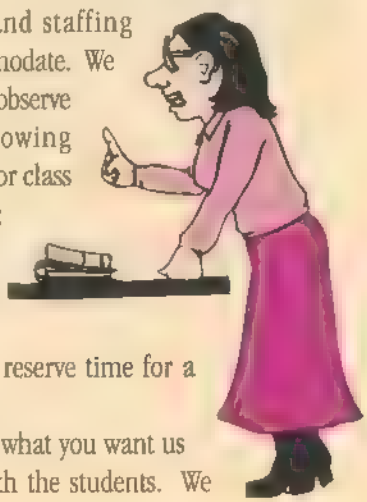
Traveling Puppet Show Available For Preschool And Kindergarten Visits

Our traveling puppet show has prepared a special program called Ready, Set, Read! for visits to preschools, day cares and kindergarten classes located in the library district. We will begin taking bookings for this program on Monday, March 22. We ask that teachers in the same building who want to take advantage of this program should coordinate scheduling and have one teacher call to book for everyone. The program lasts about 40 minutes, up to three consecutive sessions can be booked in the same building on the same day. We will take bookings until all available time slots are filled. For more information on this program please call Gloria Mitchell or Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library (462-0652).

Library Field Trips... Teachers Please Note!

Many teachers want to bring their classes to the Youth Library for field trips during the last two months of the school year. We are pleased to welcome as many classes as our schedule and staffing can accommodate. We ask you to observe the following guidelines for class field trips: call at least two weeks in advance to reserve time for a field trip



Tell us what you want us to cover with the students. We offer a tour and brief history of the lib building; or a short, general introduction to the organization of the library and an overview of the kinds of materials and services we provide; or a story time and puppet show along with a talk about how to take care of library books. Due to limited space and equipment we are not able to provide in depth instruction on the library's automated catalog or Internet access.

Groups should be limited in size to 30 children or less, and each group should be accompanied by at least three adults (one adult for every ten children). For more information please call the Youth Library (462 0652).

PATRON PROFILE: Dianne Burton

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

Dianne Burton is the subject of this issue's patron profile. She is a business woman who has contributed in many ways to the Alton community.

Dianne began her professional career as a manager at Towata Art Gallery in downtown Alton. There, she started framing for artists and antique dealers on a wholesale basis. Upon obtaining a Master's Degree in Business Administration, Dianne worked for the May Company as a Visual Merchandising Consultant and also designed model home interiors for construction companies. Through word of mouth she was sought out to continue framing for individual residences and interior design firms. Following the flood of 1993, Dianne opened her own retail art gallery, representing local artists.

This past summer, Dianne decided to re-focus her business on the individual customer (as opposed to artists), providing a variety of services including framing, installation, restoration, and appraisals. She hopes this will also allow her to spend more time with her daughter, Kate, before she goes off to college in just two more years!

Dianne has moved her home and business, Burton Art Services, to a new location at 908 State St. Dianne is really excited about her new home. Built in 1826 and made of native limestone, the house was a grocery store during the Civil War. From the street side, the structure looks to be a one-level building, but it is built against the hill and is actually a three-story structure, the back of which looks into woods Dianne says, "It's like living in a tree house!"

Dianne is also an Illinois State Nature Reserves Commissioner. Commissioned by the Governor's office, the responsibility of this position is to steward all nature preserve properties in the state, including the 400-acre Olin Nature Preserve. Additionally, Dianne is a member of the River Bend Growth Association and recently helped develop a seminar geared towards success and the small business.

Dianne Burton

Dianne really likes to focus on preserving early Alton painting and artwork. She recently finished a project for Hayner Library, mounting framing and hanging maps from an original 1873 Madison County almanac. You can see these works in the Illinois Room at the Adult Library. She is in the process of restoring other artwork in the Library, including some early Alton watercolors. Take a look at these the next time you're in the Library. ■

"CABIN FEVER"

In the weeks after Christmas
Cabin fever took hold.
Snow and sleet pelted.
It was horribly cold.

The north wind kept blowing the skies were all gray.
The snow and the ice
just would not go away.

We're trying to deal with the weather we've got.
We sip mugs of cocoa—
the kind that is hot.

We sniffle and sneeze and long for the day
Blue skies will appear as the clouds go away.

We're stuck in our houses—sidewalks are all covered
And yet overhead
even more snow clouds hovered.

We've twisted our ankles and bruised our behinds Cabin fever is trying to mess with our minds.

The streets have been salted—
our cars are a mess.
At least we can travel around more or less.

We think about springtime and peek out the door.
The snow is now melting...
What?! the forecast says

BEYOND WORDS CELEBRATING AMERICA'S LIBRARIES PHOTO CONTEST

Amateur and professional photographers are invited to capture the spirit of the library in the Beyond Words: Celebrating America's Libraries Photo Contest. It is being sponsored by Hayner Library in celebration of the Bicentennial of the Library of Congress in the year 2000.

Photos should demonstrate the best of what the library has to offer–whether it's a place to study, surf the Internet, enjoy a story, check out a new mystery or video, and/or how the library makes a difference in a person's life. Today's libraries provide an array of resources to build a nation of readers and lifelong learners. Photos can be taken anywhere the library makes a difference.

The contest is open to photographers of all ages. Winners will be chosen in three divisions: 1) professional; 2) amateur/adult; and 3) amateur/youth (ages 6-17). Rules and entry forms are available at all three Hayner locations. Entries will be accepted through April 2, 1999

Prizes will be awarded in each division. They include $100 for first place; $50 for second place; $25 for third place and $10 for honorable mention. Winners will be announced on Thursday, April 15 at 7 p.m. in the Metzger Conference Room located on the lower level of the Youth Library.

The top three winners in each division will be forwarded for judging in the national Beyond Words Photo Contest sponsored by the American Library Association and the Library of Congress. Start snapping those pictures. ■

THE TELEGRAPH INDEX — HAYNER'S RESEARCH GEM

One of Hayner Library's most unique and valuable resources is its Alton Telegraph index. This index to Alton's newspaper offers a wealth of information to genealogists and local history buffs and a timesaving tool to the patron who just needs to find an obituary.

The index currently covers the years 1836 to 1939 and 1970 to 1989. It can be used to help locate not only personal names in the Telegraph, but also subjects such as businesses, organizations or historical events from the Alton area. If an article has been cited, the index lists the date, section, page and column where the story can be found and whether or not a picture is included. Hayner holds the newspaper itself on microfilm, from 1836 to current, so the entire article can be easily read or printed out.

The original Telegraph index began as a Work Projects

Staff members that index the Telegraph--
Martha Fry (sitting), Marjorie Hallett, Pam Smith

Administration activity in the 1930's. Workers indexed the years 1836-1933 on cards. These cards seemed forgotten until the 1970's when they resurfaced during a renovation project at the newspaper. At that time, the library and the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association published the index in book form. The library also picked up where the WPA left off, completing the indexing of the 1930's while simultaneously indexing the current newspapers.

The index project continued with generous support from the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association and help from the Alton Foundation until it came under the library itself. The project is now computerized and employs three Hayner staff members with the finished index produced on microfilm. Currently the early 1990's are being indexed with plans to go back and cover the earlier years that have not been done.

The Telegraph index and the Telegraph on microfilm are located at the Adult Library downtown. There are two microfilm readers at that location and staff that can show researchers how to use them. Both microfilm readers have printing capability with copies $.10 per page. Whether you're doing detailed research or just need an obituary fast, try the Telegraph index first and see if it can do some of the hard work for you ■

NEW STAFF AT THE YOUTH LIBRARY

Geralyn Lindow

Please join us in welcoming Geralyn Lindow to the staff of the Youth Library. Geralyn is a transplant from Minnesota. She and husband Paul and their four children live in Bethalto now. Geralyn has been a teacher and a home school mother for the past nine years. In her mythical spare time she enjoys crafts and sewing. Geralyn will be doing our craft programs and story times at the Branch Library. She succeeds (because no one could possibly replace) Heather Whiteside, who is leaving the Youth Library to get married and move to Tennessee. A warm welcome to Geralyn and best wishes for all future happiness to Heather! ■

STAFF PICKS - WHAT WE'RE READING...

Do I Know You ?: Living Through the End of a Parent's Life

by Betty Ann Moskowitz. Non-fiction

The author takes the reader through stages of denial to gradual acceptance of facts and role reversal with a parent's mental decline She discusses the doubts we have concerning the decision to place a loved one in a care facility and the skepticism and mistrust of the actual care delivered and supports readers in the emotions they have at this time and lets them know these feelings are not unique –Cathie L.

The Elegant Universe: Superstrings, Hidden Dimensions, and the Quest for the Ultimate Theory

by Brian R. Green. Non-fiction

Presents an intelligent explanation of the theories of scientific law that govern the universe. Clearly written and easy to understand by the average person –Cathie L.

Saga of a Wayward Sailor

by Tristan Jones. Non-fiction

Autobiographical sketches of Jones' adventures–both the dangers he encounters and the characters he meets during his small boat seafaring with his three-legged dog Nelson. From the Baltic Sea to the Atlantic and beyond, Jones salty tales are full of humor but also offer the philosophy of overcoming adversity. Jones has written several nonfiction and fiction books –Jan H.

Dave Barry in Cyberspace

by Dave Barry Non-fiction

Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Dave Barry takes a hilarious look at the Internet, computers, and his lack of ability to use both. Computer lovers and haters alike will laugh out loud reading about Dave's attempts at using the World Wide Web to access web sites, chat rooms, and his misadventures in buying his own PC. This book is a definite "must read" for anyone thinking of entering the computer age – Mary P.

Darkness Take My Hand

by Dennis Lehane. Fiction

A Boston PI tracks down a serial killer...grizzly violence and suspense...a real page turner but definitely NOT for the squeamish. Great characters and wisecracking dialogue. If you are a John Sandford or Thomas Harris fan, I'm betting you'll love Lehane – Bernie D.

Nice Work if You Can Get It: My Life in Rhythm and Rhyme

by Michael Feinstein. Non-fiction

Michael Feinstein's autobiography chronicling his growth and development as a performer including the six years he spent working with Ira Gershwin. Lots of fascinating anecdotes of some of the great contemporary composers including the Gershwins, Harry Warren, Harold Arlen, Irving Berlin and more. You can check out Mr. Feinstein's CD s and video at the library too! – Bernie D.

Outlander

by Diana Gabaldon. Fiction

An oldie, but good. If you like adventure and period settings, this series by Diana Gabaldon, Outlander, Dragonfly in Amber, Voyager and Drums of Autumn will keep you riveted. Remember, be careful of the Stones...– Ginger T.

My Master's Touch

by Lynda Nelson. Fiction

A heartfelt story of Jesus as told by a tiny burro, this beautifully written story, My Master's Touch, is a "master's piece." A powerful story in a tiny book – Ginger T.

The Hairstons: an American Family in Black and White

by Henry Wiencek. Non-fiction

A fascinating look at slavery and its legacy as shown through the black and white members of the Hairston family, one of the wealthiest and largest slave holders in pre-Civil War America. Plantation accounts, family papers and oral histories document plantation life for both groups. Wiencek spent seven years researching and writing what happened to the family lines down through modern descendants today with the mystery of a lost child at the center of this very readable story –Katie S

Cold Sassy Tree

by Olive Ann Burns. Fiction

An older book but still wonderful. It's the turn of the century in Georgia. 14-year-old Will Tweedy's grandfather owns the town's general store. When Grandpa elopes with a lady half his age three weeks after his wife's death, Will watches his family and the town react the way families and small towns do. Warm, honest, funny – you'll love Burns' characters and the town she creates. This is one of those books you hate to see end Katie S.

In the Lake of the Woods

by Tim O'Brien. Fiction

After an unsuccessful bid for U.S. Senate, a bid destroyed by his hidden past in Vietnam, John Wade and his wife Kathy seek refuge in a cabin on the shore of a Minnesota lake. Kathy disappears. Is she in the lake or did she escape John and his past? In this psychological thriller, Pulitzer Prize winning author Tim O Brien takes us into the mind of a person able to hide the truth even from himself. Haunting and beautifully written. I couldn't put it down –Katie S. and Bernie D

Trek On Down To Hayner And Read The Summer Away!

Sign up for the 1999 summer reading club — Time Trek Readers — between June 5 and July 3 at the Youth Library or the Alton Square Branch Library The original virtual reality device is waiting for you at the library a compact, portable, interactive laptop unit called The Book! Just plug in your imagination and you have total access to any thing, any time, any where. Reading club is open to all kids ages 0-15. Even prereaders can participate if an adult agrees to read to them.

Children under 12 must be accompanied by a parent or other adult caregiver who can co-sign the registration. Teens (ages 12-15) can register on their own. Registration for all summer programs is in-person only; we regret we cannot accept telephone registrations.

Those who complete at least 6 hours of reading and turn in their time slips by August 2 win a free paperback book reading award. Books will be distributed at the End of Summer Party on August 5 at the Riverbend Arena, Lewis & Clark Community College. If you can't make the party you can pick up your book at the Youth Library any time between August 6 and August 28.

Reading club members also receive incentive prizes for every 6 hours of reading completed up to 30 hours. Those who read 30 hours or more will have their names posted on the Century Readers display at the Youth Library. Those who read the most hours in each age division are declared our 1999 Reading Champions. The school with the highest percentage of students completing the reading program will win the Friends of the Library Traveling Summer Reading Trophy.

Summer schools and day care centers can partner with the library as outreach sites and participate in the summer reading program at Hayner. Call Pam Klipsch at Hayner Youth Library (462-0652) for more information.

Activity Programs

In addition to the summer reading club, the library provides a variety of activity programs for children and teens. All library programs are free and open to any resident or cardholder of Hayner Public Library District. Some programs have age limits, and the number of participants may be limited due to available space. Registration for all programs opens June 5 unless otherwise noted. Register in person only at the location where you plan to attend the program. Registration for each program closes when all available places are filled. No activity programs meet during the week of July 4-10.

J.D. Junior Volunteers

Our summer service project for ages 12-15 provides an opportunity to teens to volunteer one day a week at the Youth Library during the summer. You can pick up an application packet at the Youth Library beginning May 3. We will begin accepting volunteer applications at the Youth Library on Tuesday, June 1. Enrollment is limited to ten volunteers.

NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Welcome to Susan Huber and Rick Lauschke, new board members, who join the Hayner Public Library District Board of Trustees. Susan and Rick were the elected candidates from a slate of six candidates running for library board trustee in the April 13th general election, along with incumbent Kevin Botterbush.

New Board Members
Susan Huber & Rick Lauschke

Susan is an Alton High School graduate with an associate's degree from Belleville Area College in physical therapy. She is a physical therapy assistant at Alton Physical Therapy PC and a member of the Friends of Hayner Library. Susan's mother, Sarah Huber, served on the library board for 12 years which sparked her interest in running for trustee. She states that "I just grew up at the library. It is a big asset for Alton and I have time to make the commitment to a good cause. We need to promote it better to the community. The present board and staff are doing a great job."

Rick is director of sales and marketing for Premier Air Center of Bethalto. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana and spent 16 years working for IBM in sales and marketing. Rick said he was raised to "give back to the community" and wants to do so by serving on the library board. He also served on the Alton School District's Facility (field house) Planning Committee. He feels that the library is a great facility and wants to do anything that he can to promote and improve it with his business experience. ■

HAYNER HOMEBOUND SALUTES ITS VOLUNTEERS

Volunteers for Hayner's Homebound program make a difference with their special warmth and care. The library would like to say thank you for their services and for the extra time shared with the program's users. The volunteers are a shining inspiration for the work performed. They make a world a better place and we appreciate their efforts.

Standing: Stephanie Munson, Kathie Rain, June Weinrich

A special luncheon served by Stephanie Munson, Homebound Program Coordinator, was given in honor of the thousand of hours the volunteers in the Homebound program give to Hayner Library's Homebound patrons during National Library Week.

The Homebound Program would not be functioning without the help of Dr. Ned DuVivier, Kathie Rain, Jody Stuart, Ev Keehner, Spiv Woelfle, June Weinrich and Iris Saaf ■

NOVELIST DATABASE AVAILABLE AT HAYNER

"I like to read mysteries set in Chicago with female protagonists." "Could I have a list of books written by Toni Morrison?" "I'd like to read some of the Nebula Award winners – which books have won?"

If you've ever had a question similar to any of these, you'll love the NoveList database. Made available to Hayner Library through the Illinois State Library, this Internet reader's advisory database is the place to look for your favorite type of fiction books. You can look up books using any of the following methods:

Match a Favorite Author
Match a Favorite Book
Describe a Plot
Best Fiction
Explore Fiction

Once you have generated your initial list, you may choose to find similar books to the ones on your list, or browse through lists of books you've generated and save choices to a personal list.

Come in and try the NoveList database on the Internet at any of the Hayner locations. If you have any questions, feel free to ask Susan or Katie at the Adult Library for assistance. ■

LET HAYNER HELP YOU PLAN YOUR FAMILY VACATION

Even at its best, a good vacation can be a lot of work–scheduling time off; finding and booking the cheapest flights, hotels, or rental vehicles; packing, and planning. Add children to this mayhem–packing toys, supplies, and clothing, plus worrying about how to keep them safe and entertained–and you may be tempted to throw in the towel and stay home! Don't despair, though–Hayner Library has plenty of resources on how to make the most of your family vacation this year.

Don't leave until you've looked at Claire Tristram's Have Kid, Will Travel: 101 Survival Strategies for Vacationing with Babies and Young Children (306.874 TRI). This gem covers everything: road, air and international trips, camping, hotels and restaurants, special situations, and emergencies. When you are ready to decide on a destination, try one of these: Super Family Vacations Resort and Adventure Guide, by Martha Shirk (917.04 SHI); Great Family Vacations: Midwest and Rocky Mountain Region, by Candyce H. Stapen (917.8 STA); 50 Great Family Vacations: Western North America, also by Candyce H. Stapen (917.8043 STA); or The Best Bargain Family Vacations in the U.S.A., by Laura Sutherland. More specialized information can be found in Herb Gordon's The Joy of Family Camping (796.54 GOR) or Rita Aero's Walt Disney World for Adults and Families, Too! (917.592 AER).

If you'd rather not stray far from home, you can still have fun outings with your kids. Lori Meek Schuldt's Illinois Family Adventure Guide (917.7304 SCH) covers attractions in Chicago and the vicinity, as well as in other areas of Illinois. If you want to stay even closer, try

PATRON PROFILE: Robert St. Peters

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

Robert St. Peters, this issue's patron profile, is a true Alton Landmark! A native of Alton, Illinois, Bob has had a rich and varied career and has consistently given of himself to family, country, community and friends.

Bob attended Marquette High School, graduating with the class of 1942. In June, 1943 he was inducted into the Navy and served until April, 1946. He was an Electrician Mate 2nd Class serving on the USS Franklin CV-13 aircraft carrier. The Franklin served in the South Pacific and was in five major battles. It was the most decorated and most damaged ship in naval history to return to port under its own power, a trip of 13,000 miles. Bob has been President of the USS Franklin Museum Association since 1987.

After leaving the service Bob went to St. Francis Seminary for one year. He left the seminary, moved to Philadelphia and married a former Senior USO Hostess, Helen Lowrey, whom he had met while serving in the Navy. Bob and Helen moved back to Alton in 1952 and raised their family of four children - Robbie, Helen, Joan & Janice (twins). Bob worked for McDonnell-Douglas for 23 years as a Senior Design Engineer.

In 1970, Bob became a charter member of the Alton Area Landmarks Association. He has been President for 25 years. Bob led the fight to save the Alton Riverfront and thus the city named the former Front Street "Landmarks Blvd."

Bob's wife, Helen, was responsible for starting and developing the school library at Sts. Peter & Paul Grade School, which is now known as the Helen St. Peters Memorial Library.

Helen passed away in 1995. That was the same year Bob began studying the violin under Pete Pancella at Lewis & Clark Community College. Today, Bob plays once a month at St. Clare's Adult Day Care Center to "a most appreciative audience." Bob also plays percussion with the New Horizon Band at Lewis & Clark Community College. He has also performed the Hawaiian Guitar for audiences at Hayner Public Library and Red Lobster Restaurant.

Bob St. Peters

Bob is a wonderful friend to all of us in the library. He always has laughter to share and a great enjoyment of life that is contagious. Thank you, Bob, for all your contributions to the community and to your friends! ■

"NECESSITIES OF SPRING"

by Cathie Lamere

Spring is upon us,
Winter is over,
Soon we'll be able
To romp in the clover.

The breezes are warmer,
The lawns are now greening.
Winter s damage is showing--
It's time for yard preening!

Garden beds to attend now -
We hoe and we rake.
It looks so much better,
But my muscles all ache!

I thought I could sit,
Relax and just read
A library book-
Is just what I need!

At the library,
I browsed and I wandered
An enormous selection--
I paused and I pondered.

The shelves were quite full.
It was really astounding.
The books and the music
And films were surrounding.

I forgot all my pains,
My tiredness abated
With all my great finds
I felt truly elated.

I made my selection,
Went home, had a look.
And the next thing I knew
I was lost in a book. ■

BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP AT HAYNER

If you love books and love to read, join us for the book discussion group held once a month at Hayner Library.

The group meets from 9:30 to 11:00 A.M. on the fourth Friday of every month. Meetings are held in the Metzger Conference Room, located in the lower level of the Youth Library downtown. The group currently has about ten members who meet over coffee to discuss that month's book, choose future picks and exchange the names of good reads they have found. A staff member helps moderate the discussions, finding brief and sometimes offbeat biographical information about the authors and a few literary reviews.

The group has met at the library for over a year and book choices have included fiction, non-fiction and mysteries. Some group favorites: A Lesson Before Dying by Ernest Gaines — profoundly moving; Snow Falling on Cedars by David Guterson — the group loved it and can't wait to read his new one; No Ordinary Time by Doris Kearns Goodwin, a non-fiction about the home front under F.D.R. — led to great personal reminiscences about the war years.

Whether you just love books, want to try new authors, or would like to share the thoughts you have after you've finished the last page, join us for our book discussion group. New members are welcome. Upcoming titles and dates for discussion include:

May 28th

Alias Grace by Margaret Atwood. Based on an actual 19th century murder case in which a young housemaid is convicted of killing her employer and his mistress. Offers a look at the developing fields of psychology and hypnosis.

June 25th

Angle of Repose by Wallace Stegner. Stegner's masterpiece and a Pulitzer Prize winner, the story of four generations and the developing American West with a wheelchair-bound retired historian's quest to learn about his grandparents, now dead, at the story's heart.

July 23rd

House of Mirth by Edith Wharton.

The story of Lily Bart's fall from New York society at the turn of the century because she did not fit its idea of what a woman her age should be.

Anyone interested in joining the book discussion group or just trying out a session can contact Katie at Hayner's Adult Library downtown or call the Adult Library at 462-0651. ■

BANNED BOOKS WEEK (SEPTEMBER 25 - OCTOBER 2)
CELEBRATING OUR FREEDOM TO READ!

Hayner Public Library will participate in Banned Books Week with special displays and handouts at all three library locations. Banned Books Week is an annual national event co-sponsored by the American Library Association, the American Booksellers Association, the Association of American Publishers, the Library of Congress Center For The Book and other national groups that uphold the traditional and uniquely American values enshrined in the First Amendment: the right of every individual to decide for himself what he will read, hear, view, think and speak.

America's public libraries play an important role in maintaining the First Amendment rights of every citizen to share in the free and open exchange of information and ideas necessary for people to govern themselves. This summer at the American Library Association's annual convention in New Orleans, retired General Colin Powell, speaking at the opening general session, applauded America's libraries and librarians for the work they do, and especially their concern for the well being of families and children.

In a statement adopted this summer, Libraries: An American Value, ALA has reiterated its commitment to the people libraries serve. The Board of Trustees and staff of the Hayner Public Library District are proud to endorse this statement and adopt it as the policy of this library. Copies of Libraries: An American Value will be displayed at all Hayner locations to remind us that the people we serve are the reason we are here. ■

SEPTEMBER SIGN UP AND WIN!!!!

Well, the summer's over, the kids are back in school and guess what? Homework, science projects, term papers, book reports are all looming on the horizon! Time to get that most important of school supplies . . . a library card. September is Library Card Sign-Up Month and we would like to see EVERYONE be able to take advantage of our wonderful collections. Students can check out materials to prepare their assignments. Business people can keep up to date with the current periodicals and business books or, if you're looking for a new job, maybe books on resume prep and interviewing techniques would be helpful. Of course there's nothing like having the latest best seller to read on a cool fall night. Whatever your reading needs, come to the library, let us show you around and sign you up for a card. For added encouragement during the month of September, every new card issued to a child or teenager at the Youth Library will come with a free paperback book to keep or get a free local area map when you sign up for a new card at the Hayner Main and Branch locations. To get a library card couldn't be easier. Just bring proof of residency in Alton, Godfrey or Fosterburg (drivers license or checkbook or tax bill etc.) to any Hayner location. It only takes a few minutes... Remember if you are under eighteen, parent or guardian signature is required. Your new card can be used at all three Hayner locations, at any public library in the Metro-East area and throughout the entire state of Illinois. Come to the library and WIN ! ■

FIDDLE MUSIC RETURNS!!

Last fall, the library featured violin and fiddle music by Pete Pancella and Mary Neist. They return this year on November 9, 1999.

Pete and Mary Pancella

The founder and Director of the Lewis and Clark Camerata, Pete Pancella has been performing and teaching in the region since 1985. In recent years, he and Mary (now husband and wife), have collaborated on a number of projects. Holding a Masters in Liturgy from the University of Notre Dame, Mary, now Mary N. Pancella, is organist and Director of Choirs at Holy Infant Church in Ballwin. Although her major instruments are piano and organ, her role in the duo includes vocals and guitar as well as keyboards. Their polkas, tangos and waltzes were featured last year at First Night River Bend. In January, both were involved in the festivities surrounding the Pope's visit to the United States — Mary in the Archdiocesan Choir and Pete as Director of the Louis IX Consort. From there it was on to the Christopher Radko Ornament promotion for several hours of Irish music.

As a special guest this year, the library welcomes a young but seasoned fiddler. Aaron Hummert, a freshman at Belleville West, has been studying violin for nine years and piano for six years. He also plays guitar and five-string banjo. In addition to playing the violin with the Metro-East Junior Philharmonic Orchestra, he is very active in the local bluegrass and traditional music community. He has won several awards for fiddling including first place at the O'Fallon Knights of Columbus Old Time Fiddling Contest. He was honored with the Pappy's Choice Award for dedication to the art of fiddling at the 1998 Pappy Wade Ray Fiddling Contest. He also won first place in the Illinois State Fair Junior Fiddling Championship in 1998.

The centerpiece of this year's program will be American style traditional string music. Improvisation is the main ingredient in the old style folk music, whether it comes from the Appalachian Mountains or the plains of Texas. Out of Kentucky came Bill Monroe, who with his "Bluegrass Boys" became a chief ambassador of this difficult-to-categorize music. Up-tempo arrangements with vocal harmonies gave Monroe's music enough commercial appeal to create a whole new genre of music. The trio will perform this "bluegrass" music as well as what some prefer to call "old time" or "old style" music.

Aaron Hummert

You do not want to miss this exciting evening of foot stamping, hand clapping musical entertainment. There is no charge for the show but seating is limited so please call the Adult Library to register at 462-0651. The performance will be held at 6:30, Nov. 9, 1999 in the Jimmie J. Keller Reading Room of the Adult Library. ■

SUNDAY MATINEE AT HAYNER — INTERNATIONAL & INDEPENDENT FILM SERIES

International and independent films will be the focus of a new film series on Sunday afternoons at Hayner Public Library this fall. Starting Sunday, October 17 and running through December 5, new films added to the Hayner video collection will debut on the widescreen television in the Metzger Conference Room, located on the lower level of the Hayner Memorial Building, 401 State Street. Films will start promptly at 1:30 p.m. A list of films and showdates, with brief descriptions of the films, will be available at all Hayner locations beginning October 1. No registration is necessary to attend.

Over the last eight years the library has developed an extensive collection of international and independent films on video as part of its participation in a regional cooperative project with other Metro East libraries. Some titles are unique, not readily available anywhere else in southern Illinois. Many Hayner patrons appreciate the chance to view films from around the world, as do library users throughout the region, who make use of Hayner's collection via interlibrary loan and reciprocal borrowing.

In keeping with library policy, parents make the final decision regarding their children's use of the library and its resources, including their attendance at library-sponsored programs. ■

Preschool Story Times for Ages 3-5

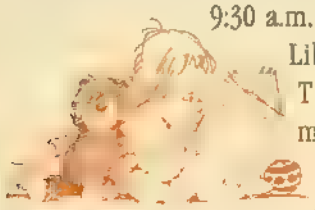
Registration for the Fall Session of Preschool Story Time opens Saturday, September 4. Children must be three years old as of September 1, 1999 to attend this session. Story Times are held on Tuesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. at the Youth Library, and Thursday mornings at 10 a.m. at the Alton Square Branch Library. Meeting dates for the fall session are September 14/16, 21/23, 28/30; October 5/7, 12/14, 19/21. Programs include puppet shows, stories, songs, rhymes, finger plays, rhythmic movement, and videos. Space is limited and registrations are taken on a first-come, first-served basis . To register call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0652 or Rhoda Cairns at the Branch Library, 463-1276.



Registration for the Holiday Session of Preschool Story Time will open Saturday, October 30. Meetings for this session will run from November 9/11 through December 14/16. Children must be three years old as of November 1, 1999 to attend this session.

Bedtime Stories for Ages 2-5

Mr. Sandman and the Lullaby Lady are back with another session of their popular Bedtime Story Time this fall! Registration opens September 4 for this program, held on Tuesday nights at 7:15 p.m. at the Youth Library. Space is limited to 15 children, accompanied by an adult. Meeting dates are September 14, 21, 28; October 5, 12, 19. To register, call Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Mr. Sandman and the Lullaby Lady will also have a Holiday Session of Bedtime Stories. Registration opens October 30 at the Youth Library. Meeting dates run from November 9 through December 14.

CRAFTS, CRAFTS, CRAFTS

Special Wizard Of Oz Centenary Craft Series for Ages 6-11

To celebrate the 100th Anniversary of Illinois author L. Frank Baum's classic children's story, the Youth Library is offering a special year-long craft series, developed and presented by local artist and therapist Lisa Kay. Registration opens Saturday, September 4, and is limited to 20 children. We will take registrations until all available places are filled. Parents are welcome to attend with their children and help with the activities. Programs will be held on the second Thursday of each month from October through April, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Youth Library.

Because of limited space and anticipated demand for this program we ask parents to be reasonably sure your children will be able to attend all the monthly programs in this series before you sign up. We don't want to turn children away because registration has closed and then have empty places at the programs when those who registered don't show up.

Make Mine Music! After School Crafts for Ages 6-11

Registration for the Fall/Winter Series of After School Crafts also will open September 4. This series will meet on the third Thursday of the month, October-January, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Youth Library. Again, space is limited. Parents are welcome to attend with their children and help with the craft activities.

To register for either the Wizard of Oz or the Make Mine Music! Craft Series please call Geralyn Lindow at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Traveling Puppet Show

The Traveling Puppet Show is available to visit day care centers, preschools and kindergarten classes during the school year. We will begin accepting bookings for the fall semester on Monday, September 13. Our traveling show is enhanced this year by a beautiful new portable puppet stage painted to look like the facade of the historic Youth Library building, with Jennie D. Hayner looking out the library's window! To book a visit to your classroom call Gloria Mitchell or Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

COME JOIN THE FUN!

Special Events at Hayner

The library recently received the gift of a 60 inch widescreen television for video film programming! Those who attended our summer story time and film programs can attest to the enhanced enjoyment of films viewed on the big screen! This fall we are starting a Saturday morning film series for families: Specially For Kids: Award-Winning Films From Around The World, at 10:30 a.m. at the Youth Library. The list of films and show dates, with descriptions of each film, will be available beginning October 1 at all Hayner locations. Children of all ages, accompanied by an adult, are invited to attend. No registration is required. For more information call Pam Klipsch.

Teen Read Week
October 17-23

To celebrate Teen Read Week locally, the library is repeating its Short Story Contest for Teens this fall. Teens in grades 6-8 and 9-12 are invited to submit short stories on any subject or theme, 500-750 words in length. Entry forms will be available at all Hayner locations beginning October 17; the deadline for submitting your stories is December 23 at the Youth Library. The library will include all entries in a book published in the spring of 2000. First, second and third place prizes with cash awards of $50, $35 and $20 will be awarded to the best three stories in each division (grades 6-8 and 9-12). A committee of library staff will select the winning entries.

Student representatives from Hayner area high schools are invited to pose for photos promoting their favorite books to other teens. The photos will be blown up to poster size and displayed at the Alton Square Branch Library during Teen Read Week, then presented to the student's school to display throughout the year. If you are interested in participating, call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Sparks & Spooks
Halloween Story Telling
October 28

Our annual Halloween program for kids ages 6-11 accompanied by adults will be held before the fireplace in the Youth Library on Thursday evening, October 28, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The Riverwinds Storytellers will present a program of spooky tales, and every child will receive a Halloween favor to take home. Registration opens Saturday, October 16. Call the Youth Library at 462-0652.

Children's Book Week
November 14-20

Check out the special displays in the Youth Library during our annual celebration of National Children's Book Week.

Family Reading Nights
November 17 & 18

Families are invited to join us in celebrating the special bond created when kids and parents share books and reading! The Youth Library will celebrate Family Reading Night on Wednesday, November 17, and the Alton Square Branch Library will celebrate on Thursday, November 18. Each evening begins with a parent-and-child reading together time from 6:30 to 7 p.m., followed by a family story time featuring a special guest-of-honor reader: Alton Mayor Don Sandidge at the Youth Library and Godfrey Mayor Mike Campion at the Alton Square Branch Library! Afterwards we'll draw names for the winners of $25 gift certificates and enjoy refreshments. Every child will receive a free paperback book to take home.

A Reminder To Parents

For their safety and your peace of mind, children under the age of eight must be accompanied by an adult (age 18 or older) while using the library. An adult must sit with any child under the age of eight when the child is using the library's computer equipment. Parents are responsible for supervising their children's use of the library and its resources. Library staff are happy to advise and assist parents and children in determining those resources most appropriate to their needs and interests.

Any person whose behavior disrupts the orderly conduct of the library will be asked to leave. Parents will be asked to remove children whose behavior is disruptive. Children of any age should not be left alone at the library for prolonged periods of time. If unaccompanied children are not picked up before the library closes, staff will attempt to contact the parent or guardian and arrange for the children to be picked up. If no one can be reached, or if the parent or guardian fails to arrive within twenty minutes of the posted closing time, library staff will call the police and ask them to assume custody of the children until the parent or guardian can be located.

These rules are designed to insure the safety and well-being of your children. The library staff appreciate your cooperation.

HAYNER ADULT LIBRARY PROGRAMS

MORE GHOSTS AND HAUNTINGS
October 13

Troy Taylor, owner of Riverboat Molly's Book Company in Alton, will be making an encore ghost presentation at Hayner in October, the busiest month for ghost hunters. In July, Mr. Taylor awed an audience at the Library with his tales about ghosts, where to find them, and how to look for them. He is the author of several books on ghosts, edits Ghost of the Prairie magazine, and is the president of the American Ghost Society.

Mr. Taylor will be available after the program to autograph copies of his books, including his two new books, Ghost Hunter's Guidebook and Season of the Witch.

Join us for more ghost lore on Wednesday night, October 13, at 6:30 p.m., in the Jimmie J. Keller Reading Room of the Adult Library downtown. Seating will be limited, so please call the Adult Library to register at 462-0651.

BLUEGRASS FEST
November 9

Violinist Pete Pancella returns to Hayner Main Library for an evening of music and song. Accompanying Mr. Pancella will be Mary N. Pancella (vocals, keyboard and guitar) and Aaron Hummert (first place winner of the 1998 Illinois State Fair Junior Fiddling Contest). The trio will perform 'old time' and bluegrass music in the Jimmie J. Keller Reading Room at the Adult Library Nov.9, 1999 at 6:30. No charge for the show but please register your attendance by calling the Adult Library at 462-0651. This promises to be a great evening of exciting, lively entertainment....you don't want to miss it!!

Get a Life!
by William Shatner. Non-fiction

For all you Trekkies out there, this book is a treat! William Shatner, who played Star Trek's Captain Kirk for 30 years, delves into the culture of Star Trek, going undercover at conventions and talking to fans, dealers, and actors about why they thought Star Trek has been so popular. A fascinating mixture of Trek history and personal insight.
-Susan K.

Amy and Isabelle
by Elizabeth Strout. Fiction

Her teenage daughter's emerging sexuality forces single mother Isabelle to face her charged relationship with her daughter and the lies and secrets that have locked her own life. Beautifully written with characters the author cares about–I'll bet Oprah finds this one.
-Katie S.

Girls' Guide to Hunting and Fishing
by Melissa Bank. Fiction

A light, witty read that follows narrator Jane Rosenal from a teenager watching her older brother's relationships to an adult trying to wisely navigate her own, all the while wondering if there really are rules that make it work by telling you when to fish and when to cut bait.
-Katie S.

A Prayer for the Dying
by Stewart O'Nan. Fiction

In this novel which explores the nature of evil and the limits of human endurance, a Civil War veteran must save a small Midwestern town beset with fire and plague–or go mad trying. Written in the second person, you will shudder as you read this gothic tale.
-Bernie D.

Timbuktu
by Paul Auster. Fiction

Poignant and original novel told by a dog about his adventures following the death of his bestfriend, a deranged master.
-Bernie D.

The Not So Big House
by Sarah Susanka. Non-fiction

This sumptuously illustrated book focuses on homes for real people. Instead of spending money on a huge house, says the author, invest in the details of a home that are important to you. For example, rather than having a huge dining room that will never be used, why not make the kitchen large enough for your family to gather in? The philosophy of this book is that your house should focus on your needs, rather than size.

The Murder of Roger Ackroyd
by Agatha Christie. Mystery

Hailed by critics as "the most famous deception of all," it's a book you won't want to put down. When murder makes it way into a small English village, only the famous detective Hercule Poirot can solve the baffling crime. But just who killed Roger Ackroyd? This is the question you'll ask yourself time and again as you turn the pages of this tightly written story. The characters come alive as the hero eliminates each suspect until only one remains. So who killed Roger Ackroyd? Check it out and see. I guarantee you won't be disappointed.
-Mary P.

Arranging Flowers: How to Create Beautiful Bouquets in Every Season
by James A. Baggett. Non-fiction

Part of Martha Stewart Living, this book has hundreds of full color photographs flood the pages of this helpful book of flower arrangements. From large and exotic to small and quaint, this book is a visual delight with detailed instructions on how to make each arrangement. The book also contains a wealth of information on the different types of flowers available during every season of the year. Whether you're a gardening expert or just a beginner interested in flowers, this is the book for you.
-Mary P.

The Knowledge Web
by James Burke. Non-fiction

Science author and TV host James Burke takes the reader with him as he explores how seemingly unrelated people, ideas and innovations form a "knowledge web" supporting his belief that everything is connected to everything else. Like the Internet, Burke sets out links that the reader can use to jump to his related topics, seeing for example, how Burke connects Joan of Arc and vaudeville. Not science so much as knowledge and a fascinating read just jumping to the topics that interest you.
-Katie S.

Always Outnumbered, Always Outgunned
by Walter Mosley. Mystery

Main character Socrates ("Socco") is trying to find some salvation for himself and make amends for the crimes in his past while struggling to survive the poverty, violence and despair of Watts in the nineties. Life is hard and his hands are anything but clean yet Socco never quits trying to claim his place as a human being.

PATRON PROFILE: Dr. Shirley Portwood

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

Dr. Shirley Portwood, Professor in the Department of Historical Studies at SIUE is the subject of this issue's patron profile. Dr. Portwood is originally from southern Illinois. She received her BA and a Masters in History at SIUE. She continued her study of history at Washington University in St Louis, specializing in three distinct fields: African American History, American Woman's History and Modern Russia. Dr. Portwood obtained an additional Masters Degree as well as completed her Doctorate at Washington U. While she was working on these degrees, she was teaching at St. Louis Community College at Forest Park. She has been teaching at SIUE since early 1980s.

Driving on the River Road to do research on Alton history, Dr. Portwood and her husband sited the perfect spot for a house on the bluffs. They bought that lot, built their home and have been Altonians for the last seven years.

Dr. Portwood is extensively published. She wrote a fascinating paper titled "The Alton School Case and African American Community Consciousness 1897-1908" published in the Illinois Historical Journal (Spring '98.) It details the events and politics that were responsible for the segregation of Alton's schools in 1897 and the lawsuit championed by the black community to fight segregated schools. This suit went to the Illinois Supreme Court and the court found in favor of desegregation though it would be many years before the ruling would be achieved. A copy of this article is kept on file in our Illinois Room. Dr. Portwood did much of the research for this work here at Hayner using the library's city directories, census records, Illinois room materials etc.

Dr. Portwood has delivered professional papers in Canada, Sweden, Australia and throughout the U.S. on many different aspects of African American history. Under an Illinois Humanities Council Grant, She co-chaired a three day conference (Spring '97) titled "Community Building and Resistance: African-Americans in the Land of Lincoln". Dr. Portwood is the recipient of multiple grants and awards in recognition of her research and publication.

Dr. Portwood also has a book scheduled for publication in the spring of 2000, titled "'Tell Us a Story': An African American Family in the Heartland". As the family historian, Dr. Portwood was often telling family history/stories to her daughter and later to her grandchildren. It was for her grandchildren that she decided to write this book– she did not want their rich heritage to be lost to them. Her research included using state and local records from Illinois, Missouri, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee. She has been able to document ancestor history all the way back to a great great great grandfather!

Dr. Portwood and her husband, Harry (retired engineer and manager) love to travel and have made multiple trips to Europe. This summer they spent ten days in Japan. The Portwoods also like traveling throughout the US south and wherever they go they are avid antique-ers!

Dr Portwood commented how much she and her husband love the library and appreciate the great variety and accessibility of even the newest (or most unusual) material. We are anxious to see her book on the shelves at Hayner! ■

AS THE MILLENNIUM APPROACHES : WHAT WOULD YOU PUT IN A TIME CAPSULE?

Y2K, a new century, a time to look forward but also a time to reflect. The changes in our world over the last one hundred years are mind boggling. Cars, air flight, space flight...telephones, answering machines, faxes, pagers, portable phones....dictation machines, electric typewriters, business systems....phone mail....internet....television, film, vcrs.....not to mention social, political, financial revolutions. We thought it would be fascinating to create our own pseudo time capsule. What are the four things you feel belong in a capsule that represents our world today? What literature, art, events are the most memorable or important to having shaped the twentieth century? Who's your greatest hero? Mark McGwire, JFK or maybe a favorite uncle? What stands out about your school, town or family that you would want to share with people one hundred years from now?

If you are 8 or 88, we would love to hear from you. Look for our time capsule display in all the Hayner libraries throughout November and December. Fill out a capsule form with your thoughts, some of your favorite things about life today or a special memory of past times. Then, come the new year, we will share the results with you....and blast off into tomorrow! ■

WHO WROTE THAT???

Can you identify the source of this quote???

"On the rocks above the present city of Alton they found some rude and fantastic Indian paintings, which they describe. A short distance below "a torrent of yellow mud rushed furiously athwart the calm blue current of the Mississippi boiling and surging and sweeping in its course logs, branches and uprooted trees," This was the mouth of the Missouri..."

Hint: from the classic nonfiction work by one of America's greatest authors and humorist. Answer in next newsletter...and no fair calling the Reference Desk on this one! ■

BOOK CLUB NOTES

Book lovers – check out the book discussion group at Hayner Library. New members are always welcome. Upcoming titles and dates for discussion include:

SEPTEMBER 24th
Cat's Eye by Margaret Atwood.
Returning to the city where she grew up for a retrospective of her paintings, artist Elaine Risley relives the joy and pain of friendships that are still shaping the person she is today.

OCTOBER 22nd
All Over But the Shoutin'
by Rick Bragg.
Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Rick Bragg's memoirs of overcoming poverty and an alcoholic father through the determination of his remarkable mother.

NOVEMBER 19th
The Color Purple
by Alice Walker.
Alice Walker's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel.

"BUILD IT -THEY WILL COME"

This past fiscal year at Hayner Public Library (July 1, 1998 - June 30 1999) is also the first full year of operation for the expanded and remodeled Branch Library. Strong growth is seen in all key areas and particularly in patron usage. In Fiscal Year (FY) 97/98, 325,464 patrons made use of Hayner Library (all locations). In FY 98/99 this number skyrocketed to 438,516 - a 35% increase in patron usage! This growth was predominately due to increased use of the new Branch facility at Alton Square Mall....proving "build it - they will come" applies to more than just ball fields!

Other areas of growth include circulation - up from 334,900 to 352,687 (+5%) and registrations are up from 2,213 to 2,421 (+ 9%). Additionally, over 4000 reference questions were answered and over 18,000 items were added to the library's existing collections. We are very excited to see the growth in patron usage. It represents increased service to the community and that is certainly one of our most important objectives.

LINCOLN DOUGLAS DAYS — A GREAT SUCCESS

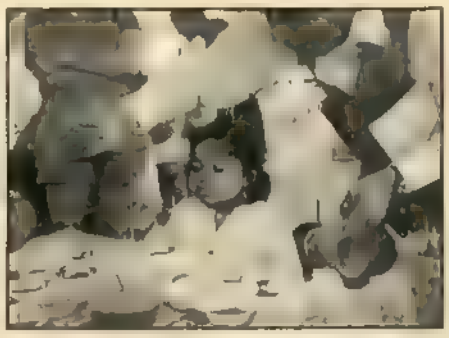
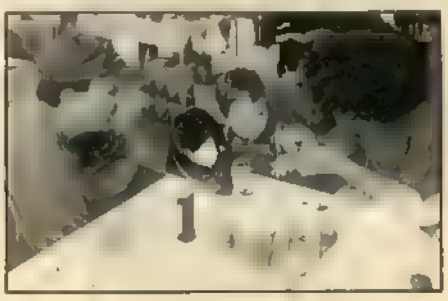
On October 9th and 10th downtown Alton celebrated Lincoln Douglas Days. The festival featured musical programs, a basketball shootout, booths selling crafts and specialty items and lots of great food booths, too! Of course, we're especially proud to announce that the Children's Tent sponsored by Hayner Library was a great success. The theme was "Step into History...19th Century Crafts and Fun." For no charge, the children were provided the materials to make 19th century replica toys including yarn dolls, tumbling puppies and acrobats, floating balls and the hugely popular Piasa Bird mask. Volunteers from Hayner Library staff as well as Alton Memorial Hospital and the Alton Belle Casino staffed the tent for the two days teaching the children how to make the crafts and helping them just have fun! Also at the tent, the children could paint their own pumpkins or flower pots. They loved this activity and by Sunday we had to expand 3 times to accommodate everyone yielding a paint brush! And what creativity... kids of all ages were discovering their innate artistic nature (some more innate than others!) Linda Thomas from the Evangelical United Church of Christ also volunteered her skills as the tent's face painter- painting faces and hands with a design chosen by the child...this was popular with children and adults alike! The Abe and Mary Lincoln photo cut out board was also generating more than a few laughs. One 'more senior' couple had their picture taken as Abe and Mary and loved it so much they decided to use it in their Christmas Cards this year! A special thanks to Geralyn Lindow, Library Assistant in the Youth Library. Geralyn spent many hours researching and planning the crafts and activities as well as planning supplies, making prototypes and teaching the volunteers.





On Sunday, winners of the First Annual Lincoln Douglas Days Essay Contest were announced. Flyers for the contest were distributed to the local schools with three different themes. The grade school students were asked to write or illustrate "What I would do with a 500 pound pumpkin." The middle school topic was "Alton...Past Present and Future". High school grades were asked to write "Why the Downtown/Riverfront Area is Important to Alton". Judging of the essays was done by Hayner Library staff and funding for the Savings Bond Awards was provided by St. Anthony's Health Center. The essay winners were asked to read their essays at the main stage area as they were presented with their award. Winners were: (Grade School) Vanna Lenhardt- $100 savings bond, Angela Copeland and Nicholas Harris- $50 savings bond, Jessica Harder and Alyssa Wedding - $25 savings bond. No middle school entries were received. High school winners were: Rachel Kirchner and Drew Weaver - $100 savings bond, Susie Mook- $50 savings bond and to Mary Maggart a $25 savings bond. Congratulations all!!

Thank you again to all the volunteers and sponsors who helped out at the Hayner Children's tent. Your contributions put smiles on a lot of faces! ■

NEW LIBRARY STAFF POSITION

On July 1, 1999, a new position was created for the Hayner Library staff: Public Relations Coordinator. That position was filled by Bernadette Duvernoy who has worked at the library since 1996. This position is one that more and more libraries are instituting to help promote and increase library presence in the community. Bernadette's responsibilities include ensuring library involvement in community groups and events; writing and editing the quarterly newsletter; representing the Library to the media including press, radio and television; planning and executing special interest events; display designs, marketing of library services and directing development of library programs and activities that will provide benefit to the entire community. Bernadette comments that she is excited about this new opportunity at Hayner- a library that is "progressive, full service and an important part of the community."

Bernadette and her husband moved to Alton in 1993. Previously, Bernadette lived in New York City, Dallas and Chicago. She worked for the IBM Corporation for fifteen years in a variety of marketing jobs including five years as Marketing Manager to the Chicago Securities & Finance Industry. In 1989, she was recognized as IBM's Midwest Marketing Manager of the Year. Bernadette's interests include reading (of course!), music (she plays the viola and has recently acquired a cello) and playing with her two Bernese Mountain Dogs.

Since starting her new position, some of Bernadette's activities have included producing the library's newsletters, creating and maintaining displays for the branch and main libraries, writing and applying for marketing grants, managing Hayner participation at Lincoln Douglas Days, representing Hayner to local press and radio, planning programs for Women's History Month and the Library of Congress Bicentennial. She has also organized and presented multiple special interest programs for the main library. She has lots of plans for the new year and she also welcomes patrons' suggestions of programs they might like to see! ■

WIN A HOLIDAY-BEAR PUPPET . . . .

Starting November 26th, you can drop by the library to register to win one of three Teddy Bear hand puppets that the library district is giving away....they're especially festive for the holidays! Any Hayner Library cardholder is eligible (except for Hayner employees and their family members). Winners will be announced on WBGZ on December 17th. Ballot boxes for the drawing will be at all three Hayner locations: Main Library at 326 Belle St., Youth Library at 401 State Street and the Branch Library at Alton Square Mall ■

FOOD FOR FINES DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON

Beginning November 26th and continuing through December 31, 1999, anyone that has an overdue item checked out from the library can pay their fine with a canned goods food item (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner material only). All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the local food pantry in the Alton area. Even if you do not have an overdue item, feel free to donate items for the food drive. Happy Holidays! ■

NEW EMAIL REFERENCE SERVICE

Need to know the address of a company in California? The definition of a word? The birthday of your favorite celebrity? Find out without even picking up the telephone!

The Reference Department at Hayner Library is proud to announce another form of access: email reference service. If you have an answer you need looked up, you may email the Hayner Reference Department at hayneref@lcls.org. A reference librarian will try to respond to your question as soon as possible.

This service does not undertake in-depth research projects, and we cannot give out legal or medical information. However, we are happy to refer users to sources that might provide information on such issues.

For more information about our new service, please call Susan or Katie at 462-0651. ■

Mardi Gras at Hayner - featuring "You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band" March 7 – 6:30 p.m.

Bud Shultz and the "You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band" will appear in concert for Mardi Gras at the Hayner Main Library on Tuesday, March 7, 2000 at 6:30 p.m. The "YCBEJB" is an organization of six musicians from the Greater St. Louis, Metro-East area. Specializing in Traditional and Dixieland Jazz, the group also treats more modern pieces with a Dixieland flavor. Bud Shultz, of Godfrey, is the Leader. His clarinet and curved soprano sax have been heard by many music afficionados in the Riverbend area for many years. Besides leading the "YCBEJB", he has appeared at the Spring 1997 Alton Landing Jazz Fest and his "Marina Stompers" have been regulars in the Alton Halloween Parade for many years. Appearing with Bud will be Tom Wyatt of Alton playing trombone, Ted Vogel of St. Louis for keyboard and vocals, Linton Luetje of Florissant on the tuba, and Ken Link on the drums. There will also be trumpet accompaniment. Come celebrate Fat Tuesday in real New Orleans style! It's going to be a great show! The program is free but advanced registration is required. Register by calling the Main Library at 462-0651.

FROM THE ILLINOIS ROOM

by Katie Schrimpf, Reference Librarian

Did you know...

At one time there were so many Altons that nearby settlers gave them the collective name of "Yankee-all-town". There were several Altons started about the same time; the Alton from Piasa to Henry; Joseph Meacham's Alton (Upper Alton); 'Alton on the River,' first known as Bates' farm, later purchased by Meacham and then by Maj. Hunter. Besides there was an Alton west of Piasa Creek and Salu north of Upper Alton. The adjacent settlers were in the habit of lumping these together and calling them 'Yankee-all-town.' Norton's Centennial History of Madison County, Illinois and Its People, p.468 (IR 977.3N88c)

From the same source a humorous story on p.611 reminds us that even heroes and martyrs have their weaknesses! "Mrs. (John) Bostwick, when a young girl, met Elijah P. Lovejoy, as she was returning from school at Jacksonville in a stage coach. On the journey Mr. Lovejoy produced a cigar and said to Miss Hingham, as she then was, 'Do you object to tobacco smoke?' She said she did, 'decidedly.' To this the future martyr replied, 'Some people do,' and proceeded to smoke his cigar."

Alton also has ties to a "Smiling Lincoln" through famous Alton tenant, Alban Jasper Conant. "It was Conant who painted Shurtleff's beloved 'Smiling Lincoln,' said to be the only portrait for which Abraham Lincoln actually sat. While Dr. Daniel Read was president of Shurtleff College, he saw this portrait exhibited...Since Conant lectured at the college at this time, Dr. Read invited him to bring the painting to Shurtleff. He did-and it was purchased for $125.00 with money donated by Mr. Kendall. Early in the 1890's, Paul Harney, Shurtleff art instructor, recovered this portrait. For years it had been rolled up, was dusty and dirty, after lying under the stairway in the Chapel building. He, under the close supervision of the now, almost blind, artist Conant, restored the 'Smiling Lincoln.' Countless students admired and enjoyed it in Carnegie Library -until 1971- when it was taken to the archives of Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University Campus in Edwardsville."

Footprints and Echoes From Historical Alton Area by Viola W. Voss, p.20 (IR977.38V96f)

There are many facts waiting to be uncovered in Hayner's Illinois Room at the main library. Come use our sources and find not only history, but the humorous facts and curiosities that make it interesting. ■

Chump Change

by David Eddie. Fiction

Though I may be some years beyond 20-something, I really enjoyed this novel about the life and times of a lost member of Generation X. The protagonist is witty, wicked, smart, a bit of a brat and very funny! This was an honest book that made no excuses for this character's bad behavior yet I liked him-maybe because he so often made me laugh -Bernie D.

McNally's Dilemma

by Lawrence Sanders. Mystery

The McNally series of mysteries are sheer fun! The stories revolve around Archy McNally, ne'er-do-well son of a brilliant lawyer, who is thrown out of Yale Law school. Dad sets him up in the investigative arm of the family law firm and Archy gets himself involved in all kinds of juicy Palm Beach scandals and crimes. Archy McNally reminds me a bit of Archie in the Nero Wolfe series...smart mouthed with an eye for the girls. Sadly, Lawrence Sanders has passed away so this may be the last in the McNally series...I'll miss Archy and the other eccentric characters who populate these books -Bernie D

The Third Heiress

by Brenda Joyce. Fiction

Jillian Gallagher's life is just like a fairy tale-until her fiancé Hal is killed in a car crash, uttering the name "Kate" with his last breath. Returning his body to his home in England, Jill stumbles across a picture of an American heiress, Kate Gallagher, who bears a strong resemblance to Jill-and who disappeared in 1908. Increasingly certain that Kate was her great-grandmother, Jill searches to discover the truth about Kate-her disappearance, her fate, and Hal's obsession with her. As her search leads her closer to the truth, it leads her closer to danger and romance also. A riveting page-turner for lovers of romantic suspense -Susan K.

Murder with Peacocks

by Donna Andrews. Mystery

Poor Meg Langslow has been roped into being bridesmaid for-and chief organizer of-three weddings: her mother's, her brother's, and her best friend's. It's hectic enough having to arrange details for three women who pile heaps of work and last-minute arrangements upon her (Peacocks running around at a wedding?!), but now a wedding guest has been found dead-and it looks like murder. Meg's investigation, taking place amidst the antics of the largest and weirdest bunch of relatives you've ever seen, is not to be missed -Susan K.

T. S. Eliot: An Imperfect Life

by Lyndall Gordon. Non-fiction

Lyndall Gordon's work on the definitive biography of T. S. Eliot, to date, is synthesis at its best. Gordon blends documental biography, literary interpretation and brilliant psychological insight as she unwaveringly exposes Eliot's most human flaws. A must read for afficionados of literary biography -Midge H.

Friday the Rabbi Slept Late

by Harry Kemelman. Mystery

Rabbi David Small uses his "little gray cells" as well as Hercule Poirot. This first book in the Rabbi Small series emphasizes not the murder but the logical paths of Rabbi Small's thinking. We learn, too, about the Jewish faith as seen from the Rabbi's point of view-which can be very different from his congregation's. The Rabbi has such a reasonable path of thinking that you will wonder why you didn't see it yourself -Jan H.

Beachcombing For a Shipwrecked God

by Joe Coomer. Fiction

If you have a "must read" list, this should be on it. A young archaeologist flees her home to escape her smothering in-laws after her husband dies. She takes a room aboard a houseboat, sharing quarters with a blue-haired widow, an abandoned teen, and a dog too ugly for words. Beautifully written, Coomer creates characters as real as they are touching. His story is funny and poignant with a bottom line of unconditional friendship and the strength it gives to face the past. Movie rights optioned by Jodie Foster -Katie S.

The Lighthouse Stevensons

by Bella Bathurst. Non-fiction

The story of the Stevenson dynasty, the family that not only produced writer Robert Louis Stevenson, but also built the lighthouses along Scotland's coast. Not a book about engineering or even Scotland but about the strong personalities it took to overcome nature's obstacles and build these lighthouses that still light Scotland's coast today. Reads like fiction -Katie S.

The Talented Mr. Ripley

by Patricia Highsmith. Fiction

Tom Ripley is a true sociopath. A little murder won't stop him if he wants something-and he wants to be someone else. Highsmith shows us the twists and turns of a mind that feels no guilt over murder and thrills at playing the game of getting away with it especially since he's assumed his victim's identity. Soon to be a movie starring Matt Damon and Gwyneth Paltrow. Highsmith also wrote Hitchcock's movie classic, Stranger on a Train -Katie S.

Big Trouble

by Dave Barry. Fiction

In his first attempt at writing a novel, Dave Barry scores big in Big Trouble. The Pulitzer Prize winning newspaper columnist and author will have you laughing until you cry in his newest adventure. In Miami two Russian arms dealers, a pair of New Jersey hit men, two not-so-bright street thugs, the Miami police department, a man living in a tree, AND the FBI are all chasing after a local businessman who has gone off the deep end. The hitch? None of them know that the other people are involved. The result? The kind of madcap, hilarious adventure expected from one of America's funniest men. If you're a Dave Barry fan, you won't be disappointed in his newest literary avenue. If you're looking for a book to make you laugh, this is it! -Mary P.

All library programs are free of charge and open to any resident or cardholder of the Hayner Public Library District.

Holiday Session of Preschool and Bedtime Story Times Now Meeting

The Holiday Session of Preschool Story Time is meeting on Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m. at the Youth Library and Thursdays at 10 a.m. at the Alton Square Branch through December 14/16. There are still some spaces available in both groups. Children must be three years old by November 1, 1999 to participate in story time. If you are interested in joining the group, please call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library, 462-0652, or Rhoda Cairns at the Branch Library, 463-1276.

Mr. Sandman's Plum Pudding Tales is meeting on Tuesday evenings at 7:15 p.m. at the Youth Library through December 14. There are a few places available in this group. Children ages two-five accompanied by an adult are eligible to attend this bedtime story time. If you are interested in joining the group, please call Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Deadline for Teen Short Story Contest Is December 23

The last day to turn in entries for the Hayner Short Story Contest for Teens is Thursday, December 23 at the Youth Library. Entry forms are available at any Hayner location. Stories must be 500-750 words in length. There are two divisions: Middle School (grades 6-8) and High School (grades 9-12). Any student who attends a school located in the library district, or any homeschool student resident of the district, is eligible to participate. The library will publish all entries in a book in the spring. Library staff will select first, second and third prize winners in each division. Prize winners will receive cash awards of $50, $35 or $20. For more information please call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

CRAFTS, CRAFTS, CRAFTS

Sign Up For Think Spring! Crafts Opens January 22

The cure for the winter doldrums is: Think Spring! Spring Crafts for ages six-eleven at Hayner Youth Library, that is! Registration for the second semester craft series opens Saturday, January 22 at the Youth Library. Programs are scheduled for the third Thursday of each month, February-May, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Space is limited so we will take registrations in person or by phone until all available places are filled. Parents are welcome to attend with their children and help with the crafts. Call Geralyn Lindow at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Traveling Puppet Show

The traveling puppet show is available to visit day care, preschools and kindergarten classes by appointment during the months of February and March. We will begin taking bookings on Monday, January 24. Please call Gloria Mitchell or Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652 if you would like the puppet show to visit your class.

Saturday Morning Video Films for Kids Continues

Our Saturday morning video films for families start up again for another eight week series beginning February 6 and running through March 27. Video films are shown every Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. on the big screen television at the Youth Library. These programs are suitable for children of all ages. Children under the age of eight must be accompanied by an adult. A list of the films and show dates will be available at the library in January. No advance registration is required.

UPCOMING SPECIAL EVENTS AT HAYNER LIBRARY

Annual Children's Christmas Party

The Twelve Days of Christmas will set the theme for decorations and festivities at the Hayner Youth Library this December. The annual Children's Christmas Party will be held on Saturday, December 11, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Activities include family face painting, stories and songs, a puppet show and a chance to visit with The Jolly Old Elf Himself. (Yes, you can bring your camera and take pictures.) The Friends of the Library provide refreshments, and every child receives a holiday treat to take home. Registration for the party opens Saturday, November 27. You may register in person or by phone at the Youth Library, 462-0652. Space is limited so we will take registrations until all available places are filled.

Annual MLK Family Breakfast January 17

The annual Martin Luther King Jr. Family Breakfast will be held Monday, January 17 at 10 a.m. in the Multimedia Room of Trimpe Hall at Lewis & Clark Community College. This program is co-sponsored by Hayner Public Library, the Family Literacy Connection/LCCC, and the Alton Housing Authority.

Breakfast will be catered by the college food service, and a program of stories and songs, a puppet show and a take-home craft will be provided by the Youth Library staff. Every child attending the program will receive a free paperback book. Children of all ages accompanied by an adult are invited to attend. Because space is limited, advance registration is required. Registration opens Saturday, January 8 at the Youth Library. We will take registrations in person or by phone until all available places are filled. To register call the Youth Library at 462-0652.

Actress/Activist Reanae McNeal in Blues Women Don't Wear No Shoes February 3

Reanae McNeal

Actress and community activist Reanae McNeal returns to Alton with her one-woman show Blues Women Don't Wear No Shoes, on Thursday, February 3 at 7 p m. in Hatheway Hall on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College. Ms. McNeal is the featured speaker for the third annual Eunice Perry Memorial Program co-sponsored by the library and Lewis & Clark Community College. The Allen Singers, a local women's choir, will open the program with a selection of inspirational songs.

Reanae McNeal is a writer, actress, singer, storyteller, minister and inspirational speaker who has performed her one-woman shows at colleges and community centers all over the country. She draws her material from the real life experiences of women trying to survive and succeed in a society that is often uncaring and brutal in its attitudes towards women and children. Adapting the methods of traditional African griots and African American preachers, she involves her audience not just as spectators but as part of the performance itself. Her goal is for the audience to share not just the experiences but the insights derived from the experiences she portrays.

In addition to her performance on Thursday evening, Ms. McNeal also will share her inspirational message We Must Be Giants Too with high school and college students at a lecture on Wednesday, February 2 at 10 a.m. in the Multimedia Room of Trimpe Hall. That afternoon at 2:30 p.m. she will present a diversity training workshop for community service providers, also in the Multimedia Room of Trimpe Hall. All of these programs are free of charge and open to the public. Registration in advance is required for the Wednesday afternoon workshop. Registration will open Monday, January 10. Please call Bernadette Duvernoy at the Main Library, 462-0651.

HAYNER MAIN LIBRARY EVENTS

Quartet Seraphin Presents Music for the Season December 13 – 7 p.m.

programs in the St. Louis area, including the Sheldon Concert Hall, as well as many concerts throughout the states of Missouri and Illinois. They will present a program of classical music for the holiday season on Monday evening, December 13 at 7 p.m. in the Jimmie Keller Reading Room of the Main Library. Space is limited so registration is required. To register please call the Main Library, 462-0651 beginning Saturday, November 27.

Arm Chair Traveler - Film Series

Beat the January blues by getting away from it all...for a little while at least. Commencing Jan. 9th Hayner Main Library will sponsor a film series of first run travel videos. Each Sunday at 1:30 p.m. a different film will be shown on the big screen television in the Metzger Conference Room (lower level of the Hayner Youth Library). This series will be presented over the course of 5 successive Sundays. The videos are approximately one hour in length and will include:

Jan. 9th- "Alaska- Spirit of the Wild" an epic adventure into the untamed grandeur of Alaska. Nominated for 1998 Academy Award (Documentary) Short Subject .

Jan. 16th- "The Living Edens-Namib, Africa's Burning Shore" Namib, the hottest of lands is obscured in mist created by the Benguela, one of the coldest ocean currents. See how the inhabitants of this torturous climate have adapted and survive.

Jan. 23- "Touring Italy"- Italy comes alive in fabulous photography. Visit Naples, Pompeii, Venice, Rome, the Riviera and more!

PATRON PROFILE: Mrs. Eleanor Perry

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

It was such a pleasure to meet Hayner Library Branch patron, Mrs. Eleanor Perry...but it wasn't easy. This lady's schedule is FULL! She belongs to three golf leagues, playing Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and also belongs to several bridge clubs. She sings in her church choir (and has for the last 52 years) and volunteers several afternoons every other week to staff the church business office. Until just this past year, she also did volunteer work for the Crisis Food Center, Meals on Wheels and Alton Memorial Hospital. Oh, did I mention that Mrs. Perry celebrated her nineti-eth birthday this past July?

Born in Spokane, Washington, Mrs. Perry grew up in Texas and Kansas. Her dad's uncle was Governor of Kansas and while in term, Mrs. Perry's dad would manage the governor's ranch in Texas. A love of farming resulted in the Perrys ultimately moving to Emporia, Kansas where Mrs. Perry and her two sisters grew up.

Mrs. Perry attended College of Emporia and obtained a degree in English. Upon graduation, sever-al coincidences were to shape her life. The Superintendent of schools in Clayton, Mo. was also an alum of College of Emporia. In need of a qualified English teacher, he contacted his Alma Mater for prospective candidates and Mrs. Perry took the job!

Moving to Clayton, she joined the Kingshighway Presbyterian Youth Group, as the group's Director was also from Emporia. Involving herself in the group's music pro-grams (she is an accomplished singer having formally studied voice for nine years) she met the piano player, Ralph Perry, who would become her husband of 46 years.

Ralph's job in advertising required the Perrys to move from Clayton to Minneapolis then to Kansas City (Mo.) and ultimately, in 1947, to Alton.

As newcomers to Alton, one of Mrs. Perry's first impressions of the area was the beauty of the campus of Monticello Girls School (now Lewis and Clark Community College). Thinking it would be a fun place to work, she inquired as to any openings for an English teacher. She met with the school president who informed her that the only avail-able opening was to replace a Spanish teacher on leave of absence. Well, Mrs. Perry read for him from a Spanish book and was hired on the spot! (She also has a degree in Spanish.) Mrs. Perry related that during meal-times at Monticello, one teacher would eat at each table of eight girls and each day, a different girl would serve as hostess- this was part of the students' training!

Mrs. Perry subsequently taught American Literature at Alton High School where she worked for 23 years until she and her husband retired to enjoy a favorite hobby: travel. They toured Europe, Canada and visited Hawaii. Sadly, Mr. Perry passed away in 1981.

After her husband died, Mrs. Perry maintained her own home doing all the mowing, hedge clipping and upkeep until a couple of years ago when she said to herself "Eleanor, this is enough." She sold her home and moved to United Methodist Village in 1998. She loves it there for both the free-dom of the lifestyle and the people she's met.

Mrs. Perry keeps so busy with her volunteer work, bridge and golf, yet she also is an avid reader and regular patron of the branch location which is so convenient for her. Asked what she likes to read, Mrs. Perry mentioned authors Mary Higgins Clark and John Grisham as favorites and she loved reading the Jan Karon 'Mitford-series' books.

Mrs. Perry also is busy staying in touch with her nieces, nephews and their families. This past sum-mer the families (including a great, great niece) converged from all around the country to celebrate with her on her nineti-eth birthday. All of us at Hayner library also wish belated best wishes to this delightful lady who (inclement weather aside) is more than likely out on the golf course!! ■

NOTES FROM HAYNER HOMEBOUND

I wanted to let our readers know what some of my Homebound Patrons have been doing to keep busy this month. I am on a com-mittee this year for the Celebration of Christmas at Rock Spring Park. The committee was in a bind and needed some help untangling and testing the Christmas tree lights from last year. So I contacted the Hillcrest and Skyline Apartments and asked for some volunteers...well, they all did and OUTSTANDING JOB!!! We are so lucky to have our Seniors....They are a wealth of resources. My hat is off to all of you. Thank you from the bottom of my heart! - Stephanie. ■

HIGH HONOR TO HAYNER PATRON

Congratulations to Robert E. St. Peters (Hayner Patron Profile - summer 1999) on being awarded the 1999 Studs Terkel Humanities Service Award. The Illinois Humanities Council initiated this awards program to honor individuals who have encouraged greater public understanding of the humanities in their communities. Bob was honored particularly for using his "leadership skills and volunteer energy to enrich the cultural life in Alton especially through heritage and preservation." Alton Mayor Sandidge also proclaimed Thurs. Oct. 14, 1999 as Robert St. Peters Day.

As part of Bob's continuing efforts to contribute to the cultural growth of our community, Bob has donated to Hayner Public Library several copies of his wife's (Helen L. Lowery St. Peters) poems titled First Times and Other Poems. Bob has presented the library with a copy of a video entitled Lower State Street Tour. This video is actually an enhanced copy of a 16 mm film made in the 1970's (audio also enhanced) and presents a walking tour through the Christian Hill Historic District. You can check it out of the library and revisit Alton twenty- five years back!!

BOOK CLUB NOTES

The book discussion group at Hayner Library is two years old this winter. The group meets once a month to discuss books, learn about authors, exchange good read recommendations and share discussions mixed with personal insights and laughter. In December the group meets for a Christmas luncheon and exchanges paperbacks.

New members are always welcome. The group meets the fourth Friday of every month from 9:30 to 11:00 AM in the Metzger Conference Room located in the lower level of the Youth Library downtown. For more information call Katie at 462-0651. Upcoming titles and dates for discussion include:

November 19th
Tara Road by Maeve Binchy. Binchy's bestseller and Oprah Book Club pick. Group meets at TR's Café for this discussion.

December No discussion held.

January 28th
The Color Purple by Alice Walker. Set in the early 1900's, the story of a poor, uneducated woman's struggle to overcome cruelty and abuse from the men in her life. Bold and dealing with mature themes, it won the Pulitzer and American Book Award.

WOMEN WHO SERVE - HONORING OUR LOCAL HEROS

March 2000 is Women's History Month and Hayner Public Library has a special program idea for which we need your help. We would like to give special recognition to the women of our community who have served in the armed forces. We would like to compile a diary of experiences of the women of Alton/Godfrey/Fosterburg who served our country both during war time as well as peacetime. Photos (now and then) would be wonderful! The stories we collect will be displayed (with photos) in the library during Women's History Month and ultimately bound in a book-like format. But we need your memories. It doesn't have to be your personal story, it could be mother, grandmother, sister, aunt or friend. Help us preserve our important history by sharing your history with us! Please fill out the Military Service Form available at all Hayner Library locations. If you have any questions, please call Bernadette at the Hayner Main library at 462-0677.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK / LIBRARY OF CONGRESS BICENTENNIAL

The week of April 9-15 is National Library Week. Today, America's libraries serve as dynamic community centers for learning, information and entertainment. In the Hayner Public Library District you can find the latest best seller, surf the internet, send grandma in Arizona an email, fax that important sales contract, develop your family tree, research investment opportunities, check out your favorite CD or video, research local history, submit your reference questions online, attend free musical events and special programs... the list goes on and on. Here are some interesting library facts:

- Americans check out an average of six books a year and spend an average of $18.73 a year in taxes for public library service - less than one hardcover book.
- Public libraries receive less than 1 % of all tax dollars and are used by more than 50% of the population.
- More children participate in summer reading programs at libraries than play Little League baseball
- Federal spending on libraries totals only 57 cents per person
- The nations reference librarians answer 295 million questions annually.
- There are more public libraries than McDonald's - a total of 15,872 including branches.
- Americans make some 3.5 billion visits to school, public and college libraries each year - about three times the attendance at movie theaters
- Public libraries circulate more than 1.6 billion items per year.

Hope to see you at the library to help us celebrate National Library Week!!*

The Library of Congress is the national library and serves all Americans. It maintains a collection of more than 115 million items in 460 languages and contains many of our national treasures. The Library of Congress will celebrate its Bicentennial on April 24, 2000 What is incredibly exciting is that the Library now makes it possible for millions of people throughout the country and around the world to use its resources through its widely acclaimed Web site at www.loc.gov. With more than 3 million 'hits' per working day, the Library's Web site has been named among the best sites on the Internet by Time and PC World magazines, and has been called "remarkable" by the New York Times. You can see photos from the Civil War, listen to folk music from the 1930s, learn the story of baseball legend Jackie Robinson or see early films made by Thomas Edison. Next time you're on the internet, log onto this wonderful site to help celebrate your national library's 200th birthday!

WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH - Honoring Women Who Helped Build Alton

In honor of Women's History Month, Hayner Library salutes the women who helped build Alton. Many of the institutions, cultural programs and community services that we enjoy today resulted from the generosity, dedication and hard work of remarkable women throughout Alton's history.

One of Alton's most important benefactors was Eunice Smith. The daughter of William Eliot Smith, co-founder of the Illinois Glass Co., Miss Smith shared generously with the community the fortune she inherited. Alton Memorial Hospital is the result of that generosity and the fulfillment of her parents' wish to have a hospital that served the area. It was Miss Smith, along with her sister, Ellen Smith Hatch, who provided most of the 107 acres and the principal funds to build the facility. Miss Smith was said to have taken an active interest in the construction of the hospital, which was completed in 1937, and in the landscaping and maintenance of the surrounding wooded grounds. She was a member of its board of

BUSINESS BY THE BOOKS

Do you own a small business or perhaps run a home based business? If so, do you realize that you have a silent business partner at Hayner Public library? If you are not aware of the many different ways the library can help support your business' growth, we would welcome your attendance at a special program developed just for you. On Tuesday, April 11, 5:30 - 7:00 Hayner Main library will host a program for small business owners titled Business by the Books. There will be a closed reception at 5:30 in the Jimmie Keller reading room. Hors d' oeuvres will be served and a guest speaker will kick off the session. Our guest speaker is Richard Lumma from SIUE where he is the Director of the Small Business Development Center. Following Mr. Lumma's opening remarks, there will be an open house for you to explore the library. Road maps will be provided highlighting the many services and business tools available for your use at the library. Other documentation provided will highlight such information as the best Websites for the small business owner and other organizations that are available to help you grow your business. Members of SCORE (Service Core of Retired Executives) will be available to answer specific questions or sign you up for one-on-one private (no charge) counseling.

Be sure to put this date on your calender! For registration or information, call Bernadette Duvernoy at 462-0677. ■

STAFF PICKS - WHAT WE'RE READING

Plainsong

by Kent Haruf. Fiction

Plainsong is a book about the gift of family, no matter what form it takes. The writing is lyrical yet spares enough to create a town on the plains of Colorado and characters that are simple and decent. Be prepared to fall in love with the McPheron Brothers -two old bachelor farmers who know more about than cows than people but are willing to give people a try. It's a story about how lives intersect and families form when decent people reach out. Heartwarming without sentimentality, this is a book that stays with you.
- Katie S.

Life: Our Century in Pictures

Richard B. Stolley (ed.).
Non-fiction

From the archives of Life Magazine, this collection of 770 photographs captures this century with pictures that range from beautiful to haunting with text that puts the photos into perspective with their time and culture. Plan on losing several evenings to this book with family members hanging over your shoulders.
- Katie S.

Murder on the Gravy Train

by Phyllis Richman. Mystery

Chas Wheatley, a food writer with a taste for sleuthing, takes on the scandalous world of Washington tongue waggers and the deep-throated secrets of the restaurant business...for anyone who enjoys food and foul play.
- Bernie D.

The Long Home

by William Gay. Fiction

The devil comes to Tennessee in the form of one Dallas Hardin, a vile and violent man who brings tragedy in his wake. A powerful and unsettling novel of the backwoods south in the 1940's, Gay balances the horror of sheer evil with moments of great beauty. William Faulkner fans will love this novel.
- Bernie D.

Landing It

by Scott Hamilton. Non-fiction

Olympic gold medalist Hamilton tells the amazing story about his progression from a deathly ill child to a figure skating superstar. As a child, Hamilton suffered from a number of diseases, leaving him sickly and unable to grow. It wasn't until he began to skate at the age of seven that he finally began to recover. As he grew older, he progressed through the skating ranks of national, world and Olympic champion and founded the "Stars on Ice" show, turning in some of the most fantastic skating performances of his era. This fascinating book, filled with lots of inside information on the figure skating world, is framed by Hamilton's story of his recent battle with cancer.
- Susan K.

The Pact: A Love Story

by Jodi Picoult. Fiction

This book gets better each time I read it! A bittersweet tale of friendship, family, and first love, this book involves us in the lives of two families, best friends raising their children together. The families are thrilled when Chris and Emily's friendship blossoms into romance, but this perfect life shatters when Emily is killed and Chris is on trial for murder. This beautifully written, heartwarming modern day Romeo and Juliet will make you question how well you really know family and friends. You will not be able to sleep until you finish this wonderful book!
- Libby M.

Biggie and the Meddlesome Mailman

by Nancy Bell. Mystery

Mystery lovers rejoice! Biggie is back and that can only mean one thing-there's a mystery to solve in Job's Crossing, Texas! When Luther Abernathy (the town's nosy and only mailman) is murdered, Biggie and the gang go on the prowl to find the killer. But as the mystery begins to unfold, they find they may be next. This is a charming and funny mystery that should definitely be on your "to read" list. Just make sure you read the rest of the Biggie series starting with Biggie and the Poisoned Politician. And remember to look for Willie Mae's famous recipes in the back of the book!
- Mary P.

The American President

by Philip B. Kunhardt.
Non-fiction

This book takes an engaging look at the lives of the men who have served in the highest office in the nation. Meticulously researched, the authors present a fascinating biography of the men who have led us through Revolution, World War, economic depression and socio-political change to become the most powerful nation in the world. We see the personal and political lives of these men and discover what drove them to run for office. Unlike most biographies of the presidency, this book is presented in thematic rather than sequential order. Hundreds of photographs, drawings and paintings illustrate the story and make this the definitive guide to the presidency.
- Mary P. ■

Special Events at Hayner

Hayner Youth Library Special Events

Youth Library Adds New Lapsit Story Time For Toddlers

Lots For Tots is our newest story time at the Youth Library, a "lapsit" program for toddlers, ages 18 to 36 months, accompanied by an adult. The program offers parents and care givers an opportunity for one-on-one interaction with their children, sharing stories, songs, rhymes and activities with the guidance of library staff The program will be offered on Wednesday mornings at 10 a.m., and the spring session will run from March 15 through April 19. Registration opens Saturday, March 4. To register call Geralyn Lindow at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Our regular preschool story time for ages 3-5 also returns for the spring with two groups, one meeting on Tuesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. at the Youth Library, and one meeting on Thursday mornings at 10 a.m. at the Alton Square Branch Library. The spring session runs from March 14/16 through April 18/20. Children must be three years old as of March 1, 2000 to register for this session. Registration opens March 4. To register call Gloria Mitchell at the Youth Library or Rhoda Cairns at the Branch Library, 463-1276

Bedtime story time with Mr Sandman and the Lullaby Lady resumes on Tuesday evenings at 7:15 p.m. at the Youth Library for ages 2-5 accompanied by an adult. Pajamas are optional. The spring session runs from March 14 through April 18 Registration opens March 4. To register call Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Think Spring! Afterschool Crafts for Ages 6-11

Places are still available for our spring session of afterschool craft programs on the third Thursday of the month at 3:30 p m. at the Youth Library. The program dates are March 16, April 20 and May 18. The crafts are designed for children ages 6-11, and parents and caregivers are welcome to stay and help. If you'd like to register for this program call Geralyn Lindow at the Youth Library, 462-0652.

Winners Announced for Teen Short Story Contest

We are pleased to announce the prize winners for this year's short story contest for teens. Winners were selected by a committee of library staff who read all the entries and selected one winner in each division: grades 6-8 winner is Thomas Haine, an eighth grader at St. Mary's School in Alton; grades 9-12 winner is Jennifer Scroggins, a junior at Alton High School. Each winner will receive a cash prize of $50.

All of the stories entered in the contest will be published in a booklet by the library, and the teens and their families will be invited to a publication party at the Youth Library on March 29. Each participant will receive a copy of the booklet, and the winners will receive their prizes that night.

Traveling Puppet Show Available for School Visits

Our traveling puppet show will be available for school visits to preschool and kindergarten classes during April and May to promote summer reading. If you'd like the library puppets to visit your class, please call Steve Fahrig at the Youth Library, 462-0652. We will start taking bookings on Monday, March 13 and continue until all available times are filled. If more than one class in the same school wants a visit, we ask teachers to coordinate and have one teacher call and book all the classes at that school for the same day. This will allow us to visit the maximum number of classes in the time we have available

Cinema for Teens Continues Through March

Join us for video films on the big screen tv on Saturday mornings at 10:30 a.m. at the Youth Library. Our winter/spring series continues through March with the following films of live theater from the Globalstage Series: March 4: an English language version of Rostand's Cyrano de Bergerac; March 11: H. G. Wells' classic The Island of Dr. Moreau; March 18: Thomas Hardy's Victorian elegy Far From The Madding Crowd; March 25: Mary Shelley's Frankenstein. No registration is required. Teachers: why not give your students extra credit for attending these films? The library will provide students with letters verifying their attendance.

Wizard of Oz's Great-Granddaughter Appears at Hayner!

Gita "Dorothy" Morena Ph.D., great-granddaughter of L. Frank Baum, The Man Who Created Oz, will speak about her great-grandfather's life and the inspiration for his writing on Friday, March 31 at 7 p.m. in the Jimmie Keller Reading Room of the Main Library. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the publication of Baum's much loved classic, The Wizard of Oz. Dr. Morena has written her own book, The Wisdom of Oz, combining family recollections with her own insights and suggestions for discussions and activities. Copies of her book will be available for purchase that evening and she will autograph them on request. Dr. Morena is visiting Alton that weekend for a workshop sponsored by Alton Memorial Hospital and Pathways To Wellness, Inc. Because our space is limited, registration in advance is required. ## HAYNER MAIN LIBRARY EVENTS

Mardi Gras at Hayner - featuring "You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band"
March 7 - 6:30 p.m.

Bud Shultz

Bud Shultz and the "You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band" will appear in concert for Mardi Gras at the Hayner Main Library on Tuesday, March 7, 2000 at 6:30 p.m. The "YCBEJB" is an organization of six musicians from the Greater St. Louis Metro-East area. Specializing in Traditional and Dixieland Jazz, the group also treats more modern pieces with a Dixieland flavor. Bud Shultz, of Godfrey, is the leader. His clarinet and curved soprano sax have been heard by many music afficionados in the Riverbend area for many years. Besides leading the "YCBEJB", he has appeared at the Spring 1997 Alton Landing Jazz Fest and his "Marina Stompers" have been regulars in the Alton Halloween Parade for many years. Appearing with Bud will be Tom Wyatt, of Alton, playing trombone, Ted Vogel, of St. Louis, for keyboard and vocals, Linton Luetje, of Florissant, on the tuba and Ken Link on the drums. There will also be trumpet accompaniment. Come celebrate Fat Tuesday in real New Orleans style! It's going to be a great show! The program is free but advanced registration is required. Register by calling the Main Library at 462-0651

Great Irish Music Here Again!

Celebrate the wearin' of the green and join us at Hayner for some great Irish music. On Wednesday, March 15, Irish folk singer Danny O'Dea returns with a program featuring the best songs and stories of Ireland. Danny's traditional folk songs and ballads packed the library last year so make your reservations early! Join us March 15th at 6:30 p.m. in the Jimmie J. Keller Reading Room, Hayner Main Library. Call 462-0651 to register.

Celebrating Women - Film Series

On Sundays throughout the month of March, Hayner will be sponsoring a film series featuring the achievement of women. These first run videos will be shown at 1 p.m. on the wide screen TV in the Metzger Conference Room (lower level of Hayner Youth Library). The series is free and does not require registration. Films include:

PATRON PROFILE: Ms. Mary Ann Mazenko

by Bernadette Duvernoy,
Library Assistant

"Hayner library has been important to me all my life. As a child, I was always at the Children's Library just taking out stacks of books....(the current collection) is enormously wide ranging. If I need a book that Hayner doesn't hold, you can always find it for me in no time. The library is good for the soul!" So speaks Mary Ann Mazenko, subject of this issue's patron profile. If that name is familiar to you it may be that you've seen Mary Ann's byline on the pages of the Alton Telegraph. Until her retirement in 1997, Mary Ann was the Lifestyle writer for the Telegraph. She has also worked as a Health and Medical reporter, reported hard news, handled government and police briefs...in short, Mary Ann knows her way around the newsroom.

Born and raised in Alton, Mary Ann attended Saints Peter and Paul Grade School and Marquette High School and went to University of Illinois where she earned her degree in Journalism. She came back to Alton to work as a copywriter in a St. Louis department store, moving on to work at Stix, Baer & Fuller as a fashion writer. Mary Ann noted that was a fun assignment but it had its perils as she spent every penny she earned on the clothes she was writing copy for! She joined the staff of the Alton Telegraph as a reporter in 1962 primarily covering the society desk. Mary Ann described that at the time there were only three women in the newsroom: her and another women to cover the society page and a woman who prepared the obituaries. "Times certainly have changed" she comments. During this period, Mary Ann met her husband, Fran, on a blind date. They married and soon started their own family. Mary Ann left the telegraph in 1965 shortly before the birth of her first child. Mary Ann and Fran have three children -two girls and a boy.

By 1976, Mary Ann was ready to go back to work and took the position of Public Relations Coordinator for St. Joe's Hospital (now St. Clare's). She enjoyed the job as she has always had an interest in medicine. The allure of the press was too great and Mary Ann returned to the Telegraph in 1981 as the Health and Medicine Reporter, though she covered a wide variety of assignments. Mary Ann, of course, has many fascinating recollections. She described the newsroom the day President Kennedy was shot. Breaking news still came in over the wire and one of the reporters read the print out loud "the president has just been shot". "At first we didn't know if it was some kind of bad joke and then everything just erupted - it was pandemonium" she recalls. She also recalls what a huge story the Paula Sims case was and how her assignment had been to interview some of Sims' neighbors in upper Alton. Of course, the Flood of '93 was both a national and international story and the Telegraph served as home base for reporters from all over the world.

Mary Ann also covered many art and entertainment stories and recalls a telephone interview with Naomi Judd which lasted 45 minutes. She has interviewed Robert Wagner, Stephanie Powers, Linda Evans, Molly Ivans, Mary Engelbreit, Howie Mandell, the Maguire Sisters, Dr. Henry Heimlich and many other entertainers, comedians and authors. She has found most of these interviewees to be unfailingly kind, professional people. Mary Ann admits to being a shy person by nature but the role of press allows you to "assume a mantle- you have a different persona when you are doing your job- you take on a different skin that's empowering whether you are interviewing artists, local political officials, business leaders, whoever."

During Mary Ann's last few years at the Telegraph she was the lifestyle feature writer. Mary Ann loved this assignment, meeting and reporting on a wide variety of people throughout the area. Mary Ann says she always learned something from the people she interviewed- regardless of their station in life. Most of us remember many of Mary Ann's popular feature articles- they consistently exhibited her personal philosophy of responsible journalism, that being 1) respect the person you're writing about as this person is putting their trust in you and 2) make SURE you quote correctly!

Now retired, Mary Ann and Fran (Fran worked for Owens-Illinois as Regional Recycling and Public Affairs Manager) enjoy spending time with their five grandchildren. Mary Ann is a life long gardening enthusiast ("I never met a flower I didn't like") and of course enjoys the time to indulge her passion to read. When asked if she missed the reporter's life, Mary Ann admitted that, while it's nice to be free of the stress of the job, she did miss the adrenaline rush of working under constant deadlines. "There is an excitement in the newsroom that gets in your blood," says Mary Ann. She also misses the people interaction. Over the years she has met and interviewed "so many special people." We miss Mary Ann's feature articles but always enjoy her visits to the library! ■

ILLINOIS MARRIAGE INDEX AVAILABLE AT HAYNER

The Illinois Marriage Index on CD-ROM is now available at the Reference Desk at the Main Library downtown. Published by the Illinois State Genealogical Society, the CD lists over 850,000 marriages that took place in Illinois from the earliest to 1900. A total of 82 Illinois counties are represented, including complete lists for 41 of the counties. The marriages are listed alphabetically by both bride and groom. Each marriage entry includes the date of the marriage, the county in which it took place, and, when available, the source of the information.

For further information, please stop by the Reference Desk downtown, or call Susan or katie at 462-0651 ■ directors and after her death left the hospital an endowment fund. Miss Smith died June 7, 1955 in the hospital she helped build.

Alton's cultural life is richer because of Dorothy Colonius. In 1933, this dedicated English teacher founded Alton Little Theater, making her dream of a community theater for the area a reality. The next year she took on the role of director, a role she kept for almost all of the theater's major productions until shortly before her death in 1979. Under her guidance, the theater group grew and with the help of volunteers and faithful members was able in 1960 to build its own showcase. Since then the theater has been expanded with the old area named "The Dorothy Colonius Foyer." A Telegraph article named Alton Little Theater as the second-oldest theater group in Illinois and one of the ten oldest in the country. Miss Colonius and her devotion to Alton Little Theater set the standards for the quality performances the community still enjoys today.

Many who were hungry and in need found help in the community because of the work and dedication of Frances Jackson. In 1977, Mrs. Jackson established the Crisis Food Center and worked to feed the hungry in the community until a stroke slowed her down. She saw the organization grow from a small group formed in her home to a center that serves over 18,000 people each year with the help of generous donations from individuals an organizations. The center also operates the Nearly New Shop that distributes clothes and school supplies to families in need. Mrs. Jackson, called a friend to the hungry and homeless, died in 1999 at the age of 90, but her gifts of help and hope to the community continue on through the work of the Crisis Food Center.

Hayner salutes these and all the women whose drive, determination and love of community helped build Alton. ■

THANK YOU FRIENDS!

The Friends of the Library continue to enrich the Hayner Library District each year through their hard work and consistently successful biannual book sales. Over the last five-plus years, their purchases on behalf of the library have included: flowers and shrubbery, microwave ovens (3 locations), extensive building renovation, multiple IBM computers and printers/ Macintosh computers and printers (3 locations), laminating machine, historical art prints/books and videos, barcode readers, laser printer, wooden library chairs, copier, annual children's Christmas party and Reading program parties ...the list goes on and on. Thank you Friends for all your help and support and we hope everyone can attend the next Friends of the Library Book Sale on May 11, 12 and 13. Watch for details at all library locations. ■

FOR WOMEN BY WOMEN

The Riverbend Growth Association and SCORE (Service Core of Retired Executives) are developing a half day seminar titled "For Women By Women" to be held the end of March, 2000. Hayner Library has been participating in this effort. This seminar will provide topics of professional development for women in business with a focus on all types of communication. Please watch local news sources for further details or call either the RBGA at 467-2280 or Bernadette Duvernoy at Hayner Library Office, 462-0677. ■

DID YOU KNOW...? REFERRING TO REFERENCE

Do you know.... what you call the stringy parts that peel away from the inside of the banana peel? (Rags) If Charlotte Bronte had a pen name? (Yes, several: C.B., Currer Bell, Marquis of Douro, Genius, Lord Charles Wellesley) The number of acceptable two-letter Scrabble words? (86) What are they? (Oh, please...) Actually, rather than knowing all the answers, the really smart people just know where to find them! And one of the best resources in town is the Reference Department for the Hayner Public Library District. The reference staff is located at the Main Library, downtown, but is available to patrons using all three Hayner locations. The staff consists of Reference Librarians Susan Kulasekara and Katie Schrimpf. Susan and Katie both hold Masters Degrees in Library and Information Science (Susan from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and Katie from University of Missouri, Columbia ) and are thus trained in how best to research a tremendous range of information and materials. Whether you need to look up a statistic, find a quick answer to a query or get started on a research project, the Reference Department can help. Here are some other things you may not know about Hayner's Reference services:

Reference Librarians
Katie Schrimpf & Susan Kulasekara

- Reference staff is available the following hours: Mondays 8-5, Tuesdays 8-5, Wednesdays 8-8, Thursdays 8-5, Fridays 8-5 and Saturdays 9-5.
- Reference can be reached 24 hours per day, 7 days per week at their e-mail address: hayneref@lcls.org. A reference librarian will respond to your query as soon as possible.
- The Reference Department can acquire books for you on interlibrary loan from all over the country.
- Reference provides the InfoPass service, which lets you check out books from libraries all over the St. Louis metro area on a one-time, specific-need basis.
- Hayner Library has a large, up-to-date, always growing reference collection as well as a direct connection to the Internet to help you with your reference needs.

Susan and Katie welcome your reference questions whether by e-mail, phone (462-0651) or in person ...and they're pretty darn hard to stump! ■

HEARTLAND CHAUTAUQUA

Heartland Chautauqua is coming to Alton June 26 - July 1, 2000. What is a Chautauqua? It started as religious training programs for Sunday School teachers in New York and later evolved to include educational and entertaining speeches from famous orators and entertainers. As popularity increased, a traveling Chautauqua was formed. They were not only about intellectual stimulation, but became places to socialize and converse about politics, economics, religion and other issues. The Heartland Chautauqua coming to Alton carries on this 127 year tradition with historic scholars, food, music and fun. Starting with a community tent raising in Haskell park on June 26, the week's shows will feature music followed by a performance by a scholar/actors (a different character each night). Each day, selected actors will be putting on additional performances at both the Hayner Youth and Main libraries. Be sure to check both the Youth and Main Events Calender for performance description and schedules! The Heartland Chautauqua in Alton is sponsored by the Illinois and Missouri Humanities Council and the Alton Main Street Program. All performances are free of charge. ■

YOUTH LIBRARY PROGRAMS

Registration for summer reading club and activity programs opens Saturday, June 3 unless otherwise stated. Register in person only at the location where you plan to attend the program. We regret we cannot accept registrations by phone for summer programs.

Children under twelve must be registered by a parent or guardian. Teens, ages 12-15, may sign up on their own. Summer reading club registration closes Saturday, July 1. Registration for activity programs close when all available places are filled. All programs at the library are provided free of charge. Due to space limits only residents or cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District may attend summer programs at the library.

Read For The Fun Of It!

Kids from birth through fifteen are invited to participate in the Read For The Fun Of It! Summer Reading Club at Hayner Public Library this summer. Prereaders may participate if an adult agrees to read to them. Families can sign up as a group and everyone — including Mom and Dad — is eligible to win prizes for summer reading. This is a great opportunity for parents to teach kids by their own example the importance of reading both as a skill and a source of lifelong enjoyment and learning.

Participants agree to read at least six hours to complete the program and win a free paperback book of their choice. Time sheets must be returned to the library no later than Monday, July 31, in order to qualify. There are additional small prizes for those who read 12, 18, 24 and 30 hours. Those who read 30 hours are listed on the Famous Fun Readers display at the Youth Library all summer. If all members of the family complete 30 hours each the family will be listed on the WE READ Family Hall of Fame display at the Youth Library all summer. Kids and families can submit photos of themselves to be posted along with their names in the library display.

Award books and prizes will be distributed at the End of Summer Reading Party on Thursday, August 3 at the Riverbend Arena, Lewis & Clark Community College. If you cannot attend the party, you can pick up your certificate and award book at the Youth Library any time between August 4 and 31.

Summer schools and other community agencies that provide summer activities for kids can partner with the library and participate as outreach sites for the summer reading club. Please call Pam Klipsch at the Youth Library (462-0652) for more information about the Community Reading Partnership program.

SUMMER ACTIVITY PROGRAMS

To register for activity programs children must be the age specified by June 1, 2000. Programs do have limited seating so registration is necessary. Please register at the location where you plan to attend the program. There is no charge to participate in any library-sponsored program. No activity programs meet July 3-8.

Look For Books! Preschool Story Times

We offer preschool story times for ages 3-5. There are two groups, one meeting on Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m. at the Youth Library, and one meeting on Thursdays at 10 a.m. at the Alton Square Branch Library. ## PATRON PROFILE:
Marvin Flowers

by Bernadette Duvernoy
Public Relations Coordinator

I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Marvin Flowers at the Hayner Branch Library in the Mall for this edition's Patron Profile. Marvin and his family moved to Alton two years ago from Mt. Pulaski Il. Martin has also lived in Elgin, Il and Terra Haute, Indiana and is a native of Indianapolis, Indiana. Marvin is the Senior Minister at the Community Christian Church at 2345 Union School Road and has been preaching for twenty seven years. He attended Ozark Christian College in Joplin and in 1994, he completed a Masters degree from Cincinnati Bible Seminary. Marvin says "I am always studying, which is why I am so involved in the library."

Marvin is a great supporter of the library, commenting that "it is the best library system, the cooperative spirit and ease of use are wonderful". Well, the library is a great fan of Marvin's also. He has become our resident Mac computer Guru. Marvin has been involved with Macs since 1984 when he bought his first PC. It was because of the Macs installed at the branch that Marvin got to know the staff there. He relates that he walked into the branch one day and the staff was rather distressed. It seems that someone had programmed the Macs sound system to keep repeating swear words and no one knew how to stop it! Needless to say, the staff was very concerned that this was not exactly the environment they had visualized for the beautiful newly renovated branch facility. Marvin volunteered "hey, I love those computers and I can fix it for you if you want". Marvin has made sure that the Macs will never have THAT problem again! Since that time, whenever Marvin is in the Mall, he stops by the branch to make sure the Macs are all doing ok and if there should be some kind of problem he fixes it!

Marvin shares his love of computers with his ministry also. He keeps a couple in the back of his car and has been known to make calls on several senior citizens to set the computer up and teach them to use Internet and e-mail He also volunteers at his church and the library to teach people how to use the computer. Some day he envisions a computer lab at the church for public use, particularly aimed at helping seniors get online.

Along with his church work (which includes counseling and Bible Study), Marvin does a lot of hospital and nursing home visitation. He is a friendly, soft-spoken man that certainly would be a great comfort to the sick or elderly. Marvin has also recently completed a short-term mission in the Dominican Republic. His church supports a missionary, Rick York, who has planted fifty churches in the Dominican Republic with approximately 3000 members. During Marvin's mission, he trained the local preachers on leadership and church growth.

Marvin and his wife, Marge (Marge is a Medical Transcriptionist and an RN) have three children-two daughters in Bible College, Jodi and Misty and a son, Matthew, who is a junior at Alton High School. Marvin is very proud of his family He said both daughters will likely go on with mission work. Misty is studying to become a surgical assistant and is looking forward to going to Mexico as a Medical Missionary. Jodi has been to the Dominican Republic twice on missions. She is studying "TESL" - Teaching English as a Second Language. She has had offers to go to Japan to teach, in which case Marvin says he will have to stop buying computers so he can afford to visit her! The Flowers also have two dogs which are also 'just part of the family'.

Along with his family, church, reading and computers, Marvin has a great love of all sports. He played sports in high school and college but now is mainly a spectator. He did admit, rather quietly, to being an avid fan of the Chicago Cubs which "doesn't really work down here"

While we were chatting, Marvin's dear friend of twenty years, Ken Rutledge, came into the library. Their mission that afternoon was to buy Ken a new (guess what?) Mac computer. Marvin said he is willing to help anyone out who has a computer problem, so if you're a Mac user and have a question, Marvin's the man to see. He has been a huge help to the Library where both IBM-like PCs and Macs are installed. We couldn't be more thankful for Marvin's help and it's always a pleasure to see him at the library. ■

[illegible]

American Hollow

By Rory Kennedy. Non-fiction

An extraordinary portrait of a nearly extinct way of life, "American Hollow" profiles in word and pictures the story of seven generations of one family living in Appalachia. This is a moving documentary of how relentless life can be "in the hollow."

Bernie D.

[illegible]

By Nelson DeMille. Fiction

A bloody trail of terror streaks across the country and John Corey, ex-New York City policeman and now member of the elite Anti-terrorist Task Force is on the case. Plot twists, sardonic humor, great characterizations and harrowing suspense make this page-turner sizzle! Hayner holds both book and unabridged audio. Don't miss this one. –Bernie D

Daughter of Fortune

By Isabel Allende. Fiction

Romance and adventure in a beautifully written story set against the backdrop of fascinating cultures. Young, headstrong and pregnant, Eliza's passion for her lover lures her from upper class Chile to the California gold rush where she learns that following your heart sometimes means just opening your eyes. Allende's characters are strong and appealing and the surprises she drops throughout the story will catch you off guard. Hayner holds both book and unabridged audio. –Katie S.

Girl With a Pearl Earring

By Tracy Chevalier. Fiction

History and fiction blend in Chevalier's story about the girl whose haunting eyes stare out from Johannes Vermeer's famous painting, often called the Dutch Mona Lisa. Chevalier offers a fascinating look at the artist's world, the master-servant social structure, and the workings of a young girl's heart. –Katie S.

The Ultimate Decorating Book: Over 1,000 Decoration Ideas for All the Rooms in Your Home

By Judy Spours. Non-fiction

Come check out one of the latest additions to our interior decorating collection. This oversized book is stuffed with color photos and easy do-it-yourself decorating projects. Sections include "Decorating with Style," "Decorating with Soft Furnishings," "Decorating with Paint and Paper," and "Decorating Solutions." –Susan K.

Motherless Brooklyn

By Jonathan Lethem. Fiction

Lethem offers murder, mobs and humor in a great mystery with a very unusual detective, a young P.I. with Tourette's syndrome. This book has a good story line—the P.I. investigates his boss' murder, but it is Lethem's good insights about the young detective with Tourette's that make this book so remarkable. Very enlightening. Motherless Brooklyn won the National Book Critics Circle Award for Best Novel in 1999.–Ginger T.

R HOMEBOUND

by Stephanie Munson, Homebound Coordinator

Spring has sprung all over Alton. Have you taken a ride and looked at all the lovely flowering trees? We are very lucky to have the tree program in Alton.

Did you see the article in the Telegraph about Dr. Ned DuVivier (one of our very special Homebound Volunteers)? He is representing Illinois' 20th Congressional District. The top priority resolutions of this year's session included Older American Act Reauthorization, geriatric training, Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage, Social Security and Alzheimer Disease research funding. It's nice to know that Dr. Ned is looking out for us! We have some new Large Print books just out: The Sacred Shore by Janette Oke, Young Wives by Olivia Goldsmith, Agatha Raisin and the Witch of Wyckhadden by M.C. Beaton and The Great Republic by Sir Winston Churchill. I leave you with a little thought: Friendship is a priceless treasure never to be bought or sold - it can only be cherished. Have a great summer! - Steph ■

MEET NEW STAFF AT HAYNER MAIN LIBRARY

We want to introduce you to some of the new faces you have noticed at the Hayner Main Library. Julie Belk started part-time this past March working as a Library Assistant. Julie, a Godfrey resident, graduated from Lewis and Clark Community College with a degree in Business Management. She and her husband, Brian, are expecting their first child in September (just in time for Library card Sign up month!).

Twila Liley also joined the library staff this past March. Twila is a part-time Library assistant. Previously, she had worked as the secretary for First Christian Church in Bethalto. Twila has four grown children (three boys and a girl) and two granddaughters. Twila enjoys reading romance novels as well as working in her garden, travel and crafts and says she absolutely "loves working at the library".

Mary Paddock is not technically "new" staff. Mary first came to work at the Main Library as a page in 1995, while a junior in Alton High School. In the Spring of 1998, Mary was promoted to part-time Library Assistant and this past spring, she was promoted again to full-time Library Assistant. While at Alton High School, Mary was President of Future Business Leaders of America and won The Partnership with Business Project award. Mary has completed her associates degree at Lewis and Clark Community College and is continuing her studies in Political Science at SIUE. Mary's reading tastes run to politics, current events, gardening and mysteries. Mary is also our resident trivia expert!

Reference Librarian Katie Schrimpf has also assumed responsibility as Department Head of the Main Library. Welcome and congratulations all! ■

SEPTEMBER IS LIBRARY CARD SIGN-UP MONTH

Do your children have library cards? It has been proven time and time again that children who read are better students. Make sure you give your child the competitive advantage. Get him a library card and encourage him to use it. Better yet, use the library together. During the month of September, the Youth Library will be giving out a free paperback book to every child who signs up for a new library card. Also, for tips on how parents can help their children make the most of the library, check out the American Library Association's Web site at http://www.ala.org/parentspage.

ST. LOUIS DUO TO PERFORM FOR HAYNER

We are so excited that the widely popular duo of Miller and Eaton will be performing on October 3, 2000 at 6:30 p.m. in a special program presented by the Hayner Public Library District. Marion Miller, pianist, arranger and composer teamed up with vocalist Edward A. Eaton in 1972. For many years, they have been a regular feature performing at the Adams Mark Hotel in St. Louis. They have performed at many clubs throughout the St. Louis area as well as Naples, Florida. They also enjoy performing on cruises and for private groups. Their repertoire includes the blues, show tunes, jazz, pop and the standards of composers such as Porter, Ellington, Arlen and Gershwin.

For this special event, the Library has reserved the Benjamin Godfrey Memorial Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Rd., Godfrey, IL. The program is free of charge but registration is required. To register, call Reynae at 462-0677. Don't miss the opportunity to see these wonderful performers. We promise you will enjoy a special evening of fine music and entertainment! ■

Name Dropping

by Jane Heller. Fiction

The latest murder mystery from Heller has pre-school teacher Nancy Stern wishing there was more to her existence than four-year-olds and play-doh. When a celebrity journalist with the same name moves into her apartment building, our Nancy is dazzled by the glitzy life until murder and mayhem step in. A witty and entertaining summer read. –Martha F.

Death on a Silver Tray

by Rosemary Stevens. Mystery

If you like your mysteries historical, Rosemary Stevens serves up a refreshing debut with Death on a Silver Tray. It's set in Regency England and features as its sleuth none other than "the Beau" himself, George Beau Brummell. When asked by the Duchess of York to help clear her friend of a murder charge, George finds time to do some first-rate detective work despite a busy schedule of dictating fashion, gambling and hobnobbing with the Royals. Historical atmosphere, a touch of humor and the compelling character of Beau with all his flaws and graces will leave you hoping that Rose-mary Stevens writes quickly.
–Katie S.

Jemima J: a Novel About Ugly Ducklings and Swans

by Jane Green. Fiction

Hooray for Jemima J! In Jane Green's sparkling debut novel about life, love and stereotypes, we delve into the world of Jemima Jones. Jemima is an overweight, unhappy wallflower who writes household hints for a dumpy London newspaper. She wants only three things in life: a body like the models she sees in fashion magazines, a chance to leave her awful job and actually write for one of these magazines, and last but certainly not least, a date with the office hunk Ben Williams. This book is much more than a story of one woman's struggle to make her dreams come true. It is a story of heartache, hidden meanings, and self-acceptance told with heartbreaking honesty and a good dose of humor! One thing is for sure, no matter what happens (you'll have to read it to find out!), Jemima J. will leave readers cheering for more!
–Mary P.

The Raven and the Nightingale

by Joanne Dobson. Mystery

When Enfield College windbag professor Elliot Corbin is murdered, the faculty is horrified even though none of them truly miss him. Professor Karen Pelletier, appearing here in her third mystery, is called in by attractive police Lieutenant Piotrowski to help investigate the murder. She discovers that Corbin's death may be connected to the "Raven"–Edgar Allen Poe himself–and a woman poet of Poe's time who may have killed herself for the love of Poe As Karen delves more deeply into the puzzle, she unearths secrets about the Enfield faculty that some people would kill to cover up. –Susan K.

The New Family Home

by Jim Tolpin. Nonfiction

The modern family home has changed dramatically in the last generation, and to prove it, here is a portrayal of 24 homes and how each one works for its family. This beautiful coffee-table-sized book has lots of color photos, floor plans of the homes portrayed, and stories about the situation and needs of each owner. If you liked The Not So Big House, this book is a great choice.
–Susan K.

When the Air Hits Your Brain: Tales of Neurosurgery

by Frank T. Vertosick, Jr.
Nonfiction

A fascinating account of the training and practice of a neurosurgeon–a poignant and sometimes funny account of the mysteries of the mind and the operating room.
–Bernie D. ■

BANNED BOOK WEEK
SEPTEMBER 23-30, 2000

Why Banned Book Week? Quite simply, it is to celebrate the freedom to read. This freedom, not only to choose what we read but also to be able to select from a full array of possibilities, is firmly rooted in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which guarantees freedom of speech and freedom of press. Even as we revel in the increasing quantity and availability of information and reading material, we must maintain vigilance to assure that access to this material is preserved. Threats against the freedom to read still exist and come from all quarters and from all political persuasions. Censors are those who try to limit the freedom of others to choose what they read, see or hear, even if the motivation for the restriction is well intentioned. Individuals may restrict what they themselves or their children read, but they must not call on governmental or public agencies to prevent others from reading or seeing that material.

-American Library Association

PATRON PROFILE: John Ponivas

by Bernadette Duvernoy

As back to school time is here, it seemed appropriate that we should look to the Youth Library to identify this issue's "Patron Profile" personality. And so, we would like to introduce you to John Ponivas. John, who is a tenth grader at Metro East Lutheran High School, is not only a frequent patron of the library, but has also been a summertime volunteer for the last three years. The Youth Library Volunteer program is open each summer to 10 children between the ages of twelve and fifteen. The responsibilities of the volunteers include the yearly washing of all the library shelves, helping with the summer reading programs and shelving books. They work one day a week from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The library staff greatly appreciates the help provided by volunteers such as John.

John, who lives in Alton with his parents, keeps busy with many other activities as well. He is back in school where his favorite subjects are math and science. He is going out for cross country track and also enjoys playing baseball. John has a paper route which requires a 6 a.m. wake up call every morning. He also has a lawn care service, mowing yards in the neighborhood, and occasionally baby-sits. He likes collecting "stuff" and is an avid science fiction reader.

The staff has really enjoyed working with John. He is described as "bright, dependable, helpful and hard working" by Youth Library personnel. Even though the Summer Volunteer program is over, we know we'll still see lots of John as he is a frequent user of all three Hayner Library locations. ■

PROJECT READ

An estimated 4 million Illinois adults have low skills in performing reading and math tasks. At present time, an estimated 60,000 people in the Madison County area alone are classified as "functionally illiterate." They are unable to do such necessary tasks as total a bank deposit, use a bus schedule, complete job applications or even write a simple letter. Lewis and Clark Community College's Project Read exists to provide such people with help learning to read and comprehend. But Project Read also needs our help. They need volunteers to work with these adults. Anyone can volunteer. Training is provided by the programs' reading specialist and all materials are provided. Tutors work with students at libraries, churches, community buildings and malls. Imagine the rewards of helping another person realize the satisfaction of reading! To volunteer, or for more information, call the Project Read office at 468-4144 ■

LIBRARY BOARD ELECTIONS

This year two seats on the Hayner Public Library District Board of Directors come up for election in April 2001. Both seats are for six year terms. For those interested in running for a seat, petitions and information packets will be available after November 1, 2000. ■

HAYNER RECEIVES ILLINOIS STATE LIBRARY GRANT!

We are excited to announce that the Hayner Public Library District has been awarded a Federal FY2001 Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) Grant! These grants are administered by the Illinois State Library, a division of the Secretary of State's office. The grant was applied for under the LSTA goal to "develop training methods and activities that will allow library personnel and Illinois citizens to become technologically literate." With the awarded grant monies ($5600), the library will be able to develop Internet training courses for our patrons. The purchase of a multipurpose projector will facilitate the development of "real time" course instruction. Watch the newsletter for announcement of future class schedules ■

FOR WOMEN BY WOMEN CONFERENCE

Hayner Library staff has been working with the River Bend Growth Association and Service Corps of Retired Executives to develop the second seminar in the For Women By Women Career Development Conference Series. The theme of this seminar will be "Styles for Success" and will be held September 28th at the Alton Holiday Inn. For more information, contact the RBGA at 467-2280 ■

Pardon our Mess

Construction has begun on the renovation of the circulation desk at the main library - we are so excited. With the myriad of changes in library technologies (computers, high speed printers, scanners) our old desk was becoming a jumble of wires and equipment with little room for serving our patrons. The new circ desk will allow us to be more efficient and have more space to attend to our expanding services (and there will be a book drop, as many of you have requested!) So, please be patient with us as we gear up to provide you the best service possible!

FROM THE ILLINOIS ROOM

by Katie Schrimpf, Reference Librarian

Alton has proud ties to the fight against slavery. Did you know that Alton was home to the Senator who wrote the amendment abolishing slavery? It was Sen. Lyman Trumbull, U.S. Senator from Illinois, 1855-1873, who submitted the resolution that became the Thirteenth Amendment. Sen. Trumbull wanted to be sure that slavery was abolished in all states, not just the Confederate states under the Emancipation Proclamation. His words, adopted as the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution, prohibited slavery in every state. Sen. Trumbull moved to Alton in 1849 and lived there until close to the end of his second senate term. His house is included on historic and Underground Railroad tours. Learn more about Sen. Trumbull from these Illinois Room sources: The Life of Lyman Trumbull by Horace White (IR B Trumbull) and Lyman Trumbull: Conservative Radical by Mark K. Krug (IR 973.7K941).

Alton is also believed to have been an important route along the Underground Railroad that offered safe "stations" to slaves escaping to freedom in the North. The need for secrecy left few sources for historians, but several local sites are linked by legend to this railroad. It is harder to know who the conductors may have been, but a source from the Illinois Room lists three— Major Charles Hunter who established Hunterstown, a sheriff, and a freed slave, showing how varied the conductors on this railroad might have been. "Among such conductors was Major Hunter. He drove a team of his own, frequently brought back with him from St. Louis, under the wagon seat, an 'invisible passenger' ticket for Canada. George Weigler, his neighbor, and long time honored citizen was in the same profession, notwithstanding the fact that at the very time he was one of the High Sheriffs of the area. Also, one Issac Kelly, 'a vigorous and highly respected colored barber,' was a sure conductor on this famous North Star Route." Footprints and Echoes From Historical Alton Area by Viola W. Voss, p 28.

HAYNER'S NEW YOUTH SERVICES LIBRARIAN

by Joyce Reid, Director

Carol Brockmeyer began her duties as Youth Services Librarian on October 23rd. Carol brings an enthusiastic, energetic presence to the position. With the departure of Pam Klipsch, the former Youth Services Librarian at Hayner for sixteen years, to accept the position as Assistant Director at Kirkwood Public Library in Missouri to further her library career, the search began in early June for a replacement. In today's job market there is a shortage of youth services librarians, especially those with experience. In conducting the search for a Youth Services Librarian the qualities that were being sought not only included a knowledge of children's literature and collection development but also the ability to apply strong customer service and technology skills and to work with various community groups and schools in promoting children's and young adult library services. The chosen candidate for the Youth Services position would need to bring a new energy and vitality to the youth services department with new program offerings and to continue established successful programs.

Carol has these qualities that are necessary for the Youth Services department at Hayner. Carol's background is in Early Childhood and elementary education. She brings six years of past experience as a youth librarian and most recently has been working as an early childhood educator. The next time you visit the Youth Library introduce yourself to Carol.

FOOD FOR FINES DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON

Beginning November 24, 2000 and continuing through December 31, 2000, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner material only). All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the local food pantry in the Alton Area. If you want to donate items such as toiletries, cleaning products, or even scarves or gloves (new) we will accept them for fines and of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community.
Happy Holidays!

WIN A HOLIDAY SHEEPDOG PUPPET

Starting November 24, 2000 you can drop by any Hayner Library location to register to win one of three Sheepdog hand puppets being given away by the library. These sweet puppies are looking for just the right owner to take them home for the holidays! Any Hayner Library cardholder is eligible (except for Hayner employees and their families) Winners will be announced live on WBGZ on December 22, 2000 Ballot boxes for the drawing will be at all three Hayner locations: the Main Library at 326 Belle St., the Youth Library at 401 State Street and the Branch Library at the Alton Square Mall.

The Ginger Tree

by Oswald Wynd. Fiction.

If you missed The Ginger Tree the first time around, don't miss it this time. It's the story of a young Scots girl who sails to China in 1903 to marry a British attache. An affair with a handsome Japanese count changes her life. Written in diary-form, we see a woman bound by the structures of society yet able to use her own strengths to make a life for herself.

Author Oswald Wynd blends good writing, a strong story and a look at China's culture and history in this book. –Katies S.

When I Was Five I Killed Myself

by Howard Buten. Fiction

Winner of the Chevalier des Artes et Lettres, France's highest literary honor, American Howard Buten has written a modern classic in When I Was Five I Killed Myself. This book has sold over a million copies in France. It is the compelling study of the tragedy of a misunderstood young man, confined in a mental institution, who is trying to grow up around adults who seem to have landed from other planets. Written in the true voice of an 8 year-old, the story is provocative and disturbing. –Bernie D.

Creating the Not So Big House

by Sarah Susanka. Non-fiction

If you've read Susanka's best-selling book The Not So Big House, you know you're in for a treat with this sequel. This time, Susanka closely examines 25 specific homes created along the "not so big" principle set forth in her first book: to build a house that isn't so big, but that uses quality design and materials in the smaller amount of space. The photographs are beautiful and inspiring, and floor plans are shown for all the houses. –Susan K.

Black Dog

by Stephen Booth. Mystery

If you like your mysteries psychological, Stephen Booth's Black Dog is a strong, new offering. The search for missing teenager Laura Vernon pairs "local son" Detective Constable Ben Cooper with outsider Diane Fry. It is the interaction between these characters and the strong sense of atmosphere that lift this book above ordinary police procedural. Compared in reviews to Barbara Vine and Minette Walters, Black Dog has been nominated for the John Creasey award for best first crime novel. –Katie S.

Dave Barry Is Not Taking This Sitting Down

by Dave Barry. Non-fiction

Dave Barry fans stand up and cheer! The Pulitzer Prize winning author is back with a whole new collection of writings guaranteed to tickle your funny bone. What hard-hitting subjects is Dave taking on in this book? Why, cruise ship buffets, the dangers of wasabi, and low-flush toilets among others, of course! And be sure to read the hysterical chapters on the IRS and SUVs! This is one of the best books I've read in a long time. I'm not making that up! –Mary P.

Under the Skin

by Michel Faber. Fiction

Under the Skin by Michel Faber is a wildly imaginative, bizarre and grizzly first novel that is generating much critical praise. Faber reverses many roles: animals are humans, humans become animals and hitchhikers are victims rather than dangerous passengers. Though the novel's message is ultimately one of compassion, it is not for the squeamish! –Bernie D.

"ALTON MEMORIES" – A GREAT GIFT IDEA!

Hayner Library staff was involved in a really fun project this year. Working with three local historians, Charlotte Stetson, Don Huber and Bob St. Peters, and G. Bradley Publishing, Inc., the Library assisted in the creation of a book titled "Alton Memories". The book recounts the stories of people, places and incidents in times past that give Alton its unique character and history. Available in December, 2000, it will be sold at Liberty Bank locations for $14.95. It will make a wonderful Christmas gift (or anytime gift!) for family and friends.

AT THE LIBRARY

by Susan Kulasekara, Reference Librarian

Everyone knows that the library is a great place to come and check out books on virtually any subject imaginable. But did you know about the wealth of computerized resources we have available? If not, come in and check out some of these:

American Business Disc: A database of over 11 million publicly and privately-owned companies throughout the U.S. Listings include address, phone number, key contact, number of employees, annual sales volume, and more

Ebsco MasterFile Select: Available on all of our online catalogs, this index to magazine articles lets you search by subject and even print out the full text of many articles.

Electric Library: Use this database to find information about current events or just about any subject that interests you. It is unique in that it indexes not only print sources, but also nonprint ones like radio and television programs. It even includes maps and encyclopedia articles!

Illinois Marriage Index: Genealogy users will love this CD-ROM database of over 850,000 Illinois marriages, from the earliest to 1900. The marriages are listed in alphabetical order by bride and groom, and listings include the date and the county.

NoveList: This wonderful Internet database helps fiction readers find new authors and titles. You can make your own lists of fiction by subject or genre, or you can type in the name of an author or title you like and find similar books.

For help with these or our other electronic resources, see Susan or Katie in the Reference Department at our downtown location; or call us at 462-0651. We will be happy to get you started in using any of these wonderful sources.

FROM THE ILLINOIS ROOM

by Katie Schrimpf
Reference Librarian

Alton's "Chicken Artist"

Paul E. Harney, 1850-1915, was one of Alton's most original and colorful artists, painting not only traditional portraits but also his favorite subjects, the monk's heads and barnyard chicken scenes for which he was so well-known.

It is not clear when Harney came to Alton from St. Louis, but it appears he and his family lived here from the early 1880's to the early 1890's. Alton's 1883 City Directory lists him as the Director of Shurtleff College Art School and as living on Jersey Street in Upper Alton. An Illinois Room source described Shurtleff's Department of Art as "languishing from time-to-time" but again lists Harney as its director in 1891-93 and as a teacher at the college through 1902.

Harney was an artist of distinguished credentials, having studied art at the National Academy in New York and also at the Royal Academy in Munich. He occupied a chair at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts and in the late 1870's shared a studio with famous artist and friend Alban Jasper Conant. Late in his life, when Conant was nearly blind, he called upon his old friend Harney to finish several portraits for him, including those of Abraham Lincoln and Henry Ward Beecher.

Despite his training and artistic talent, Harney struggled to support his family, often bartering his paintings for food and clothes. His obituary, published in the Alton Telegraph on November 27, 1915, says Harney "often expressed the opinion that after he was dead his pictures, which poorly repaid him, would be 'worth something,' but that he would not be there to see it." It described Harney as full of wit and humor but "devoid of any business instincts and never did take advantage of the opportunity he has to insist upon better prices for his work." Five years after Harney's death, the Telegraph published an article about the high demand and soaring prices for Harney's paintings (May 8, 1920).

Learn more about Paul Harney in the Illinois Room at Hayner Main Library with Paul E. Harney, compiled by Burton W. Morwood (IR B HARNEY).

EXCITING EVENTS TO BE HELD AT GODFREY CHAPEL!

Two of our winter programs are going to be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College (5800 Godfrey Road).

The first will feature the wonderful music of Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band. This will be Bud's third return engagement for the Library. Bud's previous performances have been so popular, we've had to turn people away due to lack of space, so this time, we're taking Bud to the Chapel! What a great place for a rousing evening of New Orleans style jazz...and what better night than Fat Tuesday, February 27 (6:30 pm). Come and celebrate Mardi Gras. Costumes welcome...beads? Of course! This program is free of charge and registration is required. To register, call Reynae at 462-0677.

On Tuesday, March 27 at 6:30, we're back at the chapel with the Allen Singers. This well-known local ensemble of approximately 20 singers will inspire and delight you. The chapel will be the perfect setting for their beautiful chorale music. What a wonderful way to welcome spring!

This program is free of charge but does require registration. To register, call Reynae at 462-0677.

Call Reynae to register at 462-0677.

OUR COLLECTIONS CONTINUE TO GROW

The library is constantly adding new material to all our collections but recently we made significant additions to both the Main Library and Branch collections that we're sure will especially interest you.

This year, the American Film Institute celebrated its 100th anniversary with a campaign commemorating great movie comedies. Using the theme "One Hundred Years, One Hundred Laughs" the AFI has published their listing of the top 100 funniest films. We did an inventory of our current video holdings and determined that we already held approximately 60 of the recommended titles. We have recently added the other 40 titles to our shelves in the Main Library. Be sure to check out such titles as Tootsie, Airplane, It's a Mad Mad Mad Mad World, Horse Feathers, 9 to 5, Father of the Bride, Silver Streak and many more! We also have added an eight part video series titled Decades which recounts the events and people who changed St. Louis in each decade from 1900 through 1980.

The Branch Library has added many new titles to their travel books. Check out some of the "Insiders Guides" to such locales as Austin, the Smokey Mountains, Myrtle Beach, Portland, Charleston, the Ozarks and many more. If you are going further afield, check out our new travel books for Barcelona, Brussels, Delhi, Scotland and more. These travel guides are extremely popular and have been flying of the shelves (pun intended).

The Branch has also added a series of "Girls Guides". These are books that address a variety of topics including the internet/ friendship/volunteering/eating well/making the most of life at school and more.

Remember, no matter which library location you prefer to visit, if the book or video is not on the shelf, you can request it from the owning location - just keep your library card handy to enjoy these wonderful additions.

AMERICAN HISTORY MUSEUM DECORATES HAYNER BRANCH WINDOW

Be sure to stop by and check out the window display at Hayner Branch Library. Designed by Dr. Harvey Veit, President of the American History Museum, it is a fascinating collection of artifacts and replicas that reflect daily life in times past. The display include a reproduction of the Bedford Flag which was flown at the Battle of Concord Bridge, sample clothes of the 1800s, moccasins from 1800, men's shoes from 1700s, butter churns and pottery of 1700-1800s, British coins and more. Once you've seen the window, you'll want to stop by the museum at 712 Willowood Lane in Godfrey.

BLACK HISTORY month

DON'T MISS THESE ACTIVITIES!

February 2001 is Black History Month. We have some great activities planned and hope you will attend as many as possible.

On February 1st, at 6:30, Emmy Award-winner Bobby Norfolk will perform in the Reading Room of the Main Library. Bobby is renowned as one of the leading story tellers in the country. Bobby performs folktales that inspire humanity, cultural diversity, self-esteem, cooperation and more. He has won numerous awards and performed world wide. To register for this program, call Reynae at 462-0677.

On February 7, Eric Robinson will present a program The History of the Underground Railroad. This program will be in the Reading Room of the Main Library at 6:30 PM. Eric is a History Instructor at Lewis and Clark Community College. Eric also conducts the radio show, Eavesdropping for WBGZ. Based on his own research, Eric will discuss the history of the underground railroad, how this history was passed on, and local Alton area participation in Railroad activities. To register for this program, call Reynae at 462-0677.

On February 8, Coretta Scott King Award-winning illustrator Jan Spivey Gilchrist will visit the Alton-Godfrey area. The Coretta Scott King Award is presented each year to an African American Illustrator and/or author for outstandingly inspirational and educational contribution of their published work. Ms. Gilchrist has illustrated over 30 books in her 25 year career. This program is being jointly sponsored by the Hayner Public Library District and Lewis and Clark Community College. Location and time to be announced.

PATRONS FLOCK TO INTERNET CLASSES

In October, we announced our first offering of classes on using the Internet (Internet 101). The response was overwhelming! The classes were booked within days of the announcement and we have a significant waiting list. Consequently, after the New Year, additional classes will be scheduled. We will try to accommodate as many people as possible. If you are interested in being placed on the waiting list, please call the Reynae at 462-0677.

Internet 101 covers a basic introduction to the Internet, finding an Internet Service Provider, Search Engines, how to surf the Web and more. The classes have been made possible in part by a grant from the Illinois State Library .

PATRON PROFILE
Hazel Killion

by Bernadette Duvernoy

Some people just give and give and give to their communities and then they give some more! Such a woman is Hazel Killion, subject of this issue's Patron Profile. Many of us know Hazel as the organizer and president (for the last 40 years) of the choral group, the Allen Singers. The Allen Singers, now a YWCA organization, was organized in 1960 at the Allen Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church. The original four woman group was an offspring of a choral group, the Mother Singers of Alton. As the group grew so did their mission to serve not only their church but the entire community. Today, the Allen singers is an interdenominational, interracial, intergenerational ensemble of approximately 20 members. Their concerts have benefitted multiple charitable organizations including The Delta Ministry of Mississippi, Local and National foundation for Sickle Cell Anemia, the NAACP, the Elijah P. Lovejoy Scholarship Fund, St. Joseph's Hospital Emergency Room, Alton-Godfrey Human Development Resource Center, Oasis Women's Center and the YWCA Scholarship Program. The Allen singers will be performing for Hayner Library on Tuesday, March 27. This performance will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College.

Hazel moved to Alton at the age of 12 years old and attended Alton public schools. She loves books. She recalls library visits as the highlight of her week's activities and she still carries a love of reading with her today.

Hazel married her husband, James H. Killion shortly after graduation from high school. Hazel and James were married 56 years (James passed away in 1997) and raised four children- James Killion III, National Sales Director, Strategic Accounts, General Electric, Carol Hudson, school nurse at the Thurgood Marshall Charter School in St. Louis, Dr. Cheryl Killion, Professor, School of Nursing, University of Michigan and Michele Keeper, Speech Therapist, Hazelwood East Senior High School. Hazel is also grandmother of six.

As her children grew and became more independent, Hazel became increasingly busy as a community activist. She has served on an impressive array of service organizations in many different capacities. She has always been very involved with her church serving for many different societies and committees. She was recognized with a Christian Service Award as well as a Brotherhood Award - recognition jointly shared with her husband.

Hazel has also worked with the Alton YWCA for over 20 years. She has chaired numerous YWCA committees and has been on the Board of Directors in multiple positions, including President from 1975-1977. She has also been a member of the Board of Directors of the United Way Partnership for 20 years and has served on multiple working committees. She received the United Way Division Chairman Award in 1976 and 1977. Other affiliations for which she has volunteered her time include Alton Community Unit School District, PTA Officer, Madison County Urban League, National Council of Negro Women, Inc. Board member (an organization of which she is the founder, organizer, past president and current Recording Secretary), University of Illinois Home Extension Council, Unit Chairperson for the Cancer Research Study for American Cancer Society, Federated Unity Club of Alton, Black Women in the Midwest Project - sponsored by the National Endowment for Humanities, Purdue University and more just too numerous to mention! She is also currently President of the Board of Directors for the Oasis Women's Center. Hazel's work has not gone unrecognized by her peers and community - a very abbreviated list of her recognitions includes multiple Community Service Awards, Recognition Award /Presidents Award/ Living Legend Award from the National Council of Negro Women, Book of Golden Deeds Award from the Alton Exchange Club, Recognition from Illinois State, Eighty-fifth General Assembly, Women of Accomplishment Award, Valiant Woman Award and still many more.

Hazel Killion

Hazel says "my participation and involvement in Church and other not-for-profit organizations has enhanced my life immeasurably. The catalyst for my involvement has been my desire to serve God and my deep concern for maintaining the integrity of the family. By recognizing and responding to the needs of others, particularly women and children, I have grown in wisdom, character and spiritual faith." Thank you so much, Ms. Killian, for your incredible contributions to our community. You are an inspiration to us all!

MAIN LIBRARY GETS NEW CIRCULATION DESK

The Main Library has a beautiful new circulation desk. The old circulation desk had become increasingly problematic. With the growing number of computers, scanners, networking printers, fax machines, etc., we were just out of space to do our daily jobs. Desk Reference material was stored wherever we could find extra space (often without rhyme or reason), under the desk tops were masses of electrical and computer wires and there was increasingly less room to serve our patrons. The new configuration is wonderful! The area is larger (we actually are not bumping into each other any more!). Each Librarian now has their own desk space and files, our desk reference material is reorganized and more accessible, the mass of beneath-desk wiring is gone, and we finally have the room to do the daily job of sorting incoming and outgoing tubs of books and storing the material we hold for patron requests. Also, as per your requests, we now have a book drop at the desk so you don't have to leave returned materials sitting on counter tops! Thank you to all our patrons for your patience while the construction was taking place. We hope you'll find, as we do, that the new circ desk allows us to serve you much more productively!

Hayner Branch Library Celebrates Milestone Anniversary

As the saying goes, you've come a long way.

Fifteen years ago on November 22, 1985 the Hayner Branch Library opened its doors. The first month the Branch was open, the total number of items circulated was 1,218

By 1997, the Branch had outgrown its original space and expanded. Today, the monthly circulation for the Branch has reached as much as 16,473 per month. For the fiscal year July 1,1999 through June 30, 2000, the yearly circulation at the Branch was a whopping 160,949.

Many changes have taken place at the Branch to make this circulation figure possible. The first and foremost change is computers; they have made it possible to expand our borrowing potential. Library staff no longer needs to stamp a card for each book charged out, file a card for each item that is charged out, write a request for each item we borrow from other libraries.

The Branch library's staff is the main reason why it has been so successful. Two staff members have been with the Branch since its inception: Branch Manager, Beverly Schoeberle and Assistant Manager, Patricia Heffron. Today, the other friendly faces seen working in the Branch are: Rhoda Cairns, Holly Plummer, Susan Dykeman, Amy Remmers, Natalie Carter, Carla Scott, David Fitzgerald, Jessie Lambie, Shannon Ballard and Brad Zakrzewski.

The Branch serves a multitude of patrons. Among its patrons are students, leisure readers, homemakers, researchers, retirees , amateur scholars and of course husbands patiently waiting for their wives to return from shopping.

The staff is always willing to help you find information you need. Come visit us; we are happy to be of help. The Branch staff would like to thank their loyal patrons - some have been using the Branch library since the day it opened.

National Library Week April 1-7, 2001

Did you know...

- more than a million books are published each year – more than 100,000 in the U.S. alone.
- Nine hundred new magazines were introduced last year, bringing the total to more than 40,000
- Some 45,000 newspapers and professional newsletters are published in the United States.
- The U.S. government publishes more than 100,000 documents
- More than half a million copyright registrations are filed each year
- There are more than 17 million internet sites and 3 billion web pages. Millions of new pages by businesses, advocacy organizations and individuals are introduced every day.

So how does one manage in our information driven society? Go to the experts. Librarians have been helping people of all ages find the information they need and want every day. It is not an overstatement to say that librarians really are the "ultimate search engine".

HAYNER HOMEBOUND

In 1986, The Hayner Public Library District was operating a bookmobile to provide library materials to those patrons who could not physically get to the library. The book mobile was 20 years old, and showing it and becoming very expensive to operate. Stephanie Munson, who ran the bookmobile at the time, was asked to develop an alternative program to provide library services for our homebound patrons. Stephanie spent six months studying other libraries' programs and in 1987, initiated the Hayner Library District Homebound program. Stephanie and a group of dedicated volunteers began delivering books, audio tapes, magazines- anything someone would use if they could walk into the library. They delivered to individual homes as well as senior centers/ homes. And they delivere more than just library materials. Their visits with the homebound patrons became an important and most rewarding part of the service.

Today, there are seven volunteers who give their time to the homebound program. They are June Weinrich, Dr. Ned Duvivier, Spiv Woelfel, Eve Keehner, Jody Stuart, Kathie Rain and Mary Goodwin. Most of these volunteers have been with the program since its inception.

Dr. Duvivier worked as a volunteer for the program for many years. Each week he would pick up boxes of books to deliver to St. Clair's Hospital, Eunice Smith Nursing Home, Rosewood Care Center and other locations. Says Dr. Duvivier, "it's a great program and very necessary. I think more people need to be aware of it and especially people that are only temporarily homebound. If someone is sick and at home for a month they should take advantage of the program even if only for the short term. I also encourage others out there to volunteer."

Stephanie, Homebound Coordinator, puts together the materials for the volunteers to deliver and works to meet individual patrons reading preferences. Stephanie says she has met so many wonderful people through the program and learned so much from her patrons "often they thank me for the homebound service and comment how lucky they feel they are to be able to receive the books and visit but they give back so much to me. I'm the lucky one." Stephanie also relates that she's had many memorable moments. Once, she was trying to deliver books to a patron who lived in a house that was situated behind a short, steep berm. There was a layer of ice on the berm and every time Steph tried to walk up it carrying her box of books, she would slid right back down. Not to be daunted, she decided the solution would be to heave the book box up to the top of the berm and then she would be able to run up after it. So heave she did! The box went flying up the icy incline and Stephanie started her run. Unfortunately, the books made it just to the top and then started to slide back down and passed Stephanie as she was on her race up! Stephanie is now at the top of the hill and the books are at the bottom so down she went. She gave the box another heave, started her race and sure enough Steph and the box passed each other once again...she going up, it sliding down. After several more invigorating tries an exhausted Stephanie decided that perhaps this delivery needed to be rescheduled due to acts of nature! She called her patron who was very understanding and also very appreciative of the laughs she had enjoyed watching the 'ballet' from her bedroom window!

Aside from managing deliveries, Stephanie also presides over Hayner's Main Library large print book collection. This collection has grown impressively to over 4000 volumes and features all the current best sellers, popular fiction and nonfiction. Stephanie notes that a lot of people with fine eye sight have found creative reasons to check out large print books. They are easier to read if you are riding in a car...or working out on a treadmill, etc. Be sure to check out the collections available at both the Main and Branch locations.

Stephanie encourages anyone who has a need for homebound delivery to contact her at 462-0651. One call is all that is necessary to become a user of the program. It's that easy. Also, if you are interested in becoming involved with the program as a volunteer, we'd love to have you! As a volunteer you provide a great service to the community, get to meet great people and it's fun! Thanks to Stephanie and volunteers for ensuring everyone can have access to the wonderful variety of material available from the library.

STAFF PICKS– WHAT WE'RE READING

Taking Lottie Home by Terry Kay. Fiction

Touching characters, beautiful writing and a love story with something more. Taking Lottie Home is a story about love, about having character, about sometimes holding on to dreams and sometimes letting go. Lottie is a wonderful creation; you can tell the author loved her too. Her story will stay with you long after you've closed the book. –Katie S.

Miss Julia Speaks Her Mind by Ann B. Ross. Fiction

Miss Julia is just beginning to enjoy widowhood and her late husband's estate when an unexpected legacy shows up on her doorstep–her husband's 9-year-old illegitimate son. Plenty of reason for Miss Julia to speak her mind and when she does, it's laugh-out-loud funny. This isn't a one-issue book though--it's about growth, love, family, and doing what's right. Through it all, Miss Julia is a hoot! –Katie S.

The Ice Harvest by Scott Phillips. Fiction

A dark, bleak novel that has the feel of classic noir fiction. The story of a crooked lawyer on the lam one Christmas eve, the novel is populated with a full cast of totally reprehensible characters. Phillips writes with an obviously twisted sense of humor. I had to read the ending twice because it so surprised me! –Bernie D.

Buster's Diaries by Roy Hattersley Fiction

Pet "memoirs" can sometimes be gimmicky and silly but certainly not this one. Based on the true story of a German Shepherd mix pup and his 'adopted man', it is remarkably witty and seemingly authentic. Kirkus reviewed the novel as "utterly endearing" and it truly is. You will laugh out loud at Buster's wry observations of the relationship he has with his man. While waiting for adoption, Buster notes, "although I look like one of those fighting dogs…I often feel very insecure. I certainly do not see myself doing ten rounds with a Rottweiler. Whenever a skinhead came into the dogs' home, I sat at the back of my kennel and tried to look like a Pekingese." Whether dog lover or not, you will find this a wonderful tale. –Bernie D.

Lincoln at Home by David Donald. Biography

He was one of the most influential men who ever lived. He led a divided nation through a bloody civil war and guided it back together to become the strongest nation on earth. He is the author of some of the most well known speeches and proclamations ever written. But in this new book, Pulitzer Prize winning author David Donald allows readers a very intimate look into the family life of Lincoln through his private correspondence with his wife Mary Todd. We read, in Lincoln's own words, of the grief he felt at the death of his young son, his love for his wife, and the exhaustion and anguish the war caused him. It is certainly a book that will stay with readers long after the last page is read. –Mary P

Thirtynothing by Lisa Jewell Fiction

As a follow up to her internationally acclaimed best seller, Ralph's Party, Lisa Jewell has succeeded in creating a modern book about growing up, friendship and falling in love. Set in London, we follow the lives of Dig and Nadine, who have been best friends for 15 years. Both are about to turn 30 and both are struggling to make sense out of their lives. When Dig's first love reappears on the scene, both Nadine and Dig will have to re-examine their relationships with each other and the other in their lives. Witty, hip and at times brutally honest, Thirtynothing is a refreshing tribute to falling in love. - Mary P.

FOOD FOR FIDO

Here's something different....for the month of April, to celebrate National Library Week, we decided to have a fine amnesty program. These programs allow the donation of a food item to waive a current fine. As you know, during the Holiday season our "Food for Fine" program benefits the Crisis Food Center.

This winter has been particularly hard on the Alton Area Animal Aid Association (5As). The terrible cold and rising heating costs really put a strain on this non profit organization (supported through donations only). The 5A's is a no kill shelter and is most often filled to capacity with homeless animals. Starting April 1, 2001 and continuing through April 30, 2001, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a donation of dog/cat food (canned or dry)- one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner material only.

Also, to compliment this program, you can register to win one of three beautiful Golden Retriever puppets. Any Hayner library card holder is eligible (except Hayner employees) . Puppets and Ballot boxes will be at all three Hayner location: Main Library at 328 Belle St, Youth Library at 401 State St and the Branch library at Alton Square mall. The drawing will be April 30, 2001.

Elvis Performs at Hayner!
Tuesday, May 15
6:30 PM

If you missed him in Vegas, now is your chance to see the King in action! Steve Davis has been performing as Elvis for over 17 years. He will be singing, taking requests, reminiscing about his career and talking to the audience in character as Elvis Presley. So put on your blue suede shoes for a rockin' night! Call Reynae to register at 462-0677.

Photos may be taken during library programs. Your enrollment in our programs will be assumed as your consent to allow the library the right to use these photos in promotional material.

ELVIS SIGHTING AT HAYNER LIBRARY!

The King is back and will perform at Hayner Main Library on May 15, 2001 at 6:30 PM.!
Steve Davis, the nationally and internationally known Elvis Illusionist does not break character during his performance. As Elvis, he will sing and play music, answer audience questions, take requests and reminisce about his (Elvis') career. If you never got to see Elvis perform in Vegas, now's your chance! Elvis will perform in the Reading Room of the Main Library. The performance is free of charge but reservations are (absolutely!) necessary. Call 462-0677 to register. This is going to be a rockin' night with the one and only King!

EXCITING EVENTS TO BE HELD AT GODFREY CHAPEL!

Two of our spring programs are going to be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College (5800 Godfrey Road).

The first will feature the wonderful music of Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band. This will be Bud's third return engagement for the Library. Bud's previous performances have been so popular, we've had to turn people away due to lack of space, so this time, we're taking Bud to the Chapel! What a great place for a rousing evening of New Orleans style jazz...and what better night than Fat Tuesday, February 27 (6:30 pm). Come and celebrate Mardi Gras. Costumes welcome..beads? Of course! This program is free of charge and registration is required. To register, call Reynae at 462-0677.

On Tuesday, March 27 at 6:30, we're back at the chapel with the Allen Singers. This well-known local ensemble of approximately 20 singers will inspire and delight you. The chapel will be the perfect setting for their beautiful chorale music. What a wonderful way to welcome spring!

This program is free of charge but does require registration. To register, call Reynae at 462-0677.

Our staff in the Hayner Public library District can help you find what your looking for whether in books, online or in archives. April 1-7 is National Library Week and a great time to spend a minute and introduce yourself to our staff and thank them for the wonderful services they provide. In a world that is information rich, libraries are information smart.

A message from The Campaign for America's Libraries and the Hayner Public Library District:

Today's library is not what you remember. It's even better. Want to research your thesis? Find the latest child care information? Write a resume? Surf the Web? Get homework help? Attend a free lecture, musical program or story time? Do genealogy? Join a book club? Curl up with a best seller? Rent CDs, videos, DVDs? It's all here @ your library. Libraries have always been places for education, self-help and lifelong learning. Today, they're at the forefront of the information age, providing computers, Internet access, databases and more. During National Library Week, it's a great time to come and see what's new @ your library.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Technology has affected all our lives in so many ways, even our language.

For example, remember when.....

~An application was for employment
~A program was a TV show
~A cursor used profanity
~A keyboard was a musical instrument
~Memory was something that you lost with age
~A CD was a bank account
~Log on meant adding wood to a fire
~A hard drive was a long trip in the car
~A mouse pad was where a mouse lived
~A backup was when your toilet wouldn't flush ~Scissors and glue where required to cut and paste
~A web was a spider's home
~A virus was the flu
~A crash meant a car accident or a bad day on the stock market
~A bug could be killed
~A monitor was the teacher's pet in the hallway

PATRON PROFILE
David Strasser

David Strasser, the subject of this issue's Patron Profile, is certainly a familiar face at the library and someone we all really appreciate. David is one of five charter members of the Friends of the Hayner Public Library District (FHPLD) . Organized in 1981, there are currently almost 50 members of the Friends and the library appreciates every one of them also! David has been president of the organization since 1982 and gives of his time every week .

A native of Alton, David has been a library lover since his childhood and has many fine memories of visiting the Children's Library. He attended Alton public schools and works for Olin in the Brass Mill. David is married and has 2 daughters and two grandchildren. David's wife, Betty, is also a Friends volunteer

The Friends of the Library is a wonderful volunteer organization that organizes and runs biannual book sales that have become extremely popular throughout the entire Riverbend area. The Friends use the revenues generated by these sales to facilitate special needs of the library district. In just the last 5 years, their purchases on behalf of the library have included shrubbery, building renovations, computers, a copier, a laminating machine, a laser printer, bar code readers, historical art prints/books and much more! They also fund the 'goodies' for the annual children's Christmas party and Summer Reading party. There are Friends members that are active year-round volunteers and there are also Friends that choose just to contribute by paying annual dues or working the days of the book sale. There are different levels of Friends membership, starting as low as $2 for a student membership and growing incrementally ($5, $10, $25, $50) up to $100 for a life membership. David indicated that they are always thrilled to receive new members in any capacity or level. He says with a laugh that he can "ALWAYS use some young guys with muscle!'

David was hesitant about being singled out as a representative of the group. "We all work together to make the sales successful- everyone just has a different area of responsibility or job. Many of our members have been here as long as I have. It really is like a family atmosphere working together." Another long time member is Sarah Huber. Sarah was on the board in 1981 when the Library Director asked her to take on the responsibility of putting a friends group together (previous ones had disbanded) Every Monday, Sarah and other members meet in the Friends building on State Street to sort and catagorize book donations. Sarah commented that there are some really strange and weird books that come in. She also noted how interesting it is to see how tastes have changed. When the organization held it's first sales, cook books and gardening books 'flew off the shelves'. Now she says they are overloaded in these areas, perhaps because people are using their computers for recipes or, perhaps, with today's busy lifestyles, there's little time to spend cooking large meals or gardening. Also, encyclopedias used to be highly popular. Now the friends are overloaded with encyclopedia sets as computers are providing encyclopedias online. Anyone interested in encyclopedias can purchase an entire set (varying in currency) for just $5. This service is possible anytime throughout the year, not just during the sales. If you are interested, call the library business office at 462-0677. Sarah also noted how wonderfully supportive the community has been. Though some books come from Hayner library shelves, the vast majority are individual donations. Most of these donations come from people who are moving, children may be cleaning out the family home or book lovers need to scale back collections and want to be sure their books go to good homes!

One of David's jobs is to pick up books for people who are unable to get them to the library. He also does the advertising for the sales, organizes the mailing of flyers, prints membership flyers and bookmarks, buys supplies and more. In 1991, David received a $2000

Olin Employee Volunteer Recognition Award which he contributed to the library to buy history books. The award was in appreciation of David's outstanding volunteer service to the Friends of Hayner Public Library. David says it takes a good two months to get everything organized for the book sales. In March he starts working on the Spring sale and prepares in August for the October sale. This years Spring sale will be May 10, 11,12. Thursday, May 10, hours are 6-8:30. This is a Preview night and there is a $5 admission charge. On Friday May 11, the hours are 9am-7pm, no admission charge and on Saturday, May 12 , the hours are 9-2 with no admission charge. Prices are going up this year but the sale is still one of the best bargains around. Paperbacks will sell for $.50 each, hard covers will sell for $1 each and certain specialty items will be individually priced. Thank you to David and all the volunteers for your much appreciated work and contributions to the Hayner Public Library District- you are of great value to the library as well as the entire community.

BIANNUAL BOOK SALE

The Spring 2001 book sale will be held Thursday May 10, 6-8:30 pm. This is 'Preview Night' and there is a $5 admission charge for this night only. The sale continues on Friday, May 11 from 9am - 7pm and on Saturday May 12 9 am- 2 pm. There is no admission charge on Friday or Saturday. The $.10 sale will be the following week, May 18 and 19.

FOR WOMEN BY WOMEN CONFERENCE

Hayner Library staff has been working with the River Bend Growth Association and Service Corps of Retired Executives to develop the third seminar in the 'For Women By Women' Conference Series. The theme of this seminar will be "So You Want to be a Millionaire" and will focus on different aspects of investing and financial planning. It will be held at the Alton Holiday Inn on March 27, 2001 from 8:00-12.00. Please contact the RBGA at 467-2280 for additional information.

TALENT SHOWCASE

Do you have a hidden performing arts talent...or know someone who does and would love to perform for the community? Remember, we are always looking for suggestions for programs you would like to see at the library and we love the opportunity to showcase local talent. Call your recommendations into Bernadette at 462-0677

TAX HELP FOR SENIORS

The IRS supports a Community Outreach Tax Education program. On March 15, 2001 at 3:00 pm, a representative of this program will be at the Hayner Main Library. The presentation will focus on tax issues that affect seniors. Following the presentation will be a question and answer period.. This program is free but attendance will be limited. To register, call 462-0677 This will be held in the Reading Room of the Main Library.

The Hayner Public Library District

dfrey & Fosterburg Summer 2001 Vol. IX

New Park for Hayner Library

The Hayner Public Library District is extremely fortunate to be the recipient of the benefaction of the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association. This association was born in 1853, originally as the Alton library Association, and consisted of a group of women that struggled tirelessly to organize, manage and fund Alton's first library (originally housed in Old City Hall). In 1891, the construction of Alton's first library building was completed. This building (now the Hayner Youth Library) was funded by John E. Hayner as a memorial to his wife, Jennie, who had been a key member of the Alton Library Association prior to her death in 1888. The Alton Library Association reorganized themselves as the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association and took over the responsibility of managing and growing the library. The library operated as a free library, made possible by the significant endowments of John E. Hayner as well as John A. Haskell and other generous citizens of Alton.

As the years progressed, the library grew dramatically. Correspondingly, the costs to maintain and staff the library escalated. In 1952, the city council voted unanimously to acquire and operate the Hayner Memorial Library as a public library. The Jennie D. Hayner Library Association remained in existence as a separate entity from the library to manage the remaining funds from previous endowments. The Association is governed by a board of directors completely separate from the publicly governed library board. Over the years, the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association has worked actively to grow the endowment funds. During these years they have dispersed monies from the fund so the library could provide special programs and services to our community above and beyond standard library operation. The efforts and generosity of the Jennie D's has allowed the Hayner Public Library District to offer innovations, programs and special collections outside what is usually possible for a tax supported body.

Recently, the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association identified a wonderful project that will enhance downtown and be enjoyed by the whole community. At the back of the Main library at 4th and State Street is an empty green area. The brick wall of the Friends of the Library Building borders the south side of the lot. The Jennie D's will contract to extend this wall along the east side of the lot. This will form an "L" shaped "canvas" upon which artist Ana Maria Hartenbach will paint. Ana's mural will be a large landscape of rolling green hills, pine trees, dogwoods and redbud trees. Ana has painted such a mural in Kirkwood, Missouri. The work is beautiful, serene and peaceful. Complimenting the mural will be landscaping to the lot, augmenting the park-like effect. This wonderful gift to the library will convert an empty green space into a oasis-like pocket park to enjoy when visiting the library or as a refuge during your day downtown.

Following site prep, the artist is anticipating beginning her mural in July. All are welcome to come by to watch the work in progress. It will be exciting to watch the transformation take place! Thank you to the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association on behalf of the Library District as well as the entire community for providing this exciting project.

SCORE for the Community and Yourself!

Ready to retire from your day job, but still want to contribute to the new business economy? Are you a working business professional who wants to volunteer your expertise to help small businesses succeed? SCORE may be the opportunity you are looking for to share your business knowledge and experience, help emerging businesses succeed and stay active in the local and national small business marketplace. The SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) is the premiere small business counseling and advice organization in the United States. SCORE is a nonprofit charitable organization composed of volunteer business mentors, both working and retired, who counsel businesses throughout the country.

As a resource partner with the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), SCORE operates in cooperation with the agency to provide business owners with information, resources and tools vital to their success. This includes counseling on financing options, business strategy, marketing tactics, product development, cash flow, management and much more. In counseling locations, SCORE volunteers provide confidential one to one and team business counseling and low cost entrepreneurial training workshops and seminars. Counselors also volunteer to conduct online counseling directly from their homes or offices. Last year, SCORE helped close to 300,000 people and has helped 4.5 million small business owners since 1964.

SCORE is very active in our own River Bend community supporting and helping small business succeed and prosper. On June 13, the Alton/Godfrey chapter of SCORE (#423) will be holding a recruitment seminar at Hayner Main Library in the Jimmie Keller Reading Room. Come and hear how you can become involved in SCORE as well as actual local business testimonials as to the important benefits and support SCORE provides. Attending SCORE representatives will include Gail Weinrich, District Director, Richard Rook, Assistant District Director and Chairman Dale Kelly. The program will begin at 6.00 pm and last approximately an 1.5 hours. Hors d'oeuvres will be served.

Who can volunteer? Anyone with business, administrative and/or management expertise. Whether small business owner or manager in the corporate environment, educator (high school or university level), retiree or still currently employed – all are welcome.

Most importantly, why volunteer? Most SCORE members say that staying abreast of current business trends and helping small businesses succeed and grow are a great reward of the program. Other rewards include enjoying the satisfaction of contributing to the success of others, gaining the respect and recognition of your peers and associates, enjoying opportunities for ongoing education, demonstrating the skills and knowledge that led to your successful career and, so importantly, to provide leadership to our community.

Please plan to attend this event, meet the SCORE representatives, listen to actual local success stories, enjoy some appetizers and evaluate if SCORE is for you. Service to the community is such a rewarding experience - the River Bend needs YOU! To register, call the Hayner Library business office at 462-0677. If you require further information, you can also contact SCORE Assistant District Director, Richard Rook, at 467-2280.

Heartland Chautauqua Returns to Alton!

Last summer Alton experienced our first Heartland Chautauqua event, sponsored by the Illinois and Missouri Humanities Council and the Alton Marketplace. Chautauqua began in the late 1800s as religious training programs for Sunday School teachers in New York and later evolved to include educational and entertaining speeches from famous orators and stage performers in troupes that traveled the country.

This year's Chautuaqua in Alton will kick off on Monday, June 4th at 6 pm in Haskell Park, Alton. All are invited to experience the fun of a community tent raising. On Tuesday through Saturday, June 5 through June 9, the evenings events will begin at 6:00 pm when a buffet dinner will be available for $6.00 per person. Local musical entertainers will perform from 6:45 to 7:30. At 7:45 the performance by the Chautauqua actor/scholars begins This year's theme is "the jazz age" and actor/scholars include Gayle Stahlhuth as Edna Ferber (Tuesday), Richard Johnson as John Dos Passos (Wednesday), Lynne Swanson as Willa Cather (Thursday), John C. Chalberg as H. L. Mencken (Friday) and Michael Mason as Harry Reser (Saturday). The actors perform and interact with the audience in character. The performances promise to be dramatic as well as amusing. The program is entirely free of charge (except for the optional dinner buffet). Last year's event was wildly successful - the audience was transfixed by the programs which transported them to times past. This year's program, focusing on the great writers, thinkers and personalities of the early 20th century, will certainly prove to be equally fascinating. Don't miss this wonderful opportunity. For additional information, contact the Convention and Visitors Bureau at 1-800-ALTON IL.

Visit with Chautauqua Scholar Performers at Hayner Library

Don't miss the exciting opportunity to meet and visit with the individual Chautauqua actor/scholars! Each day during the week of June 4 through the 8th, a different Chautauqua actor/scholar will be at Hayner Main Library at 10:00 am. They will discuss different aspects of their character's development and personality as well as varying cultural aspects of life in the 1920s. These programs will give you a greater appreciation for the evening performances in Haskell Park when the actor will be performing 'in character'. Day programs include:

|---|---|---|
| Mon. 6/4 | Gayle (Edna Ferber) Stahlhuth | "Broadway of the 20s" |
| Tues. 6/5 | Dick (John Dos Passos) Johnson | " John Who?" |
| Wed. 6/6 | Lynne (Willa Cather) Swanson | "On the Trail, On the Tracks, On the Road" |
| Thurs. 6/7 | Michael (Harry Reser) Mason | To Be Announced |
| Fri. 6/8 | Dick (John Dos Passos) Johnson | "What is a Writer?" |

These programs are free of charge but registration is requested. Call 462-0677 to register.

These entertaining discussions are a great way to learn more about what made the 20s roar!

A Very Special Event - Not to be Missed!!!

The Laclede Quartet was founded in 1978 and has performed to enthusiastic audiences extensively throughout the Midwest. Its members served as Artists in Residence at the History Museum in St. Louis, MO from 1990-1998. They have been featured guests on KMOX, KFUO-FM, KSD and KWMU radio. Their four CDs have been featured on KFUO-FM Classic 99 and have been in the Top 10 local (St. Louis) classical ratings since their release. The Quartet has been featured on St. Louis PBS Channel 9's ETC., and televised on KSDK, KMOV, KTVI, KPLR and FOX 2. They perform a hugely varied repertoire of classic, popular and show music and they have been nationally recognized for their highly original symphonic arrangements of contemporary musical works. Larry Connors of KMOV-TV calls the Laclede Quartet "one of the highest quality classical groups in St. Louis". The Riverfront Times notes that they are "a St. Louis tradition." Don't miss the rare opportunity to hear this extraordinary quartet in a program sponsored by the Hayner Public Library District. The Laclede Quartet will perform for us on August 30, 2001 at 6:30 pm in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College (5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Il). This performance is free of charge but registration is a must. To register, call Reynae at 462-0677.

STAFF PICKS– WHAT WE'RE READING

From a House to a Home: Simple Ideas and Projects to Enrich Everyday Family Life
by Jemima Mills. Nonfiction
Going beyond mere decorating, this book is a treasure trove full of ideas for transforming your house into a home where you and your family can really live. In the "Family Home" section, Mills describes furnishing, arrangements, and even projects and activities for each room that promote family living. The "Family Food" section outlines gatherings such as weekend breakfasts, after school snacks, and picnics. "Family Playtime" shows you how to make the most of your leisure time, from playrooms to pets to gardening. I liked this book so much, I got my own copy – it made me want to never leave my house! – Susan K.

Bad Boy by Olivia Goldsmith. Fiction
Olivia Goldsmith's books are just plain fun. Bad Boy is a light romantic comedy focusing on a young "computer geek" who is just "too nice" to attract women and his female friend, Tracie, who sets about to transform him into an irresistible "bad boy." Although the plot line may be familiar (remember Pygmalion?), the characters are entertainng and funny. Goldsmith writes great dialogue that will have you laughing out loud. — Bernie D.

Bee Season by Myla Goldberg. Fiction
First-time novelist Myla Goldberg explores the ideas of family, love, obsession and devotion in this complex and tightly written story. Eliza is an average schoolgirl until she advances to the national spelling bee finals. Through her eyes we see separate lives unraveling her fragile family life and her hope that her new fame can stop this downward spiral. Bee Season is a haunting, powerful book. Great for book clubs.–Katie S.

John Muir: Nature's Visionary by Gretel Ehrlich. Nonfiction
National Geographic's John Muir: Nature's Visionary captures the driven and quirky life of Sierra Club founder and great naturalist John Muir. You can feel the physical and spiritual strength he drew from being one with nature. This book features sketches from Muir's notebook and stunning current photographs that show the beauty that his foresight and devotion preserved for us today.–Katie S.

The Oldest Rookie
by Jim Morris and Joel Engel. Biography
Forget a standing ovation, The Oldest Rookie deserves "the Wave!" After a childhood spent dreaming of playing Major League baseball, Morris realized his dream was not to be. Or so he thought. As a teacher in a small Texas town, Morris was happy as the coach of the local high school baseball team. But one day a bet made with the team changed his life forever. This true-life story fits easily into the "must read" category. Funny, poignant, and above all, amazing, Morris' story is a true example that anything is possible. Baseball fans, of course, will love this book–but so will anyone who has rooted for the good guy. This amazing book is a real crowd pleaser!–Mary P.

The Death of Vishnu
by Manil Suri. Fiction
In his debut novel, Manil Suri has created a modern day masterpiece. This beautiful novel follows the lives of several Indian families all living in the same Bombay apartment building. Their lives are colorful and oftentimes desperate–and the dying odd-job man, Vishnu, connects each. As the drama of the tenants' lives unfolds behind closed doors, Vishnu examines his life and mortality alone in the stairway of the building. His ascension of the stairway parallels his soul's journey through this life into the next. Haunting and complex, Suri has written a book that examines not only the spiritual and social life of modern India, but human nature as well.–Mary P

Evelyn Johnson

The subject of this issue's Patron Profile is Mrs. Evelyn Johnson. I met with Evelyn in her beautiful home and greatly enjoyed our visit.

Evelyn was born and raised in the Godfrey area. She is one of eight children and attended school at the old Clifton Hill School, Alton High School and L.A. City College. She enjoyed life as a child in a rural area near Clifton Terrace.

Evelyn credits her "drive and determination" to the example set by her mother. Her mother was a petite women but of very strong character and not one to be intimidated. Evelyn related the following example: the property the family lived on was threatened by foreclosures due to her father's illness (lead poisoning). When notice came regarding possible foreclosure, Evelyn's mother wrote a letter to President Franklin Roosevelt. The President read the letter and advised the bank "there would be no foreclosure". Evelyn's father recovered and the property was paid for. Evelyn's mother lived in that home to the end of her life

Evelyn's father, Joseph Hyndman, was born in the Rocky Fork area and was the grandson of Erasmus Green who settled in Rocky Fork prior to 1863. Erasmus had been given his freedom from slavery by his plantation owner (and father) when it appeared slavery was ending. Evelyn shared a picture of Erasmus dressed in his Union Soldier's uniform Erasmus later established Rocky Fork Church, one of the early black churches in our area. This location was also known to be an important stop on the underground railroad. Evelyn remembers well the family gatherings at Rocky Fork when she was a child.

Evelyn's adult life led to her marriage to a childhood friend, Harold Johnson, who was born in the Fosterburg area. She describes their friendship, love and marriage as "from the womb to the tomb". Harold's career has included teaching at many colleges and universities. He retired as Deputy Director, Los Angeles County Mental Health.

Alton in the 1950s held little promise for young black people due to oppressive discriminatory attitudes. Those conditions motivated Evelyn to 'go west'. Evelyn and Harold decided they would marry and move to Los Angeles. Together, the couple had relatives there and felt there would be some direction and support. Those relatives were most helpful to the young couple.

Evelyn had the opportunity to do many new things. She worked in the credit clearance industry. She made dentures and later worked in electronics, learning about schematics, capacitors, diodes, registers and more. She was employed by Hughes Aircraft, Gilfillians and finally Reed Curtis Nuclear Division, working underground in a 'hot lab' handling radioactive materials. Her next career moved entailed working in personnel for the Aerospace Corporation in El Seguardo, Ca. This company was a 'think tank' for scientists involved in the space program.

Her next career move was into something really different. She became a private investigator, working concurrently for the Frasco, Serpico, Argus and Baker agencies. She took to this job immediately and received many responsible assignments including at one point working on the 'infamous' Sharon Tate murder case. The job required Evelyn to make numerous court appearances to present films she made during investigation and surveillance. She also made many undercover contacts. She worked primarily with retired LAPD police officers and quickly earned their respect.

Evelyn eventually tired of the 3:00 am surveillances and applied for a position with Allstate Insurance. She was hired to be a Field Adjuster. At that time, working in the field was usually done solely by men. Unfortunately, Evelyn was met with strong resistance by her immediate supervisor. She refused his constant intimidation and she felt certain he was trying to pressure her into quitting. The climate become so hostile, she contacted the California Federal Employee

Equal Opportunity Council. She 'constructively quit' and filed a class action suit. The matter was investigated at the federal level and the investigation revealed many disparities related to treatment and hiring of women and other minorities.

One year later, Evelyn was requested by the EEOC to reinstate. She worked ten more years before retiring. She was pleased to witness many women placed as supervisors, Vice Presidents and attorneys. During this time, she was awarded the Trailblazer Award by the Los Angeles Chapter of the National Business and Professional Women's Club. She is very proud of this award and says she would repeat her actions in the case. She often thinks of the people whom she will never know whose lives have been affected by her efforts. Evelyn said she is grateful for the courage she learned from her mother and she thanks God for the direction of her life and her opportunities. She certainly lives by the creed that one should never avoid a challenge! Evelyn and her husband Harold returned to Alton in 1990 and are enjoying a full and busy retirement.

September is Library Card Sign up Month!

September is Library Card Sign-up Month- a time when the American Library Association reminds parents that a library card is the most important school supply of all. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning. Libraries today offer more than just books- we have videos, CDs, DVDs, computers, Internet access and more. Libraries are also dynamic community centers offering homework help, book discussion groups, musical and theatrical performances, story hours and other programs for children and adults. Stop by any Hayner branch and get your kids ready for school with their own library card. Children under 18 do require a parent's or guardian's signature on the card application form. The parent also needs to show two forms of ID- one must be a picture ID and the ID must show your current address. Hayner Library cards are free of charge to residents of Alton, Godfrey and Fosterburg township. The Hayner card can be used at all three Hayner locations, at any public library in the Metro-East area and throughout the entire state of Illinois. Also, for the month of September, every new card issued to a child or teenager at the Youth Library will come with a free paperback book. Come to the library with your kids...it's one of the greatest gifts you can give them!

Free People Read Freely

"Tom!"

No answer.

"Tom!"

No answer.

"What's gone with that boy, I wonder? You TOM!"

No answer.

The old lady pulled her spectacles down and looked over them about the room: then she put them up and looked out under them. She seldom or never looked through them for so small a thing as a boy..."

So starts the beginning of the great American classic novel, "Tom Sawyer". How many of us have enjoyed this marvelous tale of an adventurous boy growing up in the Midwest? Yet, the book has been banned numerous times since its publication. Harry Potter has sold millions of copies, it has gotten kids reading around the world and yet for the last two years has been one of the most heavily challenged books on Banned Book lists. Examples of other banned books include the Bible, John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men", even "Little Red Riding Hood."

Libraries and bookstores across the nation join in "Celebrating the Freedom to Read" during Banned Book week, September 22-29. Observed since 1982, the annual event reminds Americans not to take our precious democratic freedom for granted. To quote Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, "Restriction of free thought and free speech is the most dangerous of all subversions. It is the one un-American act that could most easily defeat us." We agree that individuals may restrict what they themselves or their children read, but they must not call on governmental or public agencies to do so. Make sure you stop by any of the Hayner Library locations and check out the displays celebrating literature and free expression.

Community Organizations Serve Us All!
OASIS and BJC Plus

There are many fine service organizations in our community that help provide education and activities for varying interests and age levels. One such organization is OASIS and BJC Plus. OASIS (Older Adult Services and Information Systems) is a national education organization dedicated to enhancing the quality of life for mature adults (over 55). The River Bend area chapter receives sponsorship from Advantra, Famous-Barr and BJC Healthcare. Oasis and BJC Plus offer unique programs designed to enhance quality of life. Located in Famous-Barr at the Alton Square mall, our local chapter provides a comfortable place for older adults to continue to develop their interests in topics of the arts, humanities, health care and special activities. Programs are available to stimulate the mind, body and social interaction. Programs are conducted by qualified instructors as well as members and professionals from the community. Along with special in-house programs, day trips and overnight excursions are offered. OASIS and BJC Plus members also receive many special discounts and benefits on various services and products. While some programs have a minimal fee, many of the programs are free of charge. The current program catalog has over 80 pages of programs available in Alton and the St. Louis metropolitan area. All are invited to stop by the Alton Center on the 2nd floor of Famous Barr in the mall and pick up a catalog. The catalog also contains program registration forms. Meet De Harris, the delightful energetic center manager who dedicates her time and energy to OASIS and BJC Plus. Or if you have questions, you can call the center at 465-1490. An example of some of the programs scheduled for the fall semester include:

* September: Monday and Wednesday, 9/17 - 10/24 from 10:30 - 11:30 am

PACE (People With Arthritis Can Exercise)
12 sessions, De Harris Instructor, Cost: $15

* October: Monday 10/8 and 10/15 from 1:30 - 3:00 PM

Great Decisions: Trade & Globalization, Great Decisions: China and Taiwan
2 sessions, Dr. Ronald Glossop, Instructor, Cost: Free

* November: Thursday, 11/8 from 10:30 - 11:30 AM

Diabetes Overview
1 session, Judy Mayhew RN, Cost: Free

OASIS and BJC Plus extend the invitation to Hayner Library District patrons to join in and enjoy the benefits of this unique organization.

Are you a community service organization that would like to partner with the Hayner Library District on programs or a specific project? If so, call Bernadette Duvernoy at 462-0677. We are always interested in new ideas of ways to serve the community!

New Trustees Elected

Welcome to two new trustees who have joined the Hayner Public Library District Board of Trustees. Mary Ann Mazenko has been an active Hayner Library user and supporter all her life. An Alton native, she has also spent most of her working career involved with words and writing. During much of Mary Ann's professional career, she worked as a reporter for the Alton Telegraph. When Mary Ann retired from the Telegraph in 1997, she was the Lifestyle feature writer. Many of you probably remember seeing her byline many times on the pages of the Telegraph. Mary Ann and her husband, Fran, residents of Godfrey, are both enjoying retirement, reading, gardening and their three children and five grandchildren.

Jeff Funkhouser is also an Alton native. Jeff is currently employed as Production Leader for the Aromatics Division of the Tosco-Wood River Refinery. Jeff has been in the refinery business for 19 years. Jeff and his wife, Cass, live in Alton with their two children, Katie and Drew.

Both Mary Ann and Jeff will serve six year terms.

Check out Hayner's New Website!

The Hayner Public Library District has a new website...find it at www.haynerlibrary.org. The new site tells you about our history, our services and events, lets you into our catalogs, links to other useful and important sites and more. Check it out...it's another way to connect @ the library!

Hayner Staff to Focus on Genealogy

As of July 1, 2001 Hayner staff member, Cathie Lamere, has received a new staff assignment. Cathie, previously a Library Assistant, has been working throughout the last year to develop her skills in the area of genealogy. This is a topic of great interest to a rapidly growing number of our patrons. The library also receives a large number of inquiries from all over the country regarding local family histories. In our continuing efforts to remain responsive to the needs of our patrons, Cathie has assumed the responsibility to be the focal point for genealogy support in the Hayner Main Library, and she has been busy! Some of her activities currently include collection development of genealogical material, repair of the much used material in the Illinois Room and assisting patrons in their research in the Illinois Room and on microfilm. Cathie is also working on a major project to develop more complete information on the various Madison County cemeteries. She has held her first genealogy round table to rave reviews (standing room only) in July. Her next roundtable will be held October 18 at 6:30 PM in the Main Library. To register to attend, call the Program Hotline number at 1-800-613-3163. Cathy is also available to help with genealogical inquiries weekday afternoons via phone, mail or email. There is a $5.00 charge per name researched. The email address for research requests is haynergen@lcls.org. The mailing address is Hayner Library, 326 Belle Street, Alton, IL 62002. Phone inquiries can be made by calling 618-462-0651.

Staff Picks– WHAT WE'RE READING

The Mourner's Bench
by Susan Dodd. Fiction
The Mourner's Bench is the story of two sisters and the man one married and the other loved. It's the story of Leandra, who falls in love with her brother-in-law when she leaves North Carolina and comes to Boston to care for her depressed and pregnant sister. It's the story of Wim, who dying of cancer ten years later, shows up on Leandra's porch to make peace with his past and find comfort in love. Restrained writing and Leandra's words and expressions, simple and wise, reach what is real in all of us. This is a touching story of love, guilt, forgiveness and hope.–Katie S.

The Red Tent by Anita Diamant. Fiction
Wonderful fictional retelling of the story of Dinah with the blanks filled in–the life women lived in the time of Genesis. Dinah, daughter of Leah and Jacob, narrates her own story and the stories and secrets entrusted to her as the only daughter among Jacob's wives. Constructed and told in a style that reminds the reader of Memoirs of a Geisha, the author fleshes out Dinah's story against the history and culture of that time, but the heart of this tale is the sisterhood and the intimacy shared by these women and the strengths they drew from each other and from their traditions.–Katie S.

Amy's Answering Machine: Messages From Mom by Amy Borkowsky. Non-fiction
At some point in all of our lives, eyes have been rolled and heads have been scratched at the advice given to us by our mothers. As well meaning (and almost always right) as the advice may be, we have all been left wondering at the reason of its origin. Well meet Amy. Her mother gives her plenty of advice and all of it is absolutely hysterical! Based on comedienne Amy Borkowsky's real-life answering machine messages from her mother, this book will have you laughing out loud by the first message. It will also make you eternally grateful that all your mother told you was to sit up straight and not talk with your mouth full.–Mary P.

The Lost Art of Drawing the Line
by Philip K. Howard. Non-fiction
Incompetent and incomplete healthcare, judicial unfairness, educational bureaucracy, and out-of-control lawsuits have become the new American way of life. Long gone is the white picket fence and two-car garage. And most disturbingly, according to Philip K. Howard, so too is personal responsibility and good judgment. The book is a sobering (and at times oddly entertaining) commentary on a culture which both feeds on, and is simultaneously paralyzed by, frivolity and absurdity. The Lost Art of Drawing the Line is a book certain to spark discussion and debate by everyone who reads it.–Mary P.

The Tainted Snuff Box
by Rosemary Stevens. Mystery
Someone is sending threatening letters to the Prince of Wales, and his good friend Beau Brummell vows to find the perpetrator. But soon the Prince's food taster drops dead, poisoned by a pinch of snuff intended for the Prince–and Brummell's good friend Lord Petersham is the owner of the snuff box. Now Petersham is a prime suspect, and Brummell must find the real murderer before Scotland Yard arrests his friend–and before the murderer strikes again! –Susan K.

Running in Heels by Anna Maxted. Fiction
English author Anna Maxted writes a wickedly witty and honest look at the lies we tell ourselves–and the unwanted truths that only our best friends can tell us. Natalie Miller's closest friend of sixteen years gets married and she panics at being left behind and looks to blame others for her pathetic life! The issues that Natalie confronts in the book are not necessarily pretty, but are the things that women in their twenties seem to go through–Martha F.

In the Wake of the Plague: The Black Death and the World It Made by Norman F. Cantor Non-fiction
"As if a neutron bomb had been detonated" is Cantor's apt characterization of western Europe after the pestilence of 1347-50 carried off almost half its population. In the Wake of the Plague presents a microcosmic view of the Plague, telling the stories of the men and women of the fourteenth century from peasant to priest and from merchant to king. This fascinating study delves into the many inaccuracies that surround what we know about this medical disaster. It also studies the upheaval to society, science and the arts that occurred. Cantor gives us a fascinating look at this period of one of the worlds darkest horrors.–Bernie D.

Scotland: Musical Encore!

Tuesday, October 2 - 6:30 PM
Pete and Mary Pancella return to the library to take us on a musical tour of the United Kingdom and Scotland. Mary Pancella is currently Music Director at Holy Infant Church in Ballwin, Missouri where she trains cantors, leads the main choir and directs men's and women's choruses. Her piano compositions are available through MorningStar Music. Pete Pancella is a Music Instructor at Lewis and Clark Community College. He has served as director of the Lewis and Clark Camerata, assistant conductor of the St. Louis Chamber Chorus and director of the Greenleaf Madrigal Singers. As violinist and violist, he has worked with many orchestras including the Webster Symphony and the Illinois Symphony. Pete and Mary will be joined by soprano Mary Nelson. Mary has performed in many opera theater productions including La Traviata, Don't Dress for Dinner and Carmen. Mary is a vocalist and voice teacher and also works part-time for Emerson. With help from folklore scholars, "Peter, Mary and Mary" bring you the old time music of Scotland, from the plaintive to the heroic to the downright raucous! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Lighthouse Legends/ Ghosts of the Great Lakes: Music and Folklore

Tuesday, October 16 - 6:30 PM
Lee Murdock, a student of traditional music and folklore, returns to Hayner with songs and stories perfect for the approaching Halloween season. Lighthouse legends share the mysteries, romance and tragedy of lighthouses on the inland waterways. Great Lakes Ghosts gives us a narrated concert of legends and spooky tales from Great Lakes lore. Lee, a fluent instrumentalist on the six- and twelve-string guitar, performed at Hayner last year and was hugely popular. Don't miss this opportunity to see him in a new and different program. This event is made possible in part by an award from the Illinois Humanities council. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Genealogy Roundtable

Thursday, October 18- 6:30 PM
This summer, Hayner staff hosted a Genealogy roundtable that was great fun! Attendees shared tips, techniques and anticdotes. Lively discussion and lots of enthusiasm was generated. All agreed it was an event worth repeating. Whether you are into advanced research or just getting started in genealogy, all are welcome. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

"Dog Acts, Fire Swallowers and Hoofers - A History of Vaudeville"

Thursday, October 25 - 6:30 PM

Michael Mason, multi-talented musician with a passion for the tenor banjo, was one of the wonderful performers at this summer's Chautauqua. He portrayed Harry Reser, musician, composer, bandleader, banjo virtuoso and radio producer of the 1920s. His performance was fascinating. Michael returns to Hayner to perform his very popular history of vaudeville in story and song. Join us for a delightful evening traveling back in time! To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

"Songs of War, Songs of Peace"

Tuesday, November 13 - 6:30 PM

Cat Catalani has been performing and writing music for a number of years. She is a favorite on folk music radio programs throughout the Midwest and East Coast. In this program, she discusses and performs songs that, throughout recent history, have united the hearts of many during times of war and times of peace. This program is made possible in part by an award from the Illinois Humanities Council. Call 1-800-613-3163 to register.

"Holiday Harp-Winter Winds"

Thursday, November 29 - 6:30 PM

Musician Linda Elliot and her Celtic Harp have performed extensively throughout the Metro St. Louis area. As House Harpist for Principia College, she has performed for Henry Kissinger and Margaret Thatcher. She will help kick off the Holiday season with music from her Christmas CD and get us all in a festive mood. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Gateway String Quartet - Holiday Concert

Thursday, December 6 - 6:30 PM

The Gateway String Quartet was founded in the year 2000. Composed of local musicians, the members have performed together for many years and are gaining great recognition throughout the bi-state area. Their concert will combine beautiful holiday music as well as popular favorites. To register, call 1-800-631-3163.

Project Read Celebrates Literacy

Project Read is a volunteer organization to help 'functionally illiterate adults improve their reading and comprehension. Lack of these critical skills prohibit thousands of people from being able to complete even the most basic of daily tasks. To promote literacy and the Project Read program, members of this organization will be at the Main Library on Monday September 10th and at the Hayner Branch Library on Tuesday, September 11. They will be happy discuss Project Read with you and they will also be distributing free laminated book marks.

Grant $ Augment Heath/Science Collections

The Hayner Main Library recently applied for and was awarded a grant from the Illinois State Library through a program called "The Collection Connection." This program was to disperse money to libraries to purchase non-fiction or reference books in certain subject areas. Hayner staff elected to use the $2500 grant funding to expand and update the health and science collections. Topics include diabetes, fitness, cancer and its treatments, heart and digestive health, asthma, Parkinson's Disease and many more. The staff is very excited about the quality and variety of materials purchased through the grant. Come to the Main Library this fall and browse through the collections or feel free to ask a staff member to help you find books about a health topic of your choice.

During Mark's broadcast, we will have a library surprise for anyone who stops by and shows us their library card!

PATRON PROFILE
Kerry Smith

What fun I had meeting Kerry Smith, this issue's Patron Profile subject. Talk about energy and enthusiasm! Kerry is an entrepreneur who is the owner and publisher of the Illinois Business Journal. The journal is a monthly publication which focuses on economic development exclusively in Illinois. The articles focus on new business development and growth, financial information, and also feature local business leaders as guest columnists. The Journal's focus on business success stories in downstate Illinois highlights to communities on both sides of the river the opportunities for jobs, goods and services that exist throughout southern Illinois. In less than one short year, the Journal's circulation is already more than 15,000 subscriptions and impressively a great proportion of those subscriptions are from the St. Louis area, validating that St. Louis is very interested in our commerce and development. Kerry has done a great job as an ambassador for our Illinois economy!

A native of Wisconsin, Kerry attended University of Wisconsin in Eau Clare and graduated with a degree in journalism. She moved to Rockford, Illinois for a couple of years and then to Houston, Texas where she was an Employment Writer for the Houston Chronicle Sunday section. Kerry really enjoyed the diversity of this job as it meant researching different business sectors for her features on marketing and job opportunities. These features ran the gamut from trucking to healthcare to engineering and so on. After ten years in Texas, Kerry realized she really missed the Midwest. A friend of hers lived in Alton and as she said, "did a great commercial for this area." Kerry moved to Alton in April of 1999 and three weeks later had a job with the Alton Telegraph as a general assignment reporter. Not being an Alton native, Kerry had a lot to quickly learn about the Riverbend area, its people and issues, to conduct effective reporting. But, she says, it was also a great way to become immediately immersed in the community. She rapidly became familiar with local businesses, chamber of commerce and civic groups. She also quickly became aware that Alton had a lot of great business opportunities and activities but was not capturing the awareness of the St. Louis market, in great part due to the geographic separation. In Houston, she had investigated starting a business journal for a suburban community that was being overshadowed by the city of Houston business economy. She decided to continue similar research in the Riverbend area. She spent the next 18 months working at the Telegraph and using her lunch hours and free time to make contacts with local business leaders and elected officials, developing market potential for an Illinois business journal. In May, she got involved with SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives). This organization provides free counseling to small business opportunities. Kerry says their support, guidance and counseling was invaluable in formulating her business plan, financing and marketing activities. She estimates that they provided her with easily over 200 hours of counseling services. Kerry also testifies that the local business community has been wonderfully supportive of her efforts from inception to publication.

In August of 2000, Kerry left her job at the Telegraph to devote herself full-time to her dream. In October 2000, she printed her first copy of the Illinois Business Journal at an initial printing of 10,000 copies, 20 pages each. She remembers the harrowing eight weeks in between as a time when she had to sell $30,000 of advertising, write the copy for the journal, find a subscriber base (subscriptions are $20.00/year) and oversee the printing and mailing to make the October deadline. She laughs as she recalls some of the 'bumps' in the road. These bumps have definitely taught Kerry the value of delegation. She had estimated that she could do her own mailing labels but at 10,000 copies all needing stickers and to be sorted by zip code, she quickly realized she had underestimated the size of the job for one weekend. She called friends at her church and she said it was wonderful how many people pitched in to help her get her first issue out on time. (She now farms this job out!) In January 2001, Kerry upgraded the paper stock quality and increased her printing to 15,000 copies/month. She now has five freelance writers filling 24 -28 pages each month. She has subscriptions in 60 different counties. Kerry credits SCORE, friends, family and the local business community for being incredibly helpful and supportive and is looking forward to her one year publishing anniversary in October 2001 as a significant milestone. Thanks, Kerry, for your wonderful efforts and very hard work contributing to the growth and strength of our community.

For subscription information to the Illinois Business Journal, call 618-465-5572 or email ilbusjour@aol.com.

Flu Clinic at the Main Library

On Saturday, October 6, members of the Visiting Nurse Association will be at the Main Library at 326 Belle Street to administer flu and pneumonia shots VNA staff will be at the library from 11:00 am until 2:00 PM. Fees for the shots were not available at this time but will be posted at the library soon.

Window Display by the St. Louis Symphony Volunteer Assn.

In October, the St. Louis Symphony Volunteer Association will be creating a display for the Hayner Library District. This display will be in the window of the Hudson Building on Belle Street (next to the Main Library - front entrance). The chief work of the St. Louis Symphony Volunteer Association is to support the St. Louis Symphony Community Music School to help bring music into the lives of handicapped children. The display will include musical instruments that the children use, musical pictures drawn by the children themselves and information about the symphony and volunteers. Please take a moment to view the display and learn more about the volunteers' wonderful activities.

Thank you from the Hayner Youth Library

Dear Parents, Children and Area Businesses,

The Hayner Youth Library would like to thank all 200 participants that helped to make the 2001 FEED YOUR NEED TO READ Summer Reading Program a success. It was our goal to get area youth involved in reading and using the library. Thanks to the parents for bringing their children to the library and thanks to the kids that read. Serving Alton, Godfrey & Fosterburg — Winter 2001 :: Vol. IX, No. 4

Hayner Public Library District Welcomes New Staff!

There are some new faces at the libraries that we want to introduce you to! At the Main Library, please welcome Stephanie Griffin and Fran Perkhiser. Stephanie joins us as a part-time Library Assistant. Previously she was a stay-at-home Mom. Stephanie and her husband have two daughters, Taralei and Marissa. Fran and her husband have a grown daughter and three grandchildren. Fran previously worked as a Library Assistant for twelve years at Roxana Public Library. Fran has also joined the staff of the Main Library as a part-time Library Assistant.

Joining the Youth Library Staff are Michele Bigham and Kristin Towell. Michele has one son, Michael, and previously worked at the Glen Carbon Library. Michele is working at the Youth Library as a full-time Library Assistant. Kristin and her husband moved to the Alton area this past June. Prior to their move, she worked at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tennessee as an Admissions Counselor. Kristin is working as a part-time Library Assistant and has recently found out that she and her husband are expecting their first child!

Scott Schwartz has been a page in the Youth Library for the last year and has been promoted to Library Assistant. Scott will work part-time as he is also a Senior at Alton High School.

At the Branch library, Shannon Ballard has been promoted from Library page to Library Assistant. She will be working part-time. Shannon is a student at Lewis and Clark Community College studying for her nursing degree. Shannon has worked as a page at the Branch library for the last two and a half years.

Welcome to all the new staff members!

Hayner Receives "Dream Grant"!

In October 2001, the Hayner Public Library District received the exciting news that their application for a Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) Grant was approved by the Illinois State Library. This is a federally funded grant and only 57 of 600 Illinois state libraries were approved. The funds were allocated to help libraries fulfill 'dreams' of providing new services or creative activities to their communities. The Hayner application was for funding of a project titled "Connecting Across Multi-generations". The focus of this project is two-fold. Family structures are changing and unlike previous generations, often today grandparents, parents and children live distances apart. Many children rarely get to visit with grandparents. Grant funds will allow the purchase of video equipment which Hayner will use to videotape patrons (grandparents) reading a favorite children's story. This videotape will serve as a 'living memory' to grandchildren and encourage the child in the joys of reading. The second part of the grant implementation will provide basic e-mail training to seniors so they can continue to communicate with families and grandchildren through a medium that kids are becoming so familiar with. The fun of sending and receiving email provides an impetus to both grandparent and child to "talk" often (electronically) and share life experiences and events via the internet. Our dream is that these services will foster family communication and unite generations through a love of reading. Grant monies will allow the purchase of laptop computers and consultant services for email training.

Bring Home a Pal for the Holidays!

Starting November 23, you can drop by any Hayner Library location to register to win one of three terrier puppies (stuffed) and the delightful book "Spot's First Christmas". A Christmas basket will also be given away in a final drawing. These sweet pups are looking for just the right home for the holidays! Any Hayner Library cardholder is eligible (except for Hayner employees and their families). Winners will be announced on WBGZ on December 21, 2001. Ballot boxes for the drawing will be at all three Hayner Locations: the Main Library at 326 Belle Street, the Youth Library at 401 State Street and the Branch Library at Alton Square Mall.

Food For Fines During the Holiday Season

Beginning November 23, 2001 and continuing through December 31, 2001, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner material only). All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the Crisis Food Center in Alton. If you want to donate items such as toiletries, cleaning products, or even scarfs or gloves (new) we will accept them for fines also. Of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community. Happy Holidays!

Hayner Public Library District and Alton Memorial BJC Plus Partner to "Change Your Baby @ the Library!"

A new program has been initiated in the Birthing Center of Alton Memorial Hospital/ BJC Plus that is being provided by the Hayner Public Library District. The theme for the program is "Change your Baby @ the Library". Hayner will be providing the Alton Memorial Hospital Birthing Center with materials for distribution to new parents. The parents will receive packets of information stressing the importance of reading to children, even newborns. The packets include bookmarks highlighting how to make reading a family affair and 'books babies like', informa tion on books for young siblings, information on resources at the library to help address parent ing issues, general library information, tips for reading out loud, a library card application and a wonderful book by Rosemary Wells titled "Read to your Bunny".

Hayner Library is anxious for all parents to realize that one of the most important life enhancing skills they can provide their new baby is a love of reading. Numerous studies have shown that children with good reading skills excel in school, career and personal development. Reading to a baby, even in early months, provides a bonding time with parents and fosters the development of cognitive skills. Perhaps no other activity provides better quality time between parents and their small children than reading stories!

The funding for this program is provided to Hayner through a grant from the Lewis and Clark Library System and the Illinois State Library. Hayner staff has developed and assembled the material in the packets and will pro- vide them to Alton Memorial Hospital on an ongoing basis. Hayner library has also installed baby changing tables in the men's and women's rooms of both the main and youth libraries. Additionally, library staff will be participating in the siblings classes currently held by the hospital.

Jennifer Tolle with son, Mason Alexander.

Hayner Library is very excited about this program and, since it's 'kick off' in September, we have received wonderful feedback from the Hospital Staff. It's never to early to start to "Change Your Baby @ the Library!"

Happy Holidays

Staff Picks– WHAT WE'RE READING

Peace Like a River by Leif Enger. Fiction
Peace Like a River is a beautiful and engrossing story whose characters live and breathe in its pages. Narrated by an asthmatic 11 year-old, Reuben Land, it is the tale of Reuben's unusual family and their journey across the frozen Badlands of the Dakotas in search of a fugitive older brother. This book is joyful, mystical and profound. The writing is positively lyrical. This publication has been reviewed as "the birth of a classic work of literature." Do NOT miss this experience. –Bernie D.

Plain Truth by Jodi Picoult. Fiction
A newborn is found dead on a farm in Pennsylvania and a young Amish girl says it's not her baby, although medical evidence shows otherwise. High power attorney Ellie Hathaway is asked to defend the young girl who has been charged with the baby's death. But how do you defend someone in "English" court who lives "plain?" As she learns more about the Amish culture, Ellie begins to question what success really means. A fascinating look at living "plain." Picoult is an author who creates characters you care about and whose stories ask the questions that really matter.–Katie S.

Miss Julia Takes Over
by Ann B. Ross. Fiction
Miss Julia's in trouble again–good thing she can handle anything. In her last adventure Miss Julia inherited her late husband's final legacy, the product of his liaison–Little Lloyd. Now Little Lloyd's mother has gone missing. When the sheriff won't help her, Miss Julia hires a hard-boiled PI–who of course she must guide every step of the way, because if she doesn't take care of it, who will? Watch the sparks fly! Shirley MacLaine and Dolly Parton will star in the film version of Miss Julia's previous adventure, Miss Julia Speaks Her Mind.–Katie S.

Revenge of the Wrought-Iron Flamingos by Donna Anderson. Fiction
At the Revolutionary War re-enactment in her hometown of Yorktown, blacksmith Meg Langslow finds herself with more than enough to do besides sell her wrought iron works of art. First, she must keep her fellow crafters from displaying forbidden modern devices like watches, cell phones and calculators. Second, she must keep a snoopy sleaze reporter from digging up dirt on the locals, most of whom are her relatives. She must also protect her brother Rob from a crook who wants to steal the computer game he invented–which leads to the last item on her list: find out who murdered the crook, in Meg's craft booth, with a dagger she had made. This third Meg Langslow book is filled with crazy relatives, lots of laughs and a great mystery. –Susan K.

Soulmate by Deepak Chopra. Fiction
If one's reading tastes encompass Chopra's vision of mind, body and soul connectedness, this book is your cup of tea. The reader is invited to discover how love can extend beyond the finite bounds of mortal life. Although Raj is engaged to Maya, a woman of his parents' choosing, Molly is the flame that ignites his soul. Molly teaches him how to be free until fate steps in and Molly is tragically taken away. Raj discerns that divine love is expressed through human beings and that such love endures death and beyond. He discovers that when love is set free, it will allow no limitations. Love seeks out the unloved hidden places in each of us that never dared to respond, but once these places are touched, the result is foreordained. Molly's final gift to Raj is that love is truth and, therefore, in itself is infinite and a natural law unto itself.–Midge H.

Check Out Insurance Companies With Weiss Ratings' Guides

Shopping for new insurance or just want to know how your current insurance company stacks up? Try the Weiss Ratings' Insurance Guides at Hayner Library's Main Reference Department in downtown Alton. These guides track the financial condition of insurance companies and HMOs and publish their ratings and analysis quarterly.

Volumes at the Main Library include: Weiss Ratings' Guides to HMOs and Health Insurers, Weiss Ratings' Guide to Property and Casualty Insurers, and Weiss Ratings' Guide to Life, Health, and Annuity Insurers. Whether you're looking for an HMO, or choosing health, life or property insurance, the Weiss Insurance guides at Hayner Main can help you in your evaluation.

Support the Alton Symphony

Hayner Library wants to remind our patrons of the wonderful asset we have in the Alton Symphony Orchestra. Music Director and Conductor Edward Dolbashian does an outstanding job with the volunteer musicians. Performances are of the highest quality and consistently delight. All concerts are performed in the Hatheway Cultural Center at Lewis and Clark Community College and tickets (only eight dollars) can be purchased at the door or at Winds and Strings Music Shop or Halpin Music Company. The next concert is "Music for the Holidays" at 3:00 PM December 2. On February 23 at 8:00 PM the performance is titled "The European Tradition" and on April 27 at 8:00 PM the winners of the Marie Stillwell Young Artists Competition will perform "British Scenes". Also, the symphony will sponsor a special event on June 8 at 7:00 PM- "Pops and Jazz by the River" with the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band. This event will be held at the Melvin Price Locks and Dam. For more information, contact the Alton Symphony Orchestra at 618-467-2326 or via the internet at www.altonsymphony.org. Please support this jewel of our community. You will NOT be disappointed!

Because space is limited, advanced registration is required. We will start taking registrations, Thursday, January 3 at the Youth Library.

Teen Fun

All teens (13-17 year-olds) are invited to come to the Youth Library February 12 at 6:30 and celebrate the Chinese New Year. Sample area Chinese food, learn Chinese writing and have a good time. Registration is recommended but not required to attend.

Attention Teachers!

The Hayner Youth Library offers a Traveling Puppet Show that will come and visit your classroom. The puppet show is available to daycares, preschools, kindergarten…classes by appointment.

Teacher Book Boxes are also available to teachers needing help with themes in their classes. Please call the Youth Library (462-0652) with your theme idea and what you will need to help you in your classroom. At least a week notice is appreciated. Materials can be checked out to teachers for six weeks Elementary teachers can call the library for a program where a librarian will visit your classroom and talk about the library and what we can offer area youths. Call 462-0652 to schedule a visit.

Hayner Main Library Events

holiday music as well as popular favorites. This will be a great way to get in the holiday spirit! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Dan Hechenberger "Moons of the Illinois Indians"

Tuesday, January 15, 6:30 PM

Michael Accault, a French explorer who came to Illinois in 1679 with La Salle, comes alive in a first person living history presentation by performer/scholar Dan Hechenberger. Accault lived among the Illiniwek tribes (native tribes of our area) and in 1690 married a Kaskaskia chief's daughter. Enjoy this dramatic portrayal while learning of the Illiniwek life cycle. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Mark Dvorak "Old Songs and New People"

Sunday, January 27, 2:00 PM

Folk singer Mark Dvorak presents an inter-generational program of American folk songs - many recognizable, some new. Appealing to all ages, Mark uses humor and anecdotes to familiarize the audience with his music. Mark is an instructor with the famed Chicago Old Town School of Music and has released multiple CDs. Mark performed for Hayner Library this past fall and was a smash! Don't miss this great opportunity to enjoy a wonderful evening of laughter, song and entertainment. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Award Winning Story Teller Jeff Miller

Thursday, January 31, 6:30 PM

Twice voted "Best Performance Artist/Poet" by the St. Louis Riverfront Times, story teller Jeff Miller's trademarks are humor, inspiration, compassion and originality. He is the author of many articles as well as three books. He has also worked in radio and in television as a broadcast journalist and program host. The Director of the St. Louis Storytelling Festival said of Jeff "There is always laughter when you are around. You are a purveyor of joy!" Join us for an evening of nostalgia, humor and inspiration. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Katherine Harris Presents Ms. Harriet Tubman

February 5, 6:30 PM

Katherine Harris, Director of the Illinois State Historical Library, performs in character as the great Harriet Tubman. Harriet was a slave in the 1800s who moved over three hundred slaves out of Maryland via the Underground Railroad. During the Civil War, Harriet became a spy for the Union army and later a nurse. Ms. Harris portrays this great woman, telling her story in the first person and then taking questions in character as Harriet. Celebrate Black History Month by enjoying Ms. Harris' moving portrayal. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Bud Shultz and The You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band "Celebrate Mardi Gras"

Tuesday, February 12, 6:30 PM

Becoming a Hayner tradition and highly anticipated yearly event, Bud and his band are back to help us kick off the festive Mardi Gras season. Bud and his band play New Orleans-style jazz and guarantee a raucous evening of fun and swing. Bud and band are a local favorite in the Saint Louis area and always pack the house! This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey IL. Registration is required. Call 1-800-613-3163.

Quarterly Genealogy Round Table

Tuesday, February 19, 6:30 PM

The Quarterly Genealogy Round Table will feature speaker John Bushrow. John will discuss the basics of beginning genealogy research and will entertain questions and answers. All are welcome. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Julie McPike and Harlan Hock - Music From the Heart

Tuesday, February 26, 6:30 PM

The beautiful soprano voice of Julie McPike and the remarkable piano of Harlan Hock will entertain you as they perform a combination of sultry jazz and big band standards. Some of the favorites they will perform include More Than You Know and Mean to Me, first sung by Sarah Vaughn, Billie Holiday's I Cried for You and Cry Me a River, first performed by Julie London. Whether you did or did not get a valentine this year, it will be a very special February evening. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Mary Pirkl "Prehistoric People in the Lower Illinois River Valley"

Tuesday, March 5, 6:30 PM

How did the prehistoric peoples of the Lower Illinois River Valley survive so successfully in an ever-changing environment? What role did technological innovation play in the development of prehistoric cultures? What factors let to cultural change through time? Mary Pirkl, Director of Education at the Center for American Archeology will answer these and other questions using evidence drawn from archeological sites. Step back 12,000 years, hear the story and see actual artifacts of these remote peoples. A fascinating evening for all ages. Call to register, 1-800-613-3163.

The Value of A Library

In a recent issue of Shy Librarian, an article highlighted the value of public libraries. The article pointed out that the public library is an enduring monument to values of cooperation and sharing. The United States has the most extensive library system in the world with 8,923 central public libraries and 7,124 branch libraries. The public library is used by almost 65% of all households at least once a year. Public libraries loan 1.6 billion items a year and answer 284 million reference questions. The public library is one of the most efficient and popular of tax supported services. It serves 66% of adults for less than 1% of all tax dollars. The average cost of public library service nationwide is $24.50 per person annually 80% of the funding for public libraries comes from the local level with only 1% coming from the federal level.

12 Ways Libraries Are Good For The Country

1. INFORM CITIZENS
   Libraries make democracy work by providing access to information so that citizens can make the decisions necessary to govern themselves.
2. BREAK DOWN BOUNDARIES
   Libraries rid us of fences that obstruct our vision and our ability to communicate and to educate ourselves.
3. LEVEL THE PLAYING FIELD
   Economists have cited a growing income inequity in America, with the gap between the richest and poorest citizens becoming wider year by year. By making all its resources equally available to all members of the community, regardless of income, class, or other factors, the library levels the playing field.
4. VALUE THE INDIVIDUAL
   Library doors swing open for independent thinking without prejudgement. Library collections offer the historical, global, cultural, and political perspective that is necessary to foster a spirit of exploration that challenges orthodoxy.
5. NOURISH CREATIVITY
   Libraries are not only repositories of books, they are repositories of images, objects that communicate without words.
6. OPEN KIDS' MINDS
   Bringing children into a library can transport them from the commonplace to the extraordinary.
7. RETURN HIGH DIVIDENDS
   Libraries have made millionaires out of companies' grateful owners by providing crucial start-up information.
8. BUILD COMMUNITIES
   No narrow definition of community will work in a library. The library serves all ethnic and social groups providing a global community. Libraries validate and unify; they save lives, literally by preserving the record of those lives
9. MAKE FAMILIES FRIENDLIER
   The American family's best friend, the library, offers services guaranteed to hone coping skills. Homework centers. Family literacy training. Home schooling support. Children's storytimes. Parenting materials. After-school activities. Summer reading programs. Healthcare information.
10. DEFEND FREEDOM
    U.S. Post Laureate Rita Dove recently shared this sentiment when she addressed several thousand librarians at the American Library Association's Annual Conference: "You are meant to be the gatekeepers of possibility, not the watchdogs of the status quo."
11. OFFER SANCTUARY
    In a library, even the fiercest, shrillest argument ends with a quiet closing of a book. In a library, by moving our fingers a few inches along the shelf, we can find the very opposite point of view we have just read, or find that reasonable voice that honors many points of view by weighing the merits of them all. In the library we are answerable to no one; alone with our private thoughts, fantasies, and hopes, we are free to nourish what is most precious to us with the silent companionship of others we do not know.
12. PRESERVE THE PAST
    Vartan Gregorian, then president of the New York Public Library, said almost ten years ago in the New Yorker: "Libraries keep the records on behalf of all humanity...the unique and the absurd, the wise and fragments of stupidity."

    George Santayana said it another way 90 years ago in The Life of Reason: "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it." Libraries preserve the record, and a nation, a culture, a community that does not understand its own past is mired in its own mistakes."

Patron Profile
Sue Fitzgerald

Sue Fitzgerald is a smiling soft spoken woman who obviously has a passion for her job. She would have to, as it is a job requiring special talent. Sue works for Saint Anthony's Hospice program providing pastoral care. The hospice program provides care and counseling for terminal cancer patients. It is staffed by a team of workers that includes nurses, certified nurses aids, a social worker, pastoral care, a massage therapist and respiratory therapist, a dietician, a program coordinator and secretary and many wonderful volunteers. Sue's work in pastoral care is to provide counseling and support as the patient and family require, ensuring the patient's pastoral needs are being met as the patient desires. Sue visits her patients in their home or nursing home. Sue also does bereavement follow-up for the family up to a year after a patient has passed away. Since January of this year, Sue has also had responsibility for managing volunteer activities and schedules. Sue credits much of the success of Hospice to the generous hard work of the many volunteers contributing to the program.

Sue was born in Detroit, Michigan and grew up in Kansas City, Missouri. She attended the University of Notre Dame where she earned a degree in Psychology. There, she met her husband Mike who currently works for Scheffel and Company P.C. as a CPA. Sue and Mike have four children, Michael, 20, a student at Notre Dame, David, 17, and Molly, 15, both students at Marquette High School and Pat, 11, who attends Evangelical Grade School. The family lives in Godfrey. When her children were younger, Sue did volunteer work with the Compassionate Friends. This is a support group for parents who had lost a child. She went on to work with the Grief Support Group at Saint Anthony's, a support group for adults dealing with loss, generally of a spouse. When her youngest child went off to kindergarten, Sue went to work for Saint Anthony's Hospice program where she has been employed for the last six years. Sue's training comes from attending "lots of workshops", independent research and also some graduate level work in community psychology and death and dying classes. Sue admits that no matter how much training one receives, dealing with such issues as terminal illness is always difficult. She feels strongly, however, that our culture tends to ignore these issues and that needs to be changed. Sue finds that many of her patients just need someone they can talk to about their fears and concerns - someone who is willing to listen.

Sue admits that the emotional stress of her job can be daunting at times. She finds support and renewal in spending time with her family. Sue also relieves stress by being a spectator at her kids sporting events, trying to exercise, quilting and sewing and, especially, reading. Sue is an avid reader and admits freely that it is a great escape for her. She relates that she came from a family of readers, her mother particularly was never without a book in hand. Sue is a great fan of Hayner Library and finds the staff accommodating and friendly. She loves that staff members remember what she likes to read and will save new titles for her. Sue is a charter member of the Hayner Library Book Club. In fact, when working with the Grief Support Group, Sue notes that the members discussion often turned to books. A book club actually formed from the Grief Support Group. After a year or two, the group approached Hayner Library for sponsorship. The library readily agreed and Katie Schrimpf, Reference Librarian, took on the responsibility of managing the book club which currently meets once a month Sue comments that "the library is wonderful to give us the space and time and donate the energies of Katie who does so much research on different books and authors." It is a pleasure to know Sue and we all thank her for the valuable service she provides our community.

For more information on Saint Anthony's Hospice program, please call 463-5636. For information about the Hayner Library Book Club, call Katie at 462-0651.

Martin Luther King Jr. Breakfast/Black History Month

On January 21, Hayner Public Library District will hold a special event to celebrate Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday. Children of all ages (accompanied by an adult) are invited to join us for a breakfast program from 10:00 - 11:30 in the ATC Trimpe Hall at Lewis and Clark Community College. After a complementary breakfast, we will enjoy a program celebrating the life and work of Dr. King. This program is free of charge but advanced registration is required. To register, call the Youth Library (after January 3) at 462-0652.

Also, on January 10 from 3:30 - 4:30, story teller Loretta Washington will portray young Martin Luther King's mother. This will take place in the Youth Library at 401 State Street.

February is Black History Month and the Main Library will commemorate it with a special event on Tuesday, February 6. At 6:30, Katherine Harris from the Illinois State Historical Library will portray Harriet Tubman. She will tell the story, in character, of Harriet's remarkable accomplishments including moving over 300 slaves out of Maryland via the Underground Railroad. This event is for all ages and is free of charge. Registration is required. To register call 1-800-613-3163.

We're Going to the Chapel and We're Going to....

... Party!! Tuesday, February 12 is Fat Tuesday and once again, to celebrate Mardi Gras, Hayner Public Library District is sponsoring Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band to help us celebrate. Bud and company performed for us last year for Mardi Gras. It was such a great time that we knew we had to command a repeat performance. This program will be held in the Chapel of Lewis and Clark Community College at 6:30 PM. It is free of charge but registration is required. Bud and his New Orleans style jazz is "ga-ron-teed" to get you moving! Costumes, of course, are welcome!! To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Clean out that Attic!

Do you have dusty old treasures lying around the house? If you have historic memorabilia in the attic, why not consider donating it to Hayner Public Library where it will be used and appreciated. Hayner Library accepts donations of historic and /or genealogical materials to add to the collection of the Illinois Room. These materials are kept safe in that they do not leave the library, yet they are made accessible to the public during all hours of library operation. The Illinois Room is used extensively by patrons doing historic research as well as genealogy research. We would greatly appreciate your consideration. If you have any questions or are interested in donating these types of materials, please call Cathie Lamere at 462-0677.

Notes from Homebound

In October, the Homebound program brought Cathie Croxton and her Dulcimer to Hillcrest Apartments and the Skyline Apartments. The musical event was sponsored by the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association. About 70 people attended and had a great time. We will be bringing another traveling program to other Senior High Rises this spring. We felt like it is hard for some Seniors to get out at night and come to the wonderful programs at the Main Library, so Homebound brought Cathie to them!

One of America's favorite writers was born on November 30, 1835 in a small town of Florida, Missouri. That was Samuel Clemens, better known as Mark Twain. Here are a few of his famous quotes: "A classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody want to read". "Truth is the most valuable thing we have. Let's economize it." Have a good winter!

Rediscover America @ Your Library

April 14 through April 20 is National Library Week and the theme this year is "Rediscover America @ the Library". In our current world, Americans of all ages and backgrounds are rediscovering the meaning of words like democracy, freedom, citizenship and community. What embraces and promotes these concepts more strongly than the wonderful democratic institution of library systems. Every library, whether public, school, academic or special, has something unique to offer that connects its community to the very concept of a free people in a free land. First sponsored in 1958, National Library Week is a national observance sponsored by the American Library Association (ALA). It is a time to celebrate the contributions of our nation's libraries and librarians and promote library use and support.

If you have a library card, use it. If you don't have one, get one. Come to the library and poke around and discover all the wonderful services waiting for you.

To encourage you all to have a library card, local merchants have joined Hayner in our "Show us Your Library Card" Campaign. These businesses have agreed to offer discounts or free goods when you show them your current Hayner Library Card (Hayner Cards only, April 14 thru April 20, 2002 only).

Participants include:

Alton Refrigeration, 550 E. Broadway - $5.00 off the purchase of a radio
Chile Heads Hot Shop, 212 W. 3rd St. - 15% off any regularly priced item.
Dormann's Gifts and Interiors, 330 Alby - 15% off one regularly priced item
Johnson's Corner, 2000 State St. - $1 00 off a dinner entree

E-Mail Training Available

Due to the approval of a grant from the Illinois State Library, Hayner Library has been able to secure the equipment and technical services necessary to provide email training to our patrons. The grant proposal, titled 'Communicating Across Multi-generations', was developed to satisfy the objective of fostering communication between generations. Families are more often separated geographically and for more and more people, email is an effective and easy means of staying in touch.

Thus Hayner is offering an e-mail class. The class will be very small, five students per session. Each student will have a PC for hands-on learning. The two-hour class will cover: what is email, how to compose a message, how to check your email and other related topics. It will be taught by Kelly Meier, an independent technical consultant. The class will be repeated each Wednesday in March and April from 10:00 am to 12:00 noon. If a couple wishes to take the class together (moral support?), it will be possible to share a workstation. The class will be held in the Francis Metzger Conference Room at the rear of the Youth Library. The classes are free of charge. To register, call the Hayner Library Program Hotline at 1-800-613-3163. Please leave your phone number and two choices of class date. You will be contacted to confirm your registration.

Behind the Scenes with the Technical Services Department "Whole Earth Catalogers"

As many of our faithful patrons know, all three locations of the Hayner Public Library District are constantly refreshing their collections with new items both print and non-print. New Books, Musical CDs, DVDs, CD Roms, audio books and videos are all constantly being added to the shelves. What many don't realize is the tremendous amount of work entailed in processing these items before they can reach the shelves for checking out. This work is done by the Technical Services Department located in the lower level of the Youth Library on State Street. The department is staffed by Barbara Ulffers, Manager, Technical Services, Pat Stalcup, Cathy LamMere (also staff genealogist) and Pam Smith (also a member of the Telegraph Indexing Project team). This team is responsible for moving a tremendous amount of material in and out of inventory in what can be a very complex operation.

The whole process starts when orders for items are submitted by various department heads throughout the three Hayner Branches. Technical Services places the orders with the appropriate vendor. Upon order arrival, items are checked in, identified for the appropriate department and billing is reconciled. Now, they are ready to be catalogued. Cataloging is the process which identifies the item to Hayner's on line 'card catalogue' system so you can look books up by author, title or subject and then find the item on the shelves.

The cataloger needs to find the item's bibliographic record information and first searches a record information data base provided to all libraries by the Lewis and Clark Library System. If the record is not there, the cataloger then checks a data base that is maintained by Data Research Associates (these records come directly from Library of Congress so only contain print material titles). If the record is still not found, the final resource to check is the Online Computer Library Catalog. This is a national data base and charges fees to search for and dump a record. Thus, it is important that the cataloger check all other data bases first. Once a record is found, the cataloguer checks it line by line to validate (or add) information such as number of pages, type of illustrations, ISBN, Library of Congress number and more. The record is saved in the library data base, given a control number, call number and item cost. It receives a barcode, protective cover and must be visibly stamped as Hayner material. Every print and non-print item must go through this process and incredibly, this hard-working staff catalogs over 2000 items in an average month!

There are also times when none of the data bases have an item record. Self-published materials, family histories, and start-up publishers are some examples of items that would not have been previously cataloged. To create an original record is a time consuming process. Surveys have shown that a new record for a book can require an average of 34 minutes to create and up to 120 minutes to create an entry for an item such as a musical score. The department averages 20 of these complex transactions per month and has had to process as many as 40 in one month. Finally, the Technical Services Department is also responsible for all book repair as well as deleting items that are no longer held by the library. We greatly appreciate the hard work of the Technical Services Staff...they are the backbone that helps keep Hayner Library offering a wonderful constant supply of new material.

Purchase Encyclopedias - Just $5/Set!

The Friends of the Library have complete sets of encyclopedias for sale for just $5 per set. The publication dates of the sets vary, but there's a wide variety to pick from. To purchase a set, call the Hayner Library Business Office at 462-0677.

SCORE Makes Exclusive Donation to Hayner Library

Gail Weirich, SCORE District Director and Richard Rook, Assistant District Director

SCORE (Service Corp of Retired Executives) is a non-profit charitable organization of volunteer business mentors, both working and retired, who counsel businesses throughout the country. SCORE provides business owners with the information, resources and tools vital to their success. This includes counseling on financing options, business strategy, marketing tactics, product development, cash flow, management and much more. All their counseling is free of charge and completely confidential. Last year, SCORE helped close to 300,000 people nationally and has helped 4.5 million small business owners since 1964.

SCORE is very active in our own River Bend community supporting and helping small businesses succeed and prosper. They have conducted several programs at the Hayner Main Library with great success. In September of 2001, the Alton/Godfrey SCORE Chapter 423 made a very valuable contribution to the library and our community. Gail Weinrich, SCORE District Director, and Richard Rook, Assistant District Director, presented the library with a series of books published by Entrepreneur Media Publishers. The books are step-by-step reference guides for starting your own business. Each one covers a different type of business venture including apparel, child care, e-business, bed and breakfast, restaurant and five other food businesses. More general volumes include "How to Start a Business Support Service", "Starting and Running your Home-based Business" and "Creating a Successful Business Plan".

The books are written in a clearly understandable step-by-step cookbook manner. They help provide strategies for putting the business together, develop business goals and predict and solve problems. The topics are as varied as "how to interview future employees" to "setting up partnership agreements". What is particularly exciting about Hayner's acquisition of this series is that we are now one of only three libraries in the state of Illinois to hold them. The other locations are Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, East St. Louis Center Library and SCORE's Chicago office. This is an extremely important addition to our growing business reference section. Mr. Weinrich noted that SCORE wanted the set in Hayner's collection to make them accessible to all the community. On behalf of the Library and the entire community, thank you, SCORE, for this very valuable contribution. If you would like more information on SCORE services or would like to initiate business counseling sessions, call Richard Rook at 467-2280.

Food For Fido Returns!

Recent studies have shown that children who have difficulty reading improve their skills dramatically when they practice reading to a pet. Therapy dogs are being used in nationwide programs to improve reading skills. The dogs sit and pay attention as reluctant readers read aloud. The dogs provide a positive, nonthreatening audience to help sharpen communication skills. They never laugh when a child mispronounces a word or stutters. Reading aloud to the dogs has "a positive effect on erstwhile problem readers", wrote Susan G. Hayser in The Wall Street Journal. They show "a marked increase in technical skill and personal confidence. Furthermore, petting while reading provides an natural tranquilizer for high-strung children". Kelly Klotz, Director of Intermountain Therapy Animals, says results from one pilot project were "extraordinary", with some students increasing their reading level by as much as two grades. To say thank you to our furry friends, during the month of April (and commemorating National Library Week) we will hold our second annual "Food For Fido" campaign.

If you have a current fine on an overdue item, we will waive that fine if you contribute an item of dog or cat food. One fine per item, current fines only, Hayner Library materials only. These items will be given to the Alton Area 5A Humane Society. 5A's is our wonderful local no-kill animal shelter and is always in need of public support. You might even want to visit them and pick out your own Rover to read to!

Late breaking news: 5A's is getting ready to open their new Thrift Shop on 632 Wood River Ave. They are accepting donations of any usable items to stock the shop. If you have items to donate or require additional information, call the 5A office at 618-462-3721.

Notes From Homebound

by Stephanie Munson

Did you know that Zane Grey, one of the most popular American West's storytellers, was born in Zanesville, Ohio, on January 31, 1872?

Stories handed down from grandparents, aunts and uncles became the basis for Grey's own novels. Grey was a dentist, but what he really wanted to do was write. Although it took a long time for him to get published, eventually Grey became the best-selling western author of the 20th century. His stories chronicled the golden age of the West and glorified the everyday settler, homesteader, farm wife, cowhands and ranchers. His books have a timeless appeal that keeps them in print even now. Zane Grey died on October 23, 1939. We have a lot of his titles in large print as well as regular print.

For Women By Women Business Conference

April is National Poetry Month

Help us get ready for our Summer Reading Program – "Reading Rocks" – by submitting a poem during the month of April with music as the theme. We will accept your original poem throughout the month of April at the Youth Library. Winning poems will be printed in the Summer Newsletter. This contest is for 8-15 year olds.

National Library Week

We're celebrating National Library Week with a field trip to The Missouri Botanical Gardens on Saturday, April 20th. All kids 5-12 years of age are invited. We will be leaving the youth library at 9:00 and returning at 1:30. Lunch will be provided. A signed permission slip with registration is required. Limited to 30 children.

Attention Teachers!

The Hayner Youth Library offers a Traveling Puppet Show/story time that will come and visit your classroom. The puppet show/story time is available to daycares, preschools and elementary schools by appointment.

Middle School Teachers can call the library for a program where a librarian will visit your classroom and talk about the library and what we can offer area youths. Call 462-0652 to schedule a visit.

Teacher Book Boxes are also available to teachers needing help with themes in their classrooms. Please call the library (462-0652) with your theme idea and what you will need to help you in your classroom. At least a week notice is appreciated. Materials can be checked out to teachers for six weeks.

Dial-a-Story

Hear great stories from your home! Call 462-TALE. The tales change weekly. With over 500 calls a month, IT'S A WINNER!

Special Events at Hayner

Hayner Main Library Events

Spring is around the corner and the robins are bop, bop, bopping along! You will be, too, when you check out our spring line up of programs! All the programs are free of charge but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. Unless otherwise stated all programs will be held at the Hayner Main Library, 326 Belle Street, Alton, IL.

Mary Pirkl "Prehistoric People in the Lower Illinois River Valley"

Tuesday, March 5 6:30 pm

How did the prehistoric peoples of the lower Illinois River Valley survive so successfully in an ever-changing environment? What role did technological innovation play in the development of prehistoric cultures? What factors led to cultural change through time? Mary Pirkl, Director of Education at the Center for American Archeology, will answer these and other questions using evidence drawn from archeological sites. Step back 12,000 years, hear the story and see actual artifacts of these remote peoples. A fascinating evening for all ages. Call to register 1-800-613-3163.

Flutes Alive "Irish Tunes and More"

Thursday, March 14 6:30 pm

This wonderful St. Louis trio features piano and two flutes to help us get in the St. Patrick's Day spirit. Performing a combination of Irish music and popular favorites, this promises to be an enchanting musical evening. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Singer/Songwriter Michael Smith

Thursday, March 21 6:30 pm

Michael returns to bring us an encore musical program - he 'wowed' us a year ago and we're so excited he's coming back. Michael's work has been recorded by such diverse performers as Jimmy Buffet, Jerry Jeff Walker, the Four Freshmen, the Kingston Trio, Steve Goodman, Tom Rush, Spanky and Our Gang and over 30 more artists. He has won four prestigious Jeff Awards (Chicago equivalent of the Tony) for his 1993 autobiographical play, Michael, Margaret, Pat & Kate. Chicago Magazine wrote "One of the best songwriters in the English language...an enchanting and riveting performer." Sing Out! Magazine writes "Michael Smith stands out as one of the few undisputed geniuses among singer-songwriters". To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Email Training

Learn the basics of Hotmail, a free email service. This two-hour class will answer: what the heck is email, how to compose a message, check your mail, send an attachment, organize your folders, save your addresses, change your account options and how best to protect your privacy. This class is funded by a grant from the Illinois State Library. It is just one session but is being repeated every Tuesday through March and April. It will be held in the conference room of the Youth Library from 10:00 until noon on March 6,13,20,27 and April 3,10,17,24. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Cat Catalani "American Women Songwriters in the 19th and 20th Centuries"

Thursday, April 4 6:30 pm

From songs written in the 19th century such as "America the Beautiful" and "Happy Birthday to You" to songs of the 20th century like "Sunny Side of the Street," "I Can't Give You Anything but Love," and "Bye, Bye Love," women songwriters have contributed greatly to popular culture. In this musical program, Cat discusses the factors contributing to the increased presence of women in the world of song writing. She performs songs from folk, jazz, country, musicals, and modern pop and welcomes the audience to sing along. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Don Huber "A History of the Alton Cemetery and Local Points of Interest"

Tuesday, April 9 6:30 pm

Local historian, Don Huber, takes us on a verbal tour of the Alton Cemetery. He will share anecdotes of many of it's famous (some infamous?) residents, as well as local history. Don has done extensive research on the confederate prison and civil war activities that occurred in and around Alton and will be happy to discuss these topics as well. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Bucky Haller "I Ain't Got No Home - Woody Guthrie, The Great Depression, and American Protest Music"

Thursday, April 18 6:30 pm

As the economy spiraled downward after 1929 and millions of working-class Americans bore the brunt of economic depression, the voice of anguish and protest rose from America. That voice found its outlet in song as protest music developed into one of America's most creative popular art forms. In this musical program and commentary, labor historian and songwriter Bucky Haller reviews some of the folksongs of protest from the Great Depression. Particular attention is given to the impact of the labor movement and Woody Guthrie on the genre. Call 1-800-631-3163 to register.

Robert E. St. Peters - Book Signing

Saturday, April 20 11 am- 1 pm

Robert E. St. Peters will be at the Branch Library for a signing of his new book, "Alton Pictorial Postcard Book". This book features the 50 year collection of postcards of his late wife, Helen L. St.Peters. It contains 250 cards and is a coffee table edition. It will be available for sale during the signing. The price is $24.95. Most of the cards feature scenes from the River Bend area. Stop by to look at the book and get your own signed copy.

Gerald Lee Riley "Give 'em Hell, Harry!"

Thursday, May 9 6:30 pm

The thirty-third President of the United States, Harry S. Truman will be portrayed in a one-man show presented by the Wheatfield Theatre Co. of Ellicott City, Maryland. Actor Gerald Riley will reenact scenes of the personal and political life of this great and unique American. The compelling play, "Give 'Em Hell, Harry!" written by Samuel Gallu, reveals the extraordinary accomplishments of this self-proclaimed "Ordinary Man" who, as President, made some of the most crucial decisions in American history. Don't miss this marvelous drama, filled with history and humor about the life of one of America's most revered presidents.

Marita Brake "Songs for Spring"

Tuesday, May 14 6:30 pm

Marita Brake is a singer, songwriter, guitarist and dulcimer player. She has released 2 CDs, appeared in People magazine and has garnered a wealth of attention through several projects with PBS. She has toured extensively in this country and in England. In addition, she has showcased her talents at Carnegie Hall and performed at the 2000 Presidential Inauguration. Critics hail her as "sheerly poetic", "delightfully inventive" and "electric". Join us for an evening of humor and musical inspiration.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment.

Rhoda Cairns Retires from Branch Library

On November 30, 2001, Rhoda Cairns, Library Assistant at the Branch Library, retired. Rhoda has been a library employee since 1988 when she worked on the library's Telegraph Index Project. In 1994, she went to work in the Youth Library as a part time library assistant and then took a full-time Library Assistant position at the Branch Library. Rhoda has enjoyed her years at the library and says she will miss her "wonderful co-workers" and also miss working with the public.

Rhoda is a native of the Piasa-Shipman area and went to high school in Shipman and at Southwestern High School. After graduation, she worked for Millers Mutual for five and a half years. However, she left Millers upon getting married and starting a family. Rhoda and her husband Bob had two children, sons Robert Jr. and Ronald. In 1972, when her boys were 8 and 11, Rhoda received some shattering news. She was diagnosed with acute leukemia and given a very serious prognosis. The doctors set up chemotherapy treatments, but after the third round, she became gravely ill. However, a few weeks later, her illness abated almost overnight and she went into remission. Her doctors told her it was truly a miracle considering how sick she had been. Rhoda supports the American Leukemia Society. She says they provided wonderful support to her and her family and even helped pay for her medication. Rhoda was anxious to share this experience because she hopes that it will offer hope to others who may be stricken with this disease. She also is anxious to encourage people to contact the Leukemia society for support and help if they should find themselves in a similar circumstance.

In 1988, Rhoda went back to school and earned an Associates Degree, with honors, from Lewis and Clark Community College. That year she also came to work for Hayner Library. Rhoda has loved her time as a library employee which she says "was great from day one". She has enjoyed meeting and helping library patrons, many of which became very special to her. She is looking forward to retirement with her husband Bob who is also retired. She hopes to indulge in her hobbies of photography and travel. She and Bob are anxious to explore the country in their camper and if they don't like camping...it's back to the Holiday Inn! She will also enjoy time with her children and grandchildren (two granddaughters and one grandson). We all wish you the best of luck, Rhoda, and hope you come back to visit us often!

Create A Memory

Create a living memory for grandchildren and family members. Through a grant sponsored by the Illinois State Library, Hayner Library is able to offer our patrons the opportunity to create their own personalized videotape. In today's world, family generations are often separated by distance. Many times, grandchildren get to see their grandparents only on major family holidays. Hayner would like to offer you the opportunity to come to the library and pick out a book to read to your grandchildren (or nieces, nephews, etc.) Or bring your own story. We will videotape you and you can pass the tape on to your families...what a great gift idea! And what a great way to interest a child in the world of books! You can bring your own blank tape or purchase one from the library for one dollar. Perhaps you have family history you want to capture – be as creative as you wish. If you would like to make use of this program, call Bernadette Duvernoy at 618-462-0677 and we'll schedule an appointment for your film debut!

Patron Profile - Sylvester Davis

Sylvester Davis is an unassuming and utterly charming man. As he quietly talked about some of his life experiences and associations, I was completely fascinated. A native of Alton, Mr. Davis attended Alton High School. Upon graduation, he was beckoned by the bright city lights and moved to New York City with the hopes of getting involved in the medical field. Once there, he changed course and took a job for Union News. This was a company that owned many restaurants including those in Grand Central Station and Pennsylvania Station. Sylvester also worked in the restaurant of the Empire State Building on the 86th floor, which is the observation deck. He commented that he saw dozens of movies being filmed there. He also worked in Bellevue Hospital in New York City. He found this work fascinating but saw many sights in this renowned teaching hospital that were shocking.

During Sylvester's years in New York, and through his love of music (he played jazz trumpet), he made friends with several famous and interesting personalities. King Pleasure, a famous jazz singer, was his roommate at one time. He spent a lot of time with Sophie Tucker. Her boyfriend was Willy May's guardian as Willy was so young when he first came to New York to play ball. Sylvester developed a friendship with Willy and recalls that he was a very polite, quiet young man. He became good friends with the famed Joe Lewis and his wife Rose Morgan. Rose owned a chain of beauty parlors throughout Harlem. Sylvester also had the chance to meet Miles Davis and thought for some time that they were related. Some years later, Sylvester researched his family genealogy and determined that he and Miles were descended from different arms of the Davis family.

Sylvester spent five years in New York and really enjoyed his time there but acknowledges it would not be an easy place to raise a family. He also found the job market to be very tight. As he commented "there were so many colleges and universities that employers could get college graduates to wash dishes". So he returned to Alton and went to work for the International Shoe Company as the night shift Foreman. After six years, he took employment with the Olin Corporation were he worked for the next thirty-three years. He rose from stock clerk to Foreman and retired as the Store Room Supervisor. He and his wife Iona (also an Alton native) raised four children: a daughter in Springfield, IL who monitors nuclear waste for the state of Illinois, a daughter who is a baker and lives in Alton, another daughter in St. Louis who is an ordained Lutheran Minister and a son in Bunker Hill who has also worked for Olin for 30 years. The Davis's also have two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Sylvester retired in 1995 but has many activities that keep him busy. He has enjoyed playing golf for over 40 years and also loves to read, particularly ancient history. He spends lots of time visiting the library. He commented that he and his wife have been coming to the library since they were fourteen years-old. His wife suffered an illness some years ago and was very thankful for the library's homebound delivery service. Sylvester spends much of his day caring for his wife and commented that during Christmas of 2000, he decorated their backyard and gardens with over 1500 Christmas lights for her enjoyment. He decorates his yard for her throughout the different seasons and holidays. He is also an avid gardener, tending to over 17 rose bushes. He says he grows "whatever other people can't". I so enjoyed meeting with Mr. Davis and we all look forward to seeing him frequently in the library.

Biannual Book Sale

The Spring 2002 book sale will be held Thursday May 9, 6-8:30 pm. This is "Preview Night" and there is a $5 admission charge for this night only. The sale continues on Friday, May 10 from 9 am-7 pm and on Saturday, May 11 from 9 am-2 pm. There is no admission charge on Friday or Saturday. There will be great bargains on books of all types, music, magazines, videos and more. Don't miss the fun!

Dial up "Dial a Story"

Did you know that there's a great way to have your child spend three minutes a week to encourage his love of reading? It's "Dial a Story", a service provided by the Hayner Youth Library Staff.

Each week a staff member reads and records a different favorite children's story. The stories are a combination of current best sellers, classic favorites and seasonal themes. The stories are accessible via a phone call. Simply dial 462-TALE and your child can listen to a new story every week and since the stories are limited to three minutes in duration, it's not going to keep your phone tied up. This service has grown dramatically in popularity over the years and we currently average over 500 calls a month! It's a great way to reinforce the fun and variety provided by books. Start using the service today and it's sure to become a weekly habit (of the best kind).

Jan Harnetiaux Retires from Technical Services Department

Jan Harnetiaux retired in May, 2001 after working for Hayner Public Library District for fifteen years. When Jan retired, she was working as a full-time cataloger but over her career with the library, she has worked in every department.

Jan's family moved to Alton from Minnesota when she was nine years-old. Jan attended Marquette High School. After graduation, Jan worked part-time as a Licensed Practical Nurse affiliated with Olin Vocational School at Alton High School. As a new mother, Jan decided to quit working. Jan and her husband Rex have two sons, Mike and Eric, who both live in Alton.

Jan, who had always wanted to work in a library, went back to school in 1986 to earn her degree as a Library Technician. There, she studied under Kathy Bouman, then Reference Librarian at the Hayner Main Library. It was Kathy who told Jan about the part-time opening that had come up at the circulation desk. Starting at the circ desk in the main library in 1986, Jan also worked part-time in the Youth and Branch libraries. Jan ultimately took a full-time position first dividing her schedule between the circulation desk and cataloging. Ultimately, Jan became a full-time cataloger. Jan learned the complexities of cataloging through hands-on training and became a key member of the Technical Services team. Jan credits Barb Ulffers, Technical Services Manager, for her great patience and support while Jan learned this very detailed process.

Jan recalls different moments that will always stay in her memory. One situation occurred when Jan was first working in the newly-opened Branch library. She was filling a microfilm reader/printer with toner when she dropped the toner bottle. Toner covered her from collar to hem of her brand new beige dress, as well as, settled all over the new carpet and freshly painted walls. Toner is practically indelible and Jan felt so embarrassed as she had to work the whole day in her toner covered dress...obviously giving her away as the culprit! Jan also remembers the surprise party her sisters threw her in the Library Director's office to celebrate Jan's 50th birthday. Jan had adamantly warned her sisters that she did not want any publicity of this auspicious event but instead, the whole library staff got involved.

Jan greatly enjoyed the high degree of precision required by the cataloging job but she also enjoyed working with staff at the circ desk. She also greatly enjoyed the chance to work and interact with patrons. In her retirement, she plans to indulge her passion for golf and reading (especially mysteries) and spend more time with her two year-old granddaughter. We all wish Jan the best of luck and look forward to her visiting us often!

Library installs computers From Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation Grant

In December of 2001, Hayner Public Library District received notice that they had been approved to receive a grant from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation US Library Program. This grant would provide the district with over $37,000 of new computer hardware, software, training and technical support. The equipment arrived at all three Hayner locations in April 2002. As established by the grant guidelines, four Gatenet computers, one HP Laser jet printer, networking hardware, software (reference programs, office, children's programs, internet and tutorials), staff training and technical support would be provided for each Hayner location. These additional 12 computers increase Hayner's public access computer population to 41! The eligibility for receiving this grant was based on service area population (SPOP) and service area population in poverty (SPOV). A part of the grant's terms were that all the library sites were required to close for two half days while the staff received intensive training from Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation personnel on the hardware and software programs. The grant also provides unlimited technical support for year one and more limited support in following years.

There are several unique features of these new computers that address accessibility issues some users may have previously experienced. Examples include a "Magnifier" that will magnify any part of the screen up 50 times (or even more) if the user has vision difficulties. If the user has motor skills constraints, he can use the keyboard instead of the mouse to navigate his screen. Also, the computer can be told to communicate with the user in virtually any language the user recognizes.

This national grant program, established by Bill and Melinda Gates reaches out to communities that have a significant population of low income citizens who might otherwise not have access to such equipment. The Foundation seeks to bridge the so-called 'Digital Divide' and ensure that all citizens have access to computers, the Internet and other digital information.

Secretary of State and State Librarian Jesse White and his staff at the Illinois State Library in Springfield have been working for more than two years to bring the Gates Library Initiative to Illinois public libraries. Hayner Public Library District is very excited to be part of this innovative program and invites all community members to make use of our new and additional technology.

Flying Proud Colors

Hayner Public Library District has erected a flagpole on the corner of 4th and Belle Street. It is lit at night so it can fly 24 hours a day. One patron has been observed saluting the flag whenever he visits the Main Library. Needless to say, the staff is very proud of this new addition.

Genealogy Update

Cathie Lamere, Hayner staff genealogist, is available to meet with patrons one on one. If you have specific genealogy questions/issues, or just need help getting started, Cathie invites you to call and schedule an appointment with her. She is available to meet with you Monday through Friday in the afternoons from either 2:00-3:00 or 3:00-4:00. To schedule an appointment, call 1-800-613-3163 and leave a message. Cathie will call you back and confirm

On behalf of the Library district, Cathie would also like to the thank the generous patrons of the community for their donations of the inventory of the Upper Alton Cemetery, inventory and historic information on the Historic Milton Cemetery and a wonderful gift of the personal narrative and diary of a local World War II veteran. These are wonderful additions to our Illinois Room.

Also, don't miss the next quarterly Genealogy Roundtable. This will be held on Wednesday, July 17 at 6:30 pm in the Illinois Room of the Main Library. The guest speaker will be Mandy Brannon, owner of the Scrapbook Garden in Wood River. Mandy will discuss how to protect and preserve your genealogical documents and photographs. The session is free of charge, but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Food For Fido - A Howling Success

During April 2002, all library locations waived a current fine if a patron donated an item of pet food. The campaign was a great success. 335 items were collected for the Alton Area 5A Animal Shelter. Our friend Sally says "thank you so much!" on behalf of all her sheltered friends. WOOF!

"Read To Your Hero"

The American Library Association has a theme poster this year titled "Read to Your Hero". It depicts a little girl reading to a fireman. On Monday, April 15, Hayner Library presented copies of these posters to the captains of the Alton Fire Department, the Godfrey Fire Department and Fosterburg Fire Department. Besides the vital service the fire departments inherently provide, our local departments all do a lot of community outreach programs including going to schools and demonstrating fire safety, reading to children and recognizing academic achievement. The Fire Fighter Association and Local 1255 of the International Association of Fire Fighters have built likenesses of fire trucks for the Branch and Youth libraries for children to sit in and read. They have also contributed many books to the libraries. Thank you to all the fire departments for the wonderful services you provide our communities! Also, a special thank you to 10-year-old Katie Cox who kicked off the presentation on April 15th singing the "Star Spangle Banner".

Special Concert at the Chapel - "Echos of Spain"

September may seem far in the future, but it's not too soon to make sure you mark your calender for a very special musical event. On September 19, at 6:30 pm, the Monico Trio will be performing at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey IL. The program, The Monico Trio and Echos of Spain will be a highlight concert featuring the premier of Jean Monico's original work "Echos of Spain." Mr. Monico will perform on the piano with the accompaniment of cellist Angelina McLaughlin and violinist Mike Hammond. Other works by Spanish composers will be performed including Granado's Dances and Leyenda (Legend) by Albeniz. Making the evening a truly exciting event, there will also be dance performances by Jack Gibson and Tonya Horn. Don't miss this very special program. The performance is free of charge but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Tracking Your Job Trajectory A Guide to Job Hunting

Just graduated and looking for your first job? Or, perhaps it's time to make a career change and you are thinking about searching for a different job....Hayner Library can help.

Hayner Public Library is offering a service this summer called Tracking Your Job Trajectory to help individuals in their search for employment. This series will consist of a 2 part program devoted to helping the individual acquire job hunting skills.

This offering is free of charge but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Class enrollment will be limited to 20. This program is fully funded by private endowment.

Saturday July 13
9:00 - 12:00
Jean Paterson, Director SIUE Career Development Center, will present a class on resume writing and interview techniques. Participants will receive a Job Hunting Guide of important internet resources as well as key print resources available through the library. The participants will be allotted one week to write a resume and return it to the library. These will be forwarded to Ms. Paterson for her individual critique.

Saturday July 27
9:00 - 12:00
Resumes are returned to participants with individualized comments and critiques. Ms. Paterson will present an overall critique of the resumes she reviewed to the entire group and be available for one on one review.
1:00 - 2:30
Members of SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) will discuss what they expect during the interview process, what they expect the candidate to know about their business, and take audience questions. The panel will be available to hold mock interviews for audience members who wish to participate.

Upon completion of the program, all participants will receive a copy of "What Color is Your Parachute" by Richard Bolles. This is the best selling job-hunting book in the world.

Take advantage of this unique program. Register early as enrollment is limited. Classes will be held in the Jimmie Keller Reading Room of the Main Library at 326 Belle Street, Alton, IL. If you require additional information, call Bernadette Duvernoy at 618-462-0677.

Staff Picks— WHAT WE'RE READING

Blue Diary by Alice Hoffman. Fiction

Ethan Ford has the ideal life—a vibrant marriage, a great kid and the respect of his community. He also has a secret that could shatter this life. Alice Hoffman asks some hard questions in Blue Diary. What if someone you love isn't who you think they are? Do people really change? Can love create forgiveness? Hoffman examines how a family and a small-town community deal with complicated issues of truth, love, belief and forgiveness in this beautifully written book. - Katie S.

Birdsong by Sebastian Faulks. Fiction

Birdsong is neither a love story nor a war story. It includes yet somehow rises above both, moving from a passionate affair to the horrors of trench warfare in Northern France during WWI. It is a book of loyalty, hope and the will to survive; Faulk's characters make you feel pity and admiration at the same time and leave you feeling haunted by those whose lives were changed by WWI. A beautiful, powerful work. Faulk's novel, Charlotte Gray, was recently made into a movie. - Katie S.

The Genealogy Handbook: the Complete Guide to Tracing Your Family Tree by Ellen Galford. Nonfiction

A concise and straightforward guide to help you find your way through the maze of genealogy information available today. For the beginner, this is a great book to help you get organized in your research. Included are tips for traditional research as well as Internet searches, advice on preservation of old photographs and documents, and help for the ethnic researcher and the long-distance researcher. This is an easy-to-use reference for the amateur genealogist. - Cathie L.

The Cheese Monkeys by Chip Kidd.

A sharp, fast-paced academic satire, this is a coming-of-age story from the point of view of the paying victim (a.k.a. the student). Set in 1957, a nameless narrator has little idea what college means and so chooses an art major as the path of least hardship. The characters and dialogue are razor sharp. It also presents a pitch perfect recreation of late '50s behavior and slang. This book is a hoot, yet oddly haunting. - Bernie D.

The Nanny Diaries
by Emma McLaughlin and Nicola Kraus.

When college student Nanny takes a job as nanny to four-year-old Grayer Addison X, she quickly finds herself in over her head. Wealthy Mrs. X treats Nanny like a slave while she herself shops, dines out and gets manicures; Mr. X is too busy with corporate mergers and other (less savory) activities to pay any attention to his affection-starved son. In the meantime, for having the privilege of raising poor Grayer, Nanny must dress up like a Teletubby; nurse Grayer through the croup while his mother relaxes in a spa; observe ludicrous child-rearing rules (soy foods, limits on TV, etc.) that the X's don't bother to follow themselves; and pretend not to notice that the X's marriage is rapidly deteriorating. This hilarious novel skewers the upper-crust society that can't be bothered to raise its own children. It's going to be made into a movie, too, so don't miss it! - Susan K.

Poetry Contest Winner Announced

To kick off National Poetry Month in April, Hayner Youth Library announced a poetry contest with the winner to be published in the Summer 2002 newsletter. Since the theme of this year's Summer Reading program is "Reading Rocks", contest participants were asked to use music as the subject matter of their poems. The winner of the poetry contest is Herbert J. Peel, an Alton resident and avid user of the library. Congratulations, Herbert! We all enjoyed your poem and we look forward to seeing more of your future work in publication!

Music
by Herbert J. Peel

Music is harmony.
Music are notes that are played on an instrument.
Music is poetry.
Music is a story that is told Beethoven's Symphony number 6 The Pastoral tells about
Life in the countryside.
Music can tell us many things.
the tragedy of war,
the love between two people.
About sadness
a Historic event to worship
Music is all over the world
From Japan to England
From Rio to Alaska
From the times of the ancient Greeks to Modern Times
Music is as old as time itself
Since before man nature has and still produces its own music
Music can be anything we make it
For music will live forever.

David Massengill, Master Songwriter Storyteller

Thursday, June 27, 6:30 pm

David's music is often story songs based on real events and we guarantee he will captivate you. He is a critically acclaimed singer songwriter who was greatly responsible for the renewed folk renaissance in Greenwich Village in the late 1970s and early '80s. His work "The Great American Dream" became the unofficial anthem of the New York Folk scene in the early '80s. He has won the New York Music Award in 1992 for Best Album, nominated for best folk act in 1987, 1988 and 1989. He has also performed at the Newport Folk Festival, Carnegie Hall and the Kennedy Center. Don't miss this one. His voice will sweep you away! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Double Play

Wednesday, July 10, 6:30 pm

The world's only professional flute and tuba duo perform Bach to Broadway. Hailing from Phoenix, Arizona, this is an encore performance for the duo at Hayner. We had a blast with them at their last performance and were amazed at how beautifully two such disparate instruments fit together! They travel with Omni, Patrick's seeing-eye guide dog and incorporate information about guide dogs into the program. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

This overview session is an introduction on how to search for an auction item, how to set up a buyer or seller account, how to place a bid, and how to protect yourself from fraud. Be sure to bring your questions. Happy bidding! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Bright Start College Savings Program A Smart and Easy College Savings Plan for Anyone!

The value of a college education cannot be denied. But saving for college is often the biggest financial challenge a family will face. That's why the Office of State Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka is pleased to present the Bright Start College Savings Program.

Bright Start is a qualified tuition program under Section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code and is specifically designed to help build your college savings. Implemented in April 2000, Bright Start is the only college savings plan that provides significant tax benefits unavailable with any other college savings program. No matter what your financial situation, your investment experience, or your children's ages, Bright Start presents unprecedented flexibility. Anyone can open an account regardless of income level and anyone can be a student, regardless of age.

To learn more about the Bright Start program, please attend the Bright Start presentation on Wednesday June 19 at 6:30 pm in the Hayner Main Library. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. If you have questions regarding Bright Start, feel free to contact the Office of the State Treasurer at 217-558-4983.

Library Card Applications - Easy and Fast!

Do you have your Hayner Library card? If you live in Alton, Godfrey or Fosterburg townships, you are entitled to a card...and remember, you can use your card at any of the libraries in the Lewis and Clark Library system. To apply for a card, the following is required:

1. Photo ID (driver's license, student ID or similar form)
2. Proof of residency in the Hayner Public Library District (This may include a utility bill, a phone bill or bank statement - it must have the individual's name and current address on it.)
3. Children under 18 require a parent's signature on the application.
4. During the first 30 days upon being issued a library card, the patron is limited to two items per checkout at any one time. Upon return of these two items, the patron can check out two different items. At the end of the initial 30 day period, the patron can check out items as allowed by the standards established by the library district.

Tea and Talent Returns

St. Paul's Episcopal Church brings back 'Tuesday Tea and Talent' for its tenth season. Starting on June 18th and continuing every Tuesday through August 6, these noontime programs offer a great escape from your busy day. Each week, a different musical program will be presented. Iced tea is available free of charge and attendees are encouraged to bring their lunch. Programs last approximately 30 minutes and are held in the garden in front of the church (St. Paul's is located at 3rd Street and Market, across form the Stratford Hotel). If the weather is too warm or wet, programs are held in the Church's meeting room. Some of the performers this year will include Sean Stone and Friends, Singer Martha Brocus accompanied by Charlie Fisher, Thora Buis on the Hammered Dulcimer, the New Horizons Band, Bud Summers and Nancy Muessen on oboe and classical guitar, Reverend Howard and Leah White singing showtunes, a concert preview of Alton Little Theater's production of Jesus Christ Superstar and more!

New Microfilm Equipment

A new microfilm reader has been installed at the Hayner Main Library. This reader is interfaced with a computer to now allow patrons to copy microfilm images to disk. Once on disk, these images can be taken home to use in your own computer scrapbook of family tree files. This adds another dimension to the integrity of genealogical research. Staff genealogist Cathie Lamere or any member of the main library circulation staff can assist you in use of the new equipment. Microfilms available at the main library include the Alton Telegraph (back to 1836), Madison County census information and confederate prison records.

Patron Profile- Michael Harvey

Michael Harvey was raised in Wood River and moved to Alton specifically to work with the Alton Fire Department. He has been with the department 23 years now and is currently Assistant Chief. He and his family are also avid Hayner Library patrons. Mike says going to the library has always been one of his favorite pastimes and he and his wife, Terri, have instilled a love of reading in their children also. The Harveys have two children, a son Nicholas, 20, and a daughter, Whitney, 16. Mike's wife teaches first grade at JB Johnson Elementary School and is a frequent user of the 6-week box program available for teachers from the Hayner Youth Library (staff will pull books and other materials based on a topic the teachers are presenting to their classes).

Mike talked about his daily life as a firefighter and it was truly fascinating. He works 24 hour shifts, then is off for 48 hours, then back on duty for 24 hours. He jokes that he has been married for 26 years but since he's away from home a third of every year, he and his wife really could count a little over 14 years of wedded bliss!

Mike works at the firehouse at 222 East 20th street (by St. Anthony's). He noted that when he started with the department there were five firehouses. Now Alton supports two firehouses. His first assignment was at a firehouse on State Street which is now the Firehouse Tavern. The firehouse becomes a home-away-from-home and the department is a close family-like group. There is one female firefighter in Mike's house. He noted that she has proven herself as extremely capable time and time again in active duty. He offers that the crew works together well and depends on each other. "You look at everyone you work with as someone you can depend upon with your life." I asked Mike who does the cooking in his firehouse and he said that his team rotates cooking duties. Some houses do have one designated cook volunteer, often because the cook never has to wash the dishes!

A typical day requires everyone to pitch in and perform maintenance jobs in the morning-maintenance of the firehouse as well as vehicle and equipment maintenance. There is also a daily training schedule which ranges from new equipment training to learning all the streets in the firefighting district (actual on the road driving/training that is repeated every three days). During the last two years, Mike's department has hired 12 new people and they get involved with the more experienced fighters in constant OTJ training activities. Recently, the entire force was put through intensive training in new auto extraction equipment. While the on-the-job training never stops, most of the firefighters have completed programs in firefighting science such as the one available through Lewis and Clark Community College. If the firefighter is also an EMT, he is also required to have paramedic certification with re-certification every four years. Most officers also earn a State of Illinois certification which would allow them to work in any fire department within the state.

Mike said that last year his house was called out on 3800-4000 rescue and fire related runs, thus averaging over ten per day. The majority of the calls are rescue calls requiring emergency medical service from trained firefighter paramedics. Mike has been a paramedic for 17 years and worked on a rescue truck for 15 years. He's seen it all...and then some. He has delivered several babies and recounted a great anecdote. He was coaching his daughter's softball game when he got into a conversation with one of the attending mothers. When she found out he was a fireman, she told him excitedly that her daughter had been delivered by a fireman and these many years later she was still trying "to find the fireman that delivered my baby". She told him the date of the delivery and the address of the house where it took place. Mike had a moment of instant recall and said "Ma'am, that fireman was me!" She threw her arms around him and in her excitement and enthusiasm, confusedly yelled to the entire softball field "you're the Dad" to which Mike quickly set her straight..."NO, NO, Ma'am, please...I just delivered you!" (which of course, to her embarrassment is what she had meant in the first place). To make the coincidence even stronger, it turns out that the baby (a daughter) was now a young lady playing on the very softball team Mike was coaching!

Mike also recalled several much more somber moments of the job. He will never forget an arson fire at a home on Highland where the house went down in blazes, trapping two of his fellow firefighters. He said it is an awful feat to try and continue to concentrate on fighting the fire when the men were gone. He also recounted the experience of the Box Board plant fire in 1982. The facility produced stacks of cardboard bales that sat for shipment in literally acres of land by the Riverfront. The stacks were 50 feet high, 50 feet wide, and 200 feet long and there were hundreds of them. Once the fire started in these cardboard stacks it spread rapidly aided by 60 MPH winds. It took four days to contain and ultimately extinguish the fire. Mike says in such a critical situation "your thoughts run to your family, you think, will I be home-this is so big". He says he and his wife have an unwritten rule that they don't talk a lot about the more serious situations he's been in.

It was such a pleasure to talk with Mike and we send him, his family and all his colleagues our prayers for safety and our thanks for the incredible service they provide.

Email Training is a Hit!

Having run our first series of email training classes, we defiantly have a hit on our hands! Attendees often began the class a little apprehensively, each convinced they would never be able to crack the secret world of computers and electronic communication...and left extolling the wonders of Hotmail and anxious to get home to start emailing EVERYONE! The classes were taught by Technical Consultant Kelly Meier and funded by a grant from the Illinois State Library. Unfortunately, the response to the original class offering was overwhelming and we could not accommodate everyone but we have maintained a waiting list. The exciting news is that due to the support of a private endowment fund we are ready to schedule our next series of classes. These classes will provide basic email training (specifically Hotmail). The classes will begin on July 10 and continue each Wednesday through August 28. They will be held in the Francis Metzger Conference Room of the Hayner Youth Library. We will try to accommodate those already on the waiting list with this next series of classes. If you are on the list, you will be contacted by Hayner Staff to arrange scheduling. If you would like to add your name to the list, call 1-800-613-3163.

New Alton Farmers Market

This year the Farmers Market in downtown Alton is going to be bigger and better than ever! Vendors will be offering fresh produce, plants, flowers and breads. This year, there will also be crafts and even live entertainment! The market will be open every Saturday in June through September from 8 am till 12:00 noon. Make sure you stop by the market when you make your Saturday morning library visit. Can't you just taste those big sweet summer peaches and juicy tomatoes?

There is also still room for more vendors - if you are interested, call the Alton Marketplace Association at 618-463-1016 or email ampa@tcip.net.

Hours Change at Branch Library

On March 5th, the hours of operation changed at our Branch Library.

New Hours are:

|---|---|
| Monday thru Thursday | 9:30 am-9:00 pm |
| Friday & Saturday | 9:30 am-9:30 pm |
| Sunday | 12:00 pm-6:00 pm |

The change was made because the majority of the stores in the mall chose to close at 9:00 pm instead of 9:30 pm.

Meet New Staff

Three new people have joined the staff of the Hayner Public Library District. They are Kyndal Watsek, Sue Oerter and Natalie Sneed. Kyndal is a full-time Assistant Cataloger helping to catalog the volumes of new print and non-print material that arrives every day. Previously, Kyndal worked in the Roxana Library. She has one son, Nathan, 7. Sue Oerter is a full-time Library Assistant in the Main Library working the circulation desk and assisting patrons. Sue taught school at St. Ambrose for 9 years and prior to that was a book seller at B. Dalton. Sue and her husband, John, have three sons and live in Godfrey. ## Celebrate Freedom

We are all aware of the anniversary we will be commemorating this fall of the awful events of one year ago. Every life was affected that day in some way. Many of us felt violated by the attack on our freedom and realized how our personal safety and liberties can be so easily taken for granted. One of the most important of those liberties is outlined in the First Amendment, our freedom of speech. To honor this freedom, libraries across the country celebrate Banned Book Week (BBW). Banned Book Week celebrates the freedom to express one's opinion even if that opinion might be considered unorthodox or unpopular and stresses the importance of ensuring the availability of those unorthodox or unpopular viewpoints to all who wish to read them. Often challenges are issued, motivated by a desire to protect children from reading books with "inappropriate" content or "offensive" language. Although this is a commendable motivation, the American Library Association, in the Library Bill of Rights, states "Librarians and governing bodies should maintain that parents - and only parents - have the right and the responsibility to restrict the access of their children - and only their children - to library resources." We are all so fortunate to live in this country where our freedoms are protected. Celebrate your freedom to read during Banned Book Week, September 21-28, 2002.

A small sampling of books challenged or banned in 2001-2002:
The Bible in Ocala, FL
Different Seasons by Stephen King in Brooksville, FL
Where the Heart Is by Billie Letts, in Tamaqua, PA
James Baldwin by Randall Kenan in Anahieim, CA
Foreign Relations of the United States 1964-69, Volume XXVI, Indonesia, Malaysia-Singapore, Philippines.-U.S. States Department
To Kill a Mockingbird by Harper Lee in Glynn County, GA
Member of the Wedding by Carson McCullers in Tamaqua, PA
Willa Cather by Sharon O'Brian in Anaheim, CA
Catcher in the Rye by J.D. Salinger in Summerville, SC
Trailsman Series by Jon Sharpe in Springdale, AR
Sophie's Choice by William Styron in La Mirada, CA
Lord of the Rings by J.R.R. Tolkien in Alamagordo, NM

"Restriction of free thought and free speech is the most dangerous of all subversions. It is the one un-American act that could most easily defeat us." - Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas

Get Those Best Sellers - FAST!!

The Hayner Public Library District is announcing a new service to help get the best sellers in your hands as quickly as possible. Often times, when a popular author such as John Grisham or Patricia Cornwall has a new book hitting the shelves, the waiting list of anxious readers is so long, you may wait weeks or even months until you get a copy. Therefore, we are announcing our new "Express Books" program. With this program, the library will offer additional copies of the most heavily requested best sellers, clearly marked with bright yellow labels. Express Books will only check out for one week, will be nonrenewable and will have a $.25 per day fine when overdue. With additional copies of the best sellers available, and since they only check out for one week at a time, they will move from patron to patron more quickly. So now you have three different options to choose when checking out best sellers: Regular circulating books - 2 week checkout, $.10/day overdue fine; Express Books - 1 week checkout, $.25 /day overdue fine; Rental Books - 2 week checkout, $2.00 rental fee. We hope this additional service helps satisfy our patrons who can't wait to get their hands on the latest 'must read'!

SCORE Strengthens Library Collection - Strengthens Community

SCORE (Service Corp of Retired Executives) is a volunteer organization of business people that offers free confidential business counseling to help small businesses to prosper. SCORE has been an active and very helpful participant in many of the Hayner Library's business programs. SCORE has also made a very significant contribution to the Hayner Library Business Reference collection. In September of 2001, the Alton/Godfrey Chapter 423 donated to the library eight volumes of the Entrepreneurs' Publication series on How to Start Your Own Business. This series covers, in cookbook style, every facet of planning, financing, start-up and operations of different small business enterprises. The various volumes include How to Start a(n) : Child Care Services Business, Apparel Business, Restaurant Business, Bed and Breakfast, e-Business and Business Support Service. There are also two volumes titled Creating a Successful Business Plan, and Starting and Running Your Home-Based Business. This spring, the library was thrilled to learn that SCORE was going to contribute five additional volumes to the collections. The new titles include How to Start a: Crafts Business, a Lawn Care business, a Cleaning Service, Bringing your Product to Market and a Start-up Success Set. Each volume also comes with a CD titled "The Ultimate Financial Forecaster". These guides are extremely complete yet easy to follow and will provide you with explicit directions in all facets of starting your own business.

With SCORE'S help, Hayner Main Library houses one of the premier Business Reference collections in southern Illinois. Hayner Library is one of only four libraries in the entire state to hold the Entrepreneur series.

SCORE executives are also investigating the revitalization of their participation in a "Third Thursday" program in conjunction with the Alton Marketplace Association. SCORE representatives would be available once a month (on third Thursdays) in the evening in a downtown location - likely the AMA offices - for anyone who would like small business development advice. These sessions would not require an appointment and could also determine the viability of initiating a formal SCORE counseling program. As with all SCORE activities, there would be no charge for this service.

Thank you so much to SCORE for all the support they have given the Hayner Public Library as well as our entire community. This organization has been extremely important to many of the small business success stories in the River Bend area. If you would like more information on SCORE please call their offices at 618-467-2280.

Friends of the Library Fall Book Sale is Coming!

We will also be having the Lapsit Program again this fall. The Lapsit is designed for children from birth to age two. The program lasts from 20 to 30 minutes and consists of very easy books and songs. Its purpose is to get children used to the library. We don't expect the children attending this program to sit still for the entire program. The Lapsit begins Tuesday, September 17th at 10:00 a.m. The program is held every other Tuesday at the Youth Library 9/17, 10/1, 10/15, 10/29, 11/12, and 11/26.

We are starting our Read 'n Rant book club for teens again. The book club meets the first Thursday of the month at 6:30 p.m. in the Youth Library. The meeting dates are 9/5, 10/3 and 11/7. Come pick up your free copy of the book we are going to read at the Youth Library.

After School Fun is going on at the Youth Library the second Thursday of every month starting September 12th. We will be doing something fun for all ages. After School Fun starts at 3:30 p.m. and usually ends at 4:30 p.m.

Teen Read Week is October 13th thru 19th. This year's theme is the Graphic Novel. The Youth Library will be hosting a Teen Night on October 17th at 7:00 p.m.

In honor of Halloween the Youth Library again will have the Sparks and Spooks program. Area storytellers will be at the library to tell some "scary tales". This will be held on October 24th at 6:30 p.m.

Hayner Main Library Events

Fall is here and temperatures will soon be dropping. What isn't dropping is the number of great new programs at the Hayner Main Library. Plus, we'll also be bringing back some old friends! All programs are free of charge but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. Unless otherwise stated, all programs will be held at the Hayner Main Library, 326 Belle Street, Alton, IL.

Book Signing - Author Carl Day
Tom Custer
Sat., September 7, 11:00 am-1:00 pm
Tom Custer, brother to George Custer, was a hero in his own right. He is the first man to receive two Medals of Honor for heroism on the battlefield. Written by local author Carl Day, Tom Custer is more than just a tale of military exploits - this biography reveals the private lives of Custer and his family. A fascinating book, it is embellished with 14 illustrations and 4 maps. Meet the author at Hayner Branch Library (Alton Square Mall), pick up your own copy and have it signed!

Mark Ellebracht
WBGZ Broadcasts From Hayner Branch Library
Monday September 9, 10:00-11:00 am
Mark Ellebracht, host of the WBGZ (1570 AM) radio show "Let's Talk", will broadcast live from the Hayner Branch Library on September 9th. Stop by to watch the show and help us kick off National Library Card Sign Up Month. There promises to be surprises, great talk and fun!

Mavenettes
More Humor and Song
Tuesday, September 10, 6:30 pm
The four Mavenettes had such a good time entertaining us this summer, they want to come back! The women will regale you with new song parodies set to the tunes of our favorite oldies. Don't miss the fun - great music and laugh out loud lyrics! To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Misty Ridge
An evening of Bluegrass
Tuesday, September 17, 6:30 pm
Misty Ridge is a family musical trio (Carl, Jeremiah and Jim Mager) from the River Bend area. They will be performing a traditional bluegrass program recreating the classics of such early founders as Flatt & Scruggs and Bill Monroe. Jim plays the guitar and mandolin and provides the vocals. Carl plays banjo and also covers vocals. Jeremiah accompanies the group on the bass, Jim will also provide some of the history of the origins of this truly American musical art form. Join us for foot stomping fun. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Jean Monico Trio
Echos of Spain
Thursday, September 19, 6:30 pm

This wonderful trio will be performing Jean Monico's original work, Echos of Spain, as well as works by other Spanish composers. As an added treat, several traditional Spanish dances will be performed. Travel to this beautiful country via the Trio's music - and no jet lag! Note: This performance will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey IL. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Robert Cook
Presidential Wit & Humor: Notes, Quotes and Anecdotes
Tuesday, September 24, 6:30 pm

A humorous yet instructive look at American presidents, vice presidents and would-be presidents. Included are Chief Executives' observations on Congress, the courts, the press and the presidency itself. The vice presidency receives considerable (and sometimes irreverent) attention. The program concludes with examples of presidential wit and repartee both on and off the campaign circuit. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Robert E. Hartley
Lewis and Clark in the Illinois Country: The Little Told Story
Tuesday, October 1, 6:30 pm

Author Robert Hartley has written about Illinois politics and history for four decades. His latest book, Lewis and Clark in the Illinois Country, focuses on the 6 months the Corps of Discovery spent along the banks of the Mississippi River to recruit soldiers, gather supplies and prepare for the journey ahead.

Come hear about these extraordinary men and their riveting experiences during this period - stories that have not previously been told in detail. Mr Hartley will also discuss how he researched his book and be available for questions and answers. Books will be available for purchase. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

2002 Flu Clinic
Sat., October 5, 11:00 am- 1:00 pm

Don't forget your flu shot! The flu season is once again approaching and we have scheduled our annual flu clinic. Staff of the Visiting Nurses Association will be dispensing flu shot vaccines at the Main Library. The costs of the shots this year have not yet been determined by the VNA but will be available prior to the clinic date.

Lance Brown
Vintage Music and Humor
Tuesday, October 8, 6:30 pm

Lance Brown has performed at Hayner before, doing his remarkable recreation of the character of Will Rogers as well as a program of 'down home' humor. He returns with his show Vintage Music and Humor. His use of innuendo, exaggerations and double meanings will have you roaring with laughter and his music will have your feet tapping. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Quarterly Genealogy Roundtable
Wednesday, October 9, 6:30 p.m.

Elsie Wasser, Librarian for the Madison County Genealogical Society, will speak with our Genealogy Roundtable group in the Illinois Room of the Main Library, 326 Belle St., Alton. She will discuss beginning genealogy, sharing with us some of her tips and tricks for successful searching and address various topics including overseas research, immigration and naturalization, adoption and military records as time allows. Please call 1-800-613-3163 for reservations and join us for a great time.

John Crane
Classical Violin
Sunday, October 13, 1:30 pm

Local violinist John Crane is a violin instructor and teacher at Font Bonne University. He will present a program of encore classical pieces, accompanied by piano. This is guaranteed to be a beautifully moving performance. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Chris Vallillo
Folk Music in Central Illinois
Tuesday, November 5, 6:30 pm

In 1986, singer-songwriter Chris Vallillo carried out a project to interview the last pre-radio generation and to collect their oral histories and music. In a musical program and commentary, he brings to life these stories and performs the music of people from rural Illinois in the late 19th century. His music portrays the joys and sorrows, ups and downs of Midwestern life. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

By B-Flats
Popular American Songs from 1910-1918
Sunday, November 10, 1:30 pm

By B-Flats is a five member clarinet ensemble from Quincy, Il that has been performing together for over 10 years. They will perform music for the period of 1910-1918 including such favorites as Let Me Call You Sweetheart, Peg o' My Heart, Beale Street Blues and more. This program includes a brief snapshot of life in America at that time. Come enjoy this unique event. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Robert Rubright
Breakfast with Bob
Tuesday, November 19, 6:30 pm

Author Robert Rubright's program "Breakfast with Bob"

is a lighthearted lecture about Midwestern breakfast joints. He will examine topics such as breakfast regulars, cantankerous customers, customer ejections, buttered toast policies, toothpick demand, moochers, menu quirks and more. This program is a hoot - if you've ever eaten in a hometown breakfast joint, you are bound to recognize some of the characters! Bob has also written several hiking guides to the St. Louis metropolitan area and since 1997, he and his walks have been featured on KETC Channel 9. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Peter, Lynda and Mary Music for the Holidays (still looking for Paul)

Sunday, December 1, 2:30 pm

Pete Pancella and his wife Mary make a return engagement to the library to help us kick off the holiday season. They will be accompanied by vocalist Lynda Caselton. Pete, a string instructor at Lewis and Clark Community College and founder of the Lewis and Clark Camarata will perform on violin accompanying Mary, also a vocalist, performer and composer. The program will be a combination of traditional and lighter fair to get us in the holiday spirit. We have enjoyed when Pete has brought his ensemble to the library in the past...they always perform great music with energy and surprises. To register call 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment.

Summer Reading Program, "Reading Rocks", comes to an End

The Summer Reading Program, "Reading Rocks", came to an end on July 24. Participants celebrated with a party at the Youth Library. Mark Hofeditz provided the music while the Friends of Hayner Library provided cookies and punch. The children that read at least six hours (411 total) received a free book with many additional prizes also given out. Top winners in the four age brackets were: 12 and up age group – Jennifer Von Bergen with 213 hours read, 9-11 group – Ashley Baahlman with 114 hours, 6-8 group - a tie with Steven Frank and David Ritter who each read 60 hours and in the 0-5 age group - another tie with Austin and Mary Anne Curvey each being read to for 48 hours. The school that wins the traveling trophy this year is Eunice Smith.

Carol Brockmeyer, the Youth Services Manager at Hayner Library, stated that the success of the program was largely due to all the parents, grandparents and friends that brought kids to the library this summer. Also helping was a great group of volunteers; Amelia Llorens, Sarah Norooz, Amanda Zaugg, Bene Rigdon, Jordan Compis, Myndee Camerer, Courtney Hayes, Lucy Luken, Stephanie Bellitto, Emily Houchens and Sam Watt. The Youth Library is also very lucky with being a part of the Foster Grandparent Program and has two of the best that help out with programs, Grandma Minnie and Grandma Nita.

Thanks also to many area businesses and organizations for their help in giving their time, gifts or talents. They are: Alby Quarry, Steve Davis "Elvis", The Friends of Hayner Library, Great Central Lumber, Hard Rock Café, The Jennie D.'s, McDonalds Restaurant, Raging Rivers Water Park, The St. Louis Cardinals, Target and the Ty Company.

Hayner Library is looking forward to next year's summer reading program, "Lights, Camera, Read" and hopes it will be equally successful.

Get Carded @ your Library for Library Card Sign-up Month

Can you name the one item that gives you access to nearly everything on the Web and in print and provides personal assistance to help you find what you're looking for? It's your library card. This year the American Library Association (ALA) is reminding you to get carded @ your library and enjoy all the important things a library card gives you access to. "Today's libraries are dynamic, modern community centers for education, information and entertainment," said ALA President Mitch Freedman. "And librarians are the ultimate search engine, helping you and your family find what you need for your health, jobs and other needs."

Observed in September since 1987, Library Card Sign-up Month is a time when ALA and libraries across the country remind parents that a library card is the most important school supply of all. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning. Any resident of Alton, Godfrey or Fosterburg townships can come to any Hayner branch to get a library card. Just show a picture ID and another form of ID with your current address (a utilities bill, rental lease, etc.) It only takes five minutes and offers untold rewards for you and your family!

For Women by Women Conference Series: It's All About Image

The highly successful conference series, For Women by Women, announces the fall 2002 seminar, titled It's All About Image. The conference will identify the messages you send to customers and co-workers through appearance, behavior and communication. It will help address issues in these areas to ensure you are working at your peak of confidence and productivity. Interesting and motivational, this program is appropriate to all business environments and job levels. Past conferences in this bi-annual series have won rave reviews from attendees and topics are determined from YOUR input. Developed by members of SCORE (Service Corp of Retired Executives), The Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois and local business women, the program will be held at the Alton Holiday Inn at 3800 Homer Adams Parkway on Friday, September 27, 2002. It will be a half day program beginning with a continental breakfast available at 8:00 am. Tickets are $50.00 in advance, $75 at the door. If three or more attend from the same organization, a group rate of $40 each applies. Program brochures and registration forms are available at all Hayner Library locations, from the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois and all Union Planters Bank locations and Alton locations of TheBank of Edwardsville. For more information, call Bernadette Duvernoy at Hayner Library at 462-0677 or Martha Morse of the Growth Association at 467-2280. Don't miss this great opportunity to polish your self image and ultimately advance your business career!

Patron Profile - Joe Ducey

Joe Ducey had worked in the Alton school district for 31 years before retiring in 1989. His teaching career includes elementary school teacher (6th grade) administration (serving as an assistant principal and a principal), teaching at Lewis and Clark Community College (Ed Psych and Math and English in the GED program) as well as tutoring students who speak English as a second language. Joe has obviously touched a lot of lives in our community.

Joe is originally from Hardin. He attended Hardin High School and followed that with two years of schooling at Quincy College. He interrupted his education to serve two years in the army. Though Joe was in the service during the Korean conflict, he was a member of the medical corp stationed in France and later in Germany. He also traveled throughout England and Spain. When Joe's term of service was up, he returned to the states and completed his degree in Education at SIU Carbondale on the GI Bill. He continued his education and earned a masters in guidance counseling. Joe married his wife, Patricia, and proceeded to raise a family of five children. Patricia, who had been a teacher at Mark Twain School, passed away in 1982. Joe married his second wife, Mary Jo, and they combined their families to raise a total of eight children. Mary Jo is also a retired teacher. She mainly taught second grade classes. Joe and Mary Jo's children are grown and live in the Alton area as well as San Francisco, Washington, D.C. and Dallas. Joe and Mary Jo have 15 grandchildren which include two sets of triplets!

Joe has a son and daughter who are also teachers. From his discussions with them, he has observed that there are many more challenges facing the teacher today particularly when it comes to issues of discipline and control. He feels very strongly that students must be made accountable for their actions. He also believes in the importance of making sure the students, even gifted students, have a very strong background in the basics of math, writing and oral expression.

Joe said he enjoyed teaching more than administration because he found the interaction with the students so gratifying. Joe liked to have fun with his students and always worked to find ways to make the subjects interesting and fresh - helping the students increase their learning. He runs into a lot of students around town. He recently ran into a prior student which made him remember a funny anecdote. The student, Jim, a bit of a loud talker, was sitting next to his cousin and the two boys were taking a test. Jim appeared to be 'sharing' too much of his cousin's work. Joe picked up the cousin's paper and read to the class that one of his answers to a test question was "I don't know the answer". He then picked up Jim's paper and read Jim's answer to the same question "I don't know either". Jim was taken aback and while practically jumping out of his seat said "I didn't write that!!" And he hadn't, but Joe certainly made his point.

Not all of Joe's more memorable moments revolved around his students. He was Principal of Lincoln Elementary School when the decision was made to close the school in a year. At the time of the decision, the roof was in very bad disrepair, but since the closing was pending it was not to be fixed. Unfortunately, the roof leaked quite badly when it rained, so plastic sheeting was put up at the leak sites. One afternoon, the "Mother's Club" was meeting in one of the leaking rooms. It was raining heavily and the plastic sheeting started to balloon and fill with water. Suddenly, the 'balloon' burst and torrents of water streamed down all over the mothers! Needless to say, it dampened their enthusiasm and brought the meeting to an abrupt halt.

Today, Joe and his wife enjoy traveling, golfing, grandchildren and are both prolific readers and great fans of Hayner Library. The Duceys are current sponsors of two children, one through World Vision and one through Children's International, helping to fund the children's educations. Joe is also going to start teaching GED classes again on a volunteer basis. The Duceys have made wonderful contributions to the community in their careers and continue to do so through retirement.

Really Basic Computer Training

Hayner Library has sponsored both internet and e-mail training classes. Both have been very successful and well received. However, we continue to get requests for basic computer classes - really basic - answering questions like "How do I turn this thing on?" and "What the heck is a mouse?" We are in the process of developing such a class to debut this fall, but at newsletter print time we are not yet able to provide firm dates. These dates will be posted on our website as soon as they are confirmed. Please check the website at www.haynerlibrary.org. Oops, you might not know how to check the web. In that case, call 1-800-613-3163, indicate that you are interested in the Basic Computer class, leave your name and phone number and someone will get back to you to when dates are available. If you have particular topics you would like the class to cover, feel free to leave that information in your message.

VINTAGE VOICES from Alton's Past

The Alton YWCA, in cooperation with the Alton Cemetery Board of Directors, is sponsoring a great event to be held every Saturday in October. A walking historical tour of the Alton Cemetery will be held Saturday, October 5, 12, 19 and 26 from 2:00-4:00 pm. You will be taking a walk through living history as small groups of participants are introduced to characters from Alton's past. These living characterizations will be portrayed by local performers.

Don't miss the chance for a great way to spend a fall afternoon exploring the colorful history and personalities from our communities' past. You will chat with a couple who went down on the Lusitania, a man who was kidnapped, a woman who fought for social change and more. Fee for this event is $15.00 per person, $7.50 for children under 12 and $12.00 per person for groups of 10 or more.

For ticket information and reservations, call 618-474-2006 or e-mail at VINTAGEVOICESALTON@YAHOO.COM.

Developing a Quality CD Collection

Hayner Public Library District has built a wonderful music collection to please all tastes. Initially developed as a collection of LPs, the vinyl records have since been replaced by CDs, primarily through the work of staff member Barb Ulffers, the Department Head of Technical Services. Barb has an extensive musical background that she also shares with her whole family. Barb and her husband John both sang in the Christ Church Cathedral choir in St. Louis, John for 44 years, Barb for 30. They also were both members of the Ronald Arnatt Chorale and sang with the original St. Louis Symphony Chorus under conductor Walter Susskind. Barb and John passed along their strong musical talents to their sons. Their son Peter is the principle french horn for the New Mexico Symphony in Albuquerque and son Chris teaches music and bassoon at East Carolina University and plays with both the West Virginia Symphony in Norfolk and the North Carolina Symphony in Raleigh.

Barb's efforts to build a premier classical collection depended not only on her extensive knowledge base but she also made use of a broad spectrum of reference material, included the invaluable volumes of A Basic Classical and Operatic Recordings Collection for Libraries. The CD collections at the three library locations do lean to varying genres of music. The main library houses predominantly classic, jazz, classic popular, country and musicals (both traditional and current Broadway). The Branch library has a greater variety of pop, rock and more current "trend" selections. The youth has current rock and children's music.

About five years ago, Barb started an ongoing project to update the inventory of the CD collection. Through her research on the internet and print sources she has made significant additions in the area of African American classical composers, female classical composers, and twentieth century classical composers. Barb has worked to ensure that the library holds a strong representation of Grammy and Tony award winning composers/performances The jazz selection focused on the classic performer such as Miles Davis, Stan Getz and Dave Brubeck. This is also a genre that Barb has expanded based on her great love and expertise of this music. Much of the funding for these acquisitions has been provided by private endowment. The library is proud to offer this wonderful collection to our patrons and certainly appreciates all of Barb's efforts in ensuring we maintain premier musical selections.

Hayner Library Welcomes New Staff Members

Three new part-time employees have joined Hayner Library staff. Jean Shimunek is working as a library assistant in the Main Library. Jean lives in Alton with her husband Rick. They have two sons, Thomas, 17, a student at Alton High School and Andrew, 20, attending college in Bloomington, Indiana. Sara Feaman is a junior at SIUE and a Liberal Studies major. An only child, she lives in Edwardsville. Sara will be staffing the Reading Room in the Main Library. Nicole Fiedler joins the Youth Library staff as a Library Assistant and has completed a degree in Radio Broadcast. She is working on her transfer degree and ultimately hopes to acquire a Masters in Library Science.

Library Usage Appears Recession-Proof

Two national studies released recently show that Americans are using their libraries more than ever, and 91 percent of adults believe public libraries will play an important role in the future, despite all of the information available on the Internet. The studies were commissioned by Chicago-based American Library Association (ALA) as part of its five year Campaign for America's Libraries. The ALA, with more that 64,000 members, is the voice of America's libraries and the millions of people who depend on them.

Librarians have long believed that when the economy goes down, public library use goes up, which has now been substantiated. The ALA contracted with the University of Illinois Library Research Center (LRC) to study library use over the last five years at the 25 U.S. public libraries serving populations of 1 million or more. Using data from 18 of those large libraries, the study found that circulation has increased significantly since March 2001, when the National Bureau of Economic Research pegged the beginning of the latest recession. Using statistical analysis, the LRC found that circulation in March 2001 was 8.3 percent higher than would be expected from the trend observed since January 1997. Following the events of September 11, circulation in October 2001 exceeded the trend by 11.3 percent.

"This data confirms what librarians have seen from experience - that in times of economic difficulties, people turn to their libraries and librarians," said ALA President John W. Berry. "Libraries are America's great information equalizers - the only place people of all ages and backgrounds can find and freely use such a diversity of resources, along with the expert guidance of librarians." Another recent study has shown that 84 percent of the adults surveyed are satisfied to highly satisfied with the public libraries. Libraries have an extensive reach in our communities nationwide and now more than ever are critical access points to the world and information.

Schwartzkopf Printing

While Hayner library staff provides the writing and photos for our quarterly newsletter, we want to give credit where it is due for the great job done by Schwartzkopf Printing. They do all the typesetting, graphics and handle all the details with the mail house. They are always responsive in helping ensure the newsletter gets out on schedule, even when the frazzled editor is still writing and rewriting at the 11th hour! Our rep, Laurie Bauer, does a great job juggling schedules, expediting proofs and coordinating activities with her office and the library! All the staff at Schwartzkopf consistently display the utmost professionalism and courtesy. Thank you for helping the library produce a quality, timely newsletter! PS: all costs associated with the newsletter are funded by a per capita grant from the Illinois State Library.

Food for Fines During the Holidays!

Beginning November 29, 2002 and continuing through December 31, 2002, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner materials only). All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the Crisis Food Center in Alton. If you want to donate items such as toiletries, cleaning products or even scarfs or gloves (new product only please), we will accept them for fines also. Of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community. Last year during this program, over 900 items were collected to help the less fortunate....let's see if we can't top that!

Happy Holidays!

International Mystery Solved!

Cathie Lamere is our staff Genealogist. She finds herself involved in many searches for patron information that are elusive yet fascinating. Often, great patience and perseverance lead her to the answers she seeks. However, sometimes a dose of serendipity is what finally resolves elusive inquiries. Cathie relates an example of such:

Every once in a while you get lucky and come across one of those "finds" that make you want to stop everyone you see and tell them all about it. This doesn't happen very often, which is part of why it's so exciting.

Last February, I received an email from a gentleman in England looking for a railroad engineer thought to be buried in the Alton Cemetery. He had been killed in a railroad accident near here, and my patron felt sure there would have been an article printed in the Alton Weekly Courier about this. What made this inquiry so special was that the epitaph on his tombstone was a lengthy poem which also appeared on a headstone in England. My patron had no name for the American engineer and no specific dates, but thought it had occurred before the Civil War. He was kind enough to email photos of the tombstone in England showing the poem. After going through a general search and finding nothing, and asking several local historians also coming up with nothing, I put it aside to work on other requests. Occasionally, I would think of a new approach to his research and give it a try. There didn't seem to be any evidence of my patron's claim.

We continued to correspond through email and kept each other updated on any progress. After six months of searching, I sent him email letting him know that I had exhausted my resources but that if anything turned up I would be sure to let him know.

You know how it is, you're sitting there minding your own business and one day the solution practically falls in your lap. We had recently received a donation of historical newsletters from a patron and I was taking some time to look through them. I opened one up and there was a reprint of the elusive epitaph/poem I had spent months trying to find! I couldn't believe my eyes. I just stared at it in disbelief until I could get my thoughts together. The newsletter identified the individual's name and date of death that was commemorated by the poem.

Finally, I had a name and date to research. That makes it much easier. According to our cemetery records, George Senior, a railroad engineer, was shown to be buried in the Alton Cemetery. My eyes followed across the page to the date of death—match. I was afraid to let my eyes wander over to the column showing whether there was a tombstone or not, but there they went. YES! Well, at that point, I had to go and see for myself. After a trip to the cemetery we had the proof we wanted, and photographs of the tombstone, too. After nine months, we had found the answer to this long distance question.

It just goes to show you that persistence and patience does pay off. What an interesting link to England we have here in Alton. Come in and learn the whole story of the engineer buried in the Alton Cemetery.

The following is the poem engraved on both the tombstones in Alton and England:

My engine now is cold and still,
No water does my boiler fill,
My coke offers its flame no more,
My day of usefulness is o'er;
My wheels deny their noted speed,
No more my guiding hand they heed,
My whistle has lost its tone
Its shrill and thrilling sound is gone.
My valves are not thrown open wide,
My fingers all refuse to guide.
My clacks, alas! Thought once so strong,
Refuses their aid in the busy throng.
No more I feel each urging breath,
My steam is now condensed in death.
Life's railway o'er each station is past,
In death I'm stopped and rest at last.

Have a Howling Good Holiday!

Starting November 29th, stop in any Hayner Library location and register to win one of these adorable Christmas pups. You can also register to win a Christmas basket filled with goodies. You can register as many times as you like. Any Hayner patron is eligible - so if you don't have a library card, now would be a wonderful time to get one! And remember, library cards make great stocking stuffers. Winners will be announced on WBGZ on December 20. Good luck and happy holidays!

Register at 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment.

Welcome Sunshine Express!

One of the very important programs offered by Hayner Library is the Homebound Program. Stephanie Munson, the Homebound Coordinator, and her wonderful organization of volunteers bring library materials to anyone who can't get to the library themselves. They will provide any of the library materials the patron requests from magazines to books (regular or large print), videos to CDs, books on tape, etc. They deliver materials to nursing homes as well as individual residences. Stephanie is also anxious for all our patrons to understand that this is not a "Seniors only" service. Maybe you're recovering from a surgery, or a broken leg, going thru rehabilitation – whatever the circumstances, you don't have to do without library materials. Just call Stephanie at 462-0651 and she will make arrangements to provide you with the materials you would like. Also, Stephanie can provide to those who need it, applications to the state funded "Talking Books Program." This program provides, free of charge, an audio player and audio tapes. These tapes are sent through the mail to the user, postage free and with postage free return envelopes - a wonderful service to the visually impaired.

Part of Stephanie's plan to expand our patrons' recognition and use of her group's great services was to make it more visible. Stephanie explains "one of the most important features of the Homebound program is to bring sunshine into the lives of the people we visit". So now when you see the Hayner Library Van around town you will notice new signage on it, identifying it as Hayner Library Sunshine Express! Stephanie is also greatly expanding the locations where she leaves information about the program, leaving pamphlets at hospitals, doctors' offices and optical departments.

Also, library volunteer Iris Saaf is helping Stephanie pilot a program to read out loud to groups on a regular schedule. Initially the program is being implemented at Eunice Smith Nursing Home, where Iris goes once a week to read to residents. She has a core group of 6-7 people who wait anxiously for her visits. Iris reads a wide variety of material from poetry to fairy tales and more. Iris is so enthusiastic. "This is a BEST program", she says. "I am just loving what I am doing. I read and then we visit and chat. I like to talk to them about what is going on outside the walls of the home. They are really opening up and sharing their own stories, too."

Thank you to Stephanie and all her great volunteers: Genie Keller, Jim Ryan, Kathy Rain, Spiv Woelfel, Mary Goodwin, Ev Keehner, June Weinrich, Jody Stuart, David Allen, Dr. Ned DuVivier, Terese Schmidt and Iris Saaf. You provide a great service to our community!

Meet the Harman Family!

The Harman Family has been playing bluegrass throughout the area (and the country) for two generations - they are immensely popular as befits this incredibly talented musical family. Today the band consists of Mike Harman and his wife, Stacy, and their sons, 15 year-old Mark, 12 year-old Jeff and 6 year-old John.

The original family band started in 1975 by Mike and his brother and sister. They were soon joined by two more brothers and their wives. The band played bluegrass throughout the area at churches, festivals and fairs.

In the mid 80s, Mike joined the band, Union Station, which featured the renowned singer and fiddler, Alison Krauss. In 1989, the band recorded the album, Two Highways, which was nominated for a Grammy award for the Best Bluegrass recording. (Interestingly, Alison has won one less grammy than Aretha Franklin.) Mike eventually left Union Station to focus on the second generation reincarnation of the Harman Family Band. Mike plays guitar and fiddle, Stacy sings vocals, Mark sings vocals and plays banjo, guitar and bass, Jeff sings vocals and plays bass and John sings vocals. Mike noted that while his sons are young in age, the vocals and arrangements are highly professional and mature.

Mike also noted that while playing bluegrass is the family's profession, they also have a family pastime – running the Harman Auction House in Shipman, IL. Besides holding professional auctions, the family performs at the Auction House every first Saturday, November through April at 7 pm. For the last 25 years, the family has also been performing to sellout crowds at the Midwinter Bluegrass Concert held at Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey, IL. For information and tickets to the concert on January 18, call Mike at 465-6411.

Hayner Public Library District is very excited that the Harman Family will be performing at the Hayner Main Library, 401 State Street, Alton on February 27 at 6:30 p.m. It promises to be a great program. Mike says they have a lot of fun with the audience - he guaranteed "they'll laugh, cry...maybe hit each other..." (?!!- I'm sure he was only kidding about the last part.) This program is free of charge but registration is absolutely required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Patron Profile - Aidan Combs

Aidan Combs moved to Alton this past June and has quickly become a great friend to library staff. Aidan and his wife, Allison, were drawn to the Alton area for its natural beauty and its intermediate location between both their places of work. Aidan works evenings at Express Scripts, a pharmacy benefits management Company. Aidan also attends Lewis and Clark Community College and after completing his degree he aspires to attend the Saint Louis College of Pharmacy to become a pharmacist. This goal developed from his work at Express Scripts were he has the opportunity to interact with many pharmacists that are part of the company's staff. Aidan's wife works at The Body Therapy Center in Swansea where she is a massage therapist and teacher.

Aidan has experienced several daunting challenges since moving here last summer. Shortly after the Combs moved into their new apartment on State Street, Aidan was packing away boxes in a closet. As they live in an old Victorian home, they have closets that have very high shelving. Aidan got on a chair to lift these boxes into the closet when the chair toppled. Using his hand to stop the fall produced disastrous results. Aidan shattered all the bones in the palm of his hand and shoved the radius bone back two inches in a compound fracture. Having just moved in, the Combs had yet to have their phone connected. Aidan was not even precisely sure of how to get to the hospital. Somehow he drove himself with one hand to St. Anthony's. Unable to use the other hand to open the car window he drove in sweltering summer heat and blinding pain to the emergency room where, upon exiting the car, he passed out on the parking lot. Aidan said his wife was contacted at her workplace by the hospital but was given no details as to the nature of his injury. He recounts that she broke all records driving from Belleville to St. Anthony's in 20 minutes! After being examined in the emergency room, Aidan's doctor said he had good news and bad. The good news was that Aidan would not be getting a cast – the bad was that they were going to have to create an external metal brace. Aidan was immediately admitted to surgery and the doctors repositioned the bones in his hand. They then drilled into bone in two spots between hand and arm and inserted two rods. These rods were the connect points for another rod that was positioned perpendicular to his arm. This created the external brace that completely immobilized his hand, wrist and arm.

To add to Aidan's misfortune, he was supposed to start his new job the following week doing computer work for Express Scripts. Concerned that they would no longer consider him employable, Aidan credits the company as being wonderfully understanding, telling him to report to work and just do the best he could. On the appointed day and for the next six weeks wearing the brace and two more in a sling, Aidan learned how to enter data through a one-handed typing technique. Aidan says his wife credits this experience for teaching him patience! Amazingly, today Aidan has almost complete use and flexibility of his hand and wrist and only four small scars from the brace posts. His wife worked with him extensively giving massage and physical therapy to ensure he regained use of his hand. Aidan also mentioned how important was the help and support he received from his brother-in-law, Mitchell, during his recovery. Mitchell lives with Aidan and his wife.

Aidan's hobbies include fishing, movies and an abiding love of reading. He visits the library, literally, daily. He works nights, allowing him time during the day to peruse the shelves and find items of interest on a wide variety of subjects. He particularly enjoys science fiction, biography and history. Aidan credits his love of reading with providing him a greatly expanded vocabulary and general education above and beyond his formal schooling. Aidan also wanted to compliment the staff at the library. "They always have a kind word for me and are so helpful. There is never a book request or topic they can't find. It's amazing how quickly they find my special requests and when they call to tell me my books are in, it's like Christmas morning!" The staff looks forward to Aidan's friendly smile, positive attitude and enthusiasm and, of course... we all appreciate anyone who loves books as much as we do!

No "Cryin' in the Chapel" This Night!

On Tuesday, March 4, Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band return to help us celebrate Mardi Gras as only Bud and his band can do! Performing in the Chapel of Lewis and Clark Community College, they will get us moving to the wonderful sounds of their New Orleans jazz. If you've never heard Bud on his clarinet, along with the rest of the band, don't miss this opportunity. This program is free of charge but reservations are required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Need a Gift Idea?

Are you struggling to find new and different ideas for holiday (or anytime) gifts? Why not give family, grandchildren or far away friends the gift of you! The library has a video camera that we can use to tape you reading a Christmas Story, a favorite children's story or maybe just saying 'hi' and sharing some memories or events of the past. One patron did this for her grandchildren who lived on the east coast. This gave her the means to continue the tradition she started with her own children of reading The Night Before Christmas on Christmas Eve. To schedule a taping, just call Bernadette at 462-0677 for an appointment. You can either supply your own videotape or purchase a blank tape from the library. This makes a great memento for friends and family!

Update to Illinois Room

In an effort to protect the longevity of the many valuable and unique items in our historical Illinois Room, we have made some modifications to the security system. To use the Illinois Room in the Main Library, simply sign up at the circulation desk. You will be asked to leave some ID and will then be buzzed into the facility. Keys will no longer be issued. Security cameras are also going to be installed. These measures are being taken to ensure that the many irreplaceable documents and volumes housed in the Illinois Room remain safely intact for all our patrons' use and research. We feel that these steps will be of benefit to all.

Illinois Room Gets Facelift!

Our renowned Illinois Room has undergone a long overdue renovation. It started with the installation of security cameras and buzzer only door access. This was done after our last inventory indicated that between 8 and 10% of the room's collection was missing.

This room contains rare, often one-of-a-kind, volumes of historical significance about the River Bend area as well as the entire state. Researchers from all over the county have used this premier facility but certain changes and modifications needed to be accomplished to augment the usability of the material. To this end, all free-standing shelving and file drawers were removed, opening up two whole walls for new shelving. Oversize map files will house maps and Platt maps to make them more accessible and preserve their condition. The long conference table is replaced by individual work tables providing more work space and more privacy. A copier is now installed in the room so researchers don't have to keep taking material out of the room for copying. We are so excited about the changes and upgrades to the Illinois Room. Please stop by the Main Library and see the improvements for yourself!

National Library Week April 6-12, 2003

National Library week is April 6-12, a time to "Celebrate @ your Library" and rediscover all that our libraries and librarians have to offer.

Libraries are part of the American dream. Whether you're checking out the latest bestseller/video/CD/DVD, researching your college term paper, getting homework help or using the Internet, the library has resources and staff to help you find what you are looking for.

Hayner Library joins the American Library Association and libraries across the country in encouraging our users to learn more about the exciting range of new and traditional resources available. And we remind our patrons of the vital role of librarians - the ultimate search engines.

Did you know that Hayner Library provides a wide range of free high-quality programming for both cultural and educational growth throughout the year for young and old alike?....did you know that Hayner Library District accessions an average of 2000 new items to its inventory each month?....that 300-400 reference questions are answered each month?....that 30-35,000 items are circulated each month?

National Library Week is a great time to see what's new at all our locations and discover how your librarians can direct you to the information you need when you need it. We encourage all our community members to check us out. Any resident of Alton, Godfrey and Fosterburg townships is entitled to a free Hayner Library card. Make sure you and your entire family take advantage of this vital resource for education, growth and adventure.

For more information, visit any of our three library locations (Main, Branch, Youth) or see the library website at www.haynerlibrary.org.

Join a Bow-Wow Pow-Wow!!

Recently, the journal Public Libraries (volume 41) published an article titled See Spot Read. It detailed the success several libraries are having improving reading skills in children using therapy dogs. In particular, Salt Lake City Public Library identified dramatic improvement in the child's reading skills as well as their self-confidence. In addition, the program makes coming to the library a fun time for the kids. The program works because hesitant readers may lack self-confidence and these children seem to be more willing to interact with animals than other people. At ease with the dogs, the children often forget any previously felt limitation or awkwardness. The children are not embarrassed of the reading progress while reading aloud to dogs, who are famously non-judgmental. Mispronouncing a word or stuttering in front of a group of peers may be traumatic for kids, but the dogs never notice slip-ups! In addition, the act of petting or stroking the animal while reading calms active children.

Anxious to try such a program at Hayner Library, we did a lot of research on the internet and contacted other libraries who had implemented similar efforts. We were stymied, though, by where to locally find trained and certified therapy dogs. We were just despairing of our plan when we found an article in The Telegraph about the great work being done by June Walker of Walker's Wee Glen Obedience Training. June has been training dogs since 1986 and has a long list of training certifications. June has been taking her therapy dogs to nursing homes and hospitals with great success, helping patients in recovery and lifting spirits everywhere. Well, it didn't take more than a nanosecond to contact June to see if she would have interest in help us with a reading program at the library. Not only was she interested, she was also familiar with the success of such programs and had been anxious to get her dogs involved in one!

Meeting with June, we discussed several ways to structure a program for the library. We decided to start with a small group of children; 5-6 for the initial pilot. June herself has 3 certified therapy dogs (3 Great Danes, 1 Dachshund) and a Westie and Dachshund in training. She is also involved with a group of local people who have had their dogs certified by "Touched by a Canine". These folks are also anxious to participate. Children will meet at the library on a Saturday and read a book of their choice to one of the dogs for about 20 minutes. A parent or guardian is required to sign a permission slip for the child to participate and should plan on staying at the library during the reading period.

Certified therapy dogs are fully obedience trained and insured. They are certified by T.O.U.C.H. Dogs of Support Dogs Inc. or through Therapy Dog International. June herself is a evaluator for Therapy Dog International. The dogs' shots must all be current and they must have regular veterinary check-ups to maintain certification. The trainers are required to bathe dogs before every meeting with the public. Trainers are also present at times when the dogs are in public facilities.

Along with the remarkable improvement in reading skills the children can realize, they also learn that the library is a neat place to go. There is an additional important result of this program – children (especially those who don't have pets at home) learn to socialize with the animals. They learn that showing the animals kindness and respect generates, in return, a love and trust and friendship that can be a great joy in life.

We are very anxious to get the pilot underway and, as of this writing, anticipate starting our first session in March 2003. Please forward this information to anyone you think may be interested.

Join a Bow-Wow Pow-Wow!

Do you have a child that loves spending time with animals? Is your child shy or afraid to read out loud in front of others? If you answered yes, then we have just the program for you! Join members of Walker's Wee Glen Obedience Training and Hayner Library for our Bow-Wow Pow-Wow Reading Program.

This program enables children between the ages of 5-12 years old to read an age appropriate short story of their choice to a certified pet therapy dog. The intent of the program is to make reading fun and boost the child's confidence in reading out loud.

Children interested in this program should contact Bernadette Duvernoy at Hayner Library (618-462-0677) and ask how they can pre-register for some special reading time with a therapy dog.

Food for Fido

For the last several years, we have offered an amnesty period for fines biannually, in December and April. In December 2002 we waived patron fines in lieu of donations of food and canned goods and thus contributed over 900 items to the Alton Area Crisis Food Center.

For our spring event and to commemorate April as Animal Cruelty Prevention Month, we will collect pet food and supplies that will be given to the Alton Area 5 A's animal shelter. This no kill shelter is completely dependent on donations and is run by a dedicated staff who work tirelessly to provide care for an overwhelming number of unwanted animals. From April 1 through April 30, if you have an overdue item, you can pay your fine with an item of pet food (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner materials only). Thank you for your generous support of 'amnesty' events!

Win this Basket

Our friends at the Pope Animal Hospital have donated this wonderful basket of goodies for your favorite pup. It contains TWO warm and snuggly sweatshirts (for those of us without a fur coat), a bag of Science Diet adult dog food, dog collar, leash, chewbone and much more! It also includes a $50 gift certificate for pet health exams, vaccinations, tests etc.! To win the basket, fill out an entry blank at any of the three Hayner Library locations during the month of April. The drawing for the basket will be announced on Wed., April 30, 2003. Thanks to Pope Animal Hospital and the Pope family who are great friends and users of the library.

Western Military Academy Scrapbook Preserved

The Western Military Academy, which was located at 2009 Seminary St., Alton, IL, was, undisputedly, one of the finest military schools in the country until its close in 1971. Initially opened as the Wyman Institute by leading educator Edwin Wyman in 1879, it was transformed into Western Military Academy in 1888 under the ownership of Colonel Jackson and Major Eaton. The school attracted student cadets from all over the world and boasts many prestigious and history making alumni including: Air force general Paul Tibbets, commander of the Enola Gay from which the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima; Sander Vanocur, veteran TV journalist and interviewer; Lt. Comdr. Butch O'Hare, for whom O'Hare International Air Field is named and a Congressional Medal of Honor recipient and the first Air Ace of World War II and William Paley, a 1918 graduate who went on to become president of the Columbia Broadcasting System. Of course, it also educated many cadets who still live and work in our own communities. Today, there are still more than 1300 surviving Western Military Academy alumni.

In 2000, Bob Keith, a 1936 graduate, and his wife, Vivian, put together a scrapbook to preserve the history of the academy and honor all the alumni, so many of which have a strong tradition of serving their country in time of war and peace. This scrapbook was presented to the Alton Museum of History and Art in the fall of 2000. Many alums were in Alton for the presentation, including General Paul Tibbets, and to participate in an all-class Muster (reunion). It was decided that the scrapbook was of such importance and significance to historians as well as alumni and their families that it should be preserved digitally and made available to the general public. The project was spearheaded by Richard Rook (1949 graduate) who spent the next 18 months putting together a team of technicians, photographers, etc. to preserve the scrapbook to CD. Richard also handled all the administrative work, photo shoot scheduling, built an index for the book...and much more. The original 124 pages of text and photographs of the scrapbook were supplemented on the CD by an additional 11 pages bringing the total pages to 135. This daunting project was completed in November 2002 when the CD went into final production. The CD is available in the Illinois Room of the Hayner Main Library, 326 Belle Street, Alton, IL for on-site use. It can also be purchased from the Alton Museum of History and Art, 2809 College Avenue, Alton IL 62002. To purchase the CD, send the Alton Museum a check for $29 ($25 for the CD and $4 for shipping) and request a "WMA Scrapbook CD". The CD can be purchased at the Museum gift shop directly if you are in the Alton area ($25). The profits from the sale of the CD will be split equally between the Alton Museum and the WMA Newsletter. Funding for the creation of the CD was provided by the generous contributions of past alumni.

For more information, contact the Alton Museum at 618-462-2763. You can also request purchase of the CD over the museum's website at www.altonmuseum.com.

This CD preserves an important record of both local and national history and has generated a huge amount of interest in military colleges and schools throughout the country. All our communities owe much thanks and gratitude to Richard and the many alumni who supported his efforts to preserve the scrapbook for generations to come.

Note: this program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL

Fat Tuesday is here and we are heading to the chapel for our traditional celebration of Mardi Gras, listening to the New Orleans style jazz of Bud Shultz the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band. This is a wonderful evening of entertainment - great music and always fun with Bud and the Band. Guaranteed, you will find it hard to stay in your seat. So find your beads and get ready to party! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Living History with Dianne Moran
Sacajawea, Bird Woman
Tuesday, March 18, 6:30 p.m.

March is Women's History Month and it is fitting to commemorate it with a program about a fascinating woman of history, Sacajawea, the Shoshone female Interpreter for the Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery. Dianne Moran, an award winning storyteller, folklorist and naturalist, performs as Sacajewea in historical dress telling the expedition story. She will also have a cultural item and reproduction display, and a unique surprise guest. This promises to be a riveting performance. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Leah Farrar-White and Dr. Howard White
An Evening on Broadway
Tuesday, March 25, 6:30 p.m.

Local vocalists Leah and Howard White are well known in the River Bend area for their wonderful musical pairing. Accompanied by Nancy Welsh on keyboard, the couple will perform a program of showtune favorites right off Broadway. Don't miss the chance to visit the Great White Way with this talented ensemble! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Cat Catalani
The Music of Tin Pan Alley 1920 - 1940
Tuesday, April 1, 6:30 p.m.

In the early 1900s, songwriters worked in one building in Manhattan dubbed "Tin Pan Alley". Here, many songs could be heard at once as the great composers worked literally side by side in crowded conditions- including such greats as George and Ira Gershwin, Dorothy Fields and Jimmy McHugh, Hoagy Carmichael and others. They inspired each other in friendly rivalry creating such masterpieces as "They Can't Take That Away from Me", "On the Sunny Side of the Street", "Ain't Misbehavin' " and more. In response to the difficulties of the Great Depression, writers supplied songs ranging from cheerful and sentimental to challenging. One of our favorite performers, Cat Catalani, discusses and performs songs from this culturally rich era in American history. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Bill Nunes
Illinois History Book Signing
Tuesday, April 8, 6:30 p.m.

Local author, Bill Nunes will be discussing his three popular books, "An Illustrated History of Southern Illinois", "Illinois Crime" and "62 Famous East St. Louisans".

Special Events at Hayner

These books cover a wide variety of topics including lore, legends, landmarks, oddities, gangsters and more. Bill will have books available for sale. Don't miss this fun evening of local history and tales of the famous and infamous! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Cheryl Houck conducts The Riverbend Ringers

Thursday, April 17, 6:30 p.m.

Director Cheryl Houck leads the Riverbend Ringers in a musical program of a varied assortment of music including many of our old favorites and including surprises of fun and humor. This group of eleven ringers has performed together for the last 8 years throughout the area. Though based out of the Abundant Life Church, members come from multiple local churches. Join us for a delightful evening. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Joshua Farley Investment Workshop

Tuesday, April 22, 6:30 p.m.

Joshua Farley of Edward Jones Investments will conduct a workshop in easy to understand terms on general investment subjects. Topics will include how to assess your current financial situation, how to control taxes and how to identify and manage financial risk. Register at 1-800-631-3163.

Mark Dvorak The People, Yes

Thursday, May 1, 6:30 p.m.

Award winning performer, Mark Dvorak, has given us some of our favorite programs in the past and returns with a whole new event. The great poet Carl Sandburg wrote an epic poem in the 1930s titled "The People, Yes", a book which turned the everyday words of American people into everlasting images. Mark's presentation mixes some of the traditional folk songs preserved by Sandburg (who was a folk song collector) and combines it with the words of this Pulitzer Prize winning author.

The result is a compelling and entertaining musical portrait of the American spirit as told through the stories of the people of our Midwestern heartland. The Chicago Tribune calls Mark "a commanding vocalist and masterful banjo player". Don't miss this exciting opportunity to see the distinctive talent that has distinguished Mark as one of today's important folk artists. Register at 1-800-631-3163.

Bully! Chuck Palenik as Theodore Roosevelt

Tuesday May 13, 6:30 p.m.

In Bully! actor Chuck Palenik portrays the charismatic Theodore Roosevelt. Considered by historians to be one of America's great Presidents, Roosevelt gloried in the opportunities and responsibilities of world power and greatly expanded the power of the Presidency. This one man performance tells the story of the leader of the "Rough Riders" who gave us the Panama Canal and won the Nobel Peace Prize for mediating settlement of the Russo-Japanese War. Step back into history with this fascinating program. Register at 1-800-631-3163.

Dan Keding Story & Song

Tuesday, May 20, 6:30 p.m.

Dan Keding, a storyteller of international acclaim is well known for his telling of traditional world folk tales, personal narratives of his boyhood in Chicago, ghost stories and superbly crafted original pieces. A well-respected ballad singer, he accompanies himself on guitar, banjo and spoons. This combination of dynamic storytelling and powerful ballad singing has made him a festival favorite throughout the US and Great Britain. Don't miss this very special evening. Register at 1-800-631-3163.

Jim Mager "Gentleman" Jim Rivers

Tuesday June 10 6:30 p.m.

Having grown up on the banks of the Mississippi, "Gentleman" Jim Rivers (as portrayed by Jim Mager) takes a trip to the past through stories and songs about the history and life on the river. He spins tales that reflect the role that the Mississippi played in the development of America– in exploration, trade, commerce and travel and the wars waged for control of the "Father of Rivers". Learn of the intrigue and legends of the first interstate system as flat boats, keelboats and steamboats made their way up and down the Mighty Mississippi. Jim is a great entertainer and musician and is assured to deliver a 'rolicking' performance. Register at 1-800-631-3163.

Private Ryan's Sergeant Dal Estes

Tuesday, June 17, 6:30 p.m.

"Private Ryan's Sergeant" is a first-hand account of what it was like to land on Omaha Beach on D-Day. Speaker Dal Estes is a World War II veteran who will discuss the trials and tribulations of the "line buck sergeant" both during training and then under fire in the Normandy invasion. He was injured in the Battle of the Bulge and was a commander of a German displaced persons camp in Czechoslovakia. He will discuss his combat experience, the men under his command and the dynamics of the relationship between commander and soldier. Don't miss this moving presentation of living history. This program is funded by a grant from the Illinois Humanities Council. Register at 1-800-631-3163.

Aaron Mayhew An Evening of Music

Tuesday, June 24, 6:30 p.m.

Visit a Great Photographic Exhibit at the YWCA

In celebration of Women's History Month, the Alton YWCA will be present A Woman's View in the Levis Room of the YWCA building at 304 East Third St., Alton, IL. This is a photographic exhibit that gives a glimpse of rural life in central Illinois shortly after World War I. The photos are the work of Clara Brian, the first Home Bureau advisor in Illinois. The Home Bureau was formally established in 1911 by the US Department of Agriculture. Its purpose was to bring farm women the benefits of scientific and technological advances. As an advisor, Clara's role was to educate rural women in progressive ideas about all aspects of home life – nutrition and health, child rearing, education and self-improvement. Miss Brian was also a gifted and devoted photographer. As she made her rounds in the countryside she documented the people and places she encountered in her work – farm wives and children, kitchens, parlors, barnyards, one room schools, all with great sensitivity and insight. Some of Brian's photographs document conditions of deprivation in homes and rural schools. But other photos show women who are obviously living under conditions of comfort and even ease.

This fascinating exhibit will be at the YWCA from Thursday, March 6 through Wednesday, April 2, 2003. Exhibit hours are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Monday 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. The exhibit is open Fridays for groups and organization. There is a $3 entrance fee which benefits Alton YWCA community programs. The exhibit is sponsored by the YWCA, Madison County Association for Home and Community Education, Illinois Arts Council, Madison County Arts Council, Alton Convention and Visitors Bureau and Alton Marketplace. For information and tickets, contact the Alton Convention and Visitors Bureau at 1-800-ALTON IL.

Save this Date!

Over the last several years, members of the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois, SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) and local business women have been developing a series of seminars titled For Women by Women. These half day events have been held in the Alton Holiday Inn and focus on topics of interest to a wide audience of business women. Past seminars have presented topics including Effective Business Communication (verbal, nonverbal and written), Verbal Karate, Bridging Communication Differences between Men and Women, Time Management, Effective Networking, Leadership Styles for Success, Effective Listening Skills, Image Management, Investment and Financial Planning, Superior Customer Service and more.

These seminars have consistently received extremely positive evaluations. One attendee noted "the conference gave me a new perspective on several issues that I was able to utilize in my workplace, plus it gave me the opportunity to interact with other professional women from our area. I definitely plan on attending future sessions." Other feedback included, "It's always great to have a day you thought would be practical turn into a day that is also fun".

The planning committee focuses on choosing subjects that appeal across job titles and responsibilities, both management and non-management, across business and industry sectors, and of relevance to both the business employed and self-employed. The seminars provide critical support and information to both the professional working woman as well as students or career changers. The key objective of these seminars is to provide meaningful business and career growth skills. To do so, the speakers chosen are high-quality professionals that convey their message in enthusiastic, attention-getting styles.

Besides the Growth Association and SCORE, planning committee members come from The Bank of Edwardsville, Hayner Library, Lewis and Clark Community College Foundation and Union Planters Bank. Chris Milford of Edward Jones is also on the planning committee. The Committee is always happy to welcome new members. If you are interested joining us, call the Growth Association (Martha Morse) at 467-2280.

The next seminar is planned for Thursday, September 25, 2003. It will be a half day event held at the Alton Holiday Inn. Details will be posted soon and event flyers will be available at Hayner Library locations, Union Planters Bank and The Bank of Edwardsville, as well as various businesses throughout the River Bend area. Mark this date on your calender now and feel free to contact the Growth Association for further information.

Patron Profile - Kathy Peek

Alton native Kathy Peek has an exciting job that challenges her every day. Working at WBGZ Radio (1570 AM), she is a news reporter (daily from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., every half hour) and host of one of two editions of Let's Talk (Monday thru Thursday at 11 a.m. on WBGZ 1570 AM), a public affairs show that features a variety of topics. She also hosts the Noon Show - a daily hour of news, information, commentary and features. Kathy's love of her job is based on many factors including a great group of co-workers and the ability to grow, learn and be consistently challenged.

Kathy did not always know she wanted to get into radio. With the support of her mother and father, Kathy attended Lewis and Clark Community College with the goal of majoring in business, putting aside her creative ambitions. At that point in her life, making money was the goal, but she soon realized it wouldn't make her happy. She received her Associate in Science transfer degree from the community college. Toward the end of her college work at LCCC, Kathy's father passed away, and after graduating, she spent a short time in the business world before returning to college. Kathy's father believed in the value of education and wanted her to get her Bachelor of Science degree. To honor his memory and to do what she knew she must, Kathy returned to college at SIUE. She always knew she was creative and now she wanted to channel her energies and talents into fostering it. After taking a few television and radio classes, she changed her major and began pursuing what she was meant to do in life. While taking her Mass Communications classes, Kathy decided to work at the University's radio station, WISE. She started out by volunteering and made copies of tapes for the production director. Little did she know an exciting career was to come, because also working at the station was a former KMOX newswriter. He recognized Kathy's potential and snagged her as his protégé. Kathy said he trained her from the ground up – helping her to make the transition from the creative writing style she had explored to effective news writing, a bare-bones writing style which focuses on facts and uses adjectives sparingly. He taught her how to develop a news voice - one that is authoritative and conveys credibility and honesty. He also taught her many technical facets of working in a radio station, from technical equipment operation to trouble shooting. After her radio news introduction, Kathy said she's been fortunate to have many caring professionals who have gone the extra mile to help her continue to learn and grow. Kathy graduated from SIUE with a Bachelor of Science in Mass Communications, with a minor in Business Administration and a concentration in Journalism.

Upon graduation, Kathy went to work at a radio wire service in St. Louis. During this period she did a lot of soul searching as she realized that working in the news industry could be harsh and eye opening. Realizing that the work did afford her an outlet for her creativity, she decided to remain in the industry and in 1998 she joined WBGZ as a news reporter and talk show host. Every day, Kathy and News Director Mark Ellebracht make decisions about news for that day and the next. Kathy interviews, writes and edits the local stories she covers. She, like many news reporters, uses wire services. Illinois Radio Network provides state and local news stories and Metro Networks provides national, state, St. Louis and local news, sports and weather. Kathy monitors the wire services and makes editorial decisions as to what news is used based on its relevancy to the River Bend area and its national significance. She will tighten the verbiage and flow of the reports but she is careful not to change the content if she is not the on-site reporter.

Kathy enjoys her Let's Talk show, which gives her the opportunity to learn a little about a lot from interesting national, state and local guests. She tries to schedule her guests a month ahead but sometimes finds herself scheduling at the last minute or making changes to booked shows. Sometimes Kathy will not have a guest and will open the phone lines to hear what listeners have to say and to discuss current events. Kathy says if the topic is controversial or political, she will do some preparation before her "Let's Talk" interviews. Usually Kathy prefers to wing it. She says sometimes knowing a topic too well poses a problem because there can be a failure to ask basic questions that interest the audience. Kathy loves it when listeners call in and ask questions, because many times they touch on things she hasn't explored. She said her goal is to see that the show flows and to make her guests feel comfortable and calm. A good interview, she said, is one where the guest talks more and she talks less.

Kathy said the challenge of a live show like Let's Talk is in its unpredictability. She said with a live show you are never sure what will happen next and the show host has to be prepared for it. The trick is to remain calm and try to act appropriately when something goes awry, which is easier said than done. Kathy said it's taken her awhile to adjust to doing live shows and to realize there is 'no panic button' and she has to be in control.

Throughout her career, Kathy has had interesting story assignments. She has covered former Presidents Bill Clinton and Jimmy Carter, former First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, Colin Powell, Henry Kissinger, Luba Brezhnev, the niece of former Soviet Leader Leonid Brezhnev, governors, congressmen and many others. Kathy says her career has moments of excitement and involves a lot of behind the scenes hard work.

Kathy does not live the news 24/7. When she goes home, seldom does she watch or listen to the news. Kathy tries to maintain balance to her life, which is a daily challenge. Her mother and brother live in the Alton area as well as nieces and nephews. Kathy enjoys spending time with family and friends she loves to read and enjoys going to the theater, museums and anywhere animals reside. Kathy is an avid animal lover, and is the proud mom of a miniature poodle named Deoge (D-O-G). In her spare time, Kathy loves to write and is more than 40 pages into the writing of her first novel. It's Kathy's hope that she has garnered the respect and trust of the community she serves. Kathy has a strong belief system, which has been fortified through her church, family and friends. This value system is reflected in how she reports and what she reports, maintaining respect for other people despite differences of opinion. Thank you, Kathy, and all the staff at WBGZ for your commitment to the River Bend community.

Hayner Staff Participates in Head Start 'Shadow Day'

This past winter, the Riverbend Head Start and Family Services held an event they called Shadow Day. They invited adults into the Head Start Centers to tour the facility, gain a better understanding of the myriad of services this wonderful organization provides the community and then spend time in the individual classrooms. The participants 'shadowed' the children as they played and carried out various activities. Members of Hayner Library staff participated and had a great time. We interacted with the kids, some of us reading stories, joining them in arts and crafts, even having lunch together. The kids were so receptive to visitors and it certainly opened our eyes to what an incredibly important mission Head Start serves. We learned that Head Start is committed to literacy, child development, family involvement, early childhood education, health, nutrition and helping at-risk families overcome many barriers. If you are interested in learning more about Head Start or perhaps visiting the center yourself, call 463-5946.

2003 River Bend Business Expo Offers Something for Everyone!

The Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois is happy to present the 2003 Edition of the River Bend Business Expo to be held April 4th and 5th. This annual showcase of area businesses and organizations will be hosted by Alton Square Mall on Homer Adams Parkway in Alton.

The event offers the public the opportunity to meet and greet professionals and experts from our own area, and lets us show what a wealth of resources the River Bend has to offer! Featured events include demonstrations from cooking to landscaping by the U of I Extension Program, seminars for business owners on advancements in technology, story telling by Hayner Library and a Family Fashion Show and Health Fair. On Saturday, April 5, Taste of the Riverbend will feature local restaurants and caterers set up throughout the mall with samples of their individual specialties. There will also be ongoing musical performances offered by various community groups.

This year, a number of organizations will be involved in the event. Proceeds from the popular Taste of the River Bend will be donated to the Salvation Army. The Red Cross will conduct a Blood Drive. Alton High School Football team will be assisting in set-up. SCORE will conduct business counseling on site. For more information, please contact the Growth Association at 467-2280.

Senator William Haine - a Strong Library Advocate

During National Library Week (April 6- April 12), library staff invited Senator William Haine and his wife, Anna, to a short reception at the Youth Library. As a young man, Senator Haine worked as a page at the Youth Library. He and his wife Anna have always been constant users of the library and have instilled a love of books and libraries in their seven children as well. In fact, he jokingly quipped that he wondered at times if the Haine family wasn't one of the library's major sources of income due to overdues they 'occasionally' incur. Senator Haine eloquently praised libraries as the backbone of a community and pledged his strong support for the Hayner Public Library System and library systems in general. Senator Haine started his career as a page at Hayner, went on to become States Attorney and is now a State Senator. We salute your success, Senator...your hometown is very proud of your accomplishments!

Hayner Library District announces Staff Appointments

In February, 2003, Jeffrey A. Owen was named Executive Director for the Hayner Public Library District by the Library Board of Trustees. Jeff previously served as the business manager/financial officer for the Library District and also served from 2002-2003 as acting Director. An Alton native, Jeff has had a long history with the library and books! He worked as a library page and assistant in the Youth Library from 1974-1979. After attending SIUE, he worked for 17 years as Assistant District Manager for the WaldenBook Company. He returned to the library in 1996 to take over the role of Business Manager/ Financial Officer. We are all very excited about Jeff's appointment and look forward to working under his support, insight and direction.

In March, 2003, Gloria Mitchell was named Youth Services Manager. Gloria first joined Hayner library staff as a library clerk in 1975 and has worked at the library since then in varying roles. A native of Alton, Gloria and her husband, Terry, have two daughters, Candace and Brandis. Gloria has jumped right into her new role as manager and with her staff has put together an exciting activity-packed summer reading program, incorporating the theme "Lights, Camera, Read!" Congratulations, Gloria, on your promotion- we know you'll do a great job!

Sharon Windham joined the Youth Services staff in February 2003. Sharon will be working as the Assistant Department Manager and her previous work experience as Director at Step by Step Child Care certainly leaves her well-qualified for the position. Sharon and her husband live in Alton and are expecting their first child in October. We all look forward to working with Sharon as part of the library team.

Also joining the Youth Library Staff as part-time Library Assistants are Amy Hosford and Laura Griffith. Amy lives in Alton and is a freshman at Lewis and Clark Community College where she is studying Elementary Education. Laura lives in Godfrey and is attending her freshman year at SIUE and studying Mass Communications. Welcome Amy and Laura!

Tom Norris is a new member of the staff at the Branch Library. A resident of Godfrey, Tom is retired from Owens Illinois where he worked in Mold Manufacturing.

Trustee Election Results

In the April Consolidated election, two seats were open on the Hayner Library District Board of Trustees. Winners of these seats were Nancy DeGrand and Sue Fitzgerald. Nancy, an Alton resident, was elected to her second term as Library Board Trustee. Prior to her board position, Nancy had served 22 years as Financial Officer for the Hayner Library District.

Sue Fitzgerald was elected to her first term as a trustee on the library board. Sue lives in Godfrey with her husband, Mike, and four children. Sue works for the St. Anthony's Hospice program.

Both seats are six-year terms. Nancy and Sue are both dedicated and enthusiastic supporters of the library and we thank them as well as all the Library board members for their work and dedication in making the Hayner Public Library District one of the best in Southern Illinois.

Beverly Schoeberle to Leave Library Staff

Bev Schoeberle has been one of the driving forces behind the phenomenal growth and success of the Branch Library at Alton Square Mall. Bev has acted as Branch Manager since the library opened at the Mall in 1985. Since that time, Bev has driven circulation to a Branch monthly high of 19,721 items! Bev has been a library employee since 1974 and has worked in almost every department of the library - from cataloguing to Bookmobile, the Telegraph Index project, circulation and more. Bev has always been highly regarded by patrons and staff alike for her professionalism, friendliness and competence. Thus we are saddened to announce that Bev has resigned from the library to move to Fort Myers, Florida with her husband, Paul. Bev won't stay away from libraries for long as she notes that there are currently five library positions open in Fort Myers. Bev also commented how many wonderful people she's met through the library and that she will miss them all. This is a wonderful opportunity for Bev and Paul (and thrills her son, Jason!). And while we will miss them all, we wish them the very best of luck and thank Bev so much for her service and many wonderful contributions to the Hayner Public Library District.

Trustee Decides Against Third Term

After serving two terms (twelve years) on the Hayner Public Library Board of Trustees, Jody Morrissey has decided not to seek re-election. On behalf of her fellow trustees and the entire Library District, we would like to thank Jody for her many years of dedicated service and support to the Hayner Public Library District.

Relative Research

Researching the history of your family can be fun, and you will meet many interesting people along the way. Most people are amazed to discover how much information they already have at home or can easily obtain by talking to relatives. The Family Bible, and "the drawer" at home where important papers are kept are a great places to start your research. Going to lunch with your Grandfather or Aunt Mary can prove to be most enlightening. Be sure to take notes as they talk; and ask them questions, too. Most older family members are thrilled that someone younger would be interested in their life. Ask for details of their experiences – what was it like to go to a one-room schoolhouse, or to not have a television? After all, we probably don't think our own life is too exciting, but someone else may be entranced by our real-life stories—black and white TV?

As you begin collecting your information, you will notice that you become more curious about how and why things happened the way they did. Hayner Public Library can assist you with your family research. We have how-to books for beginners as well as books for the experienced genealogist. We also have Census records, cemetery records for the local area, and many other resources for researchers. Come visit us and see our collection. You may also want to schedule an appointment with Cathie from Genealogy Services to help you get started, or help you get past a brick wall in your research. Plan to attend our quarterly Genealogy Roundtable Discussion group. This group welcomes those who may be thinking of doing their family history as well as those who have spent a great deal of time doing research. Watch for our announcement in the Hayner newsletter, and remember, it's all relative.

Alton Area Landmarks Contributes Video

Thanks to the Alton Area Landmarks Association for their donation of the video Lower State Street Tour to our historic Illinois Room Collection. This is a wonderful piece of history that will be preserved for future generations. There is a copy in the circulating collection as well.

Food for Fido

During the month of April, we had our third annual 'Food for Fido' fine amnesty program. If you donated an item of pet food, we would waive a current fine. As ever, our patrons responded generously allowing us to donate over 700 items of pet food to the Alton Area 5A's animal shelter. Many 'woofs' of thanks!

Bow-wow Pow-wow

We have held several meetings of our Bow-wow Pow-wows and they have been great fun. On Saturday mornings, several times a month, June Walker of Walkers Wee Glen Obedience Training and her colleagues bring their certified therapy dogs to the library and children ages 5 through 12 each get a dog to read to. Children and parents love it! The kids can pick out books selected by library staff or bring their own. They settle down with a dog and intermix pets, hugs and reading. The kids can't get enough of it. One little boy read over seven stories - his mother commented that he never reads that much. Want to join us? Call Bernadette at 618-462-0677 to sign up or for more information regarding the program and schedule.

Special Events to be Held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel!

We're just heading into summer, but you will want to be sure to mark your fall calender for two special events to be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at Lewis and Clark Community College at 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL.

On Tuesday, September 16, 2003, Dr. David Cornell will perform a piano concert starting at 6:30 pm. Dr. Cornell has taught physics and astronomy at Principia College for 38 years and is currently director of the Principia Astronomical Observatory. He holds a Ph.D. in Physics and also a Masters Degree in Piano Performance. Dr. Cornell has performed a variety of recitals at Principia College, in many cities around the USA and also abroad in England and Zimbabwe. In 2000, Dr. Cornell was invited to participate in the second Van Cliburn International Piano Competition for Outstanding Amateurs. Performing on the Chapel's beautiful Steinway Grand Piano, Dr. Cornell's program will include Mozart's Sonata, K. 283, G major, Klavierstueke, Op. 118, Nos. 2, 3, 6 by Brahms and Fantasie in F minor, Op. 49 by Chopin. The program will conclude with Jazz-Gospel setting for Piano arranged by M. Hassell and including Swing Low Sweet Chariot, When the Saints go Marching In and America the Beautiful. Don't miss this wonderful event. It is free of charge but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

On Thursday, October 16, we return to the Chapel for an encore performance by the Harman Family at 6:30 pm. The Harman Family has been playing bluegrass throughout the area (and the country) for two generations - they are immensely popular as befits this incredibly talented musical family. Today, the band consists of Mike Harman and his wife, Stacy, and their sons, 15-year-old Mark, 12-year-old Jeff and 6-year-old John. They perform at the Harman Auction House in Shipman, IL every first Saturday, November through April, and for the last 25 years they have performed to sellout crowds at the Midwinter Bluegrass Concert at Lewis and Clark Community College. Last winter, the Harmans performed at the Hayner main library - also to a sellout crowd (in fact we had a waiting list of almost 100 people!). The performance was filled with laughter, great music and some incredible pickin'! They are returning this fall to perform for us in the Chapel and it is sure to be yet another sellout event. The performance is free, but registration is required. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Special Events at Hayner

Hayner Youth Library

LIGHTS, CAMERA, READ! 2003

Registration for summer reading club and activity programs opens Saturday, June 7th unless otherwise stated. Register in person at the Hayner Youth Library or the Hayner Branch Library. We regret we cannot accept registrations by phone. Children under twelve must be registered by a parent or guardian. Teens, ages 12-15, may sign up on their own. Summer reading club registration closed Saturday, June 28th. Registration for activity programs closes when all available places are filled. All programs at the library are provided free of charge. Due to space limits only residents or cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District may attend summer activity programs at the library.

Kids from birth through fifteen are invited to participate in the Lights, Camera, Read! Summer Reading Club at Hayner Public Library this summer. Pre-readers may participate if an adult agrees to read to them.

Participants agree to read at least six hours to complete the program and win a free paperback book of their choice. Time sheets must be returned to the Youth Library no later than Saturday, July 26th, in order to qualify. There are additional prizes for those who read 12, 18, 24, and 30 hours. Those who read 30 hours or more are listed on the Famous Wall of Fame display at the Youth Library all summer.

Award books and other prizes will be distributed at the End of Summer Party on Thursday, July 31st from 6-8 p.m. at The Commons Building at Lewis & Clark Community College. If you cannot attend the party, you can pick up your award book at the Youth Library any time between August 1st and August 31st.

Summer schools and other community agencies can participate as outreach sites for the summer reading club. Please call Gloria Mitchell at 462-0652 for more information.

To register for activity programs, children must be age specified by June 1, 2003. No programs meet the week of June 29 – July 5. The library will be closed July 4th.

Lapsit Story Times

Rose Thornton
The Houses That Sears Built
Tuesday, September 30, 6:00 pm

Rose Thornton has traveled throughout the Midwest researching, documenting and lecturing on Sears homes. These were homes that were actually purchased through a Sears mail order catalog and shipped (all 30,000 pieces) to a site where the home buyer assembles it. There are about 75,000 Sears Homes in the country and about 90% remain undiscovered. Through slides and lecture, Rose provides information on how to identify these great old homes. She gives a brief history of Richard Sears and Allah Roebuck and explains why Sears started selling homes and why he stopped. For anyone who loves history and houses this should prove to be a fascinating program about a uniquely American phenomenon. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Genealogy Book Review

The Census Book, a genealogist's guide to Federal Census Facts, Schedules and Indexes by William Dollarhide. This is the ultimate book on census information. It is packed with information and little known facts on census records. It is full of forms, maps, county information along with tips for a better understanding of the census process. William Dollarhide is considered to be a top authority on genealogical researching, and his books are concise and clearly written so that every researcher can understand. This is a must-read for anyone doing genealogical research. You will find this book in the Illinois Room at Hayner Public Library.

Also new to our Illinois Room Collection is "Genealogical Records: Midwest Pioneers 1600s-1800s" CD #508 from Family Tree Maker. This CD gives historic information and biographical accounts on some of the earliest settlers of our region. Included you will find dates and locations of key events, military service information and selected Illinois census. Coverage is primarily for Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Michigan and Kansas with some coverage of Massachusetts. You may use this CD at the library by asking at the Circulation Desk. Come visit us and see our wonderful Illinois Room.

Patron Profile - Judy Hoffman

Recently, I had the opportunity to meet with Judy Hoffman and spend a fascinating afternoon learning little known facts about the history of the Alton/Godfrey area. Judy has extensively researched the history of our area for a book she is writing that will go to the publisher in June.

Judy is an Alton native and attended Alton High School. After high school, Judy had planned to go to SIUE to pursue her great interest in American Studies but fate intervened (as it always does) and she married and started a family. When her children were 11 and 12 years old, Judy attended Lewis and Clark Community College as a returning student and earned an Associate of Arts degree in English. Following this, Judy started a career in property management. She became a Regional Manager for a Chicago area firm and managed investment properties throughout Illinois for seven years. Judy maintained her home in Alton though her job required her to be on the road a great percentage of the time.

While juggling job and family, Judy took a course through the Institute of Real Estate Management and became a Certified Property Manager. She also taught real estate at Lewis and Clark which is where she met her current husband, Lars Hoffman. Lars, originally from Iowa, teaches Political Science at Lewis and Clark Community College, Principia and McKendree College. Anxious to cut back on the travel her job required, Judy took a position at Villa Rosa Development Company. Judy managed the project that successfully resulted in the opening of the Villa Rose Care Facility in Bethalto. Her next career move was to Lipton Realty in St. Louis where Judy was a Vice President for 7 years. Deciding to strike out on her own, Judy left Lipton and took assignments in management consulting and also managed Lars campaign for Mayor of Godfrey. Lars' served as mayor from 1991-1997.

It was during this time that Judy's interest in the area's history really started to escalate. One of the issues during Lars' mayoral campaign was that local residents wanted to ensure that efforts were made to maintain the character of Godfrey. Judy found herself asking herself "what exactly was that character?". She started to research the pre-civil war history of Alton and Godfrey and found that Godfrey was comprised of New Englanders, while downtown Alton was predominantly settled by Southerners. Judy notes that you can see in these settlement patterns the makings of conflict between the communities that lead to events such as Lovejoy's assassination and the conflict over the fugitive slave laws. Judy realized she was looking at the history of our area from a very different perspective and potential for a book was realized.

Judy's research included digging through the microfilm of the Alton Telegraph at the library as well as use of the resources in the Illinois Room. Because the Telegraph was not printed until 1837, Judy needed another avenue to research the early 1800s. Using her background in Real Estate, Judy knew that a good place to start was to gather the original Abstracts of Title from these early years. She canvassed local residents and located descendants of original settlers to find these valuable documents. The abstracts tell fascinating stories including depictions of the original land grants, will and probate information, divorces, evictions and more. Judy notes that much of the early history of the area will amaze people. Her book also delves into answering long debated questions about runaway slaves and the underground railroad. Judy says her research uncovered quite a bit of new information about the underground rail road, particularly the critically important (and little known) role Godfrey played in that chapter of history.

Of course, both Alton and Godfrey's character were profoundly shaped by Benjamin Godfrey, founder of the Alton-Sangamon Railroad (C&A) as well as Monticello Seminary, the first college for women west of the Allegheny Mountains (now the site of Lewis and Clark Community College). This hugely successful businessman was greatly responsible for creating one of the most prosperous periods in Alton's history, an economy that would collapse under the strife created with Lovejoy's murder and the Panic of 1837. Interestingly, Benjamin Godfrey's original intent for the township of Godfrey (originally called Monticello) was that it would exist as a gentrified suburb of Alton.

Judy's book also covers some fascinating facets of women's history in our area. Generally, little is recorded regarding women's lives in the early 1800s But records from the Monticello Seminary provide a rich trove of information of the graduates who attended this women-only institution. The deed of trust for the school mandated that room and board be kept at cost so that it would be affordable to all qualified students. The curriculum was extremely strenuous, requiring course study in astronomy, philosophy, international history, rhetoric and more. Extremely rigorous examination was required for graduation. The students had to pass two days of oral exams with intensive questioning by trustees, faculty and the general public! Few of us today might withstand that pressure! The school's academic reputation grew, drawing students from all over the country.

Judy noted that the book is written in a chronological manner, each chapter a mini story that follows a progression to help the readers grasp the bigger picture of the many facets of history, culture and drama that sculpted our towns. She also notes that there are many humorous anecdotes for readers to enjoy. Judy's extensive research was completed at the Illinois Historical Library in Springfield, the Galena Library and in New Orleans. She did the bulk of her research at the Hayner Main Library and used the Illinois Room extensively. She was emphatic about the incredible value of the Illinois Room. In fact, in a library of Hayner's size, Judy has never seen such a remarkable collection. Judy was also very complementary about the helpfulness and friendliness of library staff. Good luck with your book, Judy...we can't wait to hold your first book signing! And thank-you for your wonderful contribution of preserving the history of the River Bend.

SCORE Offers Two-Part Program to Help Small Business Owners

Do you have a small business or are you dreaming of starting one? Do you find issues such as financing, taxes, cash flow and marketing all overwhelming? Would you like to have a team of experts to guide and council you - free of charge? SCORE (Service Corp of Retired Executives) is a volunteer organization of business people that provide free confidential business counseling to help you through start up and/or ensure that your existing business prospers. This summer, SCORE members will present a two-part informational series to help you understand how SCORE can help you. The first session on Thursday, June 19, will be held in the Reading Room of the Main Library, 326 Belle Street, Alton at 6:30 pm. This program will introduce you to SCORE counselors, overview the counseling session - what it entails and what the client can expect to receive from the session, how to apply for counseling and important documents the client should be familiar with/prepare for counseling sessions (business plans, financial worksheets, statements etc.). Use the program as a chance to network with other small business owners and hear the success stories from owners who have used SCORE expertise to successfully grow their businesses. The local Alton/Godfrey SCORE chapter serves seven counties with Alton as its center and is made up of over 40 counselors with expertise in 55 areas of business. Counselors with expertise in your particular business sector are also available for online support and counseling. Don't miss this opportunity to find out more about a key tool to the success of your small business dream.

Part Two of the series will be held July 17th at 6:30 pm also in the Main Library. This program is for anyone with would be interested in learning more about volunteering as a member of SCORE. Don't think you are qualified? No matter what your business background or expertise, EVERYONE has a set of skills and experiences that can be of great value in mentoring and counseling businesses in their planning and development and growth. Come and hear about the important service you can provide your community by volunteering for SCORE, meet members of the local SCORE chapter and hear how rewarding working with this wonderful organization can be. Both these programs are free of charge. To register for either program, call 1-800-613-3163. For inquiries about SCORE, call 618-467-2280, ask for Jan and she will mail you additional information.

For Women by Woman - Fall Seminar

"How to Have the Time of Your Life and Get Your Work Done Too!"

What does that phrase conjure up in your imagination? Many of us have forgotten how to have the "time of our lives" because we are struggling to "create more time in our lives". Pam Vaccaro, president of Designs on Time and guest speaker at the September 25 For Women by Women seminar, presents her popular presentation proposing a new perspective on time management which acknowledges that technology is winning the race in time. The technical revolution creates more for us to do each day than ever before in history. If we can't beat it, then how do we join it so we can keep our lives personal and professional in sync?

Pam presents this information in her usual insightful well researched, quick paced and humorous style. If you are wondering where your time goes, this presentation challenges you to design your time in such a way that you maximize your satisfaction with life and have a great time doing it.

Pam is a nationally recognized speaker, trainer, author and productivity coach. Her research into personality based time management and time management for the future, challenges everything you've been taught about time management.

The seminar, coordinated by the SCORE, the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois and local business women, will help participants improve job performance as well as quality of life, regardless of career path. Held Thursday, September 25 at the Alton Holiday Inn, registration will be at 8:00 am with continental breakfast. The program will begin at 8:30, concluding at noon time. The seminar fee is $50 If three of more attend from one business, ticket cost is $40 each.

For reservations or additional information, contact the Growth Association at 618-467-2280.

Hayner Library District announces Staff Appointments

There are some new faces at all three Hayner Library locations. In the Business Office, Sara Pate has joined the staff in the position of Administrative Assistant as of June 2003. Previously, Sara worked at the Lewis and Clark Library System Headquarters as an Administrative Assistant and prior to that worked at the Edwardsville Library. Chris Boerner also joined our staff in June 2003 filling the position of Technical Support Specialist.

He had previously worked at the Lewis and Clark Library System as an Information Technology Specialist and prior to that, Chris worked for Wang Global as a Field Service Representative. Glady Butler has been with the Library office staff since 2001 but in June 2003 assumed new responsibilities for Payroll and Human Resources. Prior to working at the Library, Glady worked for Walden Books for 8 years. She is also retired from the Southwestern School District after teaching 7th grade Social Studies for 33 years.

At the Branch Library, Mary Paddock has been named Branch Manager. Mary has been with the Library District since 1994 serving as a page and then as a Library Assistant. In the spring, Mary will be starting a program at Greenville College in Organizational Leadership. Stephanie Jackson has also joined onto the Branch staff as a part time Library Assistant. Stephanie is a student at SIUE, pursuing a degree in nursing. Joining the Youth Library is Mary Kay Serio as a part-time Library Assistant. Mary Kay also works as the Librarian at Marquette High School.

Library Card Sign-Up Month

September is Library Card Sign-Up Month - a time when the American Library Association and libraries across the country remind parents that the most important school supply of all is @ your library™—it's your library card.

The observance was launched in 1987 to meet the challenge of then Secretary of Education William Bennett who said: "Let's have a national campaign... every child should obtain a library card - and use it." Since then, thousands of public and school libraries join each fall in a national effort to ensure every child has access to one of the most unique institutions in our democracy: the library.

Libraries play an important role in the education and development of children. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifelong learning and opportunity.

A Hayner Library card is free to anyone living in Alton, Godfrey and Fosterburg townships. All you need is a picture ID and another form of ID with your current address. For children under 18, a parent or guardian's signature is required. Borrowing privileges are granted on the spot, giving you immediate access to over 200,000 items including books, magazines, DVDs, CDs, Videos, audio books and more!

Hayner Library district is truly a community center for information also offering computers, access to the internet, a microfilm library, the Historical Illinois Room, genealogy services and and a wide range of free live programs of entertainment and education for children and adults alike. Certified Reference librarians are on staff to help you find the information you need.

Come to any of our three locations and sign up the whole family for library cards. During the month of September, if you sign up for a card, you will receive a free water bottle with the slogan "quench your thirst to read"!

Open Your Mind: Libraries, bookstores celebrate Banned Books Week, September 20-27

Thousands of bookstores and libraries nationwide will celebrate the freedom to read during Banned Books Week, September 20-27. They will mark the occasion with displays and readings of books that have been banned or threatened throughout history, from the Bible and "Little Red Riding Hood" to Maya Angelou's "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings" and Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men". Observed since 1982, the annual event is a celebration of the freedom to read and reminds Americans not to take this precious democratic freedom for granted. "The ability to read, speak, think and express ourselves freely are core American values," said Judith Krug, director of the American Library Association's (ALA) Office for Intellectual Freedom. "We hope Banned Books Week helps to remind Americans of the importance of our freedom at a time when freedoms are being eroded in the United States. Now – more than ever – we must let freedom read."

Banned Books Week 2003 has the theme "Open Your Mind to a Banned Book." It is sponsored by the American Booksellers Association, the American Booksellers Foundation for Free Expression, the ALA, the American Society of Journalists and Authors, the Association of American Publishers and the National Association of College Stores. It is endorsed by the Center for the Book of the Library of Congress.

Oprah's Book Club selection of Steinbeck's "East of Eden" put the 51-year-old book on the New York Times bestseller list, and encouraged Americans to return to classic literature. Like many classic novels, including "To Kill a Mockingbird" and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," "East of Eden" has been subject to several attempts to remove it from library bookshelves. According to the ALA, at least 42 of the top 100 novels of the 20th century have been banned or challenged. The best selling Harry Potter series of children's books by J.K. Rowlings tops the list of books most challenged in 2002.

"Not every book will be right for every reader, but the freedom to choose for ourselves from a full array of possibilities is a hard-won right that we must not take for granted in this country," said Judith Platt, director of the Association of American Publishers' Freedom to Read program.

For more information on Banned Books Week, please visit the ALA web site at www.ala.org/bbooks/

To quote Benjamin Franklin:

"Whoever would overthrow the liberty of a nation must begin by subduing freeness of speech."

"Without Freedom of Thought, there can be no such Thing as Wisdom and no such Thing as public Liberty, without Freedom of Speech."

Help Make a Difference in a Child's Life

The OASIS Intergenerational Tutoring Program matches trained volunteers with students who need help developing reading and language skills. Volunteers work one-on-one with the child as a tutor, mentor and friend.

With this individual attention, the volunteers are able to build the child's self esteem and positive attitude toward learning while strengthening reading and language skills.

All materials, books and supplies are provided by OASIS. Make a commitment of just one hour a week with one child for the school year.

You have so much to give and the need is so great! The Alton OASIS Center has an opportunity for you to join our tutoring program in Bethalto, IL.

Where: Parkside Elementary School, 600 E. Central, Bethalto, IL for grades Second and Third.

Where: Bethalto East, 309 Albers Place, Bethalto, IL for grades First, Second and Third. Time: 2:30- 3:30 p.m.

If you can give one hour a week to a child and can attend our September training session, contact De Harris, OASIS Center (618) 465-1490.

OASIS Offers Fall Programs

OASIS is a community service organization offering classes and activities for people 50 years of age and older. The OASIS Alton Center is located in Famous-Barr at the Alton Square Mall.

Be sure to mark these dates on your calender (Call 463-4100 ext. 3050 for further information).

Illinois Room Brings Visitors From Far and Wide.

The Illinois Room is open and in full operation. We had to close the facility earlier this year for renovation and then a few short months later, it had to be closed again for plumbing repair work that cut off accessibility. But we're open for business now and certainly intend to stay that way! Be sure to come visit us and see the changes we've made. The room is much more "user friendly" - a great place to research local history and genealogy. This past summer, researchers from California to Rhode Island have visited us to use the Illinois room. We've had researchers from Canada, Florida, Washington, Oregon and states in between with historic connections to the Riverbend area that have made use of the facility's unique collections- and just think, its in your own back yard. Even if you are not doing research, browsing the Illinois Room can be fascinating. We hope you come visit soon.

Reading System Installed in Branch Library

An Aladdin Ultra Reading System has been installed at the Alton Square Mall on a trial basis. This system, an Assistive Technology Product, is a video magnifier that will increase the magnification of printed material from 5 to 60 times. It can be used for reading books, newspapers, magazines...just about anything, even pill bottles. You can use it to write too – letters, checks, whatever. It can also be used in a three dimensional mode for activities such as sewing and crocheting. This machine was donated to the Lewis and Clark Library System by Mr. Donald Hamilton in memory of his mother Mary Hamilton. It was donated as a "loaner system" to any of the member libraries of the Lewis and Clark Library System. We will have the system installed for several months to evaluate it's use and determine the value to you, our patrons. We invite you to come try it out and let us know how you like it. It is VERY easy to use and any of our staff would be happy to help you get started.

Important Service offered by Riverbend Head Start

Head Start & Family Services is now enrolling for its comprehensive early childhood development and family strengthening Head Start program. At the Essic Robinson Center on Broadway serving the Riverbend area, children from birth to age 5 and their parents benefit from part-day, full-day, child care and home based program options. Head Start is a federal program serving at-risk families on the cornerstones of child development, literacy, parent involvement, health and nutrition services and a many other social services. If you have a child or know of a child in need of free or affordable services, please call 463-5950.

Book Club Fun!

Members of the Hayner Library book club met recently and turned their discussion of Jane Austen's Emma into an English garden party complete with wide-brimmed hats. The group agrees on titles to read and meets at the library on the fourth Friday of every month to discuss their current selection. If you would like more information about Hayner's book club, please contact Katie Schrimpf, Adult Services Librarian, at 462-0651.

Bow-wow Pow-wow Continues to be Howling Success

Our monthly Bow-wow Pow-wow sessions have been great fun for kids and dogs alike! Certified therapy dogs, as coordinated by June Walker of Walker's Wee Glen Obedience training, come to the library every second Saturday of the month for children to read to. The kids love it and it's great for developing reading skills. One little girl found out the she could not attend the session in July because Grandma was taking her to Disneyland. She was so upset to miss the Pow-wow, she told her Mother she wanted to reschedule her vacation! To make our reading sessions even more special, every child receives a tee shirt that says "I read to the dogs at Hayner Public Library". For more information or to enroll your child, call Bernadette at 462-0677. Again, the sessions are held every second Saturday of the month at the Hayner Youth Library at 10:00 a.m. They are free of charge but registration is required.

Activities at the YWCA

Don't miss these great activities sponsored by the YWCA at 304 E. 3rd St, Alton, IL. All activities require registration at 618-465-7774.

YWCA Card Parties: Open to all card players, these parties are held in the newly renovated Levis Room on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month beginning in September from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. There is a $10 charge per person which covers a catered lunch from Sweet Olive. Please reserve your spot at least 24 hours in advance.

Quilting Class and Open Quilting Time: Learn hand piecing, embroidery, applique, English paper piecing and more. All levels and abilities welcome. First timers will learn the basics of quilting, intermediate and advanced quilters can bring in a work in progress for added instruction and techniques. This will be held the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of each month, beginning in September, 11 a.m.-2 p.m. $30 fee includes a catered lunch by Sweet Olive.

Head to Toes Weight Program for Children: Developed by St. Louis Children's Hospital, this program gives children the opportunity to develop a healthy lifestyle in a positive environment. This group meets Tuesdays September 9 - November 11 from 7 to 8 p.m. for ages 8 -17 years. There is a $50 fee per child (includes a YWCA membership).

Do you have dusty old treasures lying around the house? If you have historic memorabilia in the attic, why not consider donating it to Hayner Public Library where it will be used and appreciated for years to come. Hayner Public Library accepts donations of historic and/or genealogical materials to add to the collection of the Illinois Room. We especially appreciate Illinois Blue Books, local city directories, maps and atlases, school yearbooks, county histories, and local church histories. These materials are kept safe in that they do not leave the library, yet they are made more accessible to the public than if kept in places with fewer hours of operation. Our Illinois Room is used extensively by patrons from around the world doing historic research as well as genealogy research. We would appreciate your consideration.

Patron Profile Rose Thornton

Rose Thornton, author and lecturer, certainly has a passion for her work. Her book "The Houses that Sears Built" is immensely popular and has generated great demand for her as a speaker throughout the country.

Originally from Virginia Beach, Virginia, Rose moved to Alton seven years ago. During her first three years here, she worked for the Post-Dispatch as a freelance reported. It was in this job, Rose says that she learned much of the mechanics of writng. She left the paper to write articles for magazines and the Internet. She also became a regular columnist for the national magazine, Today's Homeowner. Rosemary marvels, "I can't believe I was getting paid well to do what I love!".

Rosemary also wrote for the oldhouseweb.com website. One of the columns she was asked to write was on Sears homes. Sears homes were homes that were built according to the plans, instructions and materials that were ordered and packaged completely through the Sear's catalogue from 1908 till 1940. One column turned into three, then a dozen. Rosemary say it was this Godsend that eventually lead to her book as her fascination with this distinct part of Americana grew. She researched her book traveling throughout the Midwest. She availed herself of the many resources at Hayner library including the microfilm and Illinois room and credits the library with being fundamental in getting her volumes of wonderful rare material from other libraries particularly the State Library in Springfield and libraries in Chicago as well as nationwide. She notes that leaning how much a library can get for you has been and education in itself

It took Rosemary two years to complete writing the book and compiling it's incredibly extensive bibliography. The book has received a wonderful response. Rosemary has received hundred of emails from all over the county from people with stories about Sears homes - vignettes handed down about incidents that occurred while the owner was building them, things that went wrong, humorous anecdotes. She says she has learned so much, she is currently writing a second revision which in be published in the fall. One reader emailed Rosemary that he enjoyed the book so much, he read it seven times in a row.

Rosemary has become a much requested lecturer, averaging over 150 lectures last year. She noted that in her travels while researching and lecturing, she has greatly enjoyed getting to see and appreciate the Midwest. She has found the people to be incredibly warm and friendly, compassionate and respectful. She says they have really made her forget her occasional homesickness for her east coast roots. However, she relates one incident that marked her as not very popular in one town. The town of Hopewell, Virginia, prided themselves as having 44 Sears homes in their community. Rosemary pointed out in her lecture to a Hopewell audience that, in fact, they really had only ten. The town was not pleased and Rosemary's lecture was headline news for sometime.

Rosemary has become recognized as an expert in recognizing Sears homes and is increasingly sought after by those want to validate the authenticity of their home. Rosemary also averages 2-3 interviews a week. She has been interviewed by the New York Times, Christian Science Monitor, WGN, CBS and PBS. The content of Rosemary's lectures includes defining what is a Sear's home, how to identify one and why it is historically important. She also gives a verbal chronology of the time line of the Sears Kit Department. She includes lots of humor in her talks and say the feedback she most often receives include three recurring comments- that "her passion shows", "her enthusiasm really made the subject interesting" and "she could have been a standup comedian." During one question and answer period, she was asked "Would you marry a man for his Sears home?" She replied "It depends on which model home."

In regard to models, Rosemary described that there were 370 designs offered by Sears but 65 of those designs were actually built 90% of the time - obviously these were the best sellers. Rosemary prides herself on having been blessed with a excellent memory in memorizing pictures. She can drive by a home and immediately identify from her memorization any of the 370 individual house plans.

Rosemary is currently working on a second book which will be a 'quickie' field guide to Sears homes. When not working on her book, researching or lecturing (all of which consume about 75% of her time). Rosemary, who has three grown daughters, spends most of her time reading- usually she reads 7-10 books concurrently. Rosemary will also be teaching a class on Sears homes at Lewis and Clark Community College this November.

Rosemary has met with Alton City council, local mayors and councilmen, to emphasize the importance of the preservation and promotion of Sears homes in the Riverbend area. She highlights that preserving Sears homes can help revitalize the working class/ inner city communities where many are located. Rosemary was also very grateful for all the help and unwavering support she has received form Terry Sharp and the Alton Area Landmarks Association.

Rosemary truly has found her calling and passion. She jokingly says she is convinced that when she was born, the attending doctor, said to her mother, "Congratulations, Mrs. Fuller, you have given birth to a 7-1/2 pound Sears home historian." Rosemary will be presenting her lecture at the Hayner Main Library on Tuesday, September 30 at 6:00 p.m. in the Main Library reading room. Be sure to join us for this fascinating talk (register at 1-800-613-3163) and you too can share in Rosemary's passion!

For Women by Women - Fall Seminar

"How to Have the Time of Your Life and Get Your Work Done Too!"

What does that phrase conjure up in your imagination? Many of us have forgotten how to have the "time of our lives" because we are struggling to "create more time in our lives". Pam Vaccaro, president of Designs on Time and guest speaker at the September 25 For Women by Women seminar, presents her popular presentation proposing a new perspective on time management which acknowledges that technology is winning the race in time. The technical revolution creates more for us to do each day than ever before in history. If we can't beat it, then how do we join it so we can keep our lives personal and professional in sync?

Pam presents this information in her usual insightful well researched, quick paced and humorous style. If you are wondering where your time goes, this presentation challenges you to design your time in such a way that you maximize your satisfaction with life and have a great time doing it.

Pam is a nationally recognized speaker, trainer, author and productivity coach. Her research into personality based time management and time management for the future, challenges everything you've been taught about time management.

The seminar, coordinated by the SCORE, the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois and local business women, will help participants improve job performance as well as quality of life, regardless of career path. Held Thursday, September 25 at the Alton Holiday Inn, registration will be at 8:00 am with continental breakfast. The program will begin at 8:30, concluding at noon time. The seminar fee is $50. If three of more attend from one business, ticket cost is $40 each. For reservations or additional information, contact the Growth Association at 618-467-2280.

Summer Reading Program is a Four-Star Blockbuster!

The Hayner Youth Library Summer Reading Program, "Lights, Camera, Read 2003" came to an end on July 31. The End of Summer Party was held at the Commons Building at Lewis and Clark Community College. There were 341 people in attendance for the party. We had wonderful participation this summer from our children. 695 children signed contracts to complete a specific number of hours of reading over the summer and out of that 695, we had 481 children complete their contracts and what's even better, we had 88 children read 30 hours or more. Their names were posted on our Wall of Fame at the Youth Library during the month of August. Congratulations to all the great readers and thanks to all the volunteers who donated more than 400 hours to help our summer run as smoothly as it did.

Hayner Youth library is looking forward to next year's summer reading program, "Explore the Reading Trail" and we hope it will be equally successful.

Pat Heffron, Assistant Branch Manager, Retires

On October 31, Pat Heffron retired from the Hayner Public Library System after eighteen years of service. Pat started her career with the library working in the downtown offices, part-time, working on the Telegraph Indexing Project. When the Branch Library at the mall was developed, Pat went to work there and recalls being part of the original team that actually put in the shelves and moved the books from the Main Library to the Branch. After approximately ten years of part-time employment, Pat became the full-time Assistant Branch Manager, working under Bev Schoberle who also retired earlier this year. Pat's husband, Melvin, is retired and they have twin daughters both who live in Alton. She also has one grandson, four years of age. Pat says she has about '9000 projects' she is going to tackle upon retirement and looks forward to traveling (she is planning a trip to Florida to visit Bev this winter) and spending time with her grandson. She is also looking forward to having the time to read the many books that caught her interest while working at the library. Pat commented how she has met many good people and will miss so many of the patrons as well as all the great people she has worked with. Her colleagues will certainly miss working wish Pat and with her much happiness in her coming ventures.

New Staff Joins The Hayner Public Library District

The Hayner Library District welcomes new staff at the Branch and Main Libraries At the Branch Library, Janet Schweppe has been named as the new Assistant Branch Manager. Previously employed by The Bank of Edwarsdville, Jan is a native of Alton and a graduate of Kenyon College with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Economics. The Branch Library also welcomes Rhonda Brinkman as a part- time Library Assistant. Rhonda and her husband live in Alton and she is currently attending classes at Lewis and Clark Community College.

The Main Library staff is joined by Bethany Albert as a part-time Library Assistant. Bethany and her husband and three daughters live in Alton. Emily Beasley also joins the Main staff as a part-time Library Assistant assigned to the Reading Room. Emily lives in Alton and has attended Rockford College. Please say hello to our new employees and welcome them, as we do, to the Library District.

Food For Fines During the Holiday Season

Beginning December 1, 2003 and continuing through December 31, 2003, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner material only). All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the Crisis Food Center in Alton. If you want to donate items such as toiletries, cleaning products, or even scarfs or gloves (new) we will accept them for fines also. Of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community. Happy Holidays!

New Civil War Genealogical Publication Added to Collection

Grand Army of the Republic. Department of the Death Rolls, 1879- 1947 by Dennis Northcott and Thomas Brooks
Founded in 1866, the Grand Army of the Republic became the largest association of Civil War Union veterans in the United States. This publication contains records of more than 32,000 deaths of members of the G.A.R.'s Department of Illinois. These veterans served in regiments from 36 states. Each record includes the member's name, rank, company, regiment or ship, name and location of post (i.e., local chapter) to which he belonged and his date of death. Some records also include age and place of burial. This is a fascinating document whether you are a researcher or not! It will be held in the Illinois Room of the Main Library at 326 Belle St., Alton.

Donations to the Genealogy Collection

We recently received a donation of back issues of the Macoupin County Searcher. This is a great resource for researchers of the Macoupin county area. We also received some very nice older copies of the Illinois Blue Book for our Illinois Room Collection. We are grateful for donations of local school yearbooks and church histories as well. Of course, City Directories are always appreciated.

Illinois Room Adds New Service

Since Cathie Lamere became the full time staff genealogist, she has had the time to spear head different projects to make the Illinois Room and our genealogy services state of the art. The Illinois Room in the Main Library has been remodeled, redesigned and re-inventoried to make as user friendly as possible to researchers. A copier and security system has been installed in the Illinois Room to protect the valuable holdings of this facility This fall saw another addition.We have installed a computer in the Illinois room to be dedicated to historical and genealogical research. The menu choices, after logging on, provide buttons to click on to get to the following links: www.altonweb.com/history/civilwar/confed - This link to Alton history has information on various aspects of local involvement in the Civil War.; www.theriverbend.org/history/index.html - a brief history of our River Bend area; www.rootsweb.com/~iladcgs/ - the Madison County Genealogy Society information and holdings; www.iltrails.org/counties.html - provides a broad selection of state and county information; www.tolatsga.org/ill.html - provides a great selection of early Illinois history, including Native American tribes; www.library.sos.state.il.us/home.html - contains databases of death, marriage, land, veterans and servitude and emancipation records for the state of Illinois; www.cyndislist.com - an extensive collection of links and information for the beginner as well as the veteran genealogist.

We also have added some software products to our collection to help you with your research. Those products include Family Tree Maker software and CDs which provide family tree sheets and other tools to help compose your family history. There is a Civil War CD-ROM that is a compilation of the official records of the Union and Confederated Armies including battle reports, correspondence orders and prisoner of war records. Additionally, there is a Federal Pension of 1883 CD that includes information on the pensioners of the Civil War and the War of 1812. These CDs are for use in the Illinois Room only. To use them, you can sign up at the circulation desk and staff will get them for you.

More exciting news...the Main Library downtown has received an updated edition of the Upper Alton Cemetery Index and inventory in book form and on CD for the Illinois Room. Perry and Virgie Curvey have spent many hours walking the cemetery and putting the information into the computer for all our benefit. They have provided us with the most complete information ever available to the general public from the cemetery records. We are so grateful to them and appreciate all their hard work. These resources are a great asset to our collection and are used by patrons from all across the country. Thank you so much to the Curveys for your kindness and generosity.

Bow-wow Pow-wow Continues to grow in 'Pup-ularity'

Attendance at the Hayner Library 'Bow-wow Pow-wow' continues to grow - both in the number of kids as well as canine participants! Each second Saturday of every month from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., trainer June Walker and colleagues bring certified therapy dogs to the Youth library. Children, ages 5-12 are invited to come and read to the dogs. Reading to dogs has been shown to cause dramatic improvements in children's reading skills...and it's so much fun! Handlers always accompany the dogs and sometimes can help if a child has trouble with a certain word. Library staff ensures there is a wide selection of age appropriate books available for the kids to read or they are welcome to bring their own book. Our dogs have included Great Danes, Basset Hounds, Golden Retrievers, Labs, Dachshunds, a Jack Russell Terrier and more- sometimes it's hard to tell who is having more fun, the children, the dogs or the parents! Thank you so much to June and all the handlers who volunteer their time every month. If you are interested in attending or need more information, call Bernadette at 462-0677.

(Note: Due to schedule conflict, the December Pow-wow will be held on Saturday, December 6. In January, we will return to our second Saturday schedule meeting on January 10.)

something a little different- hope you like it as much as we did...

The Sense of Geese

Next time you see geese heading south for the winter, flying along in the V formation, you might be interested in knowing what science has discovered about why they fly that way. It has been learned that as each bird flaps its wings, it creates an uplift for the bird immediately following. By flying in a V formation, the whole flock adds at least 71 percent greater flying range than if each bird flew on its own.Whenever a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of trying to go it alone and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the lifting power of the bird in front. When the lead goose gets tired, it rotates back in the wing and another goose flies point. These geese honk from behind to encourage those up front to keep up their speed. Finally, when a goose gets sick, or is wounded by gunshot and falls out, two geese fall out of formation and follow it down to help and protect it. They stay with the goose until it is able to fly, or until it is dead, and then launch out on their own or with another formation to catch up with their original group. You see, all we have to do to attract those who are not participating is to demonstrate to the world that we have at least as much sense as a goose. That seems like a small enough price to pay to win the lost and to help one another.

Basic Truths: People who share a common direction and sense of community can get where they are going easily because they are traveling on the thrust of one another. If we have as much sense as a goose, we will stay in formation with those who are headed the same way we are. We will stand by each other, protect one another and sometimes make new friends who seem to be going in our direction. It pays to take turns doing the hard jobs- with people or with flying geese. We need to be careful what we say when we honk from behind. May we have the sense of geese!

Popular Community Leaders Celebrate Literacy

The Hayner Public Library System has partnered with RiverBend Head Start and Family Services and The Telegraph to launch a new literacy campaign in our community. Celebrate Literacy...locally will portray local community leaders as the subjects of ads and posters proclaiming look who's reading in the Riverbend. 'Celebrities' who have donated their time to participate in the project include: Anna Beach, Dan Brannan, Joel Copley, Diana Enloe, Sgt. David Goins, Head Start Class, Senator Bill Haine, Jarod Hennings, Susan Huber, Chuck Mayden, Andy Simpson, Reverend Dennis Young and Kathy Wickenhauser. Jennifer Hayden of Hayden Designs donated graphic layout services and Piasa Photo donated the photography services.

The campaign was kicked off on November 20 (Family Reading Night) and will continue through the first week of February with a different 'celeb' ad appearing in The Telegraph each week. Posters will be displayed in each 'celeb's' place of business. They will also be displayed at the branch library at the Mall. Watch the paper each week for this fun campaign...and let's ALL get reading in the Riverbend!

Hayner Acquires National Film Registry Videos

Under the terms of the National Film Preservation Act, each year the Library of Congress names 25 "culturally, historically or aesthetically" significant motion pictures to the National Film Registry Currently there are 350 films listed on the registry The list is designed to reflect the full breadth and diversity of America's film heritage, increasing the public awareness of the richness of American cinema. The films are not necessarily either the 'best' American films ever made or the most famous but they are of importance to American film and cultural history and to history in general. They represent a stunning range of American film making - including Hollywood features, documentaries, avant-garde and amateur productions, films of regional interest, ethnic, animated and short film subjects - all deserving recognition, preservation and access by future generations. For each title named to the Registry, the Library of Congress works to ensure that the film is preserved for all time.

The Hayner Public Library District has many of these films in it's collection but we have recently added seventy additional titles! Many are new titles to the collection but some are replacements to lost or damaged copies. The films are predominantly in video format but some have also been purchased as DVD when available. Samples of the titles include: All That Jazz, Apocalypse Now, Bride of Frankenstein, Fantasia, Flash Gordon, Great Train Robbery, Peter Pan, Return of the Secaucus Seven, Shaft, The Thin Blue Line, Vertigo, A Woman Under the Influence, The City/ the Power and the Land, El Norte, The Films of Charles and Ray Eames- Vol. 1, Stranger than Paradise and many more

Book Signing for Boy Giant

Dan Brannan is the Executive Editor for The Telegraph and author of the several books, including the award winning Life to the Fullest. Dan has recently published his forth book, Boy Giant, the story of Robert Wadlow. This biography of the native Altonian and world's tallest man tells Wadlow's incredibly unique story through the memories of family and friends. It contains many photos chronicling Wadlow's life. Dan will be selling and signing copies of his book at the Hayner Branch Library on Saturday, December 13 from 10:00 a.m. till 12:00 noon. Be sure to come by, meet Dan and get your own signed copy. Boy Giant certainly will solve your holiday shopping dilemma of trying to find the perfect gift! Don't forget to get copies for family and friends who may have moved away- what a great reminder of their home town! Boy Giant purchase price is $19.95.

Meet us at the Chapel!

On Tuesday, February 24, Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band return to help celebrate Mardi Gras as only Bud and his band can do! Performing in the Chapel of Lewis and Clark Community College at 5800 Godfrey Road, they will get us moving to the wonderful sounds of their New Orleans style jazz. If you've never heard Bud on his clarinet, along with the rest of the band, don't miss this opportunity. This program is free of charge but registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Join us for Shadow Day!!

Last year, several staff members of The Hayner Public Library District participated in Project Shadow at Riverbend Head Start and Family Services. To a person, we had a wonderful, eye opening experience. During Shadow Day (actually this year, Shadow Week), the staff at the Essic Robinson Center in Alton opens it's doors to the public. Community members are invited to spend an hour to hour and a half at the center. Staff members provide a tour of the center and then you get a chance to share time with the children in the classes. You get to experience the life of the young child as they are cared for by this wonderful organization. You will share a snack, a story or maybe an art project and see the kind and generous attention the kids are afforded by the center's staff members. This is a truly rewarding experience and a great way to learn of the critical function Riverbend Head Start and Family Services provides to our community. You can come as a business organization or just individually. This year Project Shadow activities will take place February 2 through February 6 (and can also be arranged throughout the year). For more information or to schedule an appointment, contact Brett Stawar at 618-462-5901 or email riverbendfamilies.org

Patron Profile- Christine Favilla

Christine Favilla is a woman of remarkable energy and enthusiasm- she would have to be with all projects and activities she is involved with! Christine is a Godfrey native, now living in Alton. She attended Alton High and graduated from Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colorado with a degree in sociology and environmental policy. Her interest in ecology began when she was in High School and took a course in Field Ecology. Christine also noted that growing up, she lived near the Nature Institute, the trails to the bluffs were her back yard and she developed a great love of nature. After graduating from college, she juggled a multitude of jobs at one time. She waited tables, managed a restaurant, was a baker, and also volunteered for Durango Nature Studies.

Deciding to move back to Alton with her husband who was starting law school, Christine says her timing was great, as the local Sierra Club had recently decided to hire a project manager. The Sierra Club has been in Alton for 30 years. Part of Sierra Club's mission statement reads "to explore, enjoy and protect the wild places of the earth, practice and promote the responsible use of the earth's ecosystems and resources, educate and enlist humanity to protect and restore the quality of the natural and human environment". Perfect for Christine! Christine went to work for the non-profit organization, the Sierra Club Foundation, as the Three Rivers Project Manager. Her key responsibilities are education and outreach, and while she can choose the projects she works on, she must always get her boards approval.

River issues are critical in the area and involve much of Christine's time. Historically, the Corps of Engineers managed the river for navigation (barge traffic) but as the scientists agreed that the Upper Mississippi and Illinois Rivers are slowly degrading, Washington declared that they must develop new directives to manage to environmentally sustainable criteria. One of the primary reasons for this degradation is the Corps of Engineers' 9' Navigation Project – the series of 37 locks and dams on these two rivers – which have transformed these free-flowing rivers into a series of slack pools with artificially controlled water levels to support commercial barge traffic. Yet, there are interests that want to increase barge traffic. This developed into a 12-year study, the draft of which has only recently been completed. The study looked at how to expand and fix the lock and dam system to keep it viable for navigational efficiency yet balance the effort with preservation of the river and restoration of its ecosystem. The study results presented multiple alternative solutions. Christine's job has been to educate the public to these solutions and work with the various Sierra Clubs and public to form a recommendation that will become the Sierra Club's favored proposal. To do this, Christine must make it easy for the public to be aware and involved. One of the ways she accomplished this was to organize a River Rally that she held this past fall at Lewis and Clark Community College. She also has targeted reach out programs to educate an expanded set of stakeholders, including fishermen, hunters, boaters to understand that the river restoration can be accomplished while still accommodating barge traffic and commerce.

Management of the Mississippi, sustainable agriculture, air pollution and mass transit are all issues that Christine addresses. She works with a group of approximately 30 volunteers, ranging from botanists and environmental toxicologists to high school and college students Christine notes that you don't have to be a member of Sierra Club to volunteer- everyone is welcome and can contribute. Christine runs many workshops throughout Madison, Jersey and Calhoun. She also sits on a committee that manages a Watershed Stewardship program that educates approximately 1000 fifth graders each year on how to ensure a healthy ecosystem. Christine participates in the Illinois Stewardship Alliance Food Council Meetings, which address issues of small local farmers and their needs from the public to remain economically viable. Christine has participated on the Alton Beautification and Clean City Committee.

Christine sits on a committee that manages the Arbor Day Festival in April where anyone can nominate a big tree as a 'tree champion'. The tree is then measured and recorded by the Sierra Club – exceptional trees are referred to the Department of Natural Resources. This focus of this program is to heighten awareness of both homeowners and builders of the importance of maintaining the valuable resource of mature trees. She also is helping with a fair in December to promote the giving of 'environmentally and socially friendly' Christmas gifts!

Christine is also a volunteer and Board president for Community Cultivators. This non-profit organization has established a children's organic community garden at La Vista Park in Godfrey, Illinois. The children plan, cultivate, grow and harvest the garden with sustainable methods of farming that demonstrate firsthand where food comes from, an appreciation of nature, and gives children an opportunity to work with others as a team.

Christine is married and she and her husband Cody have a four and a half year old son, Braedon. Cody works at Copley's West Ninth and is attending St. Louis University Law School. Christine and her husband like to ride motorcycles (environmentally sound modes of transportation that get up to 65 mpg), as well as attend Blue Grass festivals. Christine also loves to make jewelry and is starting to sell her pieces, as it can get to be a rather expensive hobby!

Christine notes that she is an avid user of the Illinois room at the Hayner Main Library to research river issues and the history of the river and we are certainly pleased to know that our library is supporting her very important work. If you are interested in additional information regarding the Sierra Club or the Community Cultivators, you can contact the office at 618-462-6802. Also, check library locations for the Sierra Club newsletter and brochures.

Win a Christmas Gift Basket

On December 19, each of the three Hayner libraries will hold a drawing for a Christmas Gift Basket. The baskets will contain all kinds of goodies to enjoy over the holidays and beyond. The baskets will be displayed and entry forms will be set out at each location on December 1. Sorry, only Hayner patrons/card holders are eligible to win. Stop by any library location and enter! Winners will be announced on WBGZ radio (1570) on December 19 and also contacted by phone.

Developments in Internet Filtering

This past summer the Supreme Court upheld the ruling of the Child Internet Protection Act (CIPA). The result- for libraries to qualify for Federal or State funding, they would have to comply with certain internet filtering criteria. Currently, The Hayner Public Library District is reviewing a proposal to join other members of the Lewis and Clark Library System in linking to the Illinois Century Network (ICN) to meet compliance standards.

The ICN is an internet provider for libraries, schools, state and local government to obtain Internet service at a reduced cost.

CIPA law requires compliance within one year of passage of legislation (July 1, 2004). It is likely that implementation will occur prior to this target date. Currently, vendor and product decisions have not been finalized. Once this has occurred, we will provide you with more specific information on how this may impact our current Internet service offering.

SCORE Donates to Library District

The local chapter of SCORE has once again made a generous contribution to the Hayner Library District's business reference collection. SCORE is the Service Corps of Retired Executives and provides free confidential business counseling and advice to small business owners (or would-be owners). SCORE has also participated in several Small Business Start-up seminars held at the library. Over the past several year, SCORE has donated a series of business start up guides produced by Entrepreneur Magazine. These comprehensive books take one step by step through every aspect of the business start up process. Hayner Library is one of three libraries in all of Illinois to offer this collection. This fall, SCORE contributed funds used to purchase several business software packages - the first in our reference collection. Both the Main Library and the Alton Square Mall library have copies of the software suite, The Ultimate Business Planner. This easy to use, step by step approach makes business planning fast and simple. Developed by small business experts, The Planner simplifies the process of writing a business plan and also gives expert advice, tips and hints based on proven business practices.

Also purchased for the Main Library is the computer software package, The Ultimate Marketing Calculator. This software provides 39 essential marketing reports that can be reviewed to analyze marketing strengths. In one integrated Excel workbook, you can easily select one of many marketing work sheets to create precise marketing calculations - from forecasting and budgeting to direct advertising, marketing, pricing , competitive analysis and more. Be sure to take advantage of these valuable tools to starting and/or grow your small business opportunity. SCORE is a great resource for you and can provide expertise in all areas of small business development. For more information about SCORE and their counseling service, call the SCORE office on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College at 467-2280.

Growth Association Announces New Seminar Series

The Small Business Council of The Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois has announced a series of business seminars titled Growth Opps 2004. This series will include four 2 hour seminars, one to be held each quarter. Topics covered will include Time Management, Leadership Skills, Marketing and Memory Techniques. The subjects were derived from a recent survey of the Growth Association. Open to the public, you can purchase tickets for the entire series or attend individual session. Growth Association members may purchase the entire series for $45 or attend individual sessions for $15 each. The cost for non-members is $60 for all four or $20 each. For seminar dates, locations, registration or to obtain more information, call the Growth Association at 467-2280. The Growth Association has developed a strong reputation for providing quality seminars for our community. We hope to see you there!

The Importance of Pages at the Library.....

... .We are not talking about the paper kind.. the Pages we are referring to are the human ones that we couldn't do without! Pages are library staff members that perform a multitude of services. All three Hayner Library locations receive, literally, hundreds of returned items each day. The Pages are responsible for sorting these items and reshelving them. This of course includes all circulating library material whether books, magazines, newspapers, DVDs, CDs, videos, etc. The Pages are also responsible for shifting the shelves. This is required when the materials on the shelf get tight (and hard to remove). The Page will move or shift materials to another shelf to free up space. The Pages also 'read' the shelves - they read the call letters on the spine of each book or item to make sure it is in the correct numerical or alphabetical sequence. This ensures that when you are looking for an item, it is where it is supposed to be on the shelf. The Pages also make sure that new books are correctly shelved in their own section. They manage the newspaper and magazine collections, withdrawing back copies as necessary. They make sure copy machines have adequate paper and assist with the nightly library closing routines. Generally, the Pages are high school age but anyone who likes being around books is eligible to apply when positions are open!

The Pages at the Main Library are Andrew Fox, Hollie Funkhauser, Michele Kelly and Daryl Vitali. Pages at the Branch Library include Jena Fiedler, Abby Madison and Erika Schallenberg. The Youth Library Pages include Erin McAfee, Sarah Norooz and Courtney Stalcup. We appreciate all your hard work keeping the libraries in top form!

Fine Amnesty.....Food for Fido

For the last several years, we have offered an amnesty period for fines biannually, in December and April. In December, 2003, we waived patron fines in lieu of donations of food and canned goods and thus contributed over 1,000 items to the Alton Area Crisis Food Center.

For our spring event and to commemorate April as Animal Cruelty Prevention Month, we will collect pet food and supplies that will be given to the Alton Area 5 A's Animal Shelter. This no kill shelter is completely dependent on donations and is run by a dedicated staff who work tirelessly to provide care for an overwhelming number of unwanted animals. From April 1 through April 30, if you have an overdue item, you can pay your fine with an item of pet food (one item each fine, current fines only, Hayner materials only). Thank you for your generous support of 'amnesty' events!

Food collected during December Fine Amnesty Program.

Win this Precious Pup!

In conjunction with our 'Food for Fido' program, we will be raffling off these adorable pups to a lucky Hayner Library cardholder. Entry forms are available at each of the library locations during the month of April and the winners will be drawn on April 30, 2004. Enter as often as you like and feel free to bring an extra pet food item to contribute to our donation to the Alton Area 5 A's Animal Shelter!

Bow-wow Pow-wow is 'Arf-ully' Fun

We continue to have such a great time at our monthly Bow-wow Pow-wows. June Walker of Walkers Wee Glen Training and her colleagues bring their certified therapy dogs to the Youth Library every second Saturday of the month from 10:00-11:00 am. Kids are invited to join us to read to the dogs. They can pick a book from the library collection or bring their own and the fun begins as they pick a dog to read to. The dogs love it! They love the hugs and kisses and the pets, too! This is a great way to encourage your child's love of reading and have a great time at the library. Our Christmas meeting was a blast - we had a full house of dogs (all accompanied by their handlers). Each dog wore a holiday collar or kerchief and was anxious to spread cheer to all! Everyone had a terrific time - including the moms and dads who came.

Please join us for our next Pow-wow. Remember, it's the second Saturday of each month. For more information, call Bernadette at 462-0677 or to register your child, call 1-800-613-3163. This program is free of charge and each child gets a Bow-wow tee shirt (while quantities last).

Its good to be oversized!

Yes, in some cases oversize is good...as in oversized books. These are the large books that are commonly referred to as coffee table books. This collection is housed in the Reading Room of the Main Library. The Branch Library keeps them inter-shelved in their regular stacks. These books are often composed of extremely high-quality paper and binding and incorporate beautiful photography and/or artwork to compliment the subject matter. They cover the full range of topics including cooking, nature, gardening, travel, animals, history, art, music, film and crafts. Don't overlook them because they are oversized - these books are truly colorful gems in The Hayner Public Library District's Collections.

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

The Nearly Departed by Brenda Cullerton. Non-fiction
The drawing in the front of this book of the house with a concrete wall down the middle and a tar paper shack on the home property sets the stage for this memoir of a wildly funny dysfunctional family. In a well-to-do community in Connecticut, this family stands out. With a big dose of wacky weirdness, this book will have you alternately laughing and shaking your head in disbelief at this family's idiosyncrasies.–Jean S.

The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time by Mark Haddon. Fiction
Accused of killing the neighbor's dog, 15-year-old Christopher sets out to find the true killer, and ends up discovering a secret about his parents. What makes this story special is the way it is written, in the voice of Christopher, a bright, autistic teenager, who is gifted in math and likes to solve mysteries. Cleverly written in a clear and logical way, with chapters ordered by prime numbers, and problems solved in a mathematical fashion, this book is a delightful read. –Jean S.

The Thin Pink Line by Lauren Baratz-Logsted. Fiction
If you could be pregnant without really being pregnant, would you? Meet Jane Taylor, an endearing nut who thinks she's expecting, finds out she's not and yet continues to pretend because she likes the attention. You will find yourself empathizing with Jane as she deals with the people in her life –the 'perfect' sibling, the slimy boyfriend and the nagging mother. You'll be laughing out loud and cheering Jane as she gets closer and closer to d-day. –Bethany A.

The Wedding by Nicholas Sparks. Fiction
In The Wedding, Spark's sequel to The Notebook, Noah and Allie's daughter, Jane, is approaching her 30th wedding anniversary. Her husband, Wilson, fears his workaholic life may have cost him Jane's love and decides to change himself. Meanwhile, daughter Anna announces she is getting married, and Jane finds a new interest in life planning the perfect wedding for her, much to Jane's astonishment, with Wilson's help. This is a real tearjerker and the ending will surprise you, as will some of the characters in this story. –Shannon B.

The Persian Pickle Club by Sandra Dallas. Fiction
Times are hard in Depression-era Kansas, but the Persian Pickle Club still meets to quilt and 'improve their minds,' sharing the scarce fabric they have along with the honor of being a Pickle. The ladies find companionship, acceptance, support and loyalty in the quilting circle. Queenie Bean, the 'talkingest' Pickle, tells the story of how town and Pickle loyalties are tested when a farmer returns home with his city wife, a wannabe reporter who hopes a long-buried local murder will be her big break. This is a charming, humorous, quirky story, told in down-home dialect and spiced up with a little mystery. Fans of the Miss Julia books will love it. –Katie S.

The Known World by Edward P. Jones. Fiction
The Known World is a profound and deeply moving novel that examines the complex issue of a black man in the antebellum south who begins to purchase slaves after gaining his own freedom. The book follows the life of Henry Townsend, a freed slave turned slave owner, and his wife Caldonia, who must decide whether to free their slaves after Henry's death. In overlapping plot lines and time frames, the story of Henry's life, the future of the slaves he leaves behind after his death, the local townspeople, and the fate of the 'known world' they all inhabit, all unravel in this haunting and fulfilling novel. –Mary P.

Take 15 for Family

West Elementary School in Alton is embarking on a wonderful program to help students improve academic performance. Reading skill and academic performance are critical to a child's future success in today's highly competitive business environment. We have many dedicated teachers that strive to encourage and empower our children to do the best they can in school, but study upon study has shown that to succeed, parents must be involved in their children's education. Unfortunately many children come from single parent homes or homes where both parents work and little or no time is given to the child's classroom activities. When home and school are partners, children work and learn best. Statements such as "parents are their children's first and primary teacher," "parents are their children's most influential teacher" and "parents can make a difference in their children's education" have been proven to be true over and over again.

To spread this message, Principal Mark Cappel and Parent Coordinator Bob Buhs have developed a program "Take 15 for Family" to develop family/school/community partnerships. This program will focus on involving families with their children in learning activities at home, including homework and other curriculum-linked activities and decisions. Targeting children whose academic testing indicates they are performing below their grade level, the program entails a series of parent gatherings at the school to show parents how to help their child read better and make better use of homework times. A key element of the program is encouraging parents to spend at least 15 minutes a school day to work with their children on school-related activities. The program will provide suggestions and assistance on how the parent can create opportunities to help their child be successful at school. Families will receive ongoing tips and information via newsletters that will stress five areas that parents can work on at home. These include 1) how to help your child read better, 2) communicating with the classroom teacher by phone or in person, 3) helping your child make better use of homework time, 4) checking and signing your child's Agenda Book (homework to do book) every night and 5) controlling TV watching at home.

Fifteen minutes may not seem like a lot of time to accomplish significant improvements. However, for a child that receives little parental guidance in school work, this is an achievable goal that will help create an ongoing dialogue and support structure between child and parent as well as between parent and teacher. Mr. Buhs has also developed a parental guide with invaluable information including articles such as "44 Ways Parents Can Help Their Children", "40 Ways to Help Your Youngster Achieve in School," "75 Parent Involvement Ideas That Work" and much more. Mr. Buhs and Principal Cappel should be highly commended for this exciting and innovative project and Hayner Library will certainly offer our full support to promote its success. We want to see every child in our community reading and learning, building towards a bright future.

National Library Week April 18-24

First sponsored in 1958, National Library Week is a national observance sponsored by the American Library Association (ALA) and libraries across the country each April. It is a time to celebrate the contributions of our nation's libraries and librarians and to promote library use and support. This year, National Library Week is April 18-24. Along with special displays at Hayner Library locations, the Youth and Branch libraries will be holding story times to commemorate the week. At the Main Library, we will celebrate by bringing to stage two of America's great authors and humorists. On Thursday, April 22 at 6:00 pm we will present A Humorous Encounter - An Evening with Mark Twain and Will Rogers. This program will be held in the Reading Room of the Main Library at 326 Belle Street in Alton. Note the starting time is 6:00 pm! This program is free of charge, but reservations are essential. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

A Great Addition to Hayner Library CD Collection

Recently, the Main Library has acquired an important addition to our CD Collection, The Complete Arkangel Shakespeare. This set consists of 38 fully dramatized unabridged Shakespeare plays on CD. Produced with state-of-the-art technology, the CDs include original music and sound effects to heighten the drama. There is an extraordinary cast of over 400 actors including the likes of Joseph Fiennes and Sir John Gielgud. Five years in the making, this is the definitive audio Shakespeare- be sure to 'check it out'!

Patron Profile - Minnie Hutchinson and Nita Gleghorn

The Foster Grandparent Program (FGP) is part of Senior Corps, a network of national service programs that provide older Americans the opportunity to put their life experiences to work for local communities. Foster Grandparents serve as mentors, tutors, and caregivers for children and youth with special needs through a variety of community organizations, including schools, hospitals, drug treatment facilities, correctional institutions, Head Start and daycare centers. Here in the River Bend, this program is available through Senior Services Plus, Inc. in Alton.

Hayner Youth Library has benefitted from this program due to the wonderful services provided by foster grandmas Minnie Hutchinson and Nita Gleghorn. Minnie and Nita are so loved by staff, patrons and kids at the library, we wanted to let you get to know them, too!

Minnie's dad was a minister and her mother was a missionary at the True Church. They moved to Alton from Arkansas when Minnie was three years old. After attending Alton schools, Minnie married and raised two daughters. Sadly, one of the daughters is deceased but the other, Karen Hughes, lives in Alton. Today, Minnie also has three grown grandchildren. Minnie worked as an apprentice pharmacist at Campbell's Pharmacy on Broadway and later at Wardein's Pharmacy. When Wardein's closed, Minnie worked at Head Start Day Care. Then, in 1997, Minnie got into the Foster Grandparent program and has been at Hayner ever since!

Minnie says she loves being with the children and that spending time with them is the most important thing you can give them in these changing times. Minnie is a real people person. She also volunteers at a nursing home, helping to serve lunch. Every second Thursday, she holds Bible Study classes for the residents during which she sings, reads verses and discusses with the residents what the verses mean in daily life. Minnie loves helping the Seniors, especially visiting the lonely who often ask her to pray for them.

Minnie loves to sing and at one time had dreamed of pursuing a professional singing career. Today, she sings in the choir at Deliverance Temple where she also teaches Sunday school and works with the Praise dance group. This is a dance troupe she started 10-15 years ago that encourages girls to express themselves through dance.

Nita Gleghorn is also an Alton native and mother of two children, Steve Gleghorn and Paula Appleby, both who live in Alton. She also has four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. After reting from the Alton Glass Works, Nita also worked at Head Start, and, in the summer, she worked at Alton Day Care. In 1993, Nita came to Hayner as a foster grandparent.

Nita loves working with the children and they obviously love her attention. She says that every time she goes to the store or out around town there are always kids and parents from the library saying 'Hi Grandma!' She laughs, saying she is host to hundreds of grandkids! In Nita's spare time, she works on her quilts. She also takes care of an elder brother in Edwardsville, an elder sister in Alton and another sister currently in a nursing home. Nita comes from a family of thirteen which probably contributed to her talent in working with children.

Both grandmas work at the library four days a week from 9:00 am to 1:30 pm. Their activities include putting on puppet shows at both the Youth Library and the Branch Library and helping the kids during craft times. They also help out with inventory at the different library locations. Both Minnie and Nita develop many close and enduring relationships with both the kids and their parents. As the kids get older, they still come back to say hello to the grandmas. It is wonderful to see how happy the children are to have their foster grandmas and, of course, the grandmas are so happy to have all the children!

We can't thank Minnie and Nita enough for the wonderful work they do touching the lives of the children and giving the kids yet another reason to love coming to the library. If you are interested in obtaining more information on the Foster Grandparent Program, contact Senior Services Plus, Inc., 2603 N. Rodgers, Alton, IL 62002, 618-463-0067.

Notes from the Sunshine Express

Did you know that the White House has been home to more than 400 pets during terms of many presidents? Thomas Jefferson kept grizzly bears in a garden cage. John Quincy Adams had his pet alligator live in the White House bathtub and Calvin Coolidge walked his raccoons around the White House grounds on a leash.

Our current President, George W. Bush, has four pets Barney is a Scotch terrier, India is a short-haired black cat and there is also Ernie, an orange and white six-toed kitten. Spot, his English Springer Spaniel, was born in the White House. She was the daughter of former President George Bush's famous dog, Millie, and was given to George W. as a gift.

SCORE Offers Two-Part Program to Help Small Business Owners

Do you have a small business and find yourself struggling with the complexity of issues such as financing, taxes, cash flow, marketing? Does it seem overwhelming? Perhaps you have gotten through the start up cycle with your small business and now need help improving day to day operations, or expanding services. Would you like to have a team of experts to guide and council you - free of charge? SCORE - Counselors to America's Small Business, is a volunteer organization of business people that provides free confidential business counseling to help you through start up and/or ensure your existing business prospers.

On Tuesday, April 13, SCORE members will present an informative program to demonstrate how SCORE can help you. Held at the St. Anthony's Wellness Center in the Alton Square Mall at 6:30 pm, this program will introduce you to SCORE counselors, overview the counseling session - what it entails and what the client can expect to receive from the session, how to apply for counseling and important documents the client should be familiar with/ prepare for counseling sessions (business plans, financial worksheets, statements, etc.). Use the program as a chance to network with other small business owners and hear the success stories from owners who have used SCORE expertise to successfully grow their businesses.

The local Alton/Godfrey SCORE chapter serves seven counties with Alton as its center and is made up of over 40 counselors with expertise in 55 areas of business. Counselors with expertise in your particular business sector are also available for online support and counseling. Don't miss this opportunity to find out more about a key tool to the success of your small business dream.

This program is free of charge but does require registration. To register, call the Hayner Library Program Hotline at 1-800-613-3163. For inquiries about SCORE, call 618-467-2280, ask for Jan and she will mail you additional information.

Business Consumer Expo Coming April 3- with Lots of Surprises!

On Saturday, April 3, The Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois will sponsor its annual Business Expo at the Alton Square Mall. The Expo will run from 10:00 am until 8:00 pm and features some great events and surprises. During the day, throughout the mall, events will include Vendor Exhibits, children's activities, a Health Fair (12:00 noon-5 :00 pm), the highly popular Taste of the River Bend (12.00 noon-3:00 pm), a Pom Clinic (10 am-12:00 noon) and book signings by local authors at the Hayner Branch library (12:00-2:00 pm). Additionally, there will be a fashion show at 1:00 pm and 5:00 pm, and many more surprises.

For local business or civic groups, this is a great way to showcase your organization as an exhibitor. Last year, over 2,000 people attended the Expo. If you would like to participate as a vendor or would like additional information, call the Growth Association at 467-2280.

Don't miss this great event with truly something for everyone.

Exploring the Waters

On Monday, April 26 and Friday, April 30, 2004, Lewis and Clark Community College will host hundreds of fifth grade students and their science teachers in the second annual Water Stewardship Project, 'Exploring the Waters'. This program educates the students on how to ensure a healthy ecosystem. The theme 'Exploring the Waters' will present water education issues and relate them to the bicentennial commemoration of the Lewis & Clark expedition. An interactive water festival with dynamic activities that include a water treatment demonstration, migratory waterfowl display, portable dam display and a host of others activities designed to educate teachers and students about water and other environmental issues. The meeting on Monday the 26th will be a training day for 25-30 teachers who will then bring their students to the college on Friday, April 30 for the field day of activities. Approximately 1100 students attend. On Friday evening, the Sierra Club, Lewis and Clark Community College and The Hayner Public Library District will sponsor a presentation and author event for children as well as adults, to be held at Lewis and Clark Community College. The details of this event will be announced. Watch for flyers at the libraries and Sierra Club. Press releases will also be issued to the local media as more information is available.

THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Foster Township — Summer 2004 . Vol. XII, No. 3

Reorganizing Reference Services

We're changing to better serve you. With the creation of a new, district-wide Reference Services Department, Hayner Library will begin offering reference service at its Alton Square Branch and will increase the reference hours offered at its Main Library location. This new district-wide department will oversee reference services, readers' advisory services, and collection development for all three Hayner branches.

What can the Reference Services Department do for you? Librarians, all holding a Master's Degree in Library Science, staff this department. They are experienced in searching both print and electronic sources and can help you find the facts or information that you need. Questions have ranged from researching Abraham Lincoln's Alton area duel to finding who holds the home run record for Busch Stadium. (No, it's not Mark McGwire—it's Ray Lankford.) Whether you're writing a term paper or a novel, they can help you find the answers to your questions or direct you to the sources you need. They can even recommend a good read or prepare a list of books similar to those by your favorite author. This service is free of charge and available to anyone, and does not require that you have a Hayner library card.

Katie Schrimpf has been promoted from Adult Services & Reference Librarian to the District-wide Manager of Reference Services and Collection Development and will head this new department. She has been with Hayner for twenty years and holds a Master's Degree in Library Science from the University of Missouri, Columbia. Susan Kulasekara has returned to work as a full-time reference librarian in this new department. She is a twelve-year employee of the library, having previously served as Adult Services Librarian at the Main Library and part-time reference librarian. She holds a Master of Science Degree in Library and Information Science from the University of Illinois. Kelly Meier was recently hired as a full-time reference librarian. She brings strong computer skills to this job, having served as a consultant to the Illinois State Library and to the Lewis & Clark Library System and as a Reference Librarian at Edwardsville Public Library. She holds a Master's Degree in Library Science from Indiana University, Bloomington.

Reference service will be available almost all weekday and weekend hours with reference staff available throughout the library district. The hours include Monday through Thursday, 8-8; Friday 8-5; Saturday 9-5; Sunday 1-4. The department recently received a large bequest that it will use to update and expand the reference collections at all three branches, including the Youth Library. The new department will also expand reference coverage and patron access by evaluating and adding new online reference databases.

The department is working to expand readers' advisory services by offering new and interesting book displays, reading suggestions, "best book" and "readalike" lists, and additional evening book clubs.

Jeffrey Owen, Executive Director for the Hayner Public Library District, is very excited about being able to offer these extended services to the public. "We have put together an incredibly talented team of reference librarians who can be of huge service to our library patrons." Please stop at the Branch or Main Library and meet Katie, Susan and Kelly. They are anxious to work on finding the answers to your reference questions.

Change a life-Help a Child

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services wants to help you make a difference in the life of a local child. If you love young children and want to help foster a lifelong passion for reading, please call Riverbend Head Start & Family Services at 463-5946 to arrange a Project Shadow visit where you can live life again through the eyes of a young child. It only takes about an hour of your time. Visits can be scheduled at any of the agency's Head Start centers located in Alton, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Granite City or Venice.

Tips to Keep Kids Reading

West Elementary School has instituted a great program, "Take 15 for Family." The primary goal of this program is to give families ideas and suggestions on how to help their children at home with their homework and to encourage parents to take a more active role in communication with teachers. As the school year winds down, the program encourages parents to make sure they help their children to continue developing reading skills throughout the summer months. To this end, they offer the following reading tips you can use at home (adapted from The Parent Institute's "25 Ways Parents Can Read with Children"):

- Stop before the end of the story. Ask your child to predict what they think will happen next.
- After you finish a story, ask your child to think about how the story related to a personal experience they may have had.
- Ask your child how they might have changed the story

Look for unusual places for your daily reading time with your children, such as:

- Outside under a shady tree, in a sandbox or hammock, at a nearby park
- Toss a sheet over a clothesline or table to create a hideaway.
- Spread a blanket on the floor and have an indoor reading picnic.

Bow-wow Pow-wow – Barking and Books!

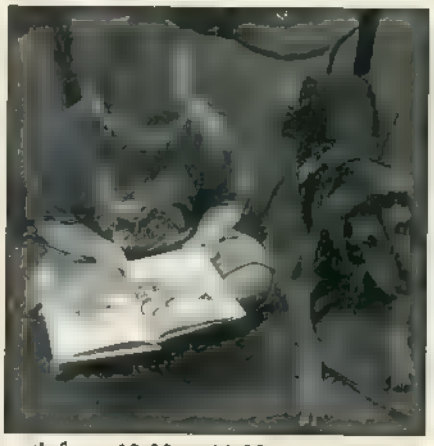
As ever, our monthly Bow-wow Pow-wow meetings have been great fun. June Walker, owner of Walker's Wee Glen Training Center, and fellow dog owners bring their certified therapy dogs to the library for kids to read to them. The kids have so much fun, they grow their love of reading, their confidence in their reading skills improves and they get to play with these wonderful, gentle animals. As word of the success of this program has spread, I have been contacted by libraries as far away as Colorado and North Carolina interested in starting their own reading programs.

The trainers who come every month are a wonderful group of people who so generously give of their time (and their dogs) for the benefit of the children. The library puts out a wide selection of books for the children to read, across different reading levels.

As a special incentive this summer, every child that attends three Bow-wow Pow-wow sessions between June and September will receive a prize of recognition! Let's make this a doggone reading summer! Remember, we meet on the second Saturday of each month from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m.



This program is free of charge but does require registration. To register, or for more information, call Bernadette at 462-0677. Come meet the gentle giant – Blue, Bella, TC, Bailey, Margo, Helen, Oliver, Barney …oh, and their owners, too!

Just for Fun!

Our therapy dogs have a great sense of humor. Here are some of the jokes they were telling at the last Bow-wow Pow-wow (really!).

Question: How many dogs does it take to change a light bulb?

Answer (by Breed):

Golden Retriever: "The sun is shining, the day is young, we've got our whole lives ahead of us and you're inside worrying about a stupid burned out bulb?"

Border Collie: "Just one. And then I'll replace any wiring that's not up to code."

Dachshund: "You know I can't reach that stupid lamp!"

Rottweiler: "Make me."

Lab: "Oh, me, me!!!!! Pleeeeeeeeze let me change the light bulb! Can I? Can I? Huh? Huh? Huh? Can I?"

German Shepherd: "I'll change it as soon as I've led these people from the dark, checked to make sure I haven't missed any, and make just one more perimeter patrol to see that no one has tried to take advantage of the situation."

Maltese: "Let the Border Collie do it. You can feed me while he's busy."

Jack Russell Terrier: "I'll just pop it in while I'm bouncing off the walls and furniture."

Poodle: "I'll just blow in the Border Collie's ear and he'll do it. By the time he finishes rewiring the house, my nails will be dry."

Cocker Spaniel: "Why change it? I can still go in the dark."

Chihuahua: "Yo quiero Taco Bulb."

Irish Wolfhound: "Can somebody else do it? I've got this hangover...."

Pointer: I see it, there it is, there it is, right there...."

Greyhound: "It isn't moving. Who cares?"

Old English Sheep Dog: "Light bulb? I'm sorry, but I don't see a light bulb."

Hound Dog: "zzzzzz zzzzzz zzzzzz....."

And finally.....

CAT: "Dogs do not change light bulbs. People change light bulbs. So, the question is: How long will it be before I can expect light?"

ALL OF WHICH PROVES, ONCE AGAIN, THAT WHILE DOGS HAVE MASTERS, CATS HAVE STAFF.....

Fines Feed Fido

During the month of April, if you had a current fine on Hayner material, we waived it in lieu of a contribution of pet food. We collected over 250 items which were donated to the Alton Area 5A Animal Shelter. This wonderful organization is completely funded through your donations and, as a no-kill shelter, is always fully populated with unwanted or abandoned pets. We are happy to support the 5A's via the amnesty program and hope we all continue to support them throughout the year.

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

Home by Design: Transforming Your House into a Home by Sarah Susanka. Nonfiction
The author of The Not So Big House and Creating the Not So Big House has crafted another visually stunning yet practical book about the way we live. When designing our homes, she says, we should look at the way we live and how we will use our rooms, rather than just slapping down a floor plan and sticking in windows and doors. To illustrate, she describes 28 of what she considers the best-designed homes in the U.S. As in her other books, the photographs are sumptuous and the information is practical and informative. Even though we may not all be able to have homes like those shown in the book, everyone can use the ideas she puts forth here. –Susan K.

Power of One by Bryce Courtenay. Fiction
Bryce Courtenay's Power of One is set in WWII era South Africa, where seven-year-old Peekay suffers horrible abuse at boarding school because he is English. After a chance meeting with a boxer on a train, young Peekay sets a goal that will guide him for the rest of his life—to become a welterweight boxing champion. Wonderful characters, both mentors and villains, teach and challenge Peekay to act "first with the head, then with the heart," and to believe in himself, and know the power of one. Courtenay's beautiful writing brings South Africa alive, with its music, atmosphere, and mix of cultures. This is a must-read book that you will recommend to others over and over again. –Katie S.

SuperFoods Rx: Fourteen Foods That Will Change Your Life by Steven G. Pratt, M.D. Nonfiction
SuperFoods Rx is based on an examination of the macro and micronutrients in 14 super foods, with their vitamin, mineral, and phytonutrient health benefits. The greatest health benefit of micronutrient enriched foods are their activity as powerful antioxidants in combating free radicals which have been conclusively linked to heart disease, cancer, diabetes, arthritis, vision problems, Alzheimer's disease, and premature aging. SuperFoods Rx identifies the richest sources of micronutrients in foods with the idea that the body benefits immeasurably from a constant rich infusion of phytonutrients, as well as all macro and other micronutrients. Sections describing each of the 14 super foods evaluate the amazing ability of each food to combat and prevent disease. –Lona F.

The Bookseller of Kabul by Asne Seierstad. Nonfiction
Following the Taliban's flight in Afghanistan, the author offers an intimate view of the daily life of an educated Afghan bookseller and his extended family, revealing the oppressive life of women living in a strictly male-dominated society. Sultan Kahn, the bookseller, prevails in keeping his bookstores going in the midst of destruction, and rules his household, offering little freedom to its members. At times frightening and fascinating, this story depicts a culture we know little about, a culture shrouded in tradition, waiting to lift the veil to a modern and free life. —Jean S.

Desserts That Have Killed Better Men Than Me by Jeremy Jackson. Nonfiction
For those faint of heart (or stomach), stop reading. For those with a penchant for desserts so good you'll cry, read on! Whether you enjoy fruits, cakes, puddings, or pies, this book has a recipe to suit every taste. Such recipes include Strawberry Crème Brulee, Chocolate Sinkholes, Hot Vanilla, Extra Cinnamon Bubble Bread, and Baked Pears with Pine Nuts, Dried Cherries, and Golden Raisins! If you are looking for a cookbook that has one fantastic recipe after another, look no further than this. –Mary P.

An Unpardonable Crime by Andrew Taylor. Fiction
If you enjoy reading atmospheric period thrillers, which are based on historical facts, then include An Unpardonable Crime to your reading list; the 2003 winner of the CWA Ellis Peters Dagger award for historical mysteries. The story moves from the dense, foggy streets of London, England to the stark winter landscape of Gloucestershire during the winter of 1819. The story's narrator is Thomas Shield, a young schoolmaster, whose charges include 10-year-old Edgar Allan Poe. Once you've finished the book, this multilayered literary murder mystery will have you asking yourself a few questions about the life of Edgar Allen Poe. You may also want to read Poe's poem William Wilson. – Kelly M.

The Raffety Family
An Evening of Gospel Music

Tuesday, June 15, 6:30 p.m.

The Raffety Family, Kay, John and their son Matthew, are returning for an encore performance of their wonderful Southern gospel music. Well-known throughout the area, they frequently perform together in their church choir. Don't miss this opportunity to hear the inspiring music of this talented family. At their last performance for Hayner Library, they received standing ovations! This program will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey IL. It is free of charge but requires registration. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Dan LeMonnier
Chin Music

Tuesday, June 22, 6:30 p.m.

Dan has been caught telling stories all his life and has taken his combination of music, wit and animation around the world, from Shanghai to the Smithsonian Institute and to the 53rd Presidential Inaugural. In the old days, if you were to sit back, sing songs and tell tales, you were making "Chin Music." Dan will perform a collection of songs and stories "just for the fun of it". Join us for a wonderful evening of stories, songs, tall tales, laughter and memories. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Chautauqua Actor/Scholars
Changed Lives: Lewis and Clark Meet the West

Monday, June 21-Saturday, June 26

During the week of the Heartland Chautauqua, the Actor Scholars will be visiting the Main library every morning at 10:00. They will give you an insight into the different historical figures they portray, how research and character development were accomplished and provide fascinating insight into this important time in history. Come find out more about such historical figures as York, George Drouillard, Sacajawea, Andrew Jackson, Sac & Fox Native Americans and Shawnee Native Americans
For complete schedule, see page 11. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Meet the Author- Harry Spiller
Vietnam: Angel of Death
Friday, July 16, 10:30-11:30 a.m.

In partnership with OASIS and BJC Plus, we will present Harry Spiller, author of Vietnam: Angel of Death. Mr. Spiller's book details his experiences of two tours of duty in Vietnam as a Marine and his subsequent service as a Marine recruiter in Southern Illinois and southeast Missouri, also during the Vietnam War. He will discuss these experiences and the impact they had on his life. Copies of his book will be available for purchase during the program. Register with OASIS at 465-1490 or by calling 1-800-613-3163.

Denise Wilson and Michael Lewis
Traveler's Dreams
Sunday, July 18, 1:30 p.m.

Traveler's Dream performs music of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries using historical and modern instruments such as fife, fiddle, Scottish smallpipes, guitar, mandolin, Irish flute, bodhran and penny whistles. As Midwesterners, they pull their repertoire from the songs and tunes carried to this region by settlers from France, Ireland, Scotland and Eastern America. In this program, you will enjoy listening to a combination of French voyageur songs, Irish jigs and reels, Scottish marches, American military tunes and songs and ballads from both sides of the Atlantic. This is music that would have been familiar to Meriwether Lewis, William Clark and the men who journeyed with them. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Carol Gavin and Charlotte Herren
A Little Bit of Broadway
Tuesday, July 27, 6:30 p.m.

Join pianists Charlotte Herren and Carol Galvin for an evening of music straight from the Great White Way! Listen and sing-a-long to the greatest all time hits from Rogers and Hammerstein, Lerner and Lowe, Cole Porter, Ira Gershwin and more. "It's a grand night for singing!" Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Danny O'Day
Thief of Badgags
August 10, 6:30 p.m.

Come hear comedian and song stylist Danny O'Day perform his stand up routine that will take you back to the years of vaudeville. His program combines singing and a large dose of old jokes that will make you groan and laugh at the same time. Performing his routine for the better part of the last 70 years, Danny is well-known in and around St. Louis. The self-proclaimed "Thief of Bad Gags" is sure to delight you – and he promises to live up to his billing as "the only clean stand-up comic still alive!". Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Kelly Meier
Ebay Basics
Thursday, August 12, 5:30 – 7:30 p.m.

Are you in the dark about Ebay or anxious to learn how to sell your "stuff" over the internet for fun and profit? Join us for a training session in Ebay basics and learn how to participate in an online auction site. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Bobby Norfolk
Through the Eyes of York
Tuesday, August 17, 6:30 p.m.

York was the slave of William Clark and the only African American to join the Corps of Discovery on the Lewis and Clark expedition. Bobby Norfolk portrays York in this one man program. Bobby tells the fascinating story of York's long struggle to freedom, recounting his early life as a slave, his experiences during the long journey, his return to slavery following the trip and finally his emancipation. Don't miss this riveting performance. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Configurations
A Return to the Classics
Tuesday, August 24, 6:30 p.m.

Configurations is a St. Louis-based Chamber ensemble consisting of Alison Thompson playing violin, Christine Banda on viola and James Nacy on cello. All three members have played with different orchestras nationally and garnered numerous awards and recognition. The program will consist of a wonderful combination of Bach, Mozart, Strauss and more. This is a great opportunity to experience some of the world's most beautiful music. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Rob Compton
Babaloo-Music and Fun
Thursday, September 1, 6:30 p.m.

Babaloo is a hysterically funny program of music and yarns. He specializes in wacky, interactive musical performances. For all ages, don't miss the musical fun of Babaloo. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Hayner Youth Library

EXPLORE THE READING TRAIL, 2004

Kickoff for summer reading club is Saturday, June 5, 9:00 a.m. until close at the Youth Library and Sunday 9:30 a.m. – close at the Branch Library. Register in person at either location. We regret we cannot accept registrations by phone. Children under twelve must be registered by a parent or guardian. Teens, ages 12-15, may sign up on their own. Summer reading club registration closes Saturday, July 3rd. Registration for activity programs closes when all available places are filled. All programs at the library are provided free of charge. Due to space limits only residents or cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District may attend summer activity programs at the library.

Kids from birth through fifteen are invited to participate in the Explore the Reading Trail, Summer Reading Club at Hayner Public Library this summer. Pre-readers may participate if an adult agrees to read to them.

Participants agree to read at least six hours to complete the program and win a free paperback book of their choice. Time sheets must be returned to the Youth Library no later than Saturday, July 24th, in order to qualify. There are additional prizes for those who read 12, 18, 24, and 30 hours. Those who read 30 hours or more are listed on the Famous Wall of Fame display at the Youth Library all summer.

Award books and other prizes will be distributed at the End of Summer Party on Thursday, July 29th from 6-8 p.m. at the The Commons Building at Lewis & Clark Community College. The party will also feature a catered meal and a horse drawn stage coach will be providing live carriage rides! If you cannot attend the party you can pick up your award book at the Youth Library any time between July 30th and August 31st.

Summer schools and other community agencies can participate as outreach sites for the summer reading club. Please call Gloria Mitchell at 462-0652 for more information.

To register for activity programs children must be age specified by June 1, 2004. No programs meet the week of July 4th thru July 10th. The library will be closed July 4th.

Discover the Secrets of Hayner Public Library District

Did you ever wonder what goes on behind the scenes at a library…. who processes all those hundreds of new print and nonprint materials that come in daily? How are overdues and lost materials tracked? What exactly is the long running project to index previous years of the Alton Telegraph? What is interlibrary loan? What is weeding? Who and how does staff repair damaged books and other materials? Who are the people that make up the 50+ person staff of the three library locations and what do they do?

It is a huge job and takes a lot of hard work to offer you all the services and support you receive at the Hayner Public Library District. Circulating over 45,000 items each month is also complemented by offering a full schedule of youth and adult programs, internet services, genealogy research and more. It really is fascinating to see what goes on beyond the circulation desk. If you or your organization would like to discover the secret world of running libraries, call the Library's administrative office (462-0677) and we would love to set up a tour for you.

College Information Available Online

The Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) College Opportunities On-line (COOL) is a direct link to nearly 7,000 colleges and universities in the country. Whether for large universities, small liberal arts colleges, specialized schools, community colleges, career or technical colleges, or trade schools, IPEDSCOOL offers information on enrollment, awards/degrees conferred, cost (updated for 2004) and financial aid, accreditation and campus crime statistics. And, for the first time, it has graduation rates based on first-time, full-time degree-seeking undergraduate students; the rate is broken down by bachelor degree-seeking students, gender and race.

College Opportunities On-line helps you find out about a specific college or set of colleges. It is maintained by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in the U.S. Department of Education. NCES was authorized by the Congress in 1998 to help college students, future students and their parents understand the differences between colleges and how much it costs to attend college. For more information or to access the IPEDS link, go to http://nces ed.gov/ipeds/cool/.

Call out for Cookbooks!

Often a people's history and culture is largely reflected in the food they eat. How food is prepared and the ingredients used vary dramatically within different regions of the country and also have changed dramatically over the years, as lifestyle changes have occurred. In the interest of preserving this fascinating depiction of our changing world (and isn't everyone interested in food?), Hayner Library is instituting a project to develop a collection of local area cookbooks. You know the kind…those produced by churches and civic organizations with recipes donated by the organization's membership as a means of fund raising. If you own any of these cookbooks and are willing to donate them to the Library, they will be kept in the Illinois Room for all the community to enjoy. We would love the collection to include both current and older cookbooks. If you are a church or civic organization, perhaps you would also consider donating examples of cookbooks you may have published. Again, we are not looking for commercially published cookbooks (we do have a wonderful selection of those in our circulating collection), but the locally printed books with recipes from our own friends and families. Be sure to visit the Illinois Room to enjoy this growing collection.

Senior Services Plus Builds Onsite Library

The Hayner Public Library District is partnering with Senior Services Plus. A small lending library is being organized at the Senior Services Plus Building on North Rodgers in Alton. The library will be named for the late Wayne Stice. Mr Stice was the husband of Rosann Stice. Rosann has served as Senior Services Plus Interim Director and is currently Director of the Foster Grandparent program. Senior Services staff contributed funding for the library in Mr. Stice's memory. The library will be manned by volunteers from Hayner Library and Senior Services Plus and will be open from 10:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Large print books will be provided on loan by Hayner Library and rotated to keep the collection fresh. A dedication ceremony was held on Monday, May 17, 2004. Hayner Library looks forward to instituting another avenue for patrons to have access to library materials. If you have any questions or would like more information on this project or other library volunteer opportunities, contact Stephanie Munson at the Hayner Main Library, 462-0651.

Genealogy Notes

The Genealogy and Indexing Department has been working hard (as ever) and the Alton Telegraph Index is now complete for the years of 1836 through 1941. Patrons can look up family information and items of interest using our extensive index. The years 1970 through 1994 are also complete and available for use. Also, remember that our Genealogy Staff is available for consultation to help you with your genealogy research. There is no fee for this service but an appointment is necessary. To schedule an appointment, call Hayner Genealogy at 462-0677.

Patron Profile Phillip and Cherie Mazzone

I had a delightful time interviewing Philip and Cherie Mazzone for this issue's patron profile. What a charming couple! Phil and Cherie are avid library users, well- known to both the Branch and Main Library staff. Cherie, originally from a small town outside of Cleveland, Ohio, first met Phil when she was working as a third grade teacher in Elmhurst, IL, a suburb of Chicago, her first job after college. Phil, originally from Elmhurst himself, was serving in the Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago. Phil worked with IBM Tabulating Equipment and laughs recalling how the punch card system evolved into today's computer technology. Phil and Cherie met in 1955 and were married in 1957. In September of this year, they will be married 47 years.

After his discharge from the army and finishing his last year of college, Phil worked for a short time in the family business before going to work for Leo Burnett Advertising and subsequently, Ryerson Steel. Cherie left teaching to work as the Program Director for Girls at the Elmhust YMCA. After living in Elmhurst for 11 years, the Mazzones moved to Boston, where Phil took a job with a publishing firm. They also now had two children – a daughter, Cara, and a son, Peter. Cherie said they loved living in New England. They lived in an older home that needed updating "when the spirit moved us". Cherie laughingly recounts one night they were lying in bed and she was looking at the original wallpaper and she said "I really hate the wallpaper". Phil quickly agreed with her and they spent the rest of the night, until 3:00 a.m., stripping the walls (reminds me of the anecdote of Oscar Wilde's last words "I am in the duel to the death with this wallpaper. One of us has to go").

After five and a half years in Boston, the Mazzones decided it was time to make a major lifestyle change away from the corporate world. They had always dreamed of living out west, so they packed up and moved to Sedona, Arizona, where they dreamed of perhaps buying their own business. During their three years in Sedona, Cherie worked in a restaurant and Phil worked for a builder, as office manager for a local hospital and even as a house roofer – not the easiest job under the hot Arizona sun. Cherie commented that the children loved living in Sedona and have wonderful memories of their three years there, "playing the Waltons". The Mazzones commented how many special friends they made over the years, mentioning Sedona specifically. While there, they lived next door to a much respected cowboy artist, Gary Niblett (Mr. Niblett also painted the background for the original Scooby Doo cartoons). It was Mr. Niblett who recognized the exceptional talent of the Mazzone's son, Peter, and recommended against formal training, believing it would be more effective for Peter to develop his own artistic styles. Their other friends and neighbors included the founder of a major music company, one of the prime photographers for National Geographic, and an engineer who built bridges all over the world including the Medley Bridge which connects Sedona to Oak Creek Canyon and consequently to Flagstaff.

The Mazzone's next move brought them to Elsah Hills where Cherie worked for Principia College in the Financial Aid Office and Phil was the Director of Book Stores for the Principia campus in Elsah and St. Louis. After 12 years, they left Elsah to move to Shippensburg, a small town in Pennsylvania. There, Phil worked at Shippensburg University in a similar capacity as his job at Principia. Cherie worked as a teacher's aide in Special Ed. At this time, their son, Peter, was living in the nearby Chambersburg with his family which included a grandson and granddaughter for the Mazzones. Peter and his wife build unique high-quality furniture pieces which are truly works of art. Cherie commented that Peter is artistically talented and paints when time allows. They are very proud of his achievements.

They are similarly proud of their daughter, Cara, who lives in Edwardsville with her two daughters. Cara thoroughly enjoys her work as a Program Assistant for Madison County the ETC/CEO school in Alton. She is a wonderful caring person and, like her brother, a great parent. Cherie and Phil agree that they are most proud of their children. Consequently, on Phil's retirement, they decided to move back to Alton to give 'equal time' to their grandchildren by their daughter and to reconnect with the many friends they had left behind. Interestingly, prior to the move back to Alton, Phil became involved with a group of investors who were initiating a joint venture with dairies in Belaruse (a former country of the Soviet Union) to make cheese. He ended up making three one-month trips to this country, living on farms part of the time and getting to know the people. He recounts that this was a fascinating experience.

Their life now in Alton revolves around their daughter's children, their many friends, updating their current home, gardening, walking and, of course, books. They frequent the library often and find the staff to be "just delightful". Cherie loves mysteries and biographies. Phil also enjoys mysteries, is most interested in history, particularly World War II, and anything about the Enigma code. Phil is teaching himself Italian as he and Cherie are planning a future trip to Italy to visit the town where Phil's father was born. We look forward to hearing about the trip. I am sure they will make many great friends wherever they go.

2004 Heartland Chautauqua Coming this June!

We are thrilled that Heartland Chautauqua is returning to Alton June 21st through the 26th. This year's event is titled Changed Lives: Lewis and Clark Meet the West. Throughout the week, a team of five scholars will present evening programs under a big top tent representing people from the Lewis and Clark era. There will also be presentations from Native American spokespeople and first-person historical characterizations. Other festivities include musical entertainment as part of the evening activities. These events will take place at Haskell Park in Alton.

Monday night, June 21st is the community tent raising which has been great fun in the past. Each night, there will be musical entertainment starting at 7:00 p.m. The actor/scholar performance will start promptly at 7:45 p.m. Also, picnic suppers, catered by Golden Corral, will be available at tent side Tuesday through Saturday at 6:00 p.m. for $8.00.

The 2004 Heartland Chautauqua Troupe includes the following actor/scholar characterizations: Hasen Davis portrays York, slave to Co-captain William Clark. Darrel Draper portrays George Drouillard, hunter, interpreter and Indian Sign talker. Joyce Hunsaker portrays the Indian woman Sacajawea, the only female member of the expedition. Ted Jackson portrays Andrew Jackson, 7th president of the United States. Sandra Kaye Massey is a representative of the Sac & Fox Native Americans. Lewis and Clark encountered the Sac & Fox when they camped in Wood River, IL. Glenna Wallace, a member of the Eastern Shawnee, represents the Shawnee Native Americans that Lewis and Clark encountered in both Missouri and Illinois. For a complete schedule or for more information, contact the Alton Regional Convention and Visitors Bureau at 1-800-ALTON-IL or 618-4654-6676. All the performances are free of charge. This event is sponsored by the Illinois Humanities Council, The Missouri Humanities Council and The Alton Marketplace.

Visit with Chautauqua Actor/Scholars at Hayner Main Library.

During the week Heartland Chautauqua will be in Alton, we will have daily programs by the individual actor/scholars. These programs will be held at 10:00 a.m. in the Reading Room of the Main Library. They are free of charge but do require registration. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. The program schedule follows: Monday, June 21, Hasan Davis "The Past is not Just the Past"; Tuesday, June 22, Joyce Badgley Hunsaker "After the Expedition, Pomp: An Extraordinary Life"; Wednesday, June 23, Darrel Draper "Follow the Stars with Lewis and Clark"; Thursday, June 24, Ted Jackson "The Field of Honor: Maybe it's a Guy Thing," Friday, June 25, Sandra Kaye Massey "Jim Thorpe"; and Saturday, June 26, Glenna J. Wallace "Tecumseh". During these programs, the actor/scholar will give you insight into their characters' development and time in history. This is a great opportunity to interact with the performers and will give you a greater appreciation for the evening performance in Haskell Park when the actors perform "in character."

Vintage Voices Resound in Alton!

Many of us don't realize how much history and how many colorful personalities of the past are buried in the Alton City Cemetery. To help preserve these histories, the YWCA of Alton and Alton Little Theater are bringing back the popular series, Vintage Voices, with all new characterizations. The program will be repeated each of the first three Saturdays in October. The fourth Saturday will be held as a rain date. The program consists of a tour of the Alton City Cemetery, stopping at different grave sites where actors will recreate the character of the deceased, recounting their life and times. The personalities are a combination of famous members of Alton's past histories and others less well-known. An example of just a few of the personalities we will meet this year include Eunice Smith, one of Alton's greatest benefactors, John D. Hayner, founder of the Jennie D. Hayner Library, Lawson A. Parks, one of two founders of the Alton Telegraph in 1836 and Francis Maguire, a young deaf woman who died in the flood of 1912 with her small daughter in her arms.

This event in the past has always been fascinating and full of fun. It runs from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. and costs $12 per person. A special ticket price will be available for children or groups of ten or more. For more information, prior to August 1, call the YWCA at 465-7774. After August 1, for ticket and program information, call 474-2006. This is a great way for the whole family to spend a beautiful fall day together. The event has been growing each year in popularity so make sure to get your tickets early!

Vintage Voices- Preview at Hayner Main Library

Two special programs are being offered at the Hayner Main Library as a preview to the Vintage Voices Series offered by the YWCA and Alton Little Theater in October 2004 (see above). On Sunday, August 22, 1:30-3:30 p.m., Diana Enloe, member of the Board of Governors for Alton Little Theater, will conduct a workshop, From Page to Stage, focusing on how to write a monologue for historical performance. She will identify how to research characterizations, how to use historical data, personal journals, newspaper accounts and more to develop first person narrations. This fun, informative workshop is for all ages and all skill levels – aspiring play writers and historians don't want to miss this unique opportunity! This program is free of charge and will be held at the Hayner Main Library at 326 Belle Street, Alton. Please register at 1-800-613-3163.

On Thursday, September 9th at 6:30 p.m., the Main Library will present A Taste of Vintage Voices. The actors who will be performing in the Vintage Voices event on Saturdays in October will give us a preview of their monologues and then will step out of character for questions and to solicit feedback. This is a wonderful way to interact with the performers and get a glimpse of the fun to come. The program is free but registration is required at 1-800-613-3163.

Congratulations to SCORE!!!

The 10,500 volunteers of SCORE, Service Corps of Retired Executives, were honored during National Volunteer Week on April 21 with a reception held at the White House for 40 years of volunteer service to the small business community across the nation. The volunteer counselors of the Alton/Godfrey chapter of SCORE work with several hundred clients each year.

A growing business collection, available at the Hayner Library, ranks as a major resource for both business owners and entrepreneurs in our area. This spring, SCORE made a donation to Hayner Library which will be used to augment the business reference holdings at the Hayner Branch Library. The success of many area businesses is due, in part, to the partnership of SCORE, Hayner Library, the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois and Lewis and Clark Community College.

Attending the White House ceremony was N. Gail Weinrich of Godfrey, the SCORE District Director for the 13 SCORE chapters in Illinois and a member of the SCORE Association's Washington-based Advisory Council. SCORE counseling for small business success is available locally by calling 467-2280, or logging on to score@lc.edu (email) or www.score.org. All counseling is free and confidential.

For Women by Women Seminar- Coming in September

Members of SCORE, The Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois, Hayner Library and local business women work each year to produce a high-quality seminar covering topics of interest to woman in today's volatile and challenging business environment. The 2004 For Women by Women Seminar will be held at the Alton Holiday Inn on Thursday, September 23. Put this date aside now and look for more details in the Fall Newsletter or for questions, call the Growth Association at 467-2280. If you would like to volunteer some time to the conference committee, we always welcome new faces! If interested, call 467-2280.

Voter Registration Support Available at Library Locations

At both the Main Library and Branch Library, staff is available to register you to vote. It is a simple process that only requires a few minutes. You do need to have two forms of ID, one of which must be a photo ID with your current address (driver's license or state ID).

On July 27, from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., a staff member at the Alton Square Branch Library will be dedicated strictly to doing voter registration. We will repeat this exercise in the fall. However, most of the Library Assistants at both the Main and Branch are certified to register, so you can ask one of them to help you next time you are in the library. An appointment is not necessary. With the national elections this fall, be sure to register so you are ready to participate in voting.

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Foster Township — Fall 2004 — Vol. XII, No. 3

Library Calls on Community in Updating Long Range Plan

In May, 2004, The Hayner Public Library District completed an extensive effort to update its long range plan. Initially, the Library District began the planning process by conducting a random public survey funded by a grant from the Illinois State Library. As a result of the survey, the process defined in The New Planning for Results (Public Library Association, 2001) was chosen to guide the development of a new long range plan, covering the years 2004-2009. The Hayner Library Board of Trustees determined the most efficient means of addressing this task was to enlist the assistance of a library consulting firm. Wiseman Consulting and Training, Inc. was hired for this purpose. The consultants facilitated the planning process which was a collaborative effort between community stakeholders and members of The Hayner Public Library District Staff.

A community planning committee was identified based on the input of various constituencies and HPLD staff. The committee was responsible for crafting a community vision, identifying community needs, prioritizing the needs best addressed by the library and reviewing the progress and drafts of the planning document. The participants on the community planning committee included Ms. Rita Backstrom, Deputy Director, Department of Development and Housing, City of Alton, Ms. Ann Bromaghim, President YWCA Board of Trustees, Mayor Michael J. Campion, Village of Godfrey, Dr. Kevin Chapel, DMD, Dr. Linda Chapman, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Lewis and Clark Community College, Ms. Diana Enloe, Community Service Volunteer, Dr. Leo R. Green, MD Retired Physician, Mr. Patrick J. Heitzig, Senior Vice President, Cornerstone Bank and Trust NA, Mr. Jim Kulp, Retired Editor, Alton Telegraph, Ms Dorothy R. Nagy, Supervisor, Foster Township and Mr. Gail Weinrich, District Director, SCORE. Members of Library staff that participated in the planning committee included Ms. Gladys Butler, Ms. Bernadette Duvernoy and Ms Barbara Ulffers. Mr. Jeffrey A. Owen, Hayner Library Executive Director and Ms. Susan Huber, President, Hayner Library Board of Trustees completed the planning committee. Output of the work sessions resulted in defining the library's mission statement and vision statements, its core values and five key service responses that will be the library's focus for the next five years. Each service response was defined in terms of goals and objectives. Further planning process will include a Service Response Team, comprised of library staff and community focus groups, to develop ongoing programs and services designed to respond to the needs identified by the committee.

Copies of The Hayner Public Library District Long Range Plan 2004-2009 are available at all three library locations. We encourage you to pick one up and review the service responses, goals and objectives as determined through the efforts of library staff and community stake holders. We thank all the participants for their hard work and generous donation of their personal time to complete this effort.

Small Changes Have Big Importance

Historically, libraries have referred to their users as patrons This newsletter as well as the staff at the three Hayner library locations have adhered to this tradition. However, sometimes traditions need to be updated. The Webster's New World Dictionary and Thesaurus has three definitions for "patron". In order of preferred usage, patron is defined as 1) a protector, benefactor 2) a person, usually wealthy, who sponsors and supports some person, activity, etc. and 3) (least common) a regular customer. While we would love to think of all our cardholders as "usually wealthy protectors", that is not quite relevant. But you ARE our customers. Our goal is to provide you goods and services of the highest quality to deserve your business. We feel it is time to update our vocabulary. Referring to cardholders as customers helps to consistently reinforce for all the members of The Hayner Public Library District staff the importance of providing you high quality, friendly service, while maintaining a high level of knowledge about our "products" and thus ensuring your return "business". It may seem like a little change but the meaning behind it is most significant.

Who Let the Dogs out?

The dogs are out and they are all at the Hayner Youth Library every second Saturday each month for a Bow-wow Pow-wow. School is back in session and it is more important than ever that you help you child develop strong reading skills. One of the best (and certainly most fun) ways of developing these skills is to participate in our Bow-wow Pow-wow sessions. Every second Saturday of the month, from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m., we bring in certified therapy dogs for kids to read to. They love it! They get to read to the dogs, play with them, love on them and have a great time reading in a totally relaxed and non-threatening environment. It teaches the child that reading is fun and that libraries are more than just buildings that hold books. Handlers provide the therapy trained dogs, the library provides the books, you provide the smiling faces. This program is free off charge – just register at 1-800-613-3163.

Meet our wonderful handlers who, over the last year and a half, have so generously given many hours of their time to ensure the success of the Bow-wow Pow-wow program.

Things We Can Learn From Our Dogs.....

When family members come home,
drop what you are doing and run to greet them.
Let others know when they have invaded your territory.
Take naps, stretch before rising.
Run, romp and play daily.
Eat with gusto and concentration.
Be loyal.
Never pretend to be something you're not.
If what you want lies buried, dig until you find it.
When someone is having a bad day- be silent, sit close and nuzzle him or her gently.
Avoid biting when a simple growl will do.
When you are happy, dance around and wiggle your entire body.
No matter how often you're scolded, never pout.
Run right back and make friends.
Delight in the simple joys of a long walk.

Check out Exciting New Services at the Library!!

Redesigned District Web Site
The Hayner Public Library District has recently redesigned their web site at www.haynerlibrary.org. New site features include an online reserve form for forthcoming book titles; an updated list of new DVDs and videos, and access to your library account. New web pages have been added, including a site for kids and another site for teens. Also, check out FAQ for general library information. Come visit us!

Computer Tutor
Need some help with using a computer? Are you confused with the difference between an email address and a web address? Schedule a one-on-one tutoring session with your personal computer tutor, Kelly at our Alton Square Branch location. Sixty minute sessions can be scheduled for most Fridays from 9:30 am to 3:30 pm. Call 463-1276 or email kellymeier@lcls.org.

Graphic Novels
Sometimes referred to as comic books, graphic novels feature stories that are set to artwork. Graphic novels, like other reading materials, are written for children, young adults or adults. The Hayner Public Library District, in an effort to reach out to the young adult population of Alton and Godfrey, has begun collecting graphic novels. Watch for displays of our new materials this Fall.

Reading Rockets
The Reading Rockets is a reading club for elementary school age girls. The girls pick a book for the group to read and discuss. The group is lead by Library Assistant Susan Dykeman. They meet the first Monday of each month at 4:30 pm at the Branch Library.

Voter Registration
The Hayner Branch Library will be holding a Voter Registration Drive on Wednesday, September 22 from 4 to 8 pm. Both the Main and the Branch Libraries have staff members deputized to complete voter registration throughout the coming weeks.

New Learning Aids – Great for Students and Home-schoolers!
The Branch Library will soon add multivolume educational video series to their collection. The video series will cover a broad range of topics from US history and government to math and grammar. The videos are made for students from kindergarten to high school and most are about 30 minutes long. These videos are a wonderful way to help students with their lessons, as they make learning fun! Parents, teachers, home-schoolers, and students (as well as anyone wanting to brush up on their basics) should check them out!

Computers for Kids
The Branch library has installed 6 computers in the Children's area. The computers have online access, educational games, and online library databases. All children 15 and under must use these computers. Printing charges are still .15/black and white .30/color. You must sign in at the Circulation desk for use. Children must have a library card and both child and parent must sign the computer agreement. Children under 8 years old must have a parent with them while they use the computer.

That's Entertainment!

The following reviews are of CDs, DVDs and Videos that are particular favorites of library staff.

CD
Dig My Mood by Nick Lowe—This wonderful CD is a collection of songs that fuses torch music, rockabilly, and R&B together seamlessly. The intelligent lyrics are complemented perfectly by Lowe's gentle and unassuming voice. A real gem.

DVD/ VHS
Bill Monroe: The Legend Lives On—If you love bluegrass music (or would like to learn more about it), this is the DVD for you! Disc 1 features more than 15 artists paying (playing!) tribute to the songs of Bill Monroe—the father of Bluegrass music. Disc 2 features commentary from artists who worked and collaborated with Monroe over his prolific career. This is a DVD everyone should love.

Spellbound—This critically acclaimed documentary follows the lives of 8 students as they journey towards their lifelong goal of winning the National Spelling Bee. Viewers of this DVD will become attached to the students and their families, and will feel the emotional ups and downs that come with competing in this prestigious competition. This is no ordinary documentary—it will have you laughing, crying, thinking, and cheering as the students make their way to the competition. G-R-E-A-T!!!

Midsomer Murders—There are several volumes of this mystery series available at the library (so far three seasons have been released), and each one is more addictive than the last! Based upon the Inspector Barnaby books by Caroline Graham, this series is a "cozy" English mystery with just the right amount of zing to keep it interesting. A nice mix between Miss Marple/Poirot and Inspector Morse.

In America—If you're looking for a beautiful story about a young family that moved from Ireland to the U.S., this is the one to see. In the 1980's, the immigrant family had all experienced the loss of their son and brother and were in New York City for a fresh start. The father is a struggling actor and cab driver and the mother got a job at "Heaven", the ice cream store on their block. The two daughters are joyful and full of hope as they learn about American customs. The daughters teach the parents how to appreciate their unusual neighbors and one neighbor has a very powerful and spiritual influence on the whole family. The ending is awesome! (this film won 3 academy awards)

The Natural History of the Chicken. Mark Lewis, 2001. (VHS)—Take 60 minutes and come meet Mike, Liza, Cotton, Valerie, and Moonrooster. The documentary made its U.S. theatrical debut at Sundance 2001. Interspersed between highlighting these wonderful chicken personalities and their owners is a glimpse of the factory farming industry, which illustrates another reason to pay a little extra at the market for those cage free eggs You'll also meet a free range chicken farmer, a cock fighter, and an oddball red-and-white Danny's Fried Chicken delivery vehicle, a late-model gas-guzzler creatively adorned with one very huge decorative chicken head.

Get the Smartest Card @ Your Library

Some cards in your wallet could cost you the world. The smartest card – your library card- can deliver the world to you. Your library card is your ticket to a world of opportunity. With the Smartest Card, you have access to a goldmine of books, magazines, audio books, CDs, videos and DVDs, not to mention computers and Internet access. It's all @ your library and it's all free.

Madison County Arts Council Has a New Home

The Jacoby Family, owners for years of the Jacoby Furniture Building, has generously donated this facility to the Madison County Arts Council. What an exciting development for downtown Alton as well as our entire community! The building will be developed in stages over a three year period and will eventually house classrooms for children and adults, exhibition space, individual artist studios and rehearsal/performing arts venues. The Jacoby Arts Center welcomes everyone – all ages, cultures and backgrounds – to participate in its activities and programs. Fall classes start on September 13 and the weekend of September 18 and 19 will be dedicated to Grand Opening Activities. Individual, family, patron and benefactor memberships are welcome. For more information on classes, the facility, membership and the Grand Opening Gala, contact the Jacoby Arts Center at 618- 462-5222 or email MCAC@lc.edu. The Arts Center is located at 627 East Broadway, Alton, IL.

Fine Amnesty to Benefit Boys and Girls Club of Alton!

As most of our faithful library customers are aware, several times a year we hold amnesty programs during which we waive current fines on Hayner library materials in lieu of a small donation. In the past, we have asked you to bring in food items that can be donated to a local food crisis center and we have also run an amnesty program based on donations of pet food/pet care items that are then provided to the 5 A's animal shelter. You have responded generously to these programs and we certainly intend to continue sponsoring them.

This September we are sponsoring a new amnesty program. From September 1 through September 30, we will waive overdue fines when any of the following donations are made: new books (age appropriate for 6-18 years), school supplies, hygiene supplies. These items will be donated to the Boys and Girls Club of Alton (BGCA). This wonderful organization serves as a place for kids to go after school to socialize as well as participate in sports and various learning activities. The BGCA strongly emphasizes reading activities though books are always in short supply. Many of the kids that attend the BGCA come from low income families that cannot afford basic commodities such as school supplies and personal hygiene products. BGCA will make sure your donations get distributed equitably to the kids as rewards for accomplishments in their various reading programs.

Please help us make this amnesty program a success. Bring in one item as described above for each overdue fine and we will waive that fine. This program applies to Hayner material only and current fines only.

Friends of the Library Preparing for Fall Book Sale

Banned Books Week 2004

Banned Books Week: celebrating the Freedom to Read is observed during the last week of September each year. Observed since 1982, this annual event reminds Americans not to take our precious democratic freedom for granted.

Banned Books Week emphasizes the freedom to choose or the freedom to express one's opinion, even if that opinion might be considered unorthodox or unpopular, and the importance of ensuring the availability of those unorthodox or unpopular view points to all who wish to read them.

During this election year, the American Library Association (ALA) is urging Americans to "Elect to Read a Banned Book" in honor of Banned Book Week, September 25 to October 2.

For more information about Banned Book Week or to obtain a list of the 100 Most Frequently Challenged Books or The Most Challenged Books of 2003, log on to the ALA site, www.ala.org/bbooks

The Irish Xiles
A History of Irish Music
Tuesday, September 14, 6:30 pm

Originally from Dublin, the Irish Xiles are a family group that has played together for over ten years. Their first performance at Hayner was hugely popular! They take you on a trip through Irish history in stories and songs. This is an absolutely delightful evening! Register at 1-800-613-3163

Dr. Farook Muhiuddin
Alternative Medicines and Disciplines for Pain Relief
Wednesday, September 15, 10:00 am

Note: This program will be held in conjunction with OASIS/BJC Plus and will take place in the OASIS Alton center located in Famous Barr at the Alton Square Mall

Dr. Farook Muhiuddin operates the Healthtrax Whole Body Health Clinic in Edwardsville, IL and Brighton, IL. At the clinics, Dr. Muhiuddin and his colleagues offer several disciplines of treatment for pain and a variety of illnesses including chiropractic, hypnosis, acupuncture and now, auriculotherapy. Auriculotherapy is a type of acupuncture of the ear but it involves no needles. Dr. calls it the ultimate treatment for pain management. If you have ever considered natural alternatives to managing an illness, pain or for behavioral modification, it is important you attend this seminar. Dr. Muhiuddin offers treatment to patients who have been told "there's nothing we can do". His treatments are successful for a broad range of problems. To register, call OASIS at 465-1490 or Hayner program registration at 1-800-613-3163. Note: This program will be repeated at the Hayner Main Library on Wednesday, October 13 at 10:00

Andy Cohen
Blues, Old Time and Vintage American Music
Tuesday, September 21, 6:30 pm

Andy Cohen is a virtuoso blues guitarist who also plays folk, Celtic fiddle tunes, country songs, piano rags, southern mountain music and gospel and English Music Hall material. He is also the only performing Dolceolist anywhere. The Dolceola is a chord zither with a keyboard, vintage early 1900s. It is played like a piano and sounds similar to a harpsichord. Come enjoy Andy's wonderful music. He is a delightful singer who is a showman and engaging speaker and humorist as well. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Kelly Meier
EBAY Basics
Thurs., September, 30
5:30 – 7:30 pm

By popular demand, Kelly returns to teach Ebay basics and show you how you can participate in an online auction site. Kelly is a wonderful instructor and does a great job explaining in plain language how you can sell your 'stuff' for fun and profit. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Genealogy Round Table

Lee Murdock
Folk Songs of the Great Lakes
Tuesday, October 12, 6:30 pm

Great Lakes folk songs are about hard work, hard living, ships that go down and ships that come in. This is the music Lee performs. His songs find drama and inspiration in the lives of sailors and fishermen, lighthouse keepers, ghosts, shipwrecks, outlaws and everyday heroes. Come hear Lee transport you to another world and time. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

The Harman Family
An Evening of Bluegrass
Thursday, October 21, 6:30 pm

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL

This program is so much fun; we are bringing them back for the third year in a row! The Harman family has been playing bluegrass throughout the Riverbend for two generations. Join Mike, his wife Stacey and their sons-16 year old Mark, 13 year old Jeff and 7 year old John for a program of great picking, singing and down home fun. If you haven't seen the Harman's perform, you don't want to miss this opportunity. We guarantee you'll have a hard time staying in your seats! You will not believe how these boys can play! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Samantha Gloria and Lance Brown
Sing Them Blues- from the Roots to the Fruits
Thursday, October 28, 6:30 pm

"The Blues is the Roots Everything Else is the Fruits" – Willie Dixon

This terrific program by the Chicago team of Samantha Gloria and Lance Brown is a journey into the history of the Blues and its influence on the popular music of our day. The collaboration of these two outstanding performers was built through their mutual love and respect for the music and musicians who have not only given us some great songs over the years but have shown us how this music knows no boundaries of race, class or ethnicity. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Leela and Winn Grace
To Dance and Sing!
Tuesday, November 9, 2004, 6:30 pm

Leela and Ellie are the daughters of Paul and Winn Grace who performed for us (and brought the house down) last spring. The sisters have been acclaimed by audiences and fellow musicians for their close harmonies, warm and zany stage presence, driving old time instrumentals and spirited precision dancing. Their music has a strong grounding in traditional American and old time string band styles but often crosses over into the contemporary folk realm. Their performances include examples of percussive dance styles including Appalachian clogging, Irish step dancing and rhythm tap. They have performed in Lincoln Center in New York City as well as across the country. Their new CD is winning rave reviews. Don't miss this very special performance. Register at 1-800-613-3163

Amy (Conrady) Camie and Bridgette Kossor
Illuminations
Tuesday, November 16, 6:30 pm

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey IL.

Amy (Conrady) Camie and Bridgette Kossor share their musical gifts of harp and voice. Together they create an intimate evening full of gratitude, reflection and relaxation. The perfect way to start your holiday season and the serene surroundings of the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel are the perfect setting for this beautiful concert. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Please Give Blood
Saturday, November 20,
10:00 am – 2:00 pm
Hayner Main Library

The Central Illinois Community Blood Center is the sole provider of blood for many local hospitals. They are a non-profit organization that provides a wide variety of important health services. Please volunteer. There is always a critical need for blood. Donors will receive a free t-shirt, cookies and juice and more! We need at least 25 registered donors to make this drive cost effective. Please register at 1-800-613-3163.

Pam Vaccaro
Beyond the Ice Cream Cone: The Whole Scoop on Food at the 1904 World's Fair
Tuesday, November 23

Note: Start Time for this program is 6:15 pm

Pam is a nationally recognized speaker on managing time and attention and president of the company, Designs on Time. She is also the nationally recognized author of "Beyond the Ice Cream Cone- the Whole Scoop on the Food at the 1904 World's Fair". She has been a food history enthusiast since 1974 and her research for this book started in 1981 with oral histories of people who attend the 1904 Fair in St. Louis. During her discussion on researching her book, you will learn gastronomical facts of the fair – many of which will surprise you. If you are a culinary enthusiast or 1904 Fair history buff, you will love hearing Pam's entertaining discussion. Her book has attracted the attention of food editors throughout the United States and been featured in the St Louis Post- Dispatch and the New York Times. Register at 1-800-613-3163,

Joni Laurence
Trash Bag Birdie
Tuesday, November 30, 6:30 pm

Falling under the contemporary folk singer/ songwriter umbrella, Joni's accessible lyrical style along with her understated, yet powerful musical arrangements put her on par with such artists and Mary Chapin Carpenter and Nanci Griffith. Her strength as a story teller embraces the audience and her stellar vocal talents and engaging melodies combine in performances that are heartfelt and sure to please folk music lovers. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Limited Edition
Holiday Favorites
Sunday, December 5, 3:00 pm

Note: This concert will be held at the held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College at 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey IL.

What better way too celebrate the holiday spirit than through the music of this fabulous choral group, Limited Edition?! This musical ensemble, recognized as the Lewis and Clark Community College musical ambassadors to the community is directed by Susan Parton Stanard and comprised of an incredible compilation of talented singers. They received standing ovations at the Hayner Library Spring 2004 concert. Come spend a wonderful, festive Sunday afternoon that is sure to melt any Grinch's heart. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Popular Speaker Returns in Fall 2004 "For Women by Women Seminar"

It's not your imagination. You do have more to do these days and you are expected to do it in less time. So what to do? Pam Vaccaro, MA, CSP owner of Designs On Time believes that traditional time management and organization solutions are outdated and do not address the reality created by the current technological revolution. Pam is a nationally recognized speaker, trainer, author and productivity coach. Her research into personality based time management styles and time management for the future challenges everything you've been taught about managing your time.

For our 2003 Seminar, Pam presented "How to Have the Time of your Life and Get Your Work Done Too". It was an outstanding presentation and she received rave reviews. This year she returns with an exciting follow up to the topic of time management in her winning presentation, "Managing your Time with Style: Nine Ways of Looking at Time" One of Pam's most well received time management programs, she demonstrates the influence of PBTM – Personality Based Time Management Style. The "one size fits all" approach to managing time is outdated and ineffective. Pam uses the Enneagram Personality Theory to demonstrate how your view of time impacts both the effective and ineffective habits around managing your time and getting organized. Each of the nine personality types views and approaches the use of time differently. Learn how to maximize your particular assets around managing time and how to avoid "getting in your own way" with your liabilities. See how you can work better with others whose styles are different than your own. Don't miss this great opportunity to let Pam help you get control of one of your most precious commodities – time! Pam's insightful, well researched, quick paced and humorous style keep her in constant demand and we are thrilled to have her back.

The seminar will be held at the Alton Holiday Inn, on Thursday September 23. Registration will be from 8-8:30 a.m. and the seminar will run from 8:30 a.m. – noon. Seminar fee is $50 if you register by September 10th, otherwise it is $75 at the door. If three or more attend from the same organization, registration is $40 a piece. Registration forms are available at all Hayner library locations or call the Growth Association at (618) 467-2280. The For Women By Women Seminar Series is produced by members of SCORE, The Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois, Hayner Library and local business women.

Staff Picks—What We're Reading

Reading Lolita in Tehran: A Memoir in Books by Azar Nafisi. Nonfiction
For two years, after resigning her job as professor of literature at a university in Tehran, Azar Nafisi met secretly with seven of her former students to study great Western literature in her home. She did this at a time when just smoking an American brand cigarette was considered so "Westernized" that it might invite a visit from the morality squad. Her story mixes literary analysis of some great Western classics with a fascinating look at the lives of women under revolutionary Iran. It shines a light on why we read and reminds us of the power of empathy, imagination and individuality in both literature and life.–Katie S.

Jane Austen in Boca by Paula Marantz Cohen. Fiction
If Jane Austen had lived in the present day and written about Jewish senior citizens living in a Florida retirement community, this book would have been the result, and its social (but never cruel) satire is worthy of Austen herself. May Newman, Flo Kliman, and Lila Katz, all widows, live in the Boca Raton retirement community of Boca Festa. The story centers around their romances—whether unlooked-for, arranged by a meddling daughter-in-law, or determinedly sought out—with the retired men in their social sphere, for to paraphrase Jane Austen, "A nice widower with a comfortable living can be nudged into settling down by a not-so-young woman who plays her cards right." An entertaining and humorous read.–Susan K.

A Rip in Heaven: A Memoir of Murder and its Aftermath by Jeanine Cummins. Nonfiction
This title is a true crime story that details the horrifying circumstances the author's brother and two female cousins found themselves in during one spring night in 1991 on the old Chain of Rocks Bridge. The writing is fast paced and will easily keep you reading the story in one sitting. The author does a compelling job of showing you the emotional effects of being exposed to a violent crime and further details the police procedures.–Kelly M.

Sam's Letters to Jennifer by James Patterson. Fiction
This is very captivating and a "cannot be put down" book. I loved the way Mr. Patterson showed the love between a grandmother and granddaughter. It is both romance and suspense and keeps you interested. Make sure that you have a box of Kleenex next to you.–Shannon B.

Eats, Shoots and Leaves by Lynne Truss. Nonfiction
At first glance Eats, Shoots and Leaves is a guide to punctuation. Upon further examination we realize that it is, in fact, equal parts comedy, history, and manifesto. Lynne Truss points out hilarious examples of misused punctuation, made even funnier by her sharp-witted comments on these misuses. Amid all the pointers and no-no's we learn a lot about the history of punctuation, and her sometimes harsh philosophy of punctuation becomes clear–Don't be an idiot. Don't put commas, apostrophes, or colons where they don't belong. It may be surprising that a book about punctuation is entertaining, but this one certainly is. I hope I punctuated this piece correctly.–Michael H.

The Mapmakers Wife by Robert Whitaker. Nonfiction
In a quest to discover the precise shape of the earth, a team of French scientists set out in 1735 on a decade long expedition through South America. Measuring latitude and longitude in the Peruvian Andes and along the equator, these mapmakers reveal mysteries of the little known continent. What is truly amazing is the vivid story told alter in the book of the Peruvian-born Isabel Grameson's harrowing 3000 mile trek down the Amazon to be reunited with her mapmaker husband, Jean Godin, after being separated at opposite ends of the continent for 20 years. Her story alone is well worth the wait . – Jean S.

Patron Profile – Harold Meisenheimer

Harold Meisenheimer has been a great friend to the Hayner Public Library District as well as to our community. He has preserved hundreds of articles, pictures and historical artifacts of the history of our area, industry and local personalities. Born and raised in Alton, he graduated from Alton High School in the military class of 1946. After high school, he served in the Air Force as a medic. Upon discharge, he was employed at the Owens Illinois Glass Works (Plant #7) as a carpenter. He remained with the Glass Works for 33 years until he retired in 1983. His wife, Alvie and he have been married for 55 years. She originally hales from Lauderdale County, Alabama.

Throughout his life, Harold has been an avid reader, collector and historian. He has saved and cataloged volumes and volumes of articles and photos from local newspapers. He has also created scrapbooks with articles form many varying sources on each one of the American presidents. Additionally, he has a voluminous collection of other author's writings on the U.S. Presidents.

He has donated much of his work to The Hayner Public Library District. Volumes include multiple histories of Alton, local businesses of the past, articles of regional interest, Civil War happenings in Madison County, histories of the Clark Bridge, Coroners of Madison County, Illinois obituaries of Owens Illinois past employees and many other titles, totaling 23 books. Of particular interest is A Photographic Guide to the Madison County Cemeteries. For this work, Harold researched locations and photographed almost 200 cemeteries in Madison County, some of which were no bigger than a few yards. Other unique topics include a work on the schools of the Alton area, when they were built and at what cost and a compilation of biographical information on Alton's past mayors. His collections are kept in the Illinois Room of the Hayner Main Library and while they can not be checked out, they are available for any one's use in the library. His other personal collections include soda bottles from the many local soda companies in Alton's past as well as a complete collection of etched glasses that were used to commemorate annual service banquets at Owens Illinois Glass Works. He believes he may be the only person who has a complete collection of these glasses which were of a different pattern every year.

Harold is not just generous with his collections. He loves helping other people with their research and is frequently at the Main Library educating new researchers on how to use the microfilm machines and the Illinois Room. One researcher was struggling with obtaining information on the Ursuline Convent so Harold went home and returned with articles, postcards and pictures of the convent over the years, from his personal collection.

Harold keeps all his "stuff" in cabinets in his basement. He says he must have 60 oversized binders catalogued with area information and articles. His wife, Alvie is a collector too. She collects bird and cat plates which she hangs on the walls of the house. Harold said he likes them except when it comes time to dust! Alvie is secretary for the Vaughn Hill Church of Christ. Harold also volunteers at the church, helping out with maintenance chores whenever necessary. Harold uses his carpentry skills to complete a wide variety of wood working projects. He has made tables, chairs, cabinets, children's trains and whirly birds among other projects but he say he currently doesn't like to take on big projects (anything that would take over a week) because he is so busy otherwise.

The library staff has so enjoyed getting to know Harold and the entire District has benefited from his generous donations of his research work. Please stop in the Illinois Room the next time you visit the Main Library and look over these fascinating compilations.

Vintage Voices Resound in Alton!

Many of us don't realize how much history and how many colorful personalities of the past are buried in the Alton City Cemetery. To help preserve these histories, the YWCA of Alton and Alton Little Theater are bringing back the popular series, Vintage Voices with all new characterizations. The program will be repeated each of the first three Saturdays in October. The fourth Saturday will be held as a rain date. The program consists of a tour of the Alton City Cemetery, stopping at different grave sites where actors will recreate the character of the deceased, recounting their life and times. The personalities are a combination of famous members of Alton's past histories and others less well known. An example of just a few of the personalities we will meet this year include Eunice Smith, one of Alton's greatest benefactors, John D. Hayner, founder of the Jennie D. Hayner Library, Lawson A. Parks, one of two founders of the Alton Telegraph in 1836 and Francis Maguire a young deaf woman who died in the flood of 1912 with her small daughter in her arms.

This event in the past has always been fascinating and full of fun. It runs from 1 to 3 p.m. and costs $12 per person. A special ticket price will be available for children or groups of ten or more.

For ticket and program information, call 474-2006. This is a great way for the whole family to spend a beautiful fall day together. The event has been growing each year in popularity so make sure to get your tickets early!

Preview Vintage Voices at Hayner Main Library

On Thursday, September 9 at 6.30 pm, the Main Library will present A Taste of Vintage Voices. The actors who will be performing in the Vintage Voice event on Saturdays in October will give us a preview of their monologues and then will step out of character for questions and to solicit feed back. This is a wonderful way to interact with the performers and glimpse of the fun to come. The program is free but registration is required at 1-800-613-3163.

Genealogy Notes

The Genealogy Department would like to recommend FINDING YOUR FAMILY HISTORY IN THE ATTIC. This video is especially good for beginning your ancestry research. The film covers the utilization of one's attic as a repository for clues to a family's past. The individual is urged to be creative and discover their own hidden resources in bookcases, trunks, drawers or closets. The filmmaker suggests authenticating "finds" by comparing dates, events, and timelines by talking with family members, and using handwritten notes or diaries. Once facts are proven, the illustration and creation of the finished product becomes a fun project. All in all, this is a "must view" video for those researching their family tree.

Our Genealogy Roundtable will feature Charlotte Johnson as speaker. A frequent user of our Illinois Room, she will share with us her knowledge about our local connections with the Underground Railroad, and her experiences researching her own family history. Plan to join us for an enjoyable evening on October 6, 2004 at 6:30 p.m. in the Illinois Room. Call 1-800-613-3163 to reserve your seat.

Charlotte is a retired teacher, author and historian. She attended the Genealogical Institute of Mid-America and is a member of numerous local historical committees and serves as a member of the Madison County Museum and Historical Archives Board of Directors.

Lewis and Clark Library System receives $199,672 grant from W.K. Kellogg Foundation!

The Lewis and Clark Library system is thrilled to announce the receipt of the Library Centers for Effective Nonprofits grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan for the Lewis and Clark Library system The Hayner Public Library District is one of a select number of libraries that will participate in this grant.

The Lewis & Clark Library System will work with the Nonprofit Services Consortium of St. Louis, the St. Charles (MO) City County Library District, The Hayner Public Library District in Alton, the Carbondale Public Library, the East St. Louis Public Library, the C E Brehm Memorial Library in Mt. Vernon, and the O'Fallon Public Library on this exciting project.

The five public libraries will receive materials, computers, access to electronic resources, training, and programming in order to specifically target services to nonprofit organizations in southern Illinois. Efforts will focus on providing the knowledge and resources to better offer information, workshops, consultations, and administrative support to nonprofits through public libraries

It is often cost prohibitive for nonprofit organizations to collect the breadth and depth of information necessary to assist their efforts to become vibrant, vital community resources. And, it is redundant for several nonprofits to purchase duplicate copies of information that may have a limited usefulness. Libraries are prepared and able to collect and disseminate information covering the variety of issues that nonprofits face. That's what libraries do: collect, organize, and distribute information on a myriad of topics.

By targeting specific services to nonprofit organizations, libraries can affect the course of their communities and provide more efficient modes of community growth. The Lewis & Clark Library System is one of ten regional library systems in Illinois that works with academic, public, school, and special libraries in the timely delivery of information when and where it is needed

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation was established in 1930 "to help people help themselves through the practical application of knowledge and resources to improve their quality of life and that of future generations " Its programming activities center around the common vision of a world in which each person has a sense of worth; accepts responsibility for self, family, community, and societal well-being; and has the capacity to be productive, and to help create nurturing families, responsive institutions, and healthy communities.

To achieve the greatest impact, the Foundation targets its grants toward specific areas. These include: health; food systems and rural development; youth and education; and philanthropy and volunteerism.Within these areas, attention is given to exploring learning opportunities in leadership; information and communication technology; capitalizing on diversity; and social and economic community development. Grants are concentrated in the United States, Latin America and the Caribbean, and the southern African countries of Botswana, Lesotho, Malawi, Mozambique, South Africa, Swaziland, and Zimbabwe.

The Value of Time

There was a tiny, almost inaudible knock at the door. "Yes," grumbled Sam from behind the desk.

The door opened and Sam's young son, Chris, poked his head into the study. "Dad?" he asked.

"What is it?" Sam answered never taking his eyes off the computer screen in front of him.

Chris walked across the room and placed his piggy bank on his father's desk. The bank had a note on it that read: Disney World Vacation Spring 2005. "It's full now," the child murmured.

That's great. Can we talk about this later, though?" Sam asked. "I'm in the middle of something right now. Remember – a closed door means that daddy is busy and should not be disturbed."

"I remember," Chris nodded. "And I also remember that your time is val-u-a-ble, too. That's why I brought my money." The boy placed his favorite storybook on the desk, next to the bank. "If I pay you for your time, will you read to me?"

Sam blushed. Yes, indeed, he'd managed to make his son understand that time is money. But at what cost? He turned off his computer and reached for Chris. "Come here," Sam said.

He scooped the boy into his lap and hugged him. "I guess I forgot to tell you the absolutely most important thing to remember."

"What's that, daddy?"

"The time we spend together is priceless."

And, for the first (but not the last) time, Sam began to read Chris's favorite storybook to him.

THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Foster Township — Winter 2004 - Vol. XII, No. 4

The Hayner Public Library District Provides a Great Deal!

The Hayner Public Library District provides a great deal of services but it also provides a great deal of value!

During fiscal 2003-2004, we saved you, library users, $7,275,401! All three library locations are open seven days a week, 12 months a year. We offer access to a large number of online research data bases 24/7. We circulate over 480,000 items, all free of charge! If library customers had to purchase the materials we provide for free, let's analyze what they would have spent...

You borrowed 284,543 books. Buying them at an average of $25 per book, you could have spent...$7,113,575.
You borrowed 29,072 paperbacks. At an average of $8 per paperback you could have spent...$232,576.
We subscribed to 375 magazines for you. At an average of $30 per subscription, you could have spent ...$11,250.
We subscribed to 17 newspapers for you. At an average of $200 per subscription, you could have spent...$ 3,400.
You borrowed 140,962 videos and DVDs. At an average cost of $3 per rental, you could have spent ...$422,886.
You borrowed 22,915 audiobooks. At an average of $25 each, you could have spent...$572,875.
You borrowed 24,215 CDs. At an average cost of $15 each, you could have spent...$363,225.
We borrowed 21,541 items on interlibrary loan for you. Some of these are out of print titles that cannot be purchased, but at an average cost of $25 per item, you could have spent...$538,525.

We answered 4,503 reference questions for you. Even if you were charged only $2 per question, you could have spent...$9,006.
We provided 228 free Youth and Adult programs with a total attendance of 9,196. At a minimal charge of $3 per person, you could have spent...$27,588.

FOR A TOTAL OF . . $9,294,906
Less library tax collected . . . . . $1,819,505
SAVING YOU A TOTAL OF . . . . . $7,475,401

Your library district is a money-saving investment for the community. The quality of a library is a showcase of the quality of the community. Use the library – get your fair share of the savings.

Food For Fines During the Holidays!

Beginning December 1, 2004 and continuing through December 31, 2004, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item. Materials must be returned with food donations, one food item each fine, and Hayner materials only. All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the Crisis Food Center in Alton. Of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community. Last year we collected over 1000 items for the Crisis Center- Let's see if we can beat that!

The Influence of Dogs

"In a paper entitled 'The Influence of Dogs on the Behavior of Juveniles in the Big Cities', Professor R. Bergler and Christa Westendorf of Germany studied the influence of pet dogs on 480 children, ages fourteen to eighteen. The results showed that children with dogs were more content with their lives, more goal oriented at school and work, and had positive relationships with superiors. Children who did not have dogs had more alcohol and tobacco use, conflicts with parents, and self-doubt."*

Unfortunately, in today's fast paced world where often both parents are working, adding a dog (or any pet) to the family is not viable. What to do? Come to the Bow-wow Pow-wow at Hayner Youth Library. On the second Saturday of each month, dog handlers, led by June Walker of Walker's Wee Glen Training Centers, come to the library with their certified therapy dogs. Kids of all ages are invited to come and read to the dogs and see how much fun it is to read a story to a loving, non-judgmental, furry friend. Their reading skills and confidence can benefit immensely while they become excited about using the library for new and different activities. The greatest bonus for many kids is just spending time petting and playing with the wide variety of dogs. Join us on Saturday, December 11, January 8, February 12, and March 12 at 10 a.m. This program will continue to run throughout the year. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. For more information, call Bernadette at 462-0677.

JUST FOR FUN
Sleeping In

The joy of living with Nessie, a 130 pound Newfoundland, Cassie, a 120 pound Great Pyrenees and Mic, a 100 pound Bernese Mountain Dog…..

It was a glorious, glorious morning. After a run of 12 hour work days, broken up with days of getting all the things done which needed to be done on the workdays on the days off days, TODAY I was going to be able to sleep in. I had the day off work, no errands to do and even the hubb-ster, who has an alarm-clock time of 5:30, is traveling on business, so no bzzz bzzzz bzzzz in the dawn light.

A day to sleep in. Bliss.

6:00 a.m. Nessie the Newfie clunks into the room, causing Cassie the Great Pyr to bark from her chunk of the floor. Nessie paces to the bed side. Pokes me with her nose, bottlenosed dolphin style. "GO LAY DOWN." Huge sigh. Thunks to floor like small piano being dropped from great height.

6:15 a.m. Mic the Berner boy races up the stairs, pauses to show his teeth to Cassie, who barks stridently in protest, vaults over the Nessie Barricade and crash lands on the bed. Kicks blanket on Mama, who throws it off, digs sheet away from Mama, who drags it back. Mic finishes fluffing bed to his liking and throws himself down for a nap.

6:20 a.m. Nessie begins snoring like a fat man down a well.

6:25 a.m. A large construction truck drives by. All dogs start baying like the Hounds of the Baskervilles.

6:40 a.m. Cassie appears on the right side of the bed. She NEVER comes to pester me in bed. Never. Whacks me with her paw. "NO PAW." Ok. No paw. Hhmmmmm. Suddenly, Pyr head comes tunneling through sheet and pillow, poking Mama's eye, followed by a head roll and a pair of front paws on the bed. Nessie sees someone other than her making it onto Mama's bed, actually BEING TOUCHED and starts barking wildly, maddened by jealousy. So. Now I am petting Nessie on the left, Cassie on the right. Mic of course is consumed by jealous desire and throws himself on top of me entirely, burrowing his face into my armpit and grabbing a petting arm with a free foot. "Only me, Mama, only me!"

So now I am covered and surrounded in Bad Dogs, petting everyone in turns and fending off wounded paws and noses when it is someone else's turn.

I give up. Get out of bed, get dressed, head for the leashes. Obviously this crowd needs a walk.

Yeah. I love sleeping in.

Genealogy News

Our next Genealogy Roundtable Discussion will feature Kelly Meier. Kelly will help us learn the features of Ancestry Plus and show us the tools available on this great website. Hayner Public Library District has purchased a subscription for our genealogy researchers to use in our Illinois Room. If you have a subscription to Ancestry.com at home, you know how frustrating it is to find the information you need only to be told you must pay an additional fee for a subscription to another specific file. Ancestry Plus is tailor-made for libraries, and you won't find any more locked files. Researchers who have already used this website say it's wonderful. Kelly will show us how to save and print images so you can take them home and add them to your files. Join us for a fun and informative evening on January 18, 2005 at 6:00 p.m. in the Illinois Room in the Hayner Main Library. Reserve your seat by calling 1-800-613-3163.

Look what's new in our Illinois Room collection:

Scots-Irish Links 1575-1825 (3 volumes)
Index to the Final Rolls of Citizens and Freedmen of the Five Civilized Tribes in Indian Territory (2 volumes)
New Genealogical Atlas of Ireland
Illinois Manuscripts from the Draper Collection
The Ancestry Family Historian's Address Book

We appreciate the response we have had to our request for local cookbook donations and are still collecting them. Our Illinois Room collection is really growing. Also, we are always looking for City Directories (Alton and East Alton), local school yearbooks and any books or maps that might help researchers in the Illinois Room.

Hayner Public Library and the Alton Area Landmarks Association (AALA) are combining resources and working together to collect histories of homes, buildings and businesses of Alton. AALA has provided a file cabinet for the Alton histories. Hayner is also collecting histories on properties from our entire district for our Illinois Room collection. Historians, genealogists, architects, preservationists, and homeowners will benefit from these histories of area properties. In growing this collection, along with the property histories, we hope to include photographs, copies of deeds and abstracts, interesting stories, architectural information and names of past owners. We have approximately 300 histories provided by the Alton Area Landmarks Association and we're excited to watch this new feature grow. If you would like to learn more about including your property in our files, contact us at genealogy@haynerlibrary.org or call (618) 462-0677 and ask for Cathie.

Another Great Resource...

One Memory at a Time, Inspiration and Advice for Writing your Family Story by D. G. Fulford. This book offers encouragement and guidance for those who have thought of writing their family history but just haven't taken the plunge. What frame of reference do we use throughout life but our family memories? By recording our stories of incidents and our memories, we give future generations the opportunity to see into our lives and those of our ancestors. If we let this time go by unrecorded, it will be lost forever. We all have those snapshots in our minds of happenings when we were young. How often we say, "I remember when..." or "remember when Grandma would..."

The author walks you through the steps of the recording process with suggestions for making the process fun. She gives tips for collecting and organizing the information. With open-ended questions, Fulford shows us how to get people to open up, as we make a record of their stories and memories. One Memory at a Time is a warm invitation to record your living histories.

Take 15 for Family

Mark Cappel, Principal, and Bob Buhs, Parent Coordinator, at West Elementary School, have instituted a wonderful program- "Take 15 for Family- Building a lifetime of Learning". The goal of the program is to focus on children with unrecognized and underdeveloped abilities – stressing to parents that recognition of achievement, at whatever level, matters. The program emphasizes that parents need to become more involved in helping their children improve their school work by :

- Providing encouragement for them.
- Arranging appropriate study time and space.
- Modeling desired behavior, such as reading for pleasure, how to get along with others, completing homework, etc.
- Monitoring homework.
- Actively tutoring their children at home.
- Calling the teacher to find out how their child is doing in school. (This is so important)

To find out more about this program and for more helpful information, please contact the school at 463-2134. Hayner Library encourages all schools to contact us with information we can share regarding reading and learning programs they have instituted.

Hayner Helps Spread 'Litter'-ature

The Alton Beautification and Clean City Committee's Educational Subcommittee is bringing the first ever 'Litter'-ature Education Program to Alton Public Schools this fall. They have partnered with The Hayner Public Library District to move this worthy program forward. There are four stages of the project:

1. Read Great 'Litter'-ature
Teachers sign up to read grade-appropriate books encouraging a clean environment. These books are provided by The Hayner Public Library District. Teachers read the books to their classes and hold student discussions incorporating questions that the committee has provided (meeting Illinois State Educational Goals and Standards). Afterwards, the books are donated to the school.

2. Litter Patrol
Teachers and their classes clean a two block area. Then, they return to class and discuss litter questions and solutions.

3. Pledge Cards
All k-8 grade students will be able to sign the 2-sided pledge cards.

Keep Alton Clean Pledge

Litter spoils the natural beauty of Alton and can be harmful to public health and the environment. I will not be part of the problem. I will be part of the solution.

- I promise to keep Alton clean by putting litter in its place! If no container is available, I will keep my trash until I find one.
- I will tell my friends and family not to litter.
- When I see litter, I will pick it up. If I see litter that is dangerous, I will tell someone who can safely pick it up.

4. Litter-Free Zone
At the end of the year the Mayor and City Officials award the schools with a 'Litter-Free Zone' sign at an outdoor assembly.

The Alton Beautification and Clean City Committee's mission is to educate citizens on the importance of having a clean and beautiful city and to improve the general appearance of the city. They feel that littering is an individual behavioral problem that becomes a problem for the community. Changing societal norms like littering begins with each of us, thus educating that the youngest members of our society ought to make a difference.

This is a great program and Hayner Library Staff was proud to contribute.

Celebrate Black History!

February is Black History month and there will be recognition of this at all three library locations. The Branch Library will be creating Black History window displays and will offer a "Suggested Reading List" for Black History topics. The Youth Library will be holding several different programs presenting three different storytellers including:

- Bobby Norfolk on Monday, February 7 at 4:00 p.m.
- Mama Lisa Gage-Ray on Thursday, February 17 at 4:00 p.m.
- Janice Katambwa on Wednesday, February 16 at 4:00 p.m. (This program will be held at the St. Anthony's Wellness Center at the Alton Square Mall.)

The Main Library will hold a commemorative program on Tuesday, February 22 at 6:30 p.m. Bobby Norfolk will present This Side Up – The Story of Henry "Box" Brown. Henry "Box" Brown was a slave born in Virginia in 1816. After his wife and children were taken from him, he had himself sealed in a small wooden box and shipped to friends and freedom. He later traveled the country speaking against slavery. This program requires registration, call 1-800-613-3163. All programs are free of charge.

Staff Picks—What We're Reading

Ambulance Girl by Jane Stern. Biography
Jane Stern, a columnist for Gourmet magazine, is suffering from a mid-life "event," burdened with anxiety and fear. Unable to even ride in a bus, she is an unlikely person to respond to an advertisement for EMT recruit training at her local fire station, but she does. In hilarious and riveting fashion, she recounts her experience as an emergency medical technician and tells how, in volunteering to help others, she helped herself. –Jean S.

My Sister's Keeper by Jodi Picoult. Fiction
"If you use one of your children to save the life of another," the author asks, "are you being a good mother…or a very bad one?" My Sister's Keeper is an intensely moving, modern novel. Told through the eyes of Anna Fitzgerald, a child expressly created to help save the life of her dying 16 year-old sister, the reader feels her anger, her outrage and her helplessness. Anna is seeking medical emancipation from her parents after spending the first 13 years of her life in and out of the hospital as much as her sister. Anna's decision to stop the medical treatments throws the family into turmoil with only her father seeming to understand Anna's frustrations. It is the perfect blend of maturity, ethics, science and beautiful writing that makes this book tough to put down. –Bethany A.

The Man in the Flying Lawn Chair by George Plimpton. Nonfiction
This book is a posthumous collection of writings by author George Plimpton, founder of "The Paris Review." At turns humorous, warm, wicked and poignant, the book is a fond reminder of why Plimpton remained one of America's foremost authors. Elegantly written, the stories in the book cover many of his exploits in "participatory journalism" and never fail to reveal his love for a good adventure and his wonder at the humanness of us all. –Mary C.

The Circus in Winter by Cathy Day. Fiction
I've always been fascinated with the notion of a circus and circus people. It probably started when I first read about PT Barnum and his unordinary people. Cathy Day's debut novel tells the history of the Great Porter Circus and the ordinary people of Lima, Indiana. Woven into each story is historical fact, beginning with a circus photo and connecting each tale to the next. The Circus in Winter is a satisfying novel and highly recommended. –Kelly M.

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation. Body of Evidence by Max Allan Collins. Fiction
In this book Janice Denard prepares for an ordinary day, but when she gets to work she discovers shocking photographs abandoned in a printer. The CSI computer forensics expert helps the CSI team of Willows and Stokes track through hardware. Grissom, Brown and Sidle uncover disturbing evidence in the brutal murder of the mayor's missing secretary. There are many twists and turns as the evidence leads them to the perpetrators in each case. The library has many books in this series of thrilling page-turners. –Shannon B.

The Name of the Rose by Umberto Eco. Mystery
Master of semiotics, Eco seamlessly weaves theology, politics, history and science into a thrilling and intricate mystery. In a 15th century Benedictine abbey, a monk's death triggers an investigation and uncovers more than intended. Fans of the Da Vinci Code will love this! Hayner also carries the DVD. –Juan F.

No Plot? No Problem! A Low-Stress, High-Velocity Guide to Writing a Novel in 30 Days by Chris Baty. Nonfiction
Many of us have said to ourselves, "I should write a book." But then the pressure follows of how to develop a character, devise a plot and subplot, and then find the time to do it. No Plot? No Problem! gives you the tools you'll need to write a 50,000 word novel in 30 days. No kidding! Written by the founder of the National Novel Writing Month, which is an international online event held annually in November, this book is a fine catalyst for throwing your insecurities and serious author traits out the window. Or as the cover sez, "the kick in the pants you've been waiting for." Recommended for those wanna-be authors like me. –Kelly M.

Randy Erwin
Cowboy Music, Folklore and History
Tuesday, January 25, 6:30 p.m.

Yodeler Randy Erwin has been described by the Los Angeles Times as "one of the most versatile, far ranging voices this side of Bobby McFerrin." He has performed at Carnegie Hall, London's Queen Elizabeth Hall, The Library of Congress and all over the U.S., Canada and Great Britain. He has four critically-acclaimed CDs and recently provided the yodeling score for the new Walt Disney animated film, "Home on the Range." Come hear – and participate in – the music that has made the cowboy such a special part of American history.

Randy also discusses the origins of cowboy culture: how they lived, worked and spun tall tales. He may even do some rope tricks! This is a great program for all ages by an award-winning performer. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Bobby Norfolk
This Side Up - The Story of Henry "Box" Brown
Tuesday, February 22, 6:30 p.m.

Journey back to the historical era of the Underground Railroad in this theatrical re-enactment of one man's struggle for emancipation. Emmy Award winning storyteller, Bobby Norfolk breathes life into this amazing story of a slave turned hero, along with other tales of ordinary people taking extraordinary risks in the name of freedom. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Steve Davis
Elvis Performs at Hayner Main!
Thursday, February 24, 6:00 p.m.

Elvis (yes, THE ELVIS) returns to Hayner with his Las Vegas-style revue that will have you rockin' in your blue suede shoes. Elvis will sing, take requests, answer questions and reminisce about his career. Don't miss this great opportunity to see "The King" perform. This event will fill up fast, so register now at 1-800-613-3163.

Dr. David Cornell
Piano Recital
Tuesday, March 8, 6:30 p.m.

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL

Pianist Dr. David Cornell has performed a variety of recitals at Principia College and in many cities around the U.S.A and Europe, as well as in Zimbabwe. In 2000, Dr. Cornell was invited to participate in the second Van Cliburn International Competition for Outstanding Amateurs. In this return performance, his program will include Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 31, No 3, Nocturnes by Chopin and Jazz-Gospel Settings for Piano as arranged by Michael Hassell. This is an extraordinary opportunity to enjoy such an accomplished performer. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Special Events at Hayner

Nancy Lippincott and Ben Schreiber Traditional Strings

Tuesday, March 15, 6:30 p.m.

Nancy Lippincott is a popular local vocalist who plays guitar, autoharp, mandolin and hammered dulcimer. She enjoys exposing audiences to traditional music that is seldom heard these days. Her repertoire includes Celtic music, early country, American folk, blues, swing and gospel. She has performed extensively throughout the area, including the International Folk Festival, where she performed music from the Appalachian and Irish traditions. For this program, Nancy will be joined by Ben Schreiber, an incredibly accomplished 15-year-old fiddle and banjo player. Don't miss this event, which will include something for everyone! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Folkhead - Acoustic Folk

Tuesday, March 29, 6:30 p.m.

Folkhead is a five piece acoustic group based in Alton, Illinois. The name is just about all the explanation you need, but - what's the harm in a brief introduction? Matt Taul leads the group on vocals and acoustic guitar. On the twelve string guitar and backup vocals is Mike Youngberg, Jennifer Hayden on fiddle, Tim Bramstedt on mandolin and Adam Peipert on the banjo. Together they play a blend of original compositions, traditional folk songs, real country and Americana. The songs of VanZandt, Garcia & Hunter, Dylan, John Hartford and a host of others find their way into their sets. This is an extremely popular group you must experience! Register at 1-800-6131-3163.

Look Who's Reading....

Repeating a popular initiative from 2003, The Hayner Public Library District was excited to participate in the 2004 "Look Who's Reading in the River Bend" campaign. In partnership with River Bend Head Start and Family Services and The Telegraph, the campaign was developed to highlight local "celebrities" promoting reading and literacy. Jennifer Hayden of Hayden Designs donated the graphic layout services.

This year's campaign kicks off on November 18, Family Reading Night, and will run as a series of ads in the Alton Telegraph each week through February 2005. The ads will also be replicated in the Main and Branch library locations, area businesses and on newspaper distribution boxes. Please watch the Telegraph each week for the selected celebrity- see how many you know- and join them in promoting literacy. Also, watch for the ad featuring Kevin Chapel, DMD, Hayner Library's newest Board Member.

Let's ALL get reading in the River Bend!

Hooray for Hollywood!

Do you recognize the name Minor Watson? If you are a film buff, you have seen him in hundreds of roles. His career in movies as a character actor spanned the years of 1931-1956. Proudly, we can claim him as a native son as he began his theatrical career at Shurtleff College, now part of the Southern Illinois University campus.

In 1912, he brought a play, "Nobody's Fool" to the Temple Theatre which was reviewed as "the best show seen in Alton this season and attended by a capacity house".

His Hollywood years included performances with the most elite of cinema's stars including Bing Crosby, Elizabeth Taylor, William Holden, Humphrey Bogart, Bette Davis, Errol Flynn, Katherine Hepburn, Paul Muni, Spencer Tracy and many more.

This past fall, Mr. Watson's daughter, Mary Watson, donated a video to Hayner Library commemorating Minor Watson's legacy. The video is comprised of shorts of his performances throughout his film career. To accompany this, she has also provided us with a brief biography of her father's career and an annotated list of his film repertoire. Check out the Minor Watson Annotated video and see him in such movies as "Woman of the Year" with Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn and many more, all available through Hayner Library.

Patron Profile- Tammy Yogore-Emery

Tammy Yogore-Emery and her four delightful children are a library's dream. They use every facet of the library for home schooling (as well as recreation) and have achieved remarkable results.

Tammy, an Alton native, graduated from SIUE with a BS in Accounting and a minor in MIS. She worked as an accountant for about a year and a half but left when she started a family. After having three children (2 boys and 1 girl) Tammy went back to work. She worked seven years at the River City Paper Board before the company relocated to Arizona. Tammy decided to run an in-home day care center and did so for several years until she had her fourth son. Her children are Connor, 13, Morgun, 12, Riley-Ann, 10, and Kutter, 6.

When asked how she arrived at the decision to home school her children, Tammy recounted that the kids asked for it themselves. They had friends that were being home schooled and they wanted to know why they couldn't do that also. Initially, Tammy says she was petrified. But with the support and encouragement of her husband, Steve, Tammy decided to take on the challenge. She decided that since, from birth, she taught her kids how to walk, talk and tie their shoes, she could teach them school! Her first step was to head straight for the library (which Tammy calls "her best friend") and check out all the material she could find on home schooling. She studied the three basic methods of learning theory (visual, auditory or kinetic/hands-on), how to determine what type of learner each individual child was and how best to build a curriculum for that specific learning type. She developed a core curriculum herself in the subjects of history, religion and science and for other topics relied on Rainbow Resources, a company that distributes home schooling course materials and supplies.

Each child soon developed their own areas of expertise. Thirteen year-old Connor, an eighth grader, tests overall at the 12th grade level and at first year college for reading, composition, vocabulary and spelling. Hoping to write a book someday, Connor has already researched at the Branch Library methods of self-publication. Morgun, 12 years old and in 7th grade, tests at the 9th grade level for general courses and at first year college in science and mapping skills. Morgun, as does Riley-Ann and Kutter, loves to draw. They all have checked out many art books and have taught themselves to draw skillfully- they love to draw their pets and farm animals. Riley-Ann is 10 and in fifth grade. She excels in all subjects, particularly in English and Logic. She plays piano by ear and is also teaching herself to read music. She loves music and "sings everywhere" says her mother. Kutter is six and just starting to read and write. He already shows promise to be the family mathematician.

Tammy schools the children Monday through Friday, year-round. They do get two weeks off at Christmas and one month in the summer. The day starts out with all four children together for prayer and bible reading. Then Tammy dedicates 2-3 hours to Kutter's schooling while the other kids study Math, Logic and The Constitution. Tammy has determined that Riley-Ann learns quickly when they concentrate on one core subject per day, rotating through the week. The older boys are studying fairly independently, using high school texts. Every day they all are required to write a paper on what they have read and studied.

Tammy uses the library to supplement the kids' studies with hands on activities, crafts and other media. When they were studying the crusades, Tammy checked out a video and a computer game based on the crusades. Kutter was fascinated with Ancient Egypt history and Tammy found a kit at the library that was a collection of ancient civilizations' board games. Tammy's creativity and wide use of materials have helped her kids develop a strong love of learning and sense of independence.

Tammy has committed to her children that she will home school them as long as that is their choice and they will all have the opportunity to attend college. To this end, Tammy maintains detailed records for high school transcripts to use in college application. She keeps files of information on the materials they have studied (texts, etc.), the papers they have written and their test scores. They take the IOWA Basic Standard Achievement tests to chart their advancements. She has also already contacted the University of Chicago regarding the entrance requirements for a science major as this is Morgun's special interest.

The kids keep busy socially also. Every month they participate in bowling leagues and field trips that are sponsored by an Alton Home Schooler organization. They're very active in church activities and have friends from the public school system as well as other home-schoolers. They also keep very actively involved helping with chores and taking care of the family animals. The animals include a miniature Doberman, a lab/husky mix and three rescued Greyhounds. Tammy is a strong supporter of Rescued Racers, the group that saves Greyhounds after they can no longer race. She recounted that just recently they saved 19 dogs that were going to be put down. She recommends adoption of these dogs as they are wonderful family pets. She encourages anyone interested in more information to contact Leann Zalansky at 314-423-4126.

Overall, Tammy says that home schooling has worked out very well for them though she freely admits it is not for everyone. She credits her husband's support as being critical to her success with the children. Also key to success has been the Hayner Branch Library where she uses all the resources available, from computers to books to videos, and more. If she cannot find something at the branch, she knows they will get it for her from another library. She says the staff has become an extended family to her and the children and they love to visit at least twice a week. Tammy's children are favorites of the library staff also. Tammy admits it can be a challenge building a curriculum that interests and involves the children. However, the first time she heard one of her children read their first word was one of the greatest thrills she has experienced. Good luck to the whole family in all their future success – academic and otherwise.

Online Research Services- Helping All Levels of Achievement

To enhance our services to the young adult, The Hayner Public Library District has purchased subscription access to a variety of online databases. These databases can help you, your students and your children with a wide range of research needs. Our database subscriptions include access to full-text articles through EbscoHost; practice tests and skills development aimed at middle school, high school and adult learners through Learn a Test; and auto maintenance and repair through the Auto Repair Reference and NoveList, a reader's advisory tool. Some of the databases are searchable from your home computer or from a classroom, but you must have a username and password. Library access requires only that you have a library card. Browse our website at www.haynerlibrary.org to learn more or contact the library for information.

Jim Trelease – Read Aloud's Loudest and Proudest

Inspired by observations made during volunteer visits to community classrooms, journalist Jim Trelease decided to research connections between how much a child was read to and how much a child wants to read. He found plenty of evidence linking the two in educational journals, and when he self-published his findings in layman's terms, it was the beginning of a read-aloud revolution. The book came to the attention of Penquin Publishing and shortly after, the U.S. Department of Education's Commission of Reading cited that reading aloud to children is the single most important activity one can do to raise a reader. His Read Aloud Handbook is now the all-time best selling guide to children's literature for parents and teachers.

Young Reader's Manifesto

I READ: BECAUSE one life isn't enough; and in the pages of a book I can be anybody;
I READ: BECAUSE the words that build the story become mine to build my life;
I READ: NOT for happy endings, but for new beginnings; I'm just beginning myself and I wouldn't mind a map;
I READ: BECAUSE I have friends who don't and young though they are, they're beginning to run out of material;
I READ: BECAUSE every journey begins at the library and it's time for me to start packing,
I READ: BECAUSE one of these days, I'm going to get out of this town and I'm going to go everywhere and meet everybody and I want to be ready.

Reader's Rights

The right not to read
The right to skip pages
The right to not finish a book
The right to reread
The right to read anything
The right to escapism
The right to read anywhere
The right to browse
The right to read out loud
The right to not defend your tastes

…if we want our sons, our daughters, all young people to read, we must grant them the same rights we grant ourselves.

2005 Adult Winter Reading Program January 15 – February 26

Cure your winter blues with something great between the covers and let Hayner make it a little more interesting. Of course we mean books and our Adult Winter Reading Program! From January 15th to February 26th, 2005, for every book or audio book you read, you can enter a drawing to win gift baskets stuffed with goodies. The baskets, two for the guys and two for the ladies, will be on display at Hayner's Main and Alton Square branches during the contest. Every time you finish a book or audio book, fill out an entry form and drop it in a basket's entry box. The more you read, the more chances to win! Even the rules are easy: you must be a Hayner cardholder at least 18 years of age; all reading and listening materials must be checked out from Hayner and should match each reader's skills; register at the Main or Branch library's circulation desk to participate and pick up additional entry forms. Grand prize drawings for these fabulous baskets will be held on Saturday, February 26th. Come on–it's easy! We've even included your first entry form here!

Announcing a New Millennium

In 2004, as a member of the Lewis and Clark Library System, Hayner Library staff participated in a lengthy effort to evaluate library catalogue software systems. The result of this evaluation is that all member libraries have converted to a software system that will provide patrons and library staff new functions and capabilities when accessing the online catalogue. This new and improved circulation/patron services system is the Innovative Interfaces Millennium Integrated Library System Software. Conversion to the Millennium System occurred this past May. Some of the functions described in the following paragraphs are not immediately available and will be rolled out as the year progresses but, we wanted to give you an overview of just a few of the new library catalogue tools you will have in the next few months.

As ever, you will be able to search all Hayner Library collections as well as the collections of 50 other libraries online. (Library staff still has the capability to search libraries in all 50 states to find you items not locally held.) The system is much more "point and click" friendly which we are sure you will appreciate.

The new system will have a new function called "Create Lists". This will be similar to a Readers Advisory. For example, if you like medieval mysteries, you can enter that search term and the system will create a bibliography identifying titles in that genre. This will be great for teachers and home schoolers who want to identify material for course subjects as well as for us pleasure readers. Another big advantage of the new system is that it will track the books you have checked out in the past so you can keep a record of what you have read. Many of you have requested this function and we are excited to now be able to provide it to you.

This system also allows you to have your record linked to other individuals.

For example, if you and your spouse and children wish to do so, you can link all your records together. This allows you to check out materials reserved by other members of your family with your library card. Previously, you could check out items only to the card under which they were reserved. This is a great convenience we think you will appreciate.

The system will also tell you if the item you are looking for is in transit to another library and has features that will greatly diminish the possibility of books being lost between borrowing libraries.

Another great feature of the new system is a separate kids catalogue called "KidsOnline". This catalogue will be much easier for children to use, based on a simple picture-oriented point and click search feature. It will provide titles of all kid-oriented materials up to the juvenile reading level. Not only will kids find it much easier to locate age appropriate materials but home schoolers and teachers will love to access materials on particular subjects without having to wade through title after title of adult level material. Of course this catalogue will continue to allow searches on title, author or subject.

Another new feature will be an online notification function where patrons will be notified via email regarding overdue materials, the arrival of material you may have requested, library closings and more. If you do not have an online account with us, you will continue to be notified via U.S. mail.

As with the previous system, you can access the library catalogue from your home computer. All requests, fines, checkout material and overdue records will be transferred to the new system.

There is also a homebound component that will allow the homebound coordinator to track the materials that different homebound users have received. This will be a great help in preparing homebound deliveries, ensuring fresh materials each time.

Statistics compiled by the new system are much more full function and permit library staff to more accurately analyze inventory, reciprocal borrowing activities and provide material selection support.

During the conversion, we did have to close the library for two and a half days in May. One day was to provide training for library staff on use of the new software. The second closing was during the actual software conversion which left all three libraries' circulation computers out of service. We are sorry for the inconvenience of having to close for those few days in May but we think you will be very pleased with the ease of use and improved circulation services that the Millennium System will afford you.

Food for Fido

The month of April was Prevention of Animal Cruelty Month and, as in past years, we waived overdue fines of current Hayner material when a contribution of pet food was given to the library. This year we collected over 600 items of pet food that will be donated to the Alton Area 5A animal shelter. Members of 5As also decorated one of the windows of the Hayner Branch in the Alton Square Mall.

Bow-wow Pow-wow is Moving Up!

The Bow-wow Pow-wow program at the Hayner Youth Library is a wonderful way to keep your child's reading skills growing over summer vacation. The second Saturday of every month, we bring certified therapy dogs to the library for kids to read to. They love reading to the dogs! We have received many testimonials from parents who have seen dramatic improvements in both their child's reading skills as well as their increased enthusiasm for reading and coming to the library. We have moved these sessions to the main area of the Youth Library to give us and the dogs more room to stretch out. These sessions are all free of charge but do require registration. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. Keep your child reading this summer – everyone has a blast, kids, parents and dogs alike!

Spending a Spirited Afternoon.....

It was with much anticipation that I waited outside the Mineral Springs Mall on a beautiful spring day. I was meeting with Wayne Hensley, the owner and operator of the In Zone Barbershop in the mall since 1981. Wayne is also known as the Mall Historian due to his vast knowledge of the history of the building and its previous inhabitants. Wayne had agreed to take me on a tour of the facility that, he suggests, could be one of the most haunted buildings in Alton (one of the most haunted, per capita, towns in America).

I have to admit to a fair set of goosebumps as we entered the building. Wayne recounted that when he started working in the mall, he was not aware of its haunted reputation and on a scale of 1-10 (10 being the highest belief in spectral beings) he was probably a 2. That started to change during Thanksgiving week. The mall was going through bankruptcy proceedings that year and many of the tenants had left. Wayne was the only tenant on the street level. Wayne started his day every morning turning on the furnace in a back closet by flipping its toggle switch to on. As he was working through the day, his shop got colder and colder. Checking on the furnace he saw that the toggle switch had been flipped to off. There was no one else in the building that knew where the furnace was. This occurred four different times that day. Consequently, in following years, Wayne noted that during the months of October and November, unexplained events and 'sightings' increased dramatically. Back in the area by the furnace closet was an art studio, Vicky's Painting Parlor. Vicky found things being moved around in her shop frequently and the lights and radio were turned on and off, seemingly by themselves. One night, a young woman who was helping Vicky stayed late to work in the shop. The shop butts up to the old swimming pool used by hotel guests. The worker heard someone calling her name from the pool area. She unbolted the lock on the door to the pool and upon entering saw a man standing at the bottom of the long drained pool. As she stood there, he vanished. Understandably, the young woman left the job. Some months later, another woman was hired by Vicky and she had the exact same experience, hearing her name called and seeing a man in the pool. This woman related the story directly to Wayne though she had never heard of the previous worker's experience.

Wayne has researched the history of the Mineral Springs building extensively. Shortly after the Civil War, before the building was erected, two local businessmen became convinced there was oil under the current site location. They drilled down over 1450 feet only to hit water. They discounted any value to the underground well and sold the site to the astute businessman, August Luhr, in 1888. Luhr had identified that the water was artesian spring water and knew that the high salt content was perfect for curing meat. He built the first level of the mall (now the third sublevel) as a meat curing and packing facility. The wooden hooks to hang meat are still intact in this cavernous area. Luhr, however, was a man of vision and realized the growing popularity of salt water baths for their curative powers and decided to build an opulent hotel with pools for people to restore themselves. The hotel had a bar, a ballroom, dining room, guest rooms on the first floor and guest rooms on the second floor. The first sublevel was the men's pool (open to women during "open swims".) The second sublevel was the women's pool and the third sublevel (previously the meat packing plant) housed a large tank which was the holding tank for the water that filled the pools. The tank is still in tact in the building. The pools and hotel flourished from 1914 until the stock market crash of 1929.

Of the ghosts that inhabit the mall today, there are four distinct apparitions. One is the aforementioned man in the pool known as George (though one psychic identified him by the name of William Freeman). He has been seen by many people in the pool area and several psychics have born witness to seeing George being pushed into the pool, in full dress, hitting his head which caused his death. Wayne has never seen this apparition but has felt his presence on several occasions. One time, while working by the pool, Wayne felt his forearm being grabbed quite tightly with a distinctly human grasp. Several times he has had keys knocked out of his hand by a force he attributes to George. George will not leave the pool sublevel. There is also a little girl who appears in the pool area (she has been sighted on other floors of the hotel). It is identified that she died either running at the pool and falling and hitting her head or during a swimming lesson.

Another active ghost is the Jasmine Lady. Many people have seen her and many more have smelled her perfume, thus the nickname Jasmine Lady. She was a well-to-do young woman from St. Louis who was married, not very happily, to a wealthy businessman. Unfortunately, she fell in love with another but did not want to give up a marriage that provided for her very comfortably. She and her lover would escape from St. Louis to Alton to meet at the Mineral Springs Hotel.

Unfortunately, her husband followed her one day and burst into their hotel room. She ran off to the landing of the stairs to the lobby with the husband in pursuit. He reportedly pushed her so hard down the stairs, she broke her jaw, back and fractured her skull. The husband then went back to the hotel room and hung himself. This sad lady is often seen by the stairs where she fell, though occasionally she has been seen in the sublevels. Wayne has never seen her but has smelled her perfume on many occasions.

A forth active ghost on the main level has been sighted in the area that is now an active café. This used to be the hotel bar. This ghost is known as the drunken ghost. In order to pay his bar bill, he painted a mural on the wall between the bar and then dining room. You can still see this mural today (it is a river scene of Alton). He died while he was painting the mural of unexplained causes (some think he, too, hung himself). He has appeared to women only and has been known to flick the back of their hair or pull on their purses.

Wayne had so many fascinating anecdotes about the hotel and its history. It was a natural fit that, for two years, he has worked with Alton Haunted Tours, run by Jericka Bateman. He is currently conducting tours for the city. For more information regarding Alton Haunted Tours, contact 618-917-6658.

Where do you go to do your own ghostly research? Come to the Hayner Main Library and browse around our historic Illinois Room. Whether researching folk law or fact, many fascinating facets of Alton's colorful history are preserved in the Illinois Room as well as in our Vertical File collections. Also, you might want to stop by the Mineral Springs Mall (open to the public Tuesday – Saturday) at 301 E. Broadway in Alton and see if you sense anything "out of this world."

…..oh, by the way, on the "spectral beings belief scale", Wayne says he now calibrates at a 9.99!

Staff Picks—What We're Reading

Invisible Eden by Maria Flook. Nonfiction
Leaving the high profile life of the fashion world, Christa Worthington retreated to a simpler life to live in the "no man's land" of Truro, Cape Cod, where she was mysteriously murdered. Weaving the true story of Christa's murder against the backdrop of the stunning wilderness of the Outer Cape, the author mesmerizes the reader with images of her life set against the poetic picture of Cape Cod. Since the publication of Invisible Eden, police have arrested a suspect in this case, making this a timely story. –Jean S.

Kafka On The Shore by Haruki Murakami. Fiction
Murakami's style is at once right before you, like that of a good magician who reveals his trick as he performs it, and yet mysterious and elusive. His latest is ethereal, ephemeral, enchanting and all sorts of buzzwords that fail to capture this magic. A truly imaginative journey between the boundaries of the ordinary. See also The Wind-up Bird Chronicle, arguably his best. –Juan F.

Gilead by Marilynne Robinson. Fiction
In 1956, in Gilead, Iowa, Rev. John Ames, elderly and in poor health, begins writing, hoping to leave an account of his family history and thoughts about life for his 7-year-old son. From his fiery Civil War ancestor to the recent, unsettling return of a friend's prodigal son, we see large truths learned through everyday moments. Exquisitely written, Gilead is the 2005 Pulitzer Prize winner for distinguished fiction. –Katie S.

Ain't She Sweet? by Susan Elizabeth Phillips. Fiction
Ain't She Sweet? is a book about a spoiled little rich girl who leaves few friends and many enemies when she leaves her hometown to make her way in the world. The story begins when she is returning home after several years and many broken dreams later. Her rich husband died broke and all she has left is the dog named Gordon. This book is about revenge and mending relationships mixed with drama and humor, plus there is a surprising twist at the end that will leave you laughing through your tears – Holly P.

Patrons' Picks

Have a book you just finished that you loved? Why not share your recommendations with other library patrons? Or maybe you can't find something that interests you on shelf and you would like a recommendation. At both the Main and Branch libraries, we are maintaining notebooks to record some of our library readers' favorites. They are organized by genre including: mysteries, biographies, graphic novels, religious fiction, westerns, romance, science fiction, suspense, fiction, health & beauty, true crime, cookbooks, history, travel and home design. Even if you are not currently looking for a title, we all know that fellow bibliophiles are always curious to see what other people are reading. And of course library staff is always available to help with Reader's Advisory services!

Interested in Alton history? Then LOOK WHAT WE HAVE!! ...

A document giving the details of the first log cabins built on Alton soil! This is a copy of the contract made between Rufus Easton, founder of Alton, and builders Daniel Crum and William G. Pinckard. It details the construction of the first four log cabins built on Alton soil in December 1818. This document tells the location of these cabins along with interesting facts regarding construction plans, dimension sizes, and the price Mr. Easton paid for the building of these structures. The public is invited to come in and read this historic contract and see how Alton got its start with only four small log cabins and one man's plan to build a city on the hills along the Mississippi River.

The Alton Landmarks Files, stored in a fireproof cabinet located in the Illinois Room, hold many area land and property histories. Maybe your house is already included; or you would like to donate information, photos, or the history of your property to be included in our files. Hayner Public Library accepts for approval information on Alton area properties. For information on how to donate your house or business history, please call the Genealogy/Indexing Department at 462-0677.

Dennis and Iris Price

The Songs We Sing

Tuesday, August 23, 6:30 p.m.

Reverend Dennis Price performs with his wife, Iris, widely throughout southern Illinois. Reverend Price is the pastor at Troy United Methodist Church. The Prices have been singing together since 1970 and used to be part of a singing group called the Kings Kids. In November 2004, the Prices released their first CD featuring Reverend Price on guitar and vocals and his wife singing harmonies. Their program will include 'fun songs' such as Mississippi Squirrel Revival, John Denver compositions and older hymns. Join us for an evening of wonderful music. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

David Massengill

My Home Must be a Special Place

Tuesday, August 30, 6:30 p.m.

Currently living in New York City, David's speaking voice defiantly gives away his Tennessee roots. He is a critically acclaimed folksinger and songwriter who has performed throughout the U.S. and Canada including Carnegie Hall and the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C. His recent work, My Home Must be a Special Place, is a collection of family histories and song, and an affectionate remembrance of his rural southern upbringing. The New York Times cited him as "one of the most talented young singer-songwriters of the Village-based circle." The Halifax Herald wrote "Massengill gets into the same American tradition or ironic exaggeration and humor that gave rise to Mark Twain and Garrison Keillor." Don't miss this magical evening. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Note: this program will be held in the court outside of Famous Barr, lower level

The Hayner Branch Library is excited to welcome Holly Cleeland, author of the book "Glue and Go Costumes for Kids". Holly is a nationally known author whose work has been featured on HGTV's "The Carol Duval Show" and "The Rosie O'Donnell Show". Watch as Holly creates great costumes for children using household items, right before your very eyes. Several lucky children will also win the costumes Holly makes that day! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Let's Go to the Movies!

June 6 - Noon
July 13, 14, and 15 - 10:30 a.m.
August 15 - Noon

Now playing at OASIS - We would like to invite you to join us for a viewing of three great movies from the Hayner Library collection. Each movie/documentary is sure to entertain patrons of all ages. We will travel to the wilds of Alaska in our first documentary, re-live the Revolutionary War in our second documentary, and figure out "who done it" in our last movie. Refreshments will round out the movie experience. Get your "ticket" today! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Alton: Its History and Hauntings
Gary Hawkins

June 23, 7:00 p.m.

Have you ever wondered exactly what a ghost is? Have you ever wondered if they can be found in Alton? If so, join us for a "spooktacular" evening of ghostly entertainment, when paranormal investigator Gary Hawkins comes to OASIS as sponsored by Hayner Branch Library. Gary, whoholds doctorial degrees in Philosophy and Divinity, has been a paranormal investigator since 1996 and also gives tours of haunted sites in Alton. You will learn what a ghost is and is not and where in Alton they can be found. This is a great program for anyone interested in ghosts or local history. Gary will also have his book "Ghosts: Investigating the Other Side of Life" available at the program. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Underground Railroad
Eric Robinson

August 11 - 7:00 p.m.

History Instructor, Eric Robinson, will share his extensive research into the history of the Underground Railroad. He will discuss the Railroad's existence in our own Riverbend area and also how its history came to be passed on. Step back in time and relive this frightening yet often inspirational experience. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment.

Photos may be taken during library programs. Your enrollment in our programs will be assumed as your consent to allow the library the right to use these photos in promotional material.

Another Wonderful Donation and a Special Event!

Saints Peter and Paul Church, the "Old Cathedral," has presented The Hayner Public Library District with two copies of the book, One Hundred and Fifty Years of Salvation of Souls in commemoration of the church's Sesquicentennial year in 2005. The book is a collaboration between Father Robert Heinz, Bob St. Peters, Jim Ryan, Patti Kruegel and David Stafford with special thanks for contributions by Charlotte Stetson of The Telegraph and Sister Susan Karina Dickey, Archivist and Historian for the Springfield Diocese. The book is a wonderful compilation, through words and pictures, of the history of the church and the many Altonians who were members of the church and/or students of the Cathedral School, over the years. The book is available in the Illinois Room in the Main Library.

The book is also available for purchase during the Sesquicentennial Celebration on June 26th of this year ($10.00/copy). The Anniversary Celebration begins at the Church, 717 State Street, at 11 a.m. with a special mass concelebrated with Bishop Lucas of the Springfield diocese, followed by tours of the church, including the tombs of the Bishops, from 12 noon until 4 p.m. There will be a display of the artifacts and relics used in the traditional rites and ceremonies in the Sloan Room (in the basement of the church) as well as a scrapbook of photos from the past. This is an exciting opportunity to learn more about one of the most historical churches in the state, and perhaps in the Midwest. Please join us as we celebrate this 150th birthday on June 26.

2005 Hayner Adult Summer Reading Program June 11 – July 23

Reading programs aren't just for kids! Our Adult Winter Reading Program was such a success with patrons that we'd like to continue the fun with a 2005 Adult Summer Reading Program. While the kids enjoy their reading theme, "Superheroes…Powered By Books," adults can check out some super reads of their own and earn chances for our grand prize drawings. From June 11th to July 23rd, for every book or audio book you read, you can enter a drawing to win a gift basket stuffed with goodies. Thanks to the generosity of private funding, we'll have a grand prize gift basket at each of our three Hayner branches, including the Youth Library. The baskets will be on display at all three branches throughout the program. Every time you finish a book or audio book, fill out a form and drop it in an entry box by one of the baskets. The more you read, the more chances you have to win! Even the rules are easy: you must be a Hayner cardholder at least 18 years of age; all reading and listening material must be checked out from Hayner and should match each reader's skills; register at any Hayner circulation desk to participate and pick up entry forms. Grand prize drawings for these great baskets will be held on Saturday, July 23rd. Basket winners from Hayner's winter reading program were: Frederica Moore, Paula Arnold, Carol Simcox and Dale Eisenreich. Come on and enter…maybe you'll be as lucky!

Great Summer Reading Programs in Store!!

The theme for this summer's 2005 reading program at Hayner Youth Library is called "Superheroes—Powered by Books." It begins June 11th and ends August 4th at the Hayner Library. Any child from birth – 15 years old may participate in this program. If you love to read, this is the program for you. To register for the reading program, the dates are Saturday, June 11th – Saturday, July 16th.

During our reading program, the Youth Library will be giving away all kinds of nice incentive prizes to keep the children interested in reading. If you want to keep those reading skills sharp for the upcoming school year, then this is the way to do it. Bow-wow Pow-wow meetings will continue every second Saturday of each month at 10:00 a.m. in the Hayner Youth Library. During the Pow-wows, children strengthen their reading skills and vocabularies reading to certified therapy dogs. This is another fun and proven way to ensure your child maintains strong reading skills through the busy summer months. Along with the reading programs, any resident of Alton, Godfrey and Foster townships or non-resident cardholders of The Hayner Public Library District can join the extra activities, like story times, crafts, and a Read 'n Rant book discussion group.

Hayner Youth Library will also be hosting wonderful performers; authors, storytellers, puppeteers, a juggler, and a magician.

Anyone and everyone can attend these performances, no registration required.

We also welcome the public on the morning of June 15th at 10:00 a.m. when WBGZ will be broadcasting the "Let's Talk" radio show from the Hayner Branch Library. During the broadcast, come to the branch and show your Hayner Library card (or sign up for a card) and receive a special free gift.

To top it all off, there will be a grand End of Summer Party at the Commons on the campus of the Lewis & Clark Community College where awards and prizes will be given away, recognizing reading achievements of those who participated in the "Superheroes" reading program. The date for the party is Thursday from 6:00-8:00 p.m., on August 4, 2005. During this event, we have a very inspirational program planned. The Superhero in You by Victor Pacini will show us how we all can become superheroes. Come join all the fun sponsored by the Library District and have a great reading summer! Special performances and the End of Summer Reading party are all funded through private endowment.

Family Friendly Summer Fun

The Alton Regional Convention and Visitors Bureau is a good friend to the Hayner Public Library, often steering visitors and tourists to the library to check out the beautiful architecture of the Youth Library or research our area history in the Main Library's Illinois Room. Many of the events promoted by the CVB can be complimented by resources from the Library. Stop by the farmer's market every Sat. June through October and load up on fresh fruit and vegetables. Then, stop at the library to check out cookbooks or perhaps books on canning and preserving. The Two Rivers Family Fishing Fair is held at Pere Marquette State Park on June 11. The event includes a trout pond, seminars on fishing and water safety, make a cane pole, prizes and more. And guess what? If you want to bring your own fishing pole, you can check one out at the Hayner Youth Library.

Another great family event is the Great Rivers Towboat Festival on June 25 and 26. You can experience life on the Mississippi with free tours of working towboats on the Mississippi. Enjoy a Cajun crawfish and shrimp boil, live music, rope throwing contests, the art of the Mississippi and much more.

A new addition to summer activities is the "R" Pizza farm on 25873 State Hwy. 3 in Dow, IL. Here you can see the only farm in the Midwest where pizza is grown. Take a tour of this 2-acre farm in the shape of one of America's favorite foods...pizza! Each slice of the pizza represents a different ingredient, which is organically grown on the farm. Herbs, tomatoes, wheat, pigs…it's all part of the pie and the tour educating young and old alike on the importance of agriculture. Following the tour, indulge in a slice of fresh hot pizza made from ingredients grown on the farm. The farm is open April through October and does require advanced reservations at 618-466-5950. Then stop by the library for some gardening books to start your own pizza farm!

These are just a few of the many family fun activities available in the Riverbend this summer. For more activities and information, be sure to stop by the Convention and Visitors Bureau in downtown Alton, or call the CVB at 465-0491.

Patron Profile – Joe Benoit

Meeting Joe Benoit in his beautiful Alton home was such a treat. After years of international travel for his job as well as personal pleasure, his home is a showcase for the artwork and mementos he has collected from many different countries.

An Alton native, Joe attended Sts. Peter and Paul school and graduated from SIUE with a degree in English. Following college, Joe served a three-year term in the Army during which he was based in the Panama Canal Zone. Upon release from the Army, Joe headed north to Chicago for a stint at the Art Institute. Joe is a remarkably talented artist. As a child he studied art at the Ursuline Convent and hanging on the wall of his house are three oil paintings of great ships that he painted as a little boy. They are incredibly accomplished – one would never guess they were the work of a child.

In Chicago, Joe recalls wonderful times exploring the city and living and working with other artists. However, one day, he had an epiphany of sorts and decided he didn't want to be a starving artist anymore - it was time to find a job. He walked into the first employment agency he came to and was immediately sent to an interview with First National Bank of Chicago (which now, after several mergers, is J. P. Morgan Chase Bank). That very afternoon, Joe was offered a job that would be the start of a 30 year career with the bank. Starting as an entry-level clerk in the International Department of the bank, Joe quickly moved forward in his career. Ultimately he was named Vice President of Human Resources for the International Department- a Department of 3000 people. His job responsibilities included visiting international bank locations around the world facilitating management staffing, placement and training. These trips would take him out of the country approximately three months out of the year traveling to Asia, Middle East Africa, South America and all over Europe. He also had the responsibility of courting graduating MBAs from the top U.S. business schools for entry into the International Department. Joe notes that though it sounds glamorous to be traveling all over the world, it was a lot of hard work and long hours- often 12 hour work days. Also, in one month, he routinely traveled to a dozen different countries, often at opposite ends of the continents, which meant many long hours in airports, on planes and dealing with Customs.

One of Joe's favorite destinations included was at a game preserve in Kenya, where animals such as lions, giraffes, elephants and wildebeests would gather at dusk within feet of the guests. The walls of the lodge were 36 inches thick because the elephants would butt them. Joe mentioned Hong Kong as a beautiful, congested city with wonderful people. He visited Bali before it was the vacation mecca it has become today. He recalls the country as a paradise – lush and primitive. On the wall of his living room hangs a large painting of exquisite detail and color depicting a ceremonial Balinese wedding. Joe bought the painting in a Bali marketplace where artisans would sit on the floors of huts first penciling the designs, then painting in magnificent colors and details. Joe traveled to Russia before the Iron Curtain came down. The art and palaces in Saint Petersburg were incredible, he said, and he found the people friendly even though foreigners could not go anywhere alone. You were always accompanied by a Russian guide.

A more harrowing memory was a trip Joe made to Beirut during their war. There was open warfare and fighting in the streets. Joe was at a window in the downtown bank and was called away by a colleague for fear of catching sniper fire.

In 1969, First National Bank decided to open a Branch in Paris. Joe was put in charge of staff hiring and training operations. To accomplish this, he lived in Paris for three years, until 1972. Joe adored Paris. He lived in the city in an apartment off the Champs-Elysee and was completely in his element enjoying the art, architecture and Parisian culture. After Joe returned to live in the States, he continued to make yearly trips back to France, visiting with the many friends he had left behind.

After he retired in 1986, Joe decided to move back to Alton as his only sister lived here. He continued to travel frequently and was often in Chicago attending the Symphony or the Lyric Opera (which he has attended for 45 years).

Today, Joe is an avid library user, his reading preferences leaning toward biographies and history. He walks daily, sometimes as much as five miles. He also volunteers his time to multiple organizations. He has served on a variety of local boards and gives his time working for the Heart Transplant Association of St. Louis. This association provides funds for transplant patients and their families to cover ancillary costs not reimbursed through health insurance. Joe is also a mentor at an Alton Grammar School as part of the Alton School District Mentoring Program. This wonderful program pairs a volunteer with a child who is being raised in a difficult environment.

Talking with the child, sharing activities at the school and providing an emotionally supportive relationship, the mentor helps the child overcome the many challenges he or she may face. This program is designed for the mentor to stay paired with the same child through high school graduation. Joe absolutely beamed as he read a letter written by his student, citing Joe as the student's best friend. It was a delight meeting with Joe- after our chat, I went right back to the library to check out some travel books!

Senator Haine to Receive Circle of Care Award

Each year Riverbend Head Start & Family Services bestows its Circle of Care Award on an individual who exemplifies the spirit of caring in the community through their profession, volunteerism and philanthropy. This year, the agency will honor Illinois Senator William R. Haine for his caring and compassionate support of the children of Madison County.

From his work with the Hayner Library literacy efforts and ongoing support of the Oasis Women's Center to his commitment while Madison County State's Attorney to develop the Madison County Child Advocacy Center, no matter what era in his life you reflect on, his focus and attention has always been to deliver services and care to children.

The dinner will be held on Thursday, June 16th at Lewis & Clark Community College in The Commons. Cash bar and entertainment begins at 5:30 p.m. with dinner being served at 6:30 p.m. Reservations are $60 per person and may be made by calling Judy at 463-5946. Reservation deadline is June 9.

Library and OASIS grow Partnership

OASIS is a community service organizaton offering classes and activities for people 50 years and older. For sometime now The Hayner Public Library District and OASIS have had a partnership of promoting each other's programs and occasionally holding a joint program. We are very excited that this partnership has grown dramatically. Starting this summer, the Hayner Branch Library will increase its offerings of special programs that have been previously limited by lack of branch library space. OASIS facilities include two meeting rooms that they have generously offered to the branch library for programming space. Branch programs will now be highlighted in their own column along with Main and Youth special events calendars. The OASIS meeting rooms are located on the second floor of Famous Barr, down the hall to the right of their customer service area.

Mark Your Calendar for Two Important September Events

On September 13, at 6:00 p m., SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives), Counselors to America's Small Business will present how they can help you start or grow your small business opportunities. SCORE is a volunteer organization of business people that provides free, confidential business counseling for the small business entrepreneur. The counselors come from a myriad of different business fields, with years of experience in business management. They will help you understand the fundamentals of starting your business, what resources are available to help you and how to best develop business, financial and marketing plans.

This presentation, held in the Hayner Main Library, will demonstrate how SCORE can help you. It will introduce you to SCORE counselors, overview what occurs during your counseling sessions, how to apply for counseling and important documents that you, the client should be familiar with/ prepare for the counseling session. Use the program to network with other small business owners and hear the success stories from others who have used SCORE expertise to successfully grow their business.

This program is free of charge but does require registration. Register at 1-800-613-3163. For more information about SCORE, call 618-467-2280.

On September 15, the annual For Women By Women career development seminar will be held at the Alton Holiday Inn. This year's speaker is Edith Varley from the Varley Group. She will present a half-day interactive workshop titled "Business Survival Skills and Beyond" using Emotional Intelligence as a passport to success in life. She will help you understand the building blocks of EI, how to use EI to maximize your performance, enhancing personal effectiveness, team productivity, creativity, leadership skills and organizational achievement. For more information on the conference, contact the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois at 467-2280.

Connections 2005

The Small Business Council of the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois is sponsoring a trade event, "Connections 2005: A Business to Business Trade Celebration". This event has been organized to showcase the services and opportunities provided to the greater St. Louis area by Growth Association member businesses and organizations. The primary objective is to highlight how the Riverbend business communities are growing and diversifying, offering a unique variety of products, services and easy access to new markets.

On Thursday, September 22, the St. Louis Regional Airport will host the event. Businesses and organizations will have the opportunity to display even their largest products and assets to prospective market buyers/users. The event will accommodate everything from a tabletop booth display to a 737 airliner. It will feature aerial tours of the Riverbend, networking, seminars, business catering displays, keynote speakers, business and political leaders and honored guests. The Growth Association is committed to this event that will demonstrate to the entire St. Louis market area how the Riverbend business community is growing and changing, offering a vast array of products and services. If you are interested in participating in Connections 2005, either with a display booth, or as event sponsor or volunteer, contact Event Chairman Ron Tanner at 618-466-3240 or email ron@sell-itforever.com. For more information, contact Ron or the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois at 618-467-2280.

| That's All Folks | July 28 &31 |

Fifty first graders (from the Mark Twain Elementary School classes of teachers Mrs. Jones and Mr. Wendt) discover the wonder of books during a field trip to the Hayner Branch Library. After listening to stories read by Branch Manager Mary Cordes, they enjoyed the opportunity to make their own selection of books to take back to the classroom. A great time was had by all!

Libraries are magical places. There's nothing quite like strolling the hushed aisles, letting your eye rove along dimly lit shelves. Each spine, each title, seems to beckon with a promise of incredible wonders, surprises, and adventures.

Cemetery Records

Hayner Public Library District, in a joint effort with Mr. Perry Curvey and St. Patrick's Cemetery, has placed an inventory of the cemetery in the Illinois Room of the Main Library, for your use. We appreciate all the hard work and time involved in creating this wonderful resource. Many thanks to Mr. Curvey and Mr. Gebben of St. Patrick's Cemetery for their help.

Friends of the Library

The Friends of the Library is a group of volunteers who raise funds to benefit The Hayner Public Library District. Recently I met with Sarah Huber and David Strasser to learn more about this wonderful organization. In 1981, Sarah was a Hayner Library Trustee and she was assigned the responsibility to start a Friends group for the district. She and eight other volunteers constituted the first Hayner Library Friends membership. Those volunteers included David Strasser, Pat Renault, Susan Wilkinson, Pat and Bob Childers and Lifetime members Dorothy Kelley, Jean Barton and Marjorie DuVivier.

Sarah, David, Pat and Susan are still working members. Today the Friends membership numbers 48 people who support the organization in varying capacities. Some work one morning each week sorting material donations. Others work staffing the twice yearly book sales and a third group are strictly financial supporters. A Friends financial membership is tiered at $5 for a yearly membership, $50 for a patron membership and $100 for a lifetime membership (of course, any financial donation is always welcome!). Their first book sale, 24 years ago, netted $337, with hardcover books selling at $.25 and paperbacks at $.10. David helped solicit the original book donations by placing ads in the Yard Sale section of local newspaper. The sale was held in the library's garage and after the sale, all the leftover books were packed away and stored for the next sale event. The garage was the Friends point of operation until 1996 when the library district, which had bought the Barrett building at 327 State Street, gave it to the Friends for their use. Sarah recounts that having the Barrett Building to work out of was "heaven" as now they didn't have to keep all the donations boxed up and they could enjoy the luxury of heating and air conditioning!

Today, David and Sarah estimate the Barrett Building is housing between 20,000-30,000 items. As the popularity of the book sales has grown (much through word of mouth) so has the number of donations. Many people donate their books when they are breaking up a house to sell, many also buy books at the sale and then donate them back and of course the library donates the books that no longer circulate. One gentleman donated over 3000 books at one time. Donations can be brought to any library location or David will come to your home to pick them up. The Friends accept everything.

The book sales are held in the spring and fall. Along with the books of all genres (including large print books), the sale offers music, records, videos, cds, and magazines. There is also an extensive collection of National Geographic sorted chronologically for collectors who are looking for missing issues!

The sale starts on a Thursday evening and this is the only time there is an entrance fee ($5). This first evening attracts serious collectors and book dealers from all parts of the Midwest. They come from all over Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, and Wisconsin and of course all the local communities. Before the sale opens there is often a long line of people waiting all the way down State Street. Many bring lawn chairs as they arrive hours before the sale is to start. On Friday, the sale runs from 9 am to 7 pm and Saturday hours are 9 am to 2 pm. On both these days, there is no admission fee. Today, hardcover books sell for $1.00, paperbacks are $.50 and children's books are always $.10, to encourage young readers.

Other prices include CDs - $1.00, cassettes- $.25, videos- $.50, National Geographic - $.10, Pre-1960 National Geographic- $1.00. One Friend's member was a book dealer in St. Louis and sorts out the specialty books, those that may be rare or out of print, and maintains a separate table for these items. These items will be priced individually but are rarely over $6.00. Sarah also pointed out that during the sales, everything gets put out – nothing gets held back for restocking.

All the money generated by the book sales and Friends membership fees is gifted to The Hayner Public Library District. The Friends like the gifts to be items the public can all enjoy. Examples include computers, windows during Youth Library renovation, wall clocks, artwork, a colorful area rug for the youth library and much more.

David and Sarah both had many interesting anecdotes of sales past. Sarah remembers that in the early years of the sale, the first item to sell out was cookbooks- they literally flew off the shelves. However, for the last 3-4 years, the cookbooks are just piling up. Sarah conjectures the change to be the result of people using the internet for recipes as well as the fact that people do not have the time or inclination to cook as much as they used to.

Similarly, encyclopedias used to sell quickly regardless of publication date. Today, they rarely move, again the result of internet usage. Whole sets are available any time of the year for $5. If you are interested in a set, contact David Strasser.

David remembers a father who attended every sale from year one with his two young sons. Now the sons come every year with their own children. He also remembers an elderly lady of 80 plus who he offered to help. She replied "Oh no, I can't talk to you," and then turned to a female Friend volunteer asking "Honey, where are your romances?"

Sarah and David both noted that they have known people who buy books with no intention of reading them- they just want them to decorate their bookshelves. One photographer bought nine sets of encyclopedias to use as a backdrop in a photo shoot.

Sarah and David both strongly emphasized how much fun it is to work with the Friend's groups. The members are all like-minded community people who share a love of books and reading. It's a loose group that shares fun and friendship. The annual Friends Christmas party is a holiday highlight. New members are always welcome – in any capacity

Truly, the Friends provide a wonderful service for the library as well as the entire community. Booklovers especially appreciate the services of the Friends because we all know the one thing a booklover absolutely positively cannot do…throw out a book!!! Now, when the stacks at home get too high, we just call our 'Friends'.

To contact the Friends for book pickup or for more information call either the Main Library (462-0651) or the Branch Library (463-1276).

Friendly Furry Fun

In the book *"The Healing Power of Pets", author Dr. Marty Becker writes "Robert Poresky, human development and family studies professor at Kansas State University, questioned eighty-eight preschool children and their families from five Midwestern daycare centers to establish how having pets influenced the development of young children. Children from families who owned pets, he found, scored higher in cognitive, social and motor development." He continues "Beyond the pure sensory stimulus animals provide, the other gift a well-domesticated pet brings to young children is an enhanced sense of security…we develop a positive sense of self from interactions that make us feel recognized, accepted and admired." What, you don't have the time or room for a pet? Well, come to the Bow-wow Pow-wow, held the second Saturday of every month. We bring certified therapy dogs to the Youth Library for kids to play with and read to. We provide a lot of books to choose from, there are all kinds of dogs, you provide the kids and the fun and learning begins. Kids are relaxed with the dogs and have a great time while developing strong reading skills. We start at 10:00 am and all ages are welcome. Our spring sessions will be held March 12, April 9 and May 14. Please register at 1-800-613-3163 or for questions, call 462-0677.

We even celebrate birthdays at the Bow-wow Pow-wow.

Genealogy News and Events

Patricia Marton will be our featured speaker on April 19, 2005 at 6:00 p.m. in the Library Reading Room downtown. Patricia will introduce methods and techniques of oral history and oral history interviews. She has lectured across the country and will share her ideas to help us get started with our family history. Examples of the work by previous participants in her workshops will be shown via slides and table displays. This is a great way to begin your genealogy research. Bring along your questions and ideas. Funding for this program is provided by the Illinois Humanities Council. Call 1-800-613-3163 to reserve your seat.

New Resources available for Illinois Room researchers:

Hayner has Great Resources for Parents, Teachers and Home Schoolers

The Hayner Youth Library has a wonderful collection of materials to help parents and teachers alike. Housed in the stacks on Parent-Teacher shelves, find information on learning-related projects, activities and crafts, increasing reading skills, home schooling guides, parenting guides, health issues, and school subjects such as math, science, phonics and much more.

Also, the Youth Library will prepare Teacher Book Boxes to help supplement your curriculum materials. Just call the Youth Library (462-0652) or stop by to fill out a brief request form. The request form asks for basic information (school, teacher name, phone, subject needed, date needed, grade level, etc.) and library staff will gather print and/or non print materials on the subject requested. The teacher will need a Hayner Library card to check the materials out. The Teacher Book Boxes can be checked out for up to six weeks. This is a great way to supplement your classroom activities! Home Schoolers are certainly welcome to take advantage of this program also.

At the Branch Library at Alton Square Mall, they have built a terrific collection of over 100 new educational/teaching videos that include a huge variety of subjects for all grade levels k-12. Topics range from the American Revolution to the Great Empires, atoms and molecules, Ancient Civilization, the planets, geometry, math, biology, chemistry, grammar, earth science, religions, U.S. Government, math and many, many more subjects. These are a great way to supplement school classes and projects. The videos are also a great tool to be incorporated into lesson plans for home schoolers.

Calling all Home Schoolers!

In April, the Branch Library at Alton Square Mall is going to decorate a display window highlighting home schooling activities. We want to invite home schoolers (educators and students alike) to contribute materials for the window display. Items could include projects you've done, papers you've written, photos of schooling activities or field trips- anything you think would be fun or meaningful to highlight the home schooling experience. All items will be returned. Please bring them to the Branch Library by March 30. This is a great opportunity to show off your successes and achievements with your home schooling experience.

A Rule of Thumb

"The best trick I ever found for helping children choose books that won't be too frustrating is the "Rule of Thumb." Have a child choose a page in the middle of the book with a lot of text and make a fist. Explain to the child to "read the page silently and if you come to a word you don't know and can't guess, put out your thumb. If you reach the end of the page and between three and five (fingers) are up, that means the book will be a challenge." The child can decide if they are motivated enough to try to read it anyway (you can offer help), or they can choose to save it for the future. A pleasure read should have 0 – 2 fingers up.

Adapted from How to Get Your Child to Love Reading by Esme Raji Codell
Algonquin Books of Chapel Hill, 2003

This seems like a great technique to help your child pick out reading material that will not overwhelm him and consequently diminish his interest in reading. Ms. Esme states that it was one of her great rewards working as a librarian, teaching this technique to classes and then watching children check out books themselves.

Thank you for Generous Patron Donations

Alton Township Supervisor Don Huber is a frequent visitor to the library. We are grateful for the terrific amount of local and civil war history he researches and preserves- and gives back to our community in so many different ways. Recently, Don has made a contribution to the Library District which has generated much interest. It is a large glassed-in aerial photograph of Alton circa 1953/1954. On the sides of the photo are the names and addresses of the numerous businesses active at the time. Next to the business name is a button. The map is backlit so when you press the button, the corresponding location of the business on the map lights up. Don explained that this map was housed in the lobby of the Stratford. During the early '50s when Alton was thriving industrially, many salesmen would come to town to sell to the different industries and they would stay at the Stratford. In the manner of "you are here" diagrams you see at malls today, the Stratford's location on the map was always lit and you could light up the business you wanted to visit to determine your best travel routes…like an early MAPQUEST! It's really fun to study the map, identify different businesses and landmarks and to see how downtown has developed and changed over the years. The map is located in the Hayner Main Library on 326 Belle Street, Alton, IL.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrissey, faithful supporters of The Hayner Public Library District, have generously donated a book that is a stunningly beautiful addition to our local history collection in the Illinois Room. It is titled Bernard Maybeck at Principia College The Art and Craft of Building by Robert M. Craig. Maybeck was the California architect who was granted the Principia College commission in 1923 to design the master plan for this institute of higher learning. He created a grand vision for the college, believing that the physical environment has an important impact on the human condition. The book provides a comprehensive analysis of the architectural process, as well as a study of the glorious finished product. History of Elsah and the surrounding Mississippi Valley area are also part of the Maybeck story. Take a look at this beautifully illustrated book and marvel at the incredible design and innovation of Principia College, now recognized as a National Historic Landmark by the Department of the Interior.

Spread the Word(s)!

Have you read a really good book lately that you think someone else might enjoy? Have you discovered an author you can't wait to tell other people about? Or do you simply have a favorite author you think people would like? If so, stop by the Hayner Library and share your idea in our new "Patron's Picks" book. The library has decided to offer another layer of reader's advisory by providing a place for patrons to write down their favorite books and authors for other patrons to try. And to make it convenient for everyone, we have divided it into genres. The book will be available at the Circulation Desk of the Branch and Main Libraries. So the next time you are thinking "what should I read next?" head out to the Branch Library and take a look. Someone in the area may have read just what you are looking for!

Going Graphic

Recently, due to the generous contribution from a private endowment, the Branch Library has been chartered with the responsibility, and now capability, to develop a graphic novel collection base. Graphic novels are books patterned on a comic book format- character drawings that use dialogue bubbles to convey a story line. These novels range from high adventure, action and science fiction to the classics – literally any genre you might find in 'traditional' print. The illustrations are generally high-quality and may be colored or black and white. The novels themselves range from hard cover to soft cover trade paperbacks. The popularity of graphic novels has been growing dramatically the last few years, primarily with teens. Studies have shown that reading graphic novels has increased teen interest in reading, which of course is a critical library objective. A broad spectrum of titles has been carefully reviewed and selected by library staff. Of the 57 titles selected, most are currently in house. This collection will be housed at the Branch Library at Alton Square Mall.

Share a Library Memory

So many of us were fortunate to grow up knowing the joys of that weekly trip to the library. Many of us have spent hours in the library browsing, reading or visiting with a favorite librarian. How lucky the child who learned that a visit to the library with a parent, sibling or friend was a special treat and bonding time. Libraries with their beautiful architecture and stacks of books to get lost in can provide a calm respite from the noise and hubbub of daily life. Do you have a special library memory? It might just be the wonderful smell that emanates from an older building filled with pages. Or the golden light pouring through library windows on a crisp fall day. Maybe it was a thrill of reading every single Nancy Drew, discovering the high seas adventure of books like Captain Blood or Horatio Hornblower, or the serenity of a reading room where the only sound is the turning of pages while you read and study. Why don't you share some of these special memories with us? We would love to include them in future newsletters. We would love to hear from folks that grew up right here in the Riverbend as well as those who experienced libraries outside our community. So please write a few sentences and drop at any Hayner library location, attention: "Memories". Please be sure to include your name and phone number, although, upon your request, we will omit that information in the newsletter. If you require further information or have any questions, call 462-0677.

There's Something For Everyone At The Library!

Staff Picks—What We're Reading

They Made America (From the Steam Engine to the Search Engine: Two Centuries of Innovators) by Harold Evans. Nonfiction
They Made America is a book designed to highlight the stunning achievements of American innovators. Author Harold Evans writes about what he describes as the "adaptive genius" of the American people and the innovations and inventions they created that changed the world forever. This is a book that will satisfy readers on many levels Equal parts biography, science, and history, Evans brings each inventor and their invention to life in rich detail sure to delight readers of all ages. (Readers may also see the book brought to life on PBS.) –Mary C.

How to Be Lost by Amanda Eyre Ward. Fiction
After five-year-old Ellie disappears on the day she and her two older sisters were to run away from home, an already disintegrating family further falls apart. Now fifteen years later, her oldest sister Caroline, living with self-imposed guilt, thinks she has seen Ellie through one of her "Ellie sightings," and sets off to find her long-lost sister. How to Be Lost is a compelling page turner, driven by the need for lost lives to be found. –Jean S.

A Clean Slate by Laura Caldwell. Fiction
Kelly McGraw can't remember the last five months of her life. She soon finds out that in those five months, she has been laid off from her job and dumped by her boyfriend. With no job prospects or significant other, Kelly has a clean slate in life. Readers will enjoy Kelly's search to discover what she really wants out of life. This witty and sharp page turner is highly recommended to "chick lit" readers. –Michele K.

Big Bang: The Origin of the Universe by Simon Singh. Nonfiction
A Ph D. in particle physics, Singh is also an acclaimed writer who gracefully assembles an engaging and comprehensive narrative. This story is about a centuries-long struggle to "replace. . myth with a respectable and rigorous scientific explanation" of the world we live in and how it came to be. It is about humanity's enduring curiosity, the collective triumphs of science and the men whose vast imaginations have fueled its quest to explain the universe. –Juan F.

Dear Senator: A Memoir by the Daughter of Strom Thurmond by Essie Mae Washington-Williams. Nonfiction
Dear Senator is an unapologetic reflection of the relationship between a racist senator and his illegitimate biracial daughter, Essie Mae Washington-Williams. The news that Sen. Strom Thurmond fathered a biracial daughter echoed in the ears of those who believed his white supremacy rhetoric. This book takes you into the racially charged world of Essie Mae's youth and the pain of having a father who acknowledged her existence but could not claim her as his daughter. It also addresses her confusion over the contradictory public and private life her father led. Though Dear Senator raises questions of forbidden love, social norms, and racial acceptance, it is Essie Mae's triumph over the secrecy of her past that leaves the most lasting impression. –Cherilyn P.

Postcards from the Boys by Ringo Starr. Nonfiction
Whether or not you are a Beatles fan, everyone will enjoy this book. A collection of postcards from "the boys" (John, Paul and George) to Ringo is showcased in this beautiful coffee table book. Ringo writes his own recollections about what was going on within his own life and that of his band mates at the time the postcards were sent. Ringo, himself, dispels many myths surrounding the band after its dissolution. Most of the postcards are irreverent and funny. Who knew the Beatles could be so quirky?!–Bethany S.

If Grace Is True by Philip Gulley. Nonfiction
The premise of this book is that God will save every person. The authors believe salvation does not follow a formula which gives one a ticket into heaven and leaves all others doomed, as taught in many churches. Instead they believe that God's love of every person is without boundaries and has never been limited by any formula. The authors use scriptures from the bible and the actions of Jesus to explain their theology. They believe God is an energy which is love and that this love is the greatest force of all creation. –Lona F.

London Bridges by James Patterson. Fiction
If you like detective mysteries, you will love this book. Alex Cross is hard at work on another case in this James Patterson series. If you like books that are full of suspense and are hard to put down, this book is for you. –Shannon B.

Nancy Lippincott and Ben Schreiber
Traditional Strings
Tuesday, March 15, 6:30 pm

Nancy Lippincott is a popular local vocalist who plays guitar, autoharp, mandolin and hammered dulcimer. She enjoys exposing audiences to traditional music that is seldom heard these days. Her repertoire includes Celtic music, early country, American folk, blues, swing and gospel. She has performed extensively throughout the area, including the International Folk Festival, where she performed music from the Appalachian and Irish traditions. For this program, Nancy will be joined by Ben Schreiber, an incredibly accomplished 15-year-old fiddle and banjo player. Don't miss this event, which will include something for everyone! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Amy Cloud
Community Supported Garden
Tuesday, March 22, 6:30 pm

La Vista Community Supported Garden is actually an organic farm supported through the partnership of our local communities, farmers and the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. The farm is located on the scenic property of the Oblates in Godfrey, Illinois and the project was initiated by Father Maurice Lange in 2002. The farm is now in its third season of growing fresh, organic fruits and vegetables for 140 families in our area. This presentation will focus on the benefits of organic, locally grown food and the need to preserve the small family farm, as well as the mission of the farm to provide healthy produce to those who are in need. La Vista CSG is a non-profit, volunteer-supported organization. Come hear how you can be involved in this unique and rewarding project. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Folkhead
Acoustic Folk
Tuesday, March 29, 6:30pm

Folkhead is a five piece acoustic group based in Alton. Matt Taul leads the group on vocals and acoustic guitar. On the twelve-string guitar and backup vocals is Mike Youngberg. Jennifer Hayden is on fiddle, Tim Bramstedt on mandolin and Adam Peipert on the banjo.

Together they play a blend of original compositions, traditional folk songs, real country and Americana. The music of Townes, Van Zandt, Hank Williams, John Hartford, Willie Nelson and a host of others find their way into a Folkhead performance. This is an extremely popular group you must experience! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Nancy Tolson
There Will Be Storytellers
Tuesday, April 12, 6:30 pm

"Once upon a time, long ago and far away, in a far away land, in a far away time," is to many what a can opener is to a dog or a cat. It is an attraction (get it?). It is the storyteller's voice that lures children and adults away from their daily problems and into the realm of creativity. Our guest artist, Nancy Tolson, teaches storytelling and English at Illinois State University. In this presentation for all ages, Nancy will explain the art and heart of storytelling through lecture, stories and, above all, laughter. This program is funded by a grant from the Illinois Humanities Council. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Genealogy Discussion Group
Oral Histories
Tuesday, April 19, 6:00 pm

has lectured across the country and will share her ideas to help us get started with our family history. Examples of the work by previous participants in her workshops will be shown via slides and table displays. This is a great way to begin your genealogy research. Bring along your questions and ideas. Funding for this program is provided by the Illinois Humanities Council. Call 1-800-613-3163 to reserve your seat.

Riverbend Children's Choir/Limited Edition
Sounds of Spring
Thursday, April 21, 6:30 pm
Note: This program will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey Illinois
This choir, directed by Barbara McHugh of Lewis and Clark Community College, features children ages 8 to 15 years. They will sing popular favorites and some choral classics. Joining the performance will be members of one of our favorite performance groups, Limited Edition. Don't miss this very special event. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Spring Blood Drive
Saturday, April 23, 10:00 am – 2:00 pm
Hayner Main Library
The Central Illinois Community Blood Center provides blood for several local hospitals. They are a nonprofit organization that, last fall, held a very successful blood drive at the library. Please volunteer and make our spring drive even more successful. There is always a critical need for blood. Donors will receive a gift, cookies and juice. Please register at 1-800-613-3163. We need 25 registered donors to make this drive cost-effective.

Peter Ellertsen
Shape-Note Singing Schools in Frontier Illinois
Tuesday, April 26, 6:30 pm
During the early 1800s, American folk hymns and compositions in four-part harmony flourished in Illinois. Young people gathered to sing from shape-note tune books during the agricultural off-season as a social outlet. The music included songs such as "Amazing Grace" and "On Jordan's Stormy Banks." Pete recreates a nineteenth century singing school and will teach you to read the "fa-sol-la" shapes that constitute shape singing. He will lead the audience in singing a few of the old camp spirituals. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Nancy Cook Steeper
Biography of a Gatekeeper
Thursday, May 12, 6:30 pm
Author Nancy Cook Steeper discusses her book Dorothy Scarritt McKibbin: Gatekeeper to Los Alamos. Dorothy McKibbin worked as the "secretary" for the secret Manhattan Project that led to the development of the atomic bomb. In this role, she acted as information center and full-service concierge for the researchers assigned to Los Alamos. Author Steeper will discuss how Dorothy McKibbin not only watched the story of the United State's entrance into the nuclear age unfold from a front-row seat, she also had a role in its making. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Jack and Danette Miller
The Frilly & Miller Show
Tuesday, May 17, 6:30 pm
This program is a musical comedy show that has something for everyone. Enjoy flashbacks listening and singing along to music of the '50s and '60s. Of course, every song has a "Frilly & Miller" twist. This show is guaranteed to have you laughing out loud at the zany antics, comedy and high energy music. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Cameron Davis
Alton and the Civil War
Thursday, May 19, 6:30 pm
Alton, in the crosshairs of free soil versus slave sentiment and the home of the last Lincoln-Douglas debate, typified a Midwestern town in the late 1850s. In the early 1860s, three brothers – sons of the prominent Davis Family of Alton- enlisted in Alton's 97th Illinois Volunteer Regiment to serve the Union cause. After three years of exhaustive research, Cameron Davis, attorney and Executive Director of the Chicago-based Lake Michigan Federation, and great-great-grandson of one of the Davis brothers, tells the story of the three men during the Civil War, and through them, how Alton desperately anticipated the outcome of one of our nation's most trying conflicts.

Sandi Sylver
"Stories and Songs of Life, Love and Laughter"
Tuesday, May 24, 6:30 pm
Sandi is a storyteller, ventriloquist and songstress. Her program "Stories and Songs of Life, Love and Laughter" is a blending of material that ranges from thought-provoking to hilarious to warm and fuzzy, with songs from the '20s, '30s and '40s as well as contemporary tunes. Sandi includes stories that are incredible but true and you will meet some delightful characters, including Adelia, a southern belle senior citizen who loves to philosophize and wisecrack. Don't miss this wonderful event! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Judy Hoffman
God's Portion: Godfrey, Illinois 1817-1865
Thursday, May 26, 6:30 pm
God's Portion: Godfrey Illinois 1817- 1865 is author Judy Hoffman's story of the making of the town of Godfrey. The Godfrey area was inhabited by diverse and radically different people. A cultural confluence as well as geographic confluence, Godfrey would be home to a remarkable series of tales, adventures, turmoil and clashes. This book details those historical stories, including the compelling tale of cooperation among runaway slaves, free blacks and white abolitionists. There are also tales of commercial empire, abolition, temperance, the education of women and railroad expansion. Don't miss this fascinating discussion of Godfrey's colorful history. Books also will be available for purchase and author signing. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

How's Your Driving?

AAA has developed a tool that will enable older drivers to identify and address physiological changes which could affect driving. AAA Roadwise Review: A Tool to Help Seniors Drive Longer is a scientifically validated screening tool developed by AAA and transportation researchers. This user-friendly screening software is based on a series of functional tests which measure mobility, flexibility, visual acuity and more. Drivers with a significant lose of the functional capabilities tested by Roadwise Review are 2 to 5 times more likely to cause a motor vehicle mishap than drivers without losses in these key safe driving abilities. Roadwise Review is designed to be used in the privacy of your own home. At the conclusion of eight skill tests, a summary of results is displayed along with advice as to what the test taker should do. Many medical, visual and physical rehabilitation options are available that can add substantially to the safe driving years of normally aging individuals. This tool will help you identify options that are appropriate for you. The Roadwise Review CD is available for checkout at both the Branch and Main libraries.

Migration to Innovative Interfaces, Inc.

On May 18, 2005, the Lewis & Clark Library System, of which The Hayner Public Library District is a member, will be migrating to a new vendor to provide circulation and library catalogue services. Innovative Interfaces, Inc. was selected after many demonstrations from various companies. This is a web-based product and will be very similar to the web catalog we are currently using. All patron records and item records will be migrated to this new vendor, but the PIN numbers you are currently using will not be migrated. You will need to enter a new PIN number to access the online catalog after May 18, 2005. We will provide you with additional information prior to the system migration.

Special $.10 Book Sale Scheduled!

On Friday, March 11 and Saturday, March 12, the Friends of the Library will have a special book sale during which all materials will be priced at the amazing value of $.10! The sale will be held in the Friends of the Library building on State Street and will run from 7 pm to 9 pm on Friday and from 9 am-2 pm on Saturday. There is no admission fee. Don't miss this book/ bargain lovers dream!

Food For Fido

April is Prevention of Animal Cruelty Month and in commemoration of this, all three locations of The Hayner Public Library District will collect pet food and supplies that will be given to the Alton Area 5 A's Animal Shelter. This no kill shelter is completely dependent on donations and is run by a dedicated staff who work tirelessly to provide care for an overwhelming number of unwanted animals. From April 1 through April 30, if you have an overdue item, you can pay your fine with an item of pet food. This amnesty applies to Hayner material only. Library materials must be returned with the donation and at least one donation for each fine. Please help our friends at the 5 A's – they work so hard to care for the sadly constant stream of unwanted, neglected or abused animals brought to the shelter.

Win a Plush Pup!

During the month of April, register at any Hayner Library location to be in a drawing to win a Labrador retriever (stuffed) puppy! Enter as often as you like. Winners will be drawn on Saturday, April 30, coinciding with the conclusion of our drive to raise food for the 5 A's Animal Shelter.

Please Give Blood!

The Central Illinois Community Blood Center provides blood for several local hospitals. They are a nonprofit organization that, last fall, held a very successful blood drive at the Hayner Main Library. Along with return donors, we also saw a substantial number of first-time givers, which is great! Please volunteer and make our spring drive even more successful. There is always a critical need for blood. The Bloodmobile (which is new, roomy and very comfortable) will be in the parking lot of the Main Library, downtown on Saturday April 23 from 10:00 am until 2:00 pm. Donors will receive a gift, cookies and juice.

Record Breaking Generosity!

During the month of December, all library locations were accepting food items to offset fines on late returning materials. This year, we collected over 1250 items to go to the Alton Area Crisis Food Center. This is the largest amount we have collected since we started the program five years ago. Thank you for participating so generously and supporting this valuable community center.

Hayner Library staff - happy to donate!

Patron Profile – Marjorie Doerr

On a beautiful winter day, I delivered our latest newsletter to Elsah for the village residents. Why Elsah? Are they part of the Hayner Public Library District? No, but Elsah has instituted a wonderful program for its residents. Elsah does not have a library so community leaders have mandated that money from the community's General Fund will be used to purchase a non resident Hayner library card for any Elsah village resident as desired. This has been an extremely popular program and is perceived as another of the many wonderful benefits of living in this charming burg.

I had the opportunity to meet with Elsah's mayor, Marjorie Doerr. Marje is a lovely woman who obviously cares deeply for her adopted home and its citizens.

Marje worked in St. Louis for thirty years as a Customer Service Representative with Allen Foods (now U.S. Food Service). In 1985, she moved to Elsah while continuing to commute to her job. She commented that when she first moved to Elsah she "felt like I had really come home- living here is where I really belong. To me this village is Shangri-La – friendly, peaceful and calm." Elsah, she told, was a working man's town. Farmers brought their produce in wagons to load onto the boats that were going up or down river to markets. The village has stayed much the same in spirit and structure as it was over 100 years ago due to its isolation and the today's residents work hard to keep it that way. Another interesting fact about Elsah is that it is a dry (alcohol-free) community. The original ordinance of 1894 declared that citizens could buy alcohol in Elsah only in quantities over a gallon and it could not be consumed where purchased. A new ordinance was adopted in 1974 and it stands today that there is to be no consumption of alcohol "in public view". Also, alcohol cannot be sold or purchased in Elsah. Violation of this ordinance could result in ticketing.

Along with her passion for her current home, she also is obviously crazy about her five fun grandchildren (Marje has two daughters, both living in Missouri.) She related a cute story about her eight-year-old grandson. It seems he has extremely curly, sandy blonde hair that incites people, even strangers, to touch. One day he said "Grandma, I wish my hair was full of static electricity." When Marje asked why, he responded "because then when people touch it they would get electrocuted!" Sounds like he may be a future Donald Trump!

After living in Elsah for four or five years, Marje became a member of the Zoning Board, and then became a Village Board Trustee. She successfully ran for mayor in 2001 and, now retired, is running this year for re-election. Marje pointed out that the population of the village is 1/3 long-term residents, 1/3 Principia staff and 1/3 recent 'transplants'. Principia College itself is part of the village of Elsah but is not part of the village government. Principia is a wonderful neighbor, said the Mayor, "they offer first class cultural opportunities, help with custodial and maintenance services, and have provided emergency services quickly and generously." During the flood of 1993, Principia maintenance engineers descended upon the town to set up pumps and worked tirelessly, some all night long, to help save the village from the flood waters. Of course, on mention of the flood, I had to ask Marje how her house fared. She replied that her first floor was four feet deep in water and while she moved some things upstairs, many possessions were lost. Marje accepts this calmly as "they were just things". Marje lives in a house that was built in 1910 and it had never previously flooded.

As Mayor, Marje has been involved in many unique situations. She recalled a day some years ago she was on her way to the post office when a woman came running from the park crying "Quick, do you have a policeman? My grandchildren are lost up in the woods." She was not from the area and had brought the kids out for a day trip. Marje said "I'm sure they're fine and I can probably even show you where they will come down from the hills where they were playing." Marje did call emergency services, however, and within minutes local police, county sheriff, ambulance and fire department had arrived. Just minutes later, after the cavalry had shown up, there were children's voices coming down the hill behind the Methodist Church – exactly the course Marje knew the children would take. The cops and firemen talked to the boys about the dangers of getting lost in the woods and soon everyone was on their way. Several days later, Marje got a call from the boy's aunt, wanting the names and addresses of everyone who had been involved in the rescue. She said the boys were going to write thank you notes to everyone who came to help. Several days later, Marjorie received the following note: "Dear Mayor Marje, Thank you for saving our lives! Sincerely,". Though it was a false alarm as Marje had predicted, she said it was very gratifying to witness such quick response from the various safety organizations.

Needless to say, Elsah does not have a crime problem. One time a new homeowner did report a suspected prowler – it turned out to be a deer in their garden. Marje said the many tourists, hikers and bicyclists that visit Elsah are consistently courteous and respectful and always welcome.

Though small in population, Elsah's citizens work to provide a plethory of family-based activities for locals and visitors alike. The museum, which is supported by the Village and the Historic Elsah Foundation, is open from the first weekend in April to the last weekend in October. It features four different exhibits throughout the season. Exhibits have featured Family Heritage including one on stitchery showcasing hand made quilts, wedding dresses and more. There was also an exhibit of kitchen gadgets, tools and appliances from years past. The museum also hosts a yearly photo contest which is open to the public and features a $150 first place prize. They hold Story Day, a popular event which is organized to collect Elsah history from the residents. The last weekend in October the museum hosts a combination Bake Sale and Book Sale so you can nibble while you browse! There is an annual Christmas Tree Lighting Festival and a Fourth of July Potluck- open to all (don't forget your pot!). The village sponsors a family game night on every second Saturday in the Civic Center. Families gather to play their choice of a large variety of board games. Marje says the competition can get quite heated between family members and things can get quite loud – but it's always great fun. In the summer, there are water balloon fights scheduled, for all ages, and watermelon seed spitting contests. Last year's champion seed spitter was a 12-year-old boy whose seed flew a record 26 feet! In the fall, there is an annual Bonfire and a village family with the Historic Elsah Foundation holds Contra Dances in the Farley Music Hall on Mill Street. Contra dancing is similar to square dancing and great fun. At the Elsah Sesquicentennial in 2003, there were over 100 people contra dancing in the street during the celebration. My Just Desserts on LaSalle Street sponsors trivia night on Saturday nights and all are welcome. These are very popular and people come from all over to attend (reservations: 618-374-1607). Finally, Marjorie mentioned that there is also an Elsah Water Color Club that meets the first and third Thursday of the month at the Civic Center. Aspiring artists gather to paint water colors of the area.

There is certainly an awful lot going on in this little town. In fact, Marjorie has friends that she travels with and they are complaining that Marjorie's move to Elsah is ruining their travel plans because she has too much fun just staying home! It was a pleasure meeting Marjorie and we look forward to seeing her and her Elsah neighbors on their next visit to the library.

Should you want more information on Elsah and/or activities, check the web site www.elsah.org. A calendar of Elsah activities is also maintained on www.greatriverroad.com.

National Library Week April 10-16

Initiated in 1958, National Library Week is a national observance sponsored by the American Library Association (ALA). To this end, ALA has issued the following proclamation:
WHEREAS, our nations public, academic, school and specialized libraries provide something for everyone;
WHEREAS, libraries play a vital role in providing millions of people with the resources they need to live, learn and work in the 21st century;
WHEREAS, libraries are changing and dynamic places and librarians are the ultimate search engine, helping people of all ages find the information they need in print and online;
WHEREAS, libraries are part of the American Dream – places for opportunity, education, self-help and lifelong learning;
WHEREAS, libraries bring you a world of knowledge both in person and online, as well as personal service and assistance in finding what you need, when you need it;
WHEREAS, libraries are a key player in the national discourse on intellectual freedom, equity of access, and narrowing the "digital divide;"
WHEREAS, more individuals must be recruited to the profession of librarianship and to work in libraries to maintain their vitality in today's changing workplace;
WHEREAS, awareness and support must be increased for libraries, librarians and library workers by raising their visibility in a positive context and by communicating clearly and strongly why libraries are both unique and valuable,
WHEREAS, library users and non-users alike are encouraged to stand up and speak out for libraries and to support library funding efforts;
WHEREAS, libraries, librarians, library workers and supporters across America are celebrating National Library Week with The Campaign for America's Libraries.
NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved to proclaim National Library Week, April 10-16, 2005. The American Library Association encourages all residents to take advantage of all the wonderful library resources available. Come see why there's something for everyone at your library.

How Can You Teach Your Child to Love Books?

One way is by example. Let your child see you reading! When children see their parents reading, it teaches them that reading is important. Children who love to read come from families who read.

- When you read something interesting, tell your child about it. He will learn that books are a good way to learn new things. When you read something that makes you laugh, share that with him, too. He will learn that books are funny. And when you read something that makes you sad, tell him about it. It will teach him that books have the power to touch real human beings.
- Let your child know that you have favorite books. Handle these books gently to show that you value them. He will learn that the best books are to be treasured.

- excerpted from Read For Joy, Claudia Quigg, Baby Talk Publications, 1993

The Hayner Public Library District

Join us for a Very Special Event

On Tuesday, October 18, The Hayner Public Library District is proudly sponsoring a performance by the extremely talented pianist, Choo Choo Hu. This performance will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College at 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Illinois.
Choo Choo was born in 1989 in Changchun, a city in northeastern China. When she was two, her family moved to St. Louis, Missouri. She was five years old when she began studying piano under John Sun, a graduate of the Shanghai Conservatory.

Today, though only 16 years old, Choo Choo has been the recipient of many prestigious piano performance awards. She was the winner of the Honors Auditions at the Missouri Southern International Piano competition in 2002. In 2004 she won the Saint Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra Concerto Competition.

She is a two-time winner of the Washington University Young Artists Piano Concert Competition, resulting in performances with the Washington University Symphony orchestra in 2001 and 2005. Apart from solo and concerto repertoire, Ms. Hu also plays chamber music. She was enrolled in the Preparatory Program at the Community Music School of Webster University during the 2004-2005 school year and, this past summer, attended the International Keyboard Institute and Festival in New York City.

To allow more hours for her daily music study, Choo Choo has elected to follow a home schooled curriculum since eighth grade. Getting a jumpstart on her career, Choo Choo intends to audition at several music conservatories this year. Currently, her schools of choice include the Curtis and Peabody Institutes on the east coast as well as the Colburn Conservatory of Music in Los Angeles, California. Choo Choo is also involved in plans for future concerts with the Alton Symphony and she will be performing Rhapsody in Blue at future performances for the Alton Park musical series (she will perform at both Haskell and Riverside Park). Do not miss the chance to attend this performance by an amazingly talented young pianist.

The program on October 18 will include the following works:
Rigoletto Concert Paraphrase S434/ Verdi-Liszt
Rondo Op. 59/ Kabalevsky
* Note* This Rondo was written for the first Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition. Contestants were given several weeks to learn the piece then perform it before a panel of judges. The winner was the American pianist Van Cliburn, whose illustrious career was launched after his success at the competition.
Etude No. 2 (La Capricciosa)/ Paganini-Liszt
Flight of the Bumblebee/ Rimsky-Korsakov
Waltz in A-Flat/ Chopin
Sheep May Safely Graze/ J.S. Bach arr. Egon Petry
Andante Spianato et Grande Polonaise Brillante/ Chopin

This performance will begin at 6:30 p.m. and is free of charge. Registration, however, is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

The Hayner Library District is also excited to announce two other programs that will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel.

On Tuesday, November 8, at 6:30 p.m., The Wanda Mountain Boys will perform in the chapel. This extremely popular local ensemble performs Southern gospel music that is guaranteed to move you.

On Sunday, December 4 at 3:00 p.m., the library will present another favorite program, The Holiday Sounds of Limited Edition. This choral group, under the direction of the vivacious and always entertaining Susan Parton-Stanard, prides themselves as Lewis and Clark's musical ambassadors to the community. They never fail to bring standing ovations!

The Clever Dog

A dog was on safari with humans. One afternoon, he started chasing after a butterfly near the camp and suddenly found himself deep within the wilderness. He saw a leopard approaching him from the grass. "Oh boy, guess I'm gonna have to show this cat who's boss," thought the dog as he plopped down next to a pile of bones. He reached for the largest bone and began to chew on it.

The leopard hid in the tall grass and waited for just the right moment to pounce on the canine. The dog continued chewing on the bone as the leopard slowly inched closer.

When the dog heard the movement of the grass, he said loudly, "Mmm, mmm. That was one tasty leopard. I think I will eat another one."

The leopard froze in his tracks. He figured he was no match for this vicious dog and retreated to safety.

But there was a monkey seated in a nearby tree. He'd seen everything and decided to tell the leopard what really happened, hoping to create an alliance.

The dog knew that something was amiss when he saw the monkey chasing after the leopard. But the clever dog knew that he had to stay calm and keep his wits about him to outsmart both the leopard and the mischievous monkey.

When the monkey informed the leopard of what had happened, the leopard grew angry. "No one makes a fool of me" the leopard growled. "Come, my little friend! Let's show that dog who's running things around here."

The leopard ran back through the tall grass with the monkey on his back. "Here comes trouble" the dog thought to himself as he relaxed and chewed on the bones.

He knew the leopard's wrath would be merciless. He could feel the big cat watching him from the grass. From the corner of his eye, he could see the monkey scampering toward a nearby tree – this was the moment to make his move.

"What has that monkey done with my dinner?" howled the dog. "I sent him to fetch me another leopard a half hour ago and he's still not back!"

Clever dog? Very, but no smarter than the wonderful therapy dogs that attend our Bow wow Pow wow. On the second Saturday of every month, Trainer June Walker and her colleagues come to the Hayner Youth Library with their therapy dogs. Kids of all ages are invited to join us and read to the dogs. This activity has proven very successful in strengthening a child's reading skills and is great fun for everyone. (Note: in October 2005, we will be meeting on Saturday, October 1 and not on October 8.) In addition to strengthening reading skills, kids learn to love and respect these gentle animals and they also learn how much fun it is to come to the library. Please join us from 10:00-11:00 a.m. Saturday, September 10, October 1, November 12 and December 10. For more information, call Bernadette at 462-0677.

Make-A-Wish

On April 29, 1980, the Make-A-Wish phenomenon began when a 7-year-old boy spent a day with his heroes. On that day, young Chris Greicius was sworn in as the only honorary highway patrol man in Arizona. Four days later, Chris passed away and was given a police funeral with full honors by his fellow patrol men. Chris' mother, Linda Bergendahl-Pauling, along with others involved in Chris' wish, was so touched by Chris' experience that they founded the Chris Greicius Make-A-Wish Foundation, which eventually became known as the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Today, the wishes of children with life-threatening illness are fulfilled by over 80 Make-A-Wish chapters in the United States, and over 20 international chapters, spanning 5 continents.

The charter of the make a wish foundation is to grant the wishes of children with life-threatening illnesses to enrich the human experience with hope, strength and joy. It is the largest wish granting charity in the world, continually expanding its wish granting, corporate support and public recognition. To date, more than 144,000 wishes have been granted to children with life-threatening medical conditions.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Metro Saint Louis is celebrating 15 years of sharing the power of wishes in our community. In honor of this significant occasion, our local chapter has teamed up with the Jeremy project to create a captivating photographic exhibit of wishes. This exhibit will be displayed in the Hayner Main Library at 326 Belle Street in Alton September 26 – October 7. Please stop by to view this moving testament of this wonderful agency. To learn more about Make-A-Wish foundation and how you or your organization can participate in their great work, visit their website at www.wish.org.

Brochures will also be available at all library locations.

Get the Picture?

As noted in the last newsletter, Alton Town Supervisor Don Huber has generously given the library a large glassed-in aerial photograph of Alton circa 1953/1954. The map is backlit and lights up different business sites. It is currently on display at the Hayner Branch Library in Alton Square Mall. We would like to invite children to draw a picture of their favorite building in Alton or Godfrey and we will display the pictures in the branch's windows into the mall's common area. Just bring the pictures to the branch library during the month of September. Please include your child's name and age and, as possible, the location of the site drawn. Show off your aspiring Rembrandts!

Pick a Patron

Each newsletter, we include a feature called "Patron Profile" which introduces you to various library patrons. Different members of the libraries' staff have contributed suggestions for possible candidates as subject for the articles. It struck us that you, our patrons, might want to see a particular friend, relative or even yourself interviewed for future articles. The only criteria is that the person must be a Hayner library card holder. The process is easy. After a brief interview, we write the article and ALWAYS return it to the interviewee for review and approval before it goes to print. Call Bernadette with your suggestions at 462-0677.

Alton Little Theater Performers Will Entertain

Come to the Hayner Main Library to be entertained by performers from Alton Little Theater on the evening of Thursday, September 8. The group will bring their traveling troupe to delight the audience. Musical numbers, some history and information about the new ALT season will be presented.

Alton Little Theater is one of the oldest community theaters in the United States. This not- for-profit, all-volunteer organization presents five full-length plays including a musical each year. It will open its 72nd season on September 23, 2005, with Stephen Sondheim's musical, Into the Woods. For more information, visit the website at www.altonlittletheater.org or phone the box office at 462-6562. This special library event is free but registration is required. To register call 1-800-613-3163.

Vintage Voices

The historic program of Vintage Voices will again be presented on the four Saturdays of October (1, 8, 15 and 22) from 1:00-3:00 p.m. at the Alton Cemetery, located at 5th and Vine Streets. This series is made possible by a partnership of the YWCA and Alton Little Theater. The program consists of a tour of the Alton City Cemetery, stopping at different grave sites where actors will recreate the character of the deceased, recounting their life and times. The reenactments will include a combination of famous members of Alton's past and other less well-known characters. This year's living histories will include: Minnie Boals, Dr. M.P. Breckinridge, Mrs. A. W. Root, Judge Alexander Hope, John Smith, Florence and William Haskell (Lucy Haskell's parents), Old Hominy Tom, George Senior, Joseph Brown and Samuel Perks (Alton City Cemetery Sexton). For ticket prices or additional information, visit the website at www.altonywca.com, or call 465-7774.

Happenings at OASIS

OASIS is a community service organization offering classes and activities for people 50 years of age or older. The OASIS Alton Center is located in Famous-Barr at the Alton Square Mall. Be sure to mark these dates on your calendar. (Call 463-4100 ext. 3050 for further information)

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

The Position by Meg Wolitzer. Fiction
In 1975, the four young children of Paul and Roz Mellow are mortified when they discover the wildly popular illustrated sex manual that their parents wrote. From then on their lives are forever altered into adulthood. In The Position, we see the effect position in the family has on how children end up so differently from one another. Meg Wolitzer has written a touching, humorous story with real characters. –Jean S.

The World is Flat by Thomas L. Friedman. Nonfiction
The New York Times columnist adopts the apposite metaphor of a flat world to illustrate the highly integrated global marketplace. This development is relatively new, but rapidly evolving right before us—whether for better or worse is up to you. Of course, there is much work to be done, and Friedman provides a blueprint for facing the myriad obstacles. Essential follow-up to The Lexus and the Olive Tree. –Juan F.

The Undomestic Goddess by Sophie Kinsella. Fiction
In this story we meet Samantha Sweeting, a workaholic attorney for a prestigious London firm. She makes a mistake so bad that it will wreck any chance of her ever becoming a partner. In complete shock, she flees the office and hops on a train bound for the countryside. Once there, she stops at a house to ask directions and is mistaken for a potential housekeeper. Afraid to face life back in London, she takes the job. How will someone who can't even sew on a button cope with becoming a housekeeper? When her old life finally does catch up with her, will she want it back? Fans of the author's Shopaholic series and the chick-lit genre will enjoy this charming and funny read. –Michele K.

The Ice Queen by Alice Hoffman. Fiction
With her spellbinding quality of writing, Alice Hoffman tells the story of a librarian whose heart turned frozen after wishing her mother dead as a young girl, and how it takes a lightning strike to melt her icy emotions. The Ice Queen has the fairy tale qualities of a story of death and life reborn. I enjoy an Alice Hoffman book, and this is no exception. –Jean S.

Book Lust by Nancy Pearl. Non Fiction
More Book Lust by Nancy Pearl. Non Fiction
"Celebrity Librarian" and NPR radio host Nancy Pearl's best seller, Book Lust, is the essential readers' resource with 1,000 recommended books organized into more than 175 creative, useful and often witty lists and reviews. The 2005 follow up, More Book Lust, offers hundreds of additional titles in nearly 150 eclectic categories like "Plots for Plotzing", "Nagging Mothers, Crying Children", "Southern Fried Fiction", "Horror for Sissies" and many, many more. Quirky and intelligent, these wonderfully informal collections are superb references for everyone who cares about books. –Bernadette D.

Author Praises Hayner Library

Judy Hoffman, author of the recently published, God's Portion: Godfrey, Illinois 1817-1865, recently held a discussion about her book at the Hayner Main Library. She opening comments follow: "As I thought about this evening's presentation, it occurred to me that God's Portion really began about fifty years ago when I first began visiting Hayner Library as a child.

Every Saturday, I took the bus from my home in North Alton, visited the lovely building that now houses the children's library, spent an hour looking through the stacks and came away with a week's worth of entertainment. Family role models and those weekly visits gave me two priceless gifts: one- a love of books and two- a love of libraries. This, of course, is my favorite library. I love its smells, its quiet, the Illinois Room, the familiar staff, and most of all, I love the huge, unopened package of knowledge it represents."

Summer Reading Superheroes

The theme of the children's summer reading program this year was "Super Heroes Powered by Books". We had a wonderful turnout: 490 children signed contracts to read and 284 children completed their contracts. Out of that number, we had 80 children read 30 hours or more and their names were posted on our wall of fame at the Hayner Youth Library. The End of Summer Reading Party was held at Lewis and Clark Community College on August 4, and was great fun with food, activities and a wonderful show by motivational speaker and singer, Victor Pacini. 367 people attended the party. All costs for the program and party were provided through private endowment. Next year's summer reading program's theme is "Voyage to Book Island" and we are planning for it to be equally successful!

Adult Summer Reading Program Highly Popular!

Congratulations to the lucky winners in Hayner's 2005 Adult Summer Reading Program! Our winners were: Alice Ruyle, Karen Wetzstein and Deanna K. Bucklew. The program, which ran from June 11 to July 23, drew hundreds of entries for the grand prize gift baskets. The three baskets, designed with a barbecue theme, were made available through the generosity of private funding and displayed at all three of our branches. Congratulations, again, to our winners and thanks to everyone who participated. We hope you enjoyed it as much as we did. Watch for the reappearance of the Adult Winter Reading Program in January 2006!

September 29, 6:30 p.m.

Photography Before Photography in Early St. Louis

The first camera-made pictures stunned the world when they were introduced in France in 1839. Called "daguerreotypes" after their artist-inventor L. J. Daguerre, these one-of-a-kind images on polished silver have little in common with modern photography. Each daguerreotype was unique, methodically executed, and rich in minute detail. Although daguerreotypes were quickly available worldwide, the new "sunbeam art" found its most appreciative audience in America, where millions of the small cased images were produced in the 1840s and 50s.

Nacheninga, Iowa Chief 1849

Join us for a slide presentation that tells the fascinating story of how photography developed on the western frontier, both as a new art form and as an intensely competitive business. The program will highlight the work of Thomas Martin Easterly, who opened his daguerreotype gallery in St. Louis in 1847. Regarded as one of the great masters of early photography, Easterly's striking portraits and urban views demonstrate the unique beauty of daguerreotype pictures while vividly conveying the colorful character of mid-nineteenth-century St. Louis. This program will be presented by Dee Shockley Kilgo, Professor Emeritus of Art History, Illinois State University and author of the award-winning book, Likeness and Landscape: Thomas M. Easterly and the Art of the Daguerreotype (1995).

October 27 6:30 p.m.

The Wonderful World of Animals

Come join the fun as the Hayner Branch Library presents the Saint Louis Zoo's "Wonderful World of Animals" program! This is a multi-sensory program certain to educate and entertain. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. For inquiries or more information about SCORE, call SCORE directly at 618-467-2280.

Banned Book Week 2005

Banned Book Week is September 24 through October 1. Observed since 1982, this annual event celebrating the freedom to read reminds Americans not to take our precious democratic freedom for granted. American Library Association (ALA) President Carol Brey-Casiano sites "Not every book is right for every person, but providing a wide range of reading choices is vital for learning, exploration and imagination. The abilities to read, speak, think and express ourselves freely are core American values".

When an organization bans a book, it is the result of that book having initially been challenged. A challenge is an attempt to remove or restrict materials based upon the objections of a person or group while a banning is the actual removal of those materials. A successful challenge would result in materials being banned or restricted. In 2004, the ALA Office for Intellectual Freedom received a total of 547 challenges. A challenge is defined as a formal written complaint, filed with a library or school requesting that materials be removed because of content or appropriateness.

Often challenges are motivated by a desire to protect children from "inappropriate" sexual content or "offensive" language. Although this is a commendable motivation, Free Access to Libraries for Minors, an interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights (ALA's basic policy concerning access to information) states that, "Librarians and governing bodies should maintain that parents—and only parents—have the right and the responsibility to restrict the access of their children—and only their children—to library resources." Censorship by librarians of constitutionally protected speech, whether for protection or for any other reason, violates the First Amendment.

As Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan, Jr., in Texas v. Johnson, said most eloquently: "If there is a bedrock principle underlying the First Amendment, it is that the government may not prohibit the expression of an idea simply because society finds the idea itself offensive or disagreeable."

Equally eloquent, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas wrote: "Restriction of free thought and free speech is the most dangerous of all subversions. It is the one un-American act that could most easily defeat us." (The One Un-American Act. Nieman Reports, vol. 7, no. 1, Jan. 1953, p. 20)

The ten most challenged books in 2004 in order of most frequently challenged, are:

"The Chocolate War" by Robert Cormier
"Fallen Angels" by Walter Dean Myers
"Arming America: The Origins of a National Gun Culture" by Michael A. Bellesiles
Captain Underpants series by Dav Pilkey
"The Perks of Being a Wallflower" by Stephen Chbosky
"What My Mother Doesn't Know" by Sonya Sones
"In the Night Kitchen" by Maurice Sendak
"King & King" by Linda de Haan and Stern Nijland
"I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings" by Maya Angelou
"Of Mice and Men" by John Steinbeck

Off the list this year, but on the list for several years' past, are the Alice series of books by Phyllis Reynolds Naylor, "Go Ask Alice" by Anonymous, "It's Perfectly Normal" by Robie Harris and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" by Mark Twain. This year also marks the first in five in which the Harry Potter series does not top or even appear on the ALA annual list.

For more information on "Banned Books Week: Celebrating the Freedom to Read," please contact the American Library Association/ Office for Intellectual Freedom at 1-800-545-2433, ext. 4220, or bbw@ala.org.

Patron Profile – Jim Kulp

Jim Kulp let me turn the tables on him for this issue's patron profile. Jim, retired now, has been a reporter for The Telegraph since 1957. He is admittedly more comfortable writing about other people than being the subject himself, but he graciously allowed me to interview him after limited cajoling.

Jim is an avid library user, visiting the main library or the branch almost every day, and says he loses track of the time when he's there because he is so engrossed in the materials. He says he is an addicted reader who can't be without a book in hand, regardless of what else he is doing. He attributes his passion for reading to his childhood when his mother brought him books from the library every week

He grew up in St. Louis County, where he attended school. In 1942, when Jim was 19 years old, a friend said "Let's join the Army," and Jim immediately agreed. They commandeered Jim's father's car to drive to the recruiting office on Market Street in St. Louis. Unfortunately, they didn't realize that this also was the day of the Veiled Prophet Parade and the car was towed away by police. Jim recalls that he wrote many letters while he was in service but has only one kept as a souvenir. He had written to his mother that he was on his way to basic training and told her that he was homesick.

Jim enlisted in the Signal Corps and, while in basic training, was tested for his perception of the difference between dots and dashes in the Morse code. He passed and was sent to the Army Radio School in Kansas City, then was assigned to the 593rd Engineer Boat and Shore Regiment in Fort Ord, California. It was during this time, spending nights in the radio room, that he got the "bug" to enter journalism. He spent two years in New Guinea and Borneo and was discharged from the Army in 1946. His first job was at the Army Records Center on Goodfellow Boulevard where the job of the workers was to process tons of Army records, sifting through them daily to determine what was worth keeping for posterity, much of it historical.

Jim recalls that one untold story in military history that he noted while sifting through the records is the exploits of the Army's Criminal Investigation Division. The CID was responsible for investigating the crimes that took place in the Army's ranks, from robberies, to desertion, to rapes, to murders. He said these records provided a fascinating look into the events of hundreds of Army units. The records, all contained in foot lockers, would be dumped on a long table and the employees would sort them out looking for what was useful and what wasn't. Jim said the CID's investigations would make a wonderful book if they can be tracked down in the military archives.

Jim also worked for the Army Publication Center, an agency that provided training materials for the troops. Army units would request training manuals and Jim was among the employees who filled the requisitions.

As for journalism, Jim was the St. Louis correspondent for the Sun Herald, a Roman Catholic daily newspaper based in Kansas City. He also wrote a column, titled Kulp's Kolum, for the old Weston Journal, a weekly throwaway paper. During the time spent seeking experience for his eventual entry into journalism, he worked almost three years for the Fred P. Rapp supermarket chain of 12 stores. He was hired by The Telegraph in 1957 as a reporter and his first assignment was at the Bethalto bureau. After four months, he was transferred to the Edwardsville bureau where he worked for six years, and was then placed in the Alton main office.

Jim was a general assignment reporter, meaning he had no single beat to cover such as police, education, city government and the like. The editor would assign him a story to cover and he and a photographer would go out and do it. He worked for years with veteran Telegraph photographer Robert K. Graul, covering hundreds of stories. Among them were the Alton Lock and Dam hearings and pollution control in the St. Louis Metropolitan Area. One of the events he remembers is that of James Gordon Palmer, a Jerseyville man who was a serial killer. He was believed to have been intent on killing eight men he had held up in 1959 at the Gorman Brothers Ready Mix Concrete & Construction Co. in Jerseyville.

Palmer was struck and subdued by Louis Gorman in a heroic gesture that brought the killer to justice. Palmer was sentenced to 180 years in prison. Dr. Groves Smith, a psychiatrist at Beverly Farm, described Palmer as one of the worst serial killers he had ever encountered.

Another incident Jim recalls is the day a loud explosion split the air and all the reporters were dispatched to a shop on East Broadway that sold guns and gunpowder. Most of the shop was destroyed and the gun shop's owner was killed.

Jim particularly loves writing human interest features, the kind that allows him to meet many interesting and unique people. One example was a farmer who chiseled crude two-by-fours out of trees, the same pioneer way that Abraham Lincoln had done when he was young. Jim also remembers how often the Mississippi River would freeze over completely, ice jammed so thick that tow boats couldn't get through it. He recalls one winter when he and Bob Graul went out in a towboat and walked on the frozen river for a feature story. He said it was an eerie experience to walk across the river at its deepest point. One day when the ice blocked the river so towboats couldn't move, Jim and Bob climbed to the roof of the flour mill to get the pictures and overall feel of the situation for the story.

Over his years at The Telegraph, Jim has seen many changes in technology. When he started in Bethalto, all he had was a desk, chair, a telephone and typewriter. In those days, the pages containing the story would be pasted together and, after they were edited by the city editor, a copy girl would take them to the composing room where a printer would set them in type on a linotype machine. Then the printers would lock the lead type into a chase (a plate that went on the press). Jim said those men were amazingly skilled at what they did, working at a fast pace and able to read the type upside down. It took about seven years to learn the trade and be a journeyman printer from a start as an apprentice.

Another change came when the electric typewriter came in and was substituted for the old-style typewriter. The next biggest change was, of course, the computer. Today, everything is typed, edited and laid out on the computer screen, eliminating a composing room full of printers and linotype operators altogether.

Deadlines were, and always will be, a fact of life for reporters and editors. Many times Jim stayed up late at night to complete a story in time for it to make it onto the printing press. Even when working under pressure, Jim says he has loved every single day of his job. "There's nothing more satisfying than seeing one's own byline on a story, especially when you know you've done a good job," he said.

Though Jim is "officially" retired from The Telegraph, he still works part time writing news features – many of them business stories and religion stories – and he writes an opinion column twice a month. He and his wife, Kathleen, live in Godfrey and have one son, Martin, who works in Los Angeles for the Rand Corporation, a think tank.

Besides reading (mostly history, biographies and current events), Jim enjoys walking for exercise. He also has an interest in model railroading stemming from the days of Lionel trains that his father brought to his offspring. Jim has provided a great service for the library, keeping us informed and involved in a wide variety of issues, interests and community activities. We look forward to seeing his next byline!

Geneaology and Illinois Room Updates, Events and New Additions

Continued Growth/New Additions to local History Collections

The Illinois Room is busy with activity lately. We have recently added some new books to our collection to assist you with your research. Come in and have a look at our new additions:

-Genealogical Encyclopedia of the Colonial Americas

What are you doing with your remaining hot summer days? It's too hot to travel, too hot to clean the house, and certainly too hot to work in the yard. How about discovering the history of your house? Have you ever thought about the previous inhabitants of your home or what was on the land before a home was built? You may be surprised what you will learn when you begin to trace the history of your home. Come visit us and we can help you get started. When you finish, please consider donating a copy of the history to our Illinois Room. The Alton House Tour File is growing with donated abstracts and some very generous donations of brief house histories and photos of area properties. To those of you who have already begun to research, please remember to donate a copy of your findings to the library for placement in the Illinois Room.

Hayner Public Library has recently received a large donation of property histories and photos from the Lyman Trumbull Association. The group is no longer in existence and has provided us with their materials. It will take some time to process the materials –approximately 1,000 addresses in the Middletown area, and place the information in the Alton Area Landmarks file in the Illinois Room. We are so grateful for this donation and for the individual donations of abstracts and histories of local properties. Thank you!

Fascinating Genealogy Program in October

Have you ever wondered about the symbols you find on tombstones? What do they mean? On Wednesday, October 12, 2005 at 6:30 p.m. in the Reading Room of the Main library you can learn about the intricate carvings and artwork on old tombstones. Our guest speaker will be from the Museum of Funeral Customs in Springfield, Illinois. Join us to learn the code of tombstone art. Call 1-800-613-3163 to reserve your seat.

THE TELEGRAPH

Do you need your grandmother's obituary? Wouldn't you like to have a copy of your birth announcement? What were the top news stories on the day you were born (or married)?

You can search the newspapers at Hayner Public Library. The Alton Telegraph newspaper and Hayner Public Library have had a long relationship. Microfilm of the newspaper is kept for viewing at the downtown location of the library and when you find what you need, a copy can be printed.

If you're not sure of the date of the event you are researching, you can use our newspaper index to help you find what you need. Many years ago, an indexing project was begun using the W.P.A workers. Through the years, Hayner has continued the project and today we have an index for The Telegraph that begins at the year of its inception, 1836, and continues through 1943 plus some later years. This indexing project has been an important part of the local history of our area, and researchers have used this valuable tool to help them find the newspaper articles they need.

Come in and have a look at this wonderful resource. It's a terrific way to learn about the past.

Alton's Vintage Voices will give a preview of their 2005 presentation in the downtown library Reading Room in September. Check with us for details.

For Women By Woman- Fall 2006 Conference – Crucial Conversations

The planning committee of the annual For Women By Women conference has announced the Fall 2006 conference. To be held on Wednesday, September 28 at the Alton Holiday Inn, this conference is titled Crucial Conversations, Parts I and II. It will feature Robin Orr, Ph.D., University of Illinois Extension Specialist.

This seminar will serve to help you master your Crucial Conversations and improve your effectiveness. Interpersonal skills are the most important and often the most neglected skills we need for healthy relationships at home, at work, and in organizations. In this interactive workshop, you will learn how to use dialogue skills for those interactions where the stakes are high, emotions run high and there is a difference of opinion. We will work on these "Crucial Conversations" and you will learn your communication style under stress and how to move toward constructive dialogue.

The seminar fee is $45 if prepaid or $75 at the door. The fee includes the workshop and a complementary luncheon. During lunch, there will also be a fashion show by Sears and make-over demonstrations provided by Rumours Salon in Godfrey. The seminar will begin with registration at 8:00 a.m. and end at approximately 1:00 p.m. For more information or to register for the seminar, call the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois at 467-2280. Informational brochures and registration forms are also available at all three Hayner Library locations.

12 Ways Libraries Are Good for the Country

Most Americans know what they can expect from a library. And librarians know what it takes to provide comprehensive access to every recorded detail of human existence. It takes support.

Libraries are ready when they are needed, ready to enrich our minds and defend our right to know, just as other institutions protect our safety and property. Without sound minds, however, the American dream of safe streets and secure homes will never be fulfilled.

Libraries safeguard our freedom and keep democracy healthy. To library advocates everywhere—Friends, trustees, board members, patrons, and volunteers—American Libraries offers this gift of 12 ideals toward which we strive. It will take all of us, in a spirit of pride and freedom, to maintain libraries as a living reality in a free nation throughout the 21st century.

1. Libraries inform citizens. Democracy vests supreme power in the people. Libraries make democracy work by providing access to information so that citizens can make the decisions necessary to govern themselves. The public library is the only institution in American society whose purpose is to guard against the tyrannies of ignorance and conformity, and its existence indicates the extent to which a democratic society values knowledge, truth, justice, books, and culture.

2. Libraries break down boundaries. Libraries provide free family literacy programs for low-literate, illiterate, and non-English-speaking people. In addition, hundreds of librarians across America lead outreach programs that teach citizenship and develop multilingual and multicultural materials for their patrons. Libraries serve the homebound elderly, prisoners, and other institutionalized individuals, the homeless, and the blind and hearing-impaired.

3. Libraries level the playing field. Economists have cited a growing income inequity in America, with the gap between the richest and poorest citizens becoming wider year by year. By making all its resources equally available to all members of its community, regardless of income, class, or other factors, the library levels the playing field. Once users have access to the library's materials, they have the opportunity to level the playing field outside the library by learning to read, gaining employment, or starting a business.

4. Libraries value the individual. Library doors swing open for independent thinking without prejudgment. Libraries offer alternatives to the manipulations of commercialism, from the excellence of public-television productions to the freethinking of renegade publishers and the vision of poets and artists outside the mainstream business of art and literature.

5. Libraries nourish creativity. In the library we are all children. By stimulating curiosity—parent to the win forces of creativity and imagination—even the most focused and specialized library serves the purpose of lifting the mind beyond its horizons. Libraries store ideas that may no longer work but can serve as the raw material that, cross-fertilized in the innovative mind, may produce answers to questions not yet asked.

6. Libraries open kids' minds. Bringing children into a library can transport them from the commonplace to the extraordinary. From story hours for preschoolers to career planning for high schoolers, children's librarians make a difference because they care about the unique developmental needs of every individual who comes to them for help. Children get a handle on personal responsibility by holding a library card of their own, a card that gives them access to new worlds in books, videos, audiotapes, computers, games, toys, and more.

7. Libraries return high dividends. What do Gallo Wines, the I Can't Believe It's Yogurt chain, and billboard-sign giant Metromedia have in common? Libraries made millionaires out of each of these companies' grateful owners by providing crucial start-up information when they were no more than wannabe business titans. Libraries are there to help people with more personal goals, too. The seed money expended for these and other success stories? Less than $20 per capita per year in tax dollars.

8. Libraries build communities. No narrow definition of community will work in a library. Each community has its libraries and its special collections. Libraries validate and unify; they save lives, literally and by preserving the record of those lives. Community-building means libraries link people with information. Librarians have become experts at helping others navigate the Internet. Before there was talk of cyberspace, there were libraries, paving the way for the superhighway.

9. Libraries make families friendlier. The American family's best friend, the library, offers services guaranteed to hone coping skills. Homework centers, literacy training, parenting materials, after school activities, summer reading programs, outreach—like the families they serve, libraries everywhere are adapting to meet new challenges.

10. Libraries offend everyone. Children's librarian Dorothy Broderick contends that every library in the country ought to have a sign on the door reading: "This library has something offensive to everyone. If you are not offended by something we own, please complain." This willingness and duty to offend connotes a tolerance and a willingness to look at all sides of an issue that would be good for the nation in any context; it is particularly valuable when combined with the egalitarianism and openness that characterize libraries.

11. Libraries offer sanctuary. Like synagogues, churches, mosques, and other sacred spaces, libraries can create a physical reaction, a feeling of peace, respect, humility, and honor that throws the mind wide open and suffuses the body with a near-spiritual pleasure. But why? Perhaps it is because in the library we are answerable to no one; alone with our private thoughts, fantasies, and hopes, we are free to nourish what is most precious to us with the silent companionship of others we do not know.

12. Libraries preserve the past. Libraries preserve the record; a nation, a culture, a community that does not understand its own past is mired in its own mistakes. Libraries enable us to communicate through distance and time with the living and the dead. It is a miracle kept available by the meticulous sorting, storing, indexing, and preservation that still characterizes library work—work that will carry, in the electronic environment, challenges add a price tag yet unknown.

Bow-wow Pow-Wow - All Year Long

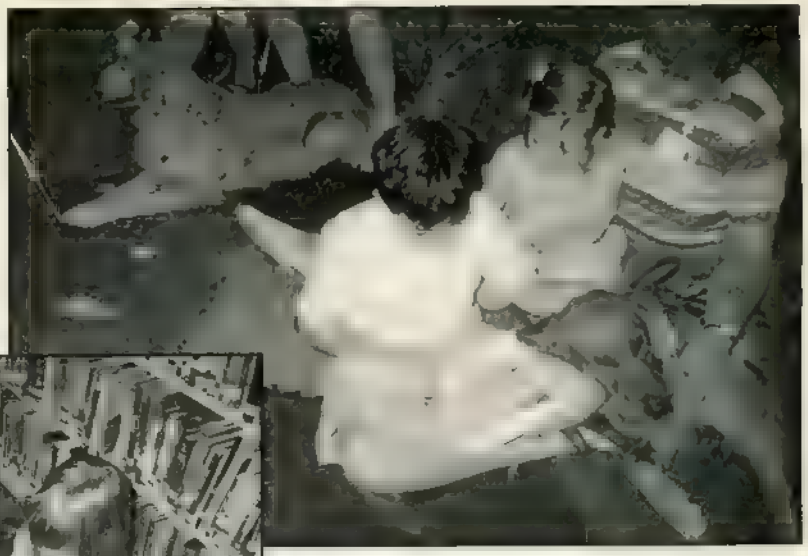
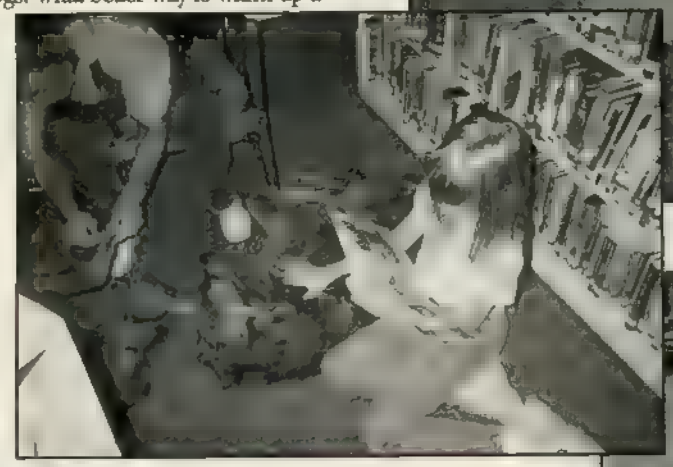
The Bow wow Pow wow sessions continue to grow with more dogs and kids enjoying each others company every second Saturday of the month. Held in the Youth Library (401 State Street, Alton) from 10:00-11:00 a.m., certified therapy dogs visit the library. Kids get to read stories to the dogs, which increases their reading skills, and are free to play with all the dogs. What better way to warm up a cold winter morning than visiting with these wonderful Animals. Join us! Call 1-800-613-3163 to register. The next sessions will be Saturday December 10, January14, February 11 and March 11.





"Dogs love company. They place it first in their short list of needs"

Barack Obama Stands Up For Libraries

Barack Obama, Democratic U. S. Senator from Illinois, keynoted the Opening General Session at the American Library Association in Chicago this past year. His speech, which focused on our dramatically changing economy and job skill requirements, drew a standing ovation. Some of his comments follow: "Due to revolutions in technology and communications….new jobs and industries require innovative thinking, detailed comprehension and superior communication. …Reading is the gateway skill that makes all other learning possible, from complex word problems and the meaning of our history to scientific discovery and technological proficiency. And by the way, it's what's required to make us true citizens." You can read his address in full in the August 2005 issue of American Libraries, Vol 36, No. 7.

Prior to delivering his speech, Senator Obama answered some questions for American Libraries Magazine:

Can you share your memories about what libraries meant to you as you were growing up?

"I lived overseas for several years in Jakarta, Indonesia, when I was young and having access to books, English-language books in particular, was just a huge prize. So when I came back from Indonesia, the first place I wanted to be was in a library. It just seemed to be a magical place where, if you wanted to sit there, you could learn about everything in the world."

Can you tell us more about the effects libraries have had on you?

"Here's another interesting fact: People always mention libraries in terms of just being sources for reading material or research. But I would not be in Chicago were it not for the Manhattan Public Library, because I was looking for an organizing job and was having great trouble finding a job as a community organizer in New York. The Mid-Manhattan library had these books of lists of organizations, and the librarian helped me find these lists of organizations, and I wrote to every organization. One of them wound up being an organization in Chicago that I got a job with."

What's your main message to librarians?

"That our prosperity as a nation is directly correlated to our literacy."

Books2Eat

April 1, 2006 may seem along way away, but it may not be too soon to start planning to participate in the annual Books2Eat festival.

What is Books2Eat?

The International Edible Book Festival is a yearly event that takes place on April 1 throughout the world. This event unites bibliophiles, book artists and food lovers to celebrate the ingestion of culture and its fulfilling nourishment. Participants create edible books that are exhibited, documented then consumed.

Who can participate in Books2Eat?

Books2Eat can be celebrated with family, friends, colleagues and public anywhere. The only rule is to make edible art that has something to do with books as shapes and/or content. Each participating group or individual is responsible for its/his/her own audience and website. Document your event with pictures and video and share them via internet. Photograph the event before and while you eat it. You can sell tickets for the event; creating a Books2Eat festival as a fundraiser for your organization.

Where are Books2Eat's creations?

The artworks are consumed on the day of the event. Images of this world celebration are posted at www.Books2Eat.com. Go to this site to see some of the incredible edible creations that have been submitted from people around the world. The pictures of your creation are likely to be included in a potential (non-edible) book by Umbrella Editions in the future.

Who Started Books2Eat?

The Edible Book was initiated by Judith A. Hoffberg over a Thanksgiving turkey with book artists in 1999, and became an international event through the artist Beatrice Coron's Books2Eat website, for the first event in 2000 The event continues as an annual sensation.

Why is Books2Eat on April 1st?

April 1st is the birthday of French gastronome Jean-Anthelme Brillat Saarin (1755-1826), famous for his book "Physiologie du Gout". April Fools day is also the perfect day to eat your words and play with them.

For documentations, more information and photo galleries of past years International Book Festival and festival creations, please visit www.Books2Eat.com. Send the Books2 Eat address to book artists and cooks; April Fool's Day comes back with taste every year!

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

Snow Flower and the Secret Fan by Lisa See. Fiction
This is the haunting story of Lily and Snow Flower, two young girls contracted to be lifelong friends (old sames) and how pride and position came between them. Set in rural 19th century China, See's novel begins with a detailed account of Lily's foot binding. Following Lily and Snow Flower's lives, See shows us how women were confined by strict codes of conduct, duty, arranged marriages and an inferior status in both their own and their husband's family. But she also shows a way they coped and describes a secret written language, nu shu, shared only by women. A fascinating story of difficult lives. —Katie S.

The Pursuit of Alice Thrift by Elinor Lipman. Fiction
A highly intelligent surgical intern with low social skills, Alice Thrift meets her opposite in Ray Russo, a seemingly charming, traveling fudge salesman. But as her roommate attests, "There's something slimy about him." With his conniving ways, Ray manages to capture the attentions of Alice, and from there the surprises begin. Elinor Lipman has written a witty story with real characters– an enjoyable book to read. – Jean S.

Love Overboard by Janet Evanovich. Fiction
Before Janet Evanovich became so popular for her Stephanie Plum series, she wrote romance stories. Love Overboard is about Ivan, a handsome ship's captain and Stephanie, a girl from New Jersey. As the story begins, Stephanie moves to Maine and takes her cousin's place as a cook on Ivan's ship for a week. This book is about starting over, finding happiness, and finding love. The story is written in true Evanovich flair. It is full of wit, charm, and a surprising twist at the end. –Michele K.

The Intimate World of Abraham Lincoln by C.A. Tripp. Nonfiction
Tripp provides a chronological account of Lincoln's life that is far from boring. He sites historical letters, diaries and oral interviews from people who personally knew Lincoln. He gives strong background on some of Lincoln's close friends, such as Joshua Speed. A reader is left to come to his or her own conclusion about Lincoln's sexual preference. This book is suggested for its interesting historical content and informative descriptions. –Sharon S.

Deep Simplicity by John Gribbin. Nonfiction
The premise of this book is simple: complex systems on the edge of chaos form from simple components, following simple rules. The importance of this insight is that complexity is the foundation of life. Along the way, Gribbin links the concept of self-organizing networks to traffic jams, earthquakes, weather patterns, and the most complex system of all—human beings. All begging the question of what life is: is the universe itself a living organism? –Juan F.

Food for Fines During the Holidays!

Beginning December 1, 2005 and continuing through December 31, 2005, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item. Library materials must be returned with food donations, at least one food item per fine and Hayner materials only. All food items collected throughout the holiday season will be given to the Crisis Food Center in Alton. Of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community. Last year we collected over 1200 items for the Crisis Center. Let's see if we can beat that!

You will be fascinated as you listen to Meriwether Lewis (actor/scholar Richard Cheatum) describe the trials, tribulations and adventures on the trail west. This program is sponsored by the Lewis and Clark Historical Site, the Lewis and Clark Society of America and the Illinois Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Commission. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

The Original Boneheads
A Little Bit of Everything
Tuesday, January 10, 6:30 p.m.

The Original Boneheads, a.k.a. The St. Louis Trombone Quartet (yes, TROMBONE Quartet!) was founded in 1998 and have, in the years since, played at art fairs, concerts, casinos, university ceremonies, private events, parades, museum and corporate events and many church services, to glowing reviews. Each of the players is conservatory trained and experienced in musical settings from symphony orchestras to bar bands. This breadth of musical experience is reflected in the quartet's song list, which contains marches, jazz and swing, rock, doo wop, classical, R & B, polkas, blues, Americana and more. This evening's performance will be an eclectic mix of jazz, swing, blues and classical. Join us for this unique event. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Josh Farley
Examine Your Financial Future
Tuesday, January 17, 6:30 p.m.

Isn't it high time you took charge of your financial future? Learn how to identify and manage risks. Join Josh Farley, local Edward Jones Investment Representative, for an easy-to-follow presentation addressed to experienced and inexperienced investors alike. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Broadway on the Driveway
Retro Broadway-Style Variety Show
Tuesday, January 24, 6:30 p.m.

The performing troupe of "Broadway on the Driveway" takes you on a sentimental journey that reunites you with some of Broadway's greatest hits as well as those of the Andrews Sisters, Judy Garland, Fred Astaire, Doris Day, Frank Sinatra and more. The entire song and dance revue is performed in full costume with some of the best music of the 20th century. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Special Consensus
Acoustic Blue Grass and More
Thursday, February 2, 6:30 p.m.

Special Consensus is a four-person acoustic band that has been performing nationally and internationally since 1975. Their performances have been recorded, videotaped and archived with the Nashville office of the International Bluegrass Music Association. Their performance at the Grand Ole Opry in 2003 received a standing ovation. The Special Consensus repertoire includes traditional bluegrass standards (songs by Bill Monroe, Flatts and Scruggs, Jim and Jesse McReynolds, and others) and songs by artists from other musical genres (such as "Blue Skies" by Irving Berlin). As a result of this musical diversity, Special Consensus has performed at the most traditional bluegrass festivals as well as more progressive festivals and fairs. They have performed with symphony orchestras and throughout Europe, South America and Canada. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Special Events at Hayner

Richard Garey
JFK
Thursday, February 9, 6:30 p.m.

More than 40 years have passed since the death of President Kennedy. Millions of Americans who never knew this illustrious president have grown to adulthood. Catch a glimpse of this charismatic, optimistic and hopeful president who embodied the attitude of the 1960s. Understand his ideals, his observations on nuclear war and his impact on the world. Experience the excitement of the election campaign, the center of power, the fun of a Kennedy news conference and a day at the White House. This show is a humorous, yet thought-provoking portrait of one of our most fascinating presidents. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Peter, Mary and Scott
"Beatin' on those Bones!"
Tuesday, February 21, 6:30 p.m.

Scott Miller is the 2004 World Bones Champion. Bones champion? Yes, we're talking beef ribs. Or goat bones. Or ox shins. And don't forget the vegetarian ones made out of plastic, hardwoods, even a pumpkin stem.

Scott joins Pete and Mary Pancella for an evening of fiddling and picking supercharged with old-time percussion. Pete is a music instructor of strings at Lewis and Clark Community College as well as Director of the Merawood Community Orchestra. Mary is a piano instructor as well as Director of Music and Liturgy at Holy Infant Church in Ballwin, Mo. Both will be performing on a variety of stringed instruments. Come and enjoy a lively evening of old-time music guaranteed to rattle your bones! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band
Celebrate Mardi Gras
Tuesday, February 28, 6:30 p.m.

Note: This program will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Ill.

A Hayner tradition and highly anticipated yearly event, Bud and his band are back to help us kick off the festive Mardi Gras season. The band plays New Orleans-style jazz in this raucous celebratory event of fun, swing and soul. A local favorite in the St. Louis area, the band always packs the house. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Wayne Schell and Beth Tittle
A Celtic Celebration
Tuesday, March 7, 6:30 p.m.

Wayne Schell is a member of the very popular blue grass trio The Lodge Brothers. He has also performed for more than eight years with musician Beth Tittle.

Beth merges her crystal-clear vocals with Wayne's singing and instrumentation to perform traditional Celtic music, a common interest of both performers. Their program will consist of traditional folk songs from the British Isles. These songs have interesting historical contexts and a large cast of characters, including Bonaparte, Lord Nelson, Charles Stuart Parnell, gardeners, spouses, jilted lovers and ghosts. The Irish have a particular knack for creating songs which are either desperately sad or ridiculously silly. It will be a fine evening with plenty of blarney to go around. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Mark Dvorak
Old Songs and New People
Thursday, March 23, 6:30 p.m.

Folksinger Mark Dvorak presents an intergenerational program of American folk songs-- many recognizable, some new. Mark uses humor and anecdotes to familiarize the audience with his music. Mark is an instructor at the famed Chicago Old Town School of Music and has released multiple award-winning CDs. The Chicago Tribune has identified Mark as "a commanding vocalist and masterful banjo player." Mark also has been distinguished as "one of today's most important folk artists." We are so excited about Mark's return to Hayner. Don't miss this opportunity to enjoy an evening of music, humor and fun. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Nancy Lippincott and Ben Schreiber
Traditional Strings
Tuesday, March 28, 6:30 p.m.

Nancy Lippincott is a popular local vocalist who plays guitar, autoharp, mandolin, hammered dulcimer and tenor banjo. She enjoys exposing audiences to traditional music that is seldom heard these days. Her repertoire includes Celtic music, early country, American folk, blues, swing and gospel. She has performed extensively throughout the area at various venues, including the several International Folk Festivals in St. Louis, and at many living history events. She also was a featured performer at the 2004 First Night Celebrations at Lewis and Clark College.

Ben Schreiber is a 16-year-old "string wizard" from Elsah, Ill. He began studying classical violin when only three years old and toured with Suzuki youth orchestras here and in Europe. Though rooted in classical music, at 13 he developed an interest in folk music and switched to fiddle. Ben has since expanded his range to include banjo, mandolin, guitar, keyboard and composition. Come hear Nancy and this remarkable young man! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Positive Thinking vs. Positive Believing

To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved -George Macdonald

Once upon a time there was a high-wire walker named Philippe who dreamed of being the most famous high-wire walker in the world. He realized that he had to do something no one else had ever done before.

He decided he would walk the high wire over Niagara Falls. If he could do this, he knew he would be on the front pages of newspapers all over the world.

One day, with thousands of people watching, Philippe started crossing over the falls.

Philippe wasn't like the other high-wire walkers, he didn't use a long pole for balance. He used a wheelbarrow filled with 200 pounds of bricks.

Slowly, but masterfully, he crossed the falls. When he reached the other side, he received a huge standing ovation. As the applause died down, the photographers and journalists surrounded him.

The photographers took picture after picture, and the writers asked question after question.

After the last questions, Philippe pointed to a young journalist and said, "I have a question for you. Do you think I can take my wheelbarrow and go all the way back to the other side?" The young writer said, "Of course I think you can do it. You're a master of the high wire."

Then Philippe said, "Let me ask you one more question. I know you think I can do it, but do you believe I can do it?"

The journalist thought for a moment and said, "I have all the confidence in the world in you. Of course I believe you can do it."

Upon hearing that, Philippe dumped all the bricks out of his wheelbarrow and said, "If you really believe it—get in the wheelbarrow."

Reading Incentives for Kids

Sometimes, even children that are strong readers fall into "reading slumps". In her book, How to Get Your Child to Love Reading, Esme Codell offers some creative tips and activities to peak the reading interest of your child whatever his reading level. She calls these premiums or reading boosts. She recommends you try to keep premiums as closely linked to the reading experience as possible, choosing activities and gifts that directly compliment reading content or focus on quality time activities rather than material dividends. Rewards could include:

- Family field trip to a museum of child's choice-perhaps pick up a book in the gift shop
- Doll, stuffed toy or puzzle of favorite book–related character
- Time spent together cooking a book-related dish
- Time spent together making and playing a home made board game with a book-related theme
- Flashlight or book light
- Duplicate books read by child donated to school library in child's name
- Decorate an oversized cardboard box as the child's "private reading room"
- "Stay up an extra half hour to read" or "Extra story at bedtime" coupons
- Hobby items with a related book (Baseball Digest magazine enclosed in glove, art supplies with drawing or craft book, telescope with star guide)
- "I'm proud of you" note, filled with glitter, sent care of our child's classroom at school or a congratulatory e-mail (check out www.bluemountain.com for messages and family friendly games kids love)
- Autographed picture of a favorite author (write care of the publisher)

Let's Go to the Movies!

December 14 - January 18 - February 22
All movies begin at noon and are approximately one hour long.

We would like to invite you to join us for the viewing of three great documentaries from the Hayner Library collection. Each documentary is sure to entertain patrons of all ages. The first documentary, "Theodore Roosevelt: Roughrider to Rushmore" follows the life of one of the US's most colorful presidents. The second, "Krakatoa", brings to life the story of one of the world's largest natural cataclysms. The third documentary, "Mystic Iran", takes cameras into parts of the nation that have been hidden to the outside world for centuries. Refreshments will round out the movie experience. Get your "ticket" today! Program will be held at Oasis. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Historic Illinois/Route 66

December 7 – 6:30 p.m.

Interesting Illinois tidbits, facts, and oddities abound as author Bill Nunes and Dan Oberle present a dual program highlighting the history of Illinois and Route 66. Bill Nunes has written over 10 books dealing with the history and trivia of Illinois. Dan Oberle is an expert on Route 66 who has traveled the entire length of the Route for his research. Enjoy an evening of fun as we discuss the fascinating history of Illinois and its role in US history—and get your kicks on Route 66 as well! Program will be held at OASIS. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Natural History of Pere Marquette State Park

December 15 – 6:30 p.m.

With over 8,000 beautiful acres of land, Pere Marquette State Park is the largest state park in Illinois. Join us as Scott Isringhausen, Site Interpretive Program Coordinator of Pere Marquette State Park, discusses the natural history of the park as well as the history of its creation. Did you know that the park's lodge was created in the 1930's by the Civilian Conservation Corps? Or that dozens of species of animals call the park home? With the help of visual aids, Mr. Isringhausen will bring the park and its inhabitants alive in an evening sure to fascinate the whole family! Program will be held at OASIS. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Come to the Fair!

January 12 – 6:30 p.m.

Meet us in St. Louis, Louis! Meet us at the Fair! The magic of the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair comes to life as historian Yvonne Condon interprets photographs of the famous event. The program, part of the Missouri Historical Society's "History to Go!" outreach, will bring to life the sights and sounds of one of the most grand expositions ever to take place! Program will be held at OASIS. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Lewis and Clark and the Corps of Discovery

February 16 – 6:30 p.m.

In 1803 Thomas Jefferson sought authorization from congress to commission an exploration of unknown spaces on the North American continent. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark accepted command of the expedition. In 1806 the exploration was completed. What happened between commission and completion has become one of the most fascinating stories in history. Join us for an exciting evening as local Lewis and Clark historian Joe Frazier (who has traveled the entire expedition route twice) brings to life the trials, tribulations, and findings of the Corp of Discovery expedition team. Program will be held at OASIS. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Ellen: My Childhood in the Boot Heel

March 14 – 6:30 p.m.

Storyteller Loretta Washington spent part of her early childhood in the Missouri boot heel in a small country town called Wardell. This program will take you back in time to the 1950s and introduce you to Loretta's fascinating and inspiring story of Loretta's grandmother, Ellen. Ellen (or "Mama" as she was called) was born a slave on a plantation in Tennessee in 1860 and passed away in 1953. Enjoy the true story of Ellen and other short stories of life, as seen through the eyes of a child growing up in rural Missouri. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Tap Your Wells...@ the Library

Just before the Great Depression, Ira Yates sold a profitable, but boring business to go back to the only life he knew- ranching. He bought a thousand acres of land in West Texas and life quickly became neither boring nor profitable!

Yates and his family endured years of droughts and economic hardship on this land. When it was rumored West Texas might be sitting on oil reserves, the struggling rancher finally had hope that his financial woes would soon be history.

He contacted an oil company and offered to let them drill on his land. But they were too busy working with well-established fields in other parts of the state. So Yates continued to scratch out a meager existence on his large, failed ranch.

Two more years went by before an oil company agreed to construct a test well on the Yates Ranch Much to everyone's surprise, Yates' land sat atop one of the largest and richest oil fields in all North America! And that's how Ira Yates made his fortune.

But aren't we all a little like Ira? Don't we already possess the well of our own success? Your gifts, talents, creativity- whatever you consider your own natural resources to be- are within you and just waiting to pour forth. The question is this: Will you tap into those resources, or wait for someone else to tap them for you?

Using the library is your most powerful tool to develop your natural resources. Our collection of over 250,000 items affords you a passport to self empowerment and personal growth.

Win a Holiday Gift Basket!

On December 20, each of three Hayner Library Locations will hold a drawing for a Christmas Gift Basket provided by WBGZ Radio 1570 AM. The baskets will contain all kinds of goodies to enjoy over the holidays and beyond. The baskets will be displayed and entry forms will be available at each library location (Main, Branch, Youth) beginning December 1. Stop by any location and enter! Winners will be announced on December 20 on WBGZ 1570 AM radio. Winners will also be contacted by phone.

Harold Sileven

Harold Sileven was born in West Frankfort, Illinois but has lived in Alton, with his wife, Lorene, for the last 50 years. Harold and Lorene, whom he met in high school, have been married 60 years and have three children, four grandchildren and five great grandchildren (soon to be six). After high school, in 1940, Harold enlisted in the U.S. Navy for a six year term. The following year, with the start of World War II, Harold shipped out on the destroyer, U.S.S. Waters, on which he would serve the next five years. He served as a Water Tender 1st class. His primary responsibility was to monitor and maintain the proper steam levels in the fire room (engine room). During the war, the U.S.S. Waters primarily served as a transport, landing troops on beachheads for combat.

In 1941, when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, the Waters was in port in San Diego. She received word of the hostilities at 1125 on December 7 and immediately began preparations to put to sea. On December 8 the ship headed out for Pearl Harbor. Harold remembers when they arrived at Pearl Harbor, six days later; the bombed ships were still smoking. During ten days in Oahu, the Waters periodically conducted patrols of the sea approaches to the harbor.

After returning from Pearl Harbor, the crew on the Waters spent ten months escorting supply ships from Seattle, Washington, to army bases along the Alaskan coast and throughout the Aleutians. In December 1942, the Waters entered the Puget Sound Navy Yard for retooling into a high-speed transport. These hybrid warships combined the functions of transports and destroyers into one. The concept of a high speed transport was to provide sufficient armament for the ship to defend herself against smaller warships and yet support the troops she carried with sufficient speed to enable her to outrun more heavily armed ships. The Waters was one of the first ships to be converted to fill this role. Harold and the crew were then dispatched to Fiji, Pago Pago, Guadalcanal and multiple other locations. On June 16, the Waters fought her first action when attacking Japanese planes started dropping bombs close aboard. The men of the Waters were not to be bested and were victorious after taking down two of the offending bombers. Harold remembers one mission, having to thread their way through uncharted shoal waters at night to reach a beachhead on the southern coast of Bougainville and disembark troops. For the next several months the Waters would transport supplies and reinforcement and replacement troops while returning evacuated casualties and combat-weary veterans to Guadalcanal.

As the war progressed, the Waters operated as a transport and was engaged in conflict throughout the South Pacific as well as Australia and New Zealand. Harold recalls that there were some moments of respite from the war. He did attend a USO show featuring Bob Hope, and he remembers he and his shipmates engaged in a game of baseball on a South Pacific island that was so small, the outfielder had to stand in the sea water.

In February 1945, the Waters was underway to join the assault on Iwo Jima. During the assault she patrolled against Japanese submarines and helped transport the Marine troops to Iwo Jima beaches. Harold mentioned how much he admired the patriotism of the brave Marine troops and the bravery and skill of the fighter pilots. Harold and his ship mates also participated in the assault of Okinawa, protecting transports from submarines, deflecting kamikaze fighter pilots, patrolling the beaches and fighting fires that blazed on board other destroyers when hit by suicide planes. Following the Okinawa campaign, the Waters started the long trip home, finally arriving in San Pedro, California, on July 21. The Waters received seven battle stars for service during World War II and was decommissioned in October 1945. Harold was on leave, sitting in a movie theater with his wife in Los Angeles the day the war ended. He said the crowd in the theater went absolutely wild and he and his wife quickly left to escape the pandemonium. Harold still had one year of enlistment duty to fulfill. He spent about six months on another ship carrying troops from Pearl Harbor to Long Beach, California. He was transferred to yet a third ship on which he spent his final six months of service participating in the Bikini Beach atomic bomb tests. Harold returned to San Diego and was discharged in December 1946.

Harold and his wife moved to Alton in 1947, and Harold worked at Laclede Steel for the next 33 years, first as a furnace operator and then as a shift supervisor. Harold has one child living in Orlando and two are in Alton. He noted proudly that his youngest daughter and her husband both retired from commissions in the U.S. Navy as Naval Commanders.

We thank Harold for his years of service to this country. He truly represents what it means to be a member of "the greatest generation."

2006 Adult Winter Reading Program January 14 – February 25

Spice up your winter with great reads and a chance to win gourmet goodies in a beautiful gift basket. It's easy with Hayner's Adult Winter Reading Program! From January 14th to February 25th, 2006, for every book or audio book you read, you can enter a drawing to win gift baskets stuffed with gourmet goodies. The baskets, one for each library location, will be on display at Hayner's Main, Youth and Alton Square branches during the contest. Every time you finish a book or audio book, fill out an entry form and drop it in a basket's entry box. The more you read, the more chances to win! Even the rules are easy: You must be a Hayner cardholder at least 18 years of age; all reading and listening materials must be checked out from Hayner and should match each reader's skills; register at the Main, Youth, or Branch library's circulation desk to participate and pick up additional entry forms. Grand prize drawings for these tasty baskets will be held on Saturday, February 25th. Come on–it's easy! We've even included your first entry form here!

SCORE builds Library Collection

This past fall, The Alton/Godfrey SCORE Chapter 423, Service Corps of Retired Executives, has made yet another contribution to The Hayner Public Library District in support of our ongoing efforts to build a premier business reference collection. To this end, the following titles will become part of our circulating collections:

Job Description Handbook, M. Mader-Clark
Dress to Impress: How a Navy Blazer Changed My Life!, J Shellart, L. Beck
Running QuickBooks in Nonprofits, K. Ivens
Starting & Building a Nonprofit, P.Pakroo
Incorporate Your Business: A Legal Guide to Forming a Corporation in Your State, A. Mancuso
Form Your Own Limited Liability Company, A. Mancuso
Deduct It! Lower Your Small Business Taxes, S. Fishman
Manager's Legal Handbook, A. Delpo, L. Guerin
Home Business Tax Deductions: Keep What You Earn, S. Fishman
Dealing with Problem Employees: A Legal Guide, A. Delpo
Investors in Your Backyard: How to Raise Business Capitol from the People You Know, A. Advani
Tax Savvy for Small Business, F. W. Daily
The New Bankruptcy: Will It Work for You, S. Elias, R. Leonard
QuickBooks 2006: The Official Guide, K. Ivens
Knock 'em Dead 2006: The Ultimate Job-seekers Guide, M. Yate

SCORE, Counselors to America's Small Business, is a volunteer organization of business people that provide free, confidential business counseling to help entrepreneurs start up a small business or ensure that an existing business prospers. To learn more about SCORE and how you can take advantage of this vitally important (and successful) resource, call the local SCORE office at 467-2280.

The Hayner Library District Announces Youth Library School Liaison Position

The library has a published Long Range Plan for the period of 2004-2009 (available for you to pick up at all library locations). This plan documents five critical service responses that will be the Library's focus for the next five years. These service responses were designed to respond to community needs. The needs were identified by a sixteen person Community Planning Committee in 2004.

One of those service responses is Formal Learning Support. The definition of this response is as follows: "The library will help students who are enrolled in a formal program of education or who are pursuing their education through home schooling to attain their educational needs." To achieve this service response the following goal was defined: "The library will develop a good working relationship with all area learning institutions", thus achieving the following objectives:

- Acquire and maintain accelerated reading lists
- Provide offsite programs at area learning institutions
- Communicate with educators to learn their curriculum schedules
- Provide study carrels and quiet places for students

As a significant facilitator to meet these objectives, the library has created the new staff position of Youth Library Liaison. Sharon Windham has taken on the challenge of filling this mission critical position.

Sharon joined the Hayner Youth Staff in February of 2003 as a Library Assistant. She quickly worked her way up to Assistant Department Manager and in 2005 accepted the challenge of Youth Liaison. Sharon graduated from Blackburn College in 1991 with a Bachelors in Elementary Education. She feels with her education and years of experience working with children she can be a beneficial tool and resource for the education community. If you would like to contact Sharon call the Hayner Youth Library at 465-6463 or email her at youth.library@haynerlibrary.org.

Western Military Academy Alumni Gift The Hayner Public Library District

In January 2006, alumni members of the Western Military Academy presented The Hayner Public Library District with a wonderful addition to the district's collection of important and historic artwork.

Three framed pictures were donated to the library that included the following: 1897 WMA football team including an inset picture with signatures of members of the 1948 and 1949 WMA classes. The inset photo was taken in May of 2004 in Orlando, Fla., at a class reunion of these two classes; Colonel G. D. Eaton who assumed ownership of the academy with Colonel Albert M. Jackson in 1896; Colonel R. L. Jackson, President and Superintendent of WMA and son of Albert M. Jackson.

Funding was provided by the WMA Scrapbook Project Preservation Team, who produced the WMA CD of the scrapbook. Framing and picture restoration was accomplished by Burton Artworks of Alton, Ill and St. Charles, Mo. Steve Cousley donated the Jackson and Eaton pictures to Richard Rook for inclusion in the presentation. Extensive restorative work was required on both pictures.

The original picture image of the 1897 football team was given to the Scrapbook Project Preservation Team by Mr. Don Huber, Alton Township Supervisor and local historian, for inclusion in the CD project. A special thank you goes to Don for this captivating picture of young men relaxing with their coach and military advisor.

Western Military Academy closed in 1971 and the property subsequently was sold to Mississippi Valley Christian School which continues to operate from the remaining facilities. All barracks buildings except "C" have been demolished. The Field House was lost to fire some years ago. Ralph Jackson and Charles Jackson, sons of Colonel R. L. Jackson, continued to be educators in the local area, teaching in various high schools. Ralph passed away in 1998. Charles lives in Godfrey with his wife, Jane. Families of both Jacksons live in the area.

Western Military Academy was, undisputedly, one of the finest military schools in the country, boasting students from throughout the United States. Alumni include CBS founder and president William Paley; Lt. Commander "Butch" O'Hare, recipient of this nation's highest honor, the Congressional Medal of Honor; General Paul Tibbits, commander and pilot of the B 29 Bomber Enola Gay; and distinguished journalist and commentator Sander Vanocur.

In attendance for the presentation was Mrs. Ralph Jackson (Ruth); Conrad Kirby ('63) editor and publisher of the WMA Alumni Newsletter; Darryl Slater ('63) architect and developer; John Salter ('64), a corporation treasurer and CPA; and Richard Rook ('49) co-producer of the scrapbook CD, organizer of the picture gifting and longtime Alton resident.

Mrs. Jackson's husband, Ralph, was President and Superintendent of WMA during the years 1953-1971. During this time, the Jacksons and their children lived on the school's campus in the Main

Join Us!

Dogs of all shapes and sizes come to the Hayner Youth library and act as the perfect audience for children practicing their reading skills. These dogs are all certified therapy dogs (certified by June Walker of Walker's Wee Glen Training). The kids have a blast going from dog to dog, reading stories, giving hugs and kisses and making lots of new furry friends. Parents have just as much fun watching and sharing this quality time. Bring your children (all ages welcome) and bring your cameras too - photo ops abound!

The Bow wow Pow wow is held the second Saturday of every month in the Hayner Youth Library at 401 State Street in Alton from 10:00 am – 11:00 pm. Of course, this event is free of charge but we do ask you to register at 1-800-613-3163. The spring sessions will be held March 11, April 8 and May 13.

Food For Fido

April is Prevention of Animal Cruelty Month and in commemoration of this, all three locations of The Hayner Library District will collect pet food and supplies that will be given to the Alton Area 5 A's Animal Shelter. This no kill shelter is completely dependent on donations and is run by a dedicated staff who work tirelessly to provide care for an overwhelming number of unwanted animals. From April 1 through April 30, if you have an overdue item, you can pay your fine with an item of pet food. This amnesty applies to Hayner material only. Library materials must be returned with the donation and at least one donation for each fine.

Please remember that 5 A's also has a thrift shop at 632 Wood River Ave., Wood River, Il. It is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 am – 3:00 pm They have a large collection of used books (hard-cover for $ 1.00, paperback $ 25 - $.50), puzzles, clothes, collectibles, household goods, furniture, toys and seasonal items. Donations are accepted and pick up is available for large items. To arrange pick up, call the shelter at 462-3721. For questions regarding the shop, call 254-0635.

Please help our friends at the 5 A's - they work so hard to care for the sadly constant stream of unwanted, neglected or abused animals brought to the shelter.

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

Summer Crossing: A Novel by Truman Capote. Fiction
Thought to be lost for over 50 years, here is the first novel by one of the greatest American writers of the 20th century. Set in New York during the summer of 1945, this is the story of a young carefree socialite, Grady McNeil, who must make serious decisions about the romance she is dangerously pursuing and the effect it will have on everyone involved. While at times the characters are a little too absurd to be totally believable, this first novel shows Capote already as a champion observer. It is the little details of character, conversation and subplot that keep you enthralled.
– Bernie D.

The Titled Americans: Three American Sisters and the British Aristocratic World into Which They Married by Elisabeth Kehoe. Nonfiction
The reader is introduced to the real-life environment of British aristocracy in the late 19th century. Blended into history, the fascinating plot was developed from letters and diaries written by family members over the years. The most beautiful of the Jerome sisters, Jennie, was actually Winston Churchill's mother. She was powerful, influential, and highly respected—by all family members as well as royalty. She never abused her position, but used it to help others. Their families lived extravagantly until family wealth became depleted following WWI. Even so, it is interesting to see how resourceful the sisters became as they lived in denial that they were no longer well-to-do.
– Sharon S.

The Brooklyn Follies by Paul Auster. Fiction
The setting is Brooklyn, where Nathan Glass, a retired insurance salesman, divorced, and now facing cancer, has come to die. Reviewing his life of missteps and foibles, he sits down to write the Book of Human Follies. But a chance meeting with his nephew, Tom Glass, eventually places him in a new position of life. With a kaleidoscope of characters only Brooklyn can offer, Nathan builds a life worth living, one filled with folly and the power of the human spirit to rise above them. – Jean S.

The Old Buzzard Had It Coming: An Alafair Tucker Mystery by Donis Casey. Fiction
Alafair Tucker, her husband Shaw and their nine children live on a farm in Oklahoma in 1912. The family is hard-working and caring and we see what farm life was like in that era. When a neighbor is murdered and her daughter may be implicated, Alafair searches for the truth. All of the characters are real and memorable. I am eager for the next mystery with Alafair and her family. There are recipes in the back of the book with ingredients and instructions for our current use. – Jan H.

Red Leaves by Thomas H. Cook. Fiction
Suspense flows from cover to cover in this "who done it" mystery surrounding the disappearance of an 8-year-old girl. Fifteen-year-old Keith Moore was the last person to see the girl alive and his "teenager attitude" does not help the situation. Cook provides a blend of frustration, suspicion, and doubts among Keith, his family and the investigating police. This story is not about Keith as much as it is about his father, who must come to terms with the dysfunctional behavior of his own family while he was growing up. Cook has a natural writing talent that is clearly seen in this story. He creates a fast-paced plot along with well-written dialogue. – Sharon S.

National Library Week
April 2 – April 8, 2006

First sponsored in 1958, National Library Week (NLW) is a national observance sponsored by the American Library Association and libraries across the country each April. It is a time to celebrate the contributions of our nation's libraries and librarians and to promote library use and support. This year, National Library Week is April 2 – 8. Along with special displays at Hayner Library Locations, there will be story times at the Branch and Youth Library. On Sunday, April 2, at 2:30, the Hayner Main Library will kick off NLW week with a performance by Michele LaRue, a professional actress who tours nationally with a repertoire of shows by nineteenth-century American writers. This performance will feature her extremely humorous monologue written by pro-suffragist Marie Jenney Howe in 1912. On Monday, April 3, The Hayner Youth Library will hold a special story time at 10:00 am, featuring JoJo the magical clown. Both programs are free of charge. The program at the Main library on April 2 does require registration at 1-800-613-3163.

Mark Your Calendars to March into Wellness!

State Representative Dan Beiser presents "March into Wellness: A Women's Conference for All Ages" on Saturday, March 25, 2006 from 8:00 AM – 12:00 noon. The event is free of charge and will be held at Lewis and Clark Community College in Room 141 of the Trimpe Multimedia Center. Dr. Corinna Warren and Dr. Kristen Stabell will speak on Heart Health and Exercise and Fitness for Women. There will also be short presentations on self defense, parenting and relaxation. In addition, there will be free osteoporosis analysis. Local health and fitness providers will be available for question on the services they provide women in our community. Tote bags will be given away to the first 200 attendees at the event. For more information, please call Representative Dan Beiser's constituent service office at 618-259-4934.

Trends in American Literacy

- 68% of the nation's fourth graders are reading below proficiency.
  64% of the 12th graders never make it to the proficiency level
- less than half the adult American population now reads literature
- The 10% decline in reading in recent years represents a loss of 20 million potential readers.
- The rate of decline in reading is steadily increasing
- Women read more than men, but reading in both groups is declining.
- Only 1/3 of American males now read literature
- Over the past 20 years, young adults (18-24 years) have declined from being those most likely to read to those least likely.
- Readers are more likely than non-readers to perform volunteer or charity work, visit art museums, attend performing arts or attend sporting events.
- Over the past 10 years consumer spending on electronics has risen from 6 to 24%
- There is a direct correlation between increased reading and higher income and education levels.

Special Events at Hayner

Hayner Main Library Events

We hope our spring semester of events will have you hopping with delight! All programs are free of charge but do require registration. To register, call 1-800-613-3163. Unless otherwise stated, all programs are held at the Hayner Main Library, Alton, Illinois.

Bow-wow Pow-wow

Saturday, March 11
Saturday, April 8
Saturday, May 13
Saturday, June 10
10:00-11:00 a.m.

Join us for a Bow-wow Pow-wow. Certified therapy dogs will be in the Youth Library for your child to read stories to. It's a great way to increase your child's reading skills, and absolute fun for everyone. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Wayne Schell and Beth Tittle
A Celtic Celebration

Tuesday, March 7, 6:30 p.m.

Wayne Schell is a member of the very popular blue grass trio The Lodge Brothers. He has also performed for more than eight years with musician Beth Tittle. Beth merges her crystal-clear vocals with Wayne's singing and instrumentation to perform traditional Celtic music, a common interest of the performers. Their program will consist of traditional folk songs from the British Isles. These songs have interesting historical contexts and a large cast of characters, including Bonaparte, Lord Nelson, Charles Stuart Parnell, gardeners, spouses, jilted lovers and ghosts. The Irish have a particular knack for creating songs that are either desperately sad or ridiculously silly. It will be a fine evening with plenty of blarney to go around. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Mark Dvorak
Old Songs and New People

Thursday, March 23, 6:30 p.m.

Folk singer Mark Dvorak presents an intergenerational program of American folk songs-- many recognizable, some new. Mark uses humor and anecdotes to familiarize the audience with his music. Mark is an instructor at the famed Chicago Old Town School of Music and has released multiple award-winning CDs. The Chicago Tribune has identified Mark as "a commanding vocalist and masterful banjo player." Mark also has been distinguished as "one of today's most important folk artists." We are so excited about Mark's return to Hayner. Don't miss this opportunity to enjoy an evening of music, humor and fun. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Nancy Lippincott and Ben Schreiber
Traditional Strings

Tuesday, March 28, 6:30 p.m.

Nancy Lippincott is a popular local vocalist who plays guitar, autoharp, mandolin, hammered dulcimer and tenor banjo. She enjoys exposing audiences to traditional music that is seldom heard these days. Her repertoire includes Celtic music, early country, American folk, blues, swing and gospel. She has performed extensively throughout the area at various venues, including the several International Folk Festivals in St. Louis, and at many living history events. She also was a featured performer at the 2004 First Night Celebrations at Lewis and Clark College. Ben Schreiber is a 16-year-old "string wizard" from Elsah, Ill. He began studying classical violin when only three years old and toured with Suzuki youth orchestras here and in Europe. Though rooted in classical music, at 13 he developed an interest in folk music and switched to fiddle. Ben has since expanded his range to include banjo, mandolin, guitar, keyboard and composition. Come hear Nancy and this remarkable young man! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Michele LaRue
Someone Must Wash the Dishes

Sunday, April 2, 2:30 pm

Many women fought against getting the vote in the early 1900s, but none with more charm- and less logic- than the fictional speaker in this satiric monologue written by prosuffragist Marie Jenney Howe, back in 1912. "Woman suffrage is the reform against nature" declares Howe's unlikely but irresistibly likeable heroine. "Ladies get what you want. Pound pillows. Make a scene. Make home a hell on earth- but do it in a womanly way! That is so much more dignified and refined than walking up to a ballot box and dropping in a piece of paper!"

Reviewers have called the monologue "wicked" in its wit and labeled Michele LaRue's performance "side-splitting." LaRue is a professional actress based in New York and she tours nationally. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Have fun playing with members of your own family, or play with some other great library patrons! Program will be held at Oasis.

Let's Go to the Movies!
March 8 – April 12 – May 17
All movies begin at noon and are approximately one hour long.
We would like to invite you to join us for the viewing of three great documentaries from the Hayner Library collection. Each documentary is sure to entertain patrons of all ages. The first documentary, "Mill Times" based on the best-selling book, guides viewers through the life and times of workers during the beginning of the Industrial Revolution in Massachusetts. The second, "The Great White Bear", explores a two year time period in the lives of a polar bear and her twin cubs. The third documentary, "Ambassador", takes viewers to American embassies around the world to discover the fascinating lives of U.S. diplomats. Refreshments will round out the movie experience. Get your "ticket" today! Program will be held at Oasis.

The Homes that Sears Built
April 27 – 6:30 pm
Join us for an entertaining evening with local author Laurie Flori as she speaks about the history of Sears, Roebuck & Co. homes in the area. Did you know that the average Sears Catalog kit home had 30,000 parts, not including nails, screws, etc? Everything you needed to construct your own home (except the foundation, plumbing, heating, wiring and land) were included in the kit! Ms. Flori has been researching these homes for years and encourages patrons who attend the program to bring photos of Sears homes with you for discussion.

Did You Know?

Compiled by Staff Genealogist and Illinois Room Manager, Cathie Lamere

LIFE IN THE 1500'S

The next time you are washing your hands and complain because the water temperature isn't just how you like it, think about how things used to be. Here are some facts about the 1500s:

These are interesting...

Most people got married in June because they took their yearly bath in May and still smelled pretty good by June. However, they were starting to smell, so brides carried a bouquet of flowers to hide the body odor. Hence the custom today of carrying a bouquet when getting married.

Baths consisted of a big tub filled with hot water. The man of the house had the privilege of the nice clean water, then all the other sons and men, and then the women and finally the children. Last of all, the babies. By then the water was so dirty you could actually lose someone in it. Hence the saying, "Don't throw the baby out with the bath water."

Houses had thatched roofs-thick straw-piled high, with no wood underneath. It was the only place for animals to get warm, so all the cats and other small animals (mice, bugs) lived in the roof. When it rained it became slippery and sometimes the animals would slip and fall off the roof. Hence the saying "It's raining cats and dogs."

There was nothing to stop things from falling into the house. This posed a real problem in the bedroom where bugs and other droppings could mess up your nice clean bed. Hence, a bed with big posts and a sheet hung over the top afforded some protection. That's how canopy beds came into existence.

The floor was dirt. Only the wealthy had something other than dirt. Hence the saying "dirt poor." The wealthy had slate floors that would get slippery in the winter when wet, so they spread thresh (straw) on floor to help keep their footing. As the winter wore on, they added more thresh until when you opened the door it would all start slipping outside. A piece of wood was placed in the entranceway. Hence the saying a "thresh hold."

(Getting quite an education, aren't you?)

In those old days, they cooked in the kitchen with a big kettle that always hung over the fire. Every day they lit the fire and added things to the pot. They ate mostly vegetables and did not get much meat. They would eat the stew for dinner, leaving leftovers in the pot to get cold overnight and then start over the next day. Sometimes stew had food in it that had been there for quite a while. Hence the rhyme, "Peas porridge hot, peas porridge cold, peas porridge in the pot nine days old."

Sometimes they could obtain pork, which made them feel quite special. When visitors came over, they would hang up their bacon to show off. It was a sign of wealth that a man could "bring home the bacon." They would cut off a little to share with guests and would all sit around and "chew the fat."

Those with money had plates made of pewter. Food with high acid content caused some of the lead to leach onto the food, causing lead poisoning death. This happened most often with tomatoes, so for the next 400 years or so, tomatoes were considered poisonous.

Bread was divided according to status. Workers got the burnt bottom of the loaf, the family got the middle, and guests got the top, or "upper crust."

And that's the truth... Now, whoever said that History was boring!"!

Educate someone...Share these facts with a friend.

Movie Mania

3. What novel written by Shirley Jackson was the source for two movies called The Haunting?
4. What Spielberg film, based on a Michael Crichton novel, grossed $48 million its opening weekend?
5. What popular teen movie starring Heath Ledger and Julia Stiles was loosely based on Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew?
6. What movie starring Tom Cruise, Matt Dillon, Patrick Swayze, Ralph Macchio and Rob Lowe was originally a novel by S. E. Hinton?
7. What 1996 movie starring Gwyneth Paltrow and Ewan McGregor was originally a Jane Austin novel?
8. Name six Charles Dickens novels that were made into movies.
9. Which of the following children's stories has not been made into an animated movie by Disney?
   a. Peter Pan
   b. Black Beauty
   c. The Jungle Book
   d. James and the Giant Peach
   e. Alice in Wonderland
10. Which of the following scenarios in the movie version The Wizard of Oz is the same as the L. Frank Baum original?
    a. Glinda is the Good Witch of the North.
    b. Dorothy wears ruby slippers
    c. Water causes the wicked witch to melt
    d. Glinda's snow saves Dorothy and her companions from the poppy field

Another Generous Campaign

Thank you for another wonderfully generous year collecting food items for the Alton Crisis Food Center. During the month of December, we waived current fines on Hayner materials in return for canned goods products. This year, we collected approximately 1000 items, filling 21 grocery boxes! Thanks to all for your generosity and cooperation!

Illinois Room Update

Calling All Cookbooks!

Our cookbook collection has grown tremendously in the Illinois Room. Thanks to everyone who donated local cookbooks! With spring approaching, you may be doing some cleaning around the house Before you toss out old dusty books, consider donating them to the library If you happen to come across any local school yearbooks, we would love to have them. Our Marquette High School collection of yearbooks is especially slim, and we would really like to grow that collection in our Illinois Room. Any help would be greatly appreciated. Call us at 462-0677 with any questions.

In Memoriam

The Board of Trustees and staff of The Hayner Public Library District are saddened to announce the passing of Nancy H. DeGrand on February 10, 2006. Nancy served as Financial Officer for the Library District for 22 years until her retirement in 1996. She then served as a member of the Board of Trustees of The Hayner Public Library District until her death in February.

The daughter of the late Herbert and Mary Louise Hellrung, Nancy was a 1940 graduate of Marquette Catholic High School. She married Robert Lee DeGrand in 1947. Nancy was a long-time member of Saints Peter and Paul Catholic Church in Alton, where she served as a lector and was a member of the parish council and the Altar Society. She was one of the founders of the Alton Junior Service League, a founder of the Alton Chapter of the March of Dimes and a former president of the St. Joseph Hospital Auxiliary. A dear friend and respected colleague of many, Nancy enjoyed reading, golfing, playing bridge and bowling. She was also known as an avid Cardinals baseball fan. She is survived and will be greatly missed by nine children and their spouses, 29 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Baseball is a funny game!

The baseball season is upon us and for many of us, it conjures up memories of some of the mis-quotes of people such as Casey Stengel and Yogi Berra. However, they were not the only players who demonstrated a quirky sense of humor. The following quotes are from 1001 Dumbest Things Ever Said edited by Steven D. Price.

- I was the worst hitter ever. I never even broke a bat until last year when I was backing out of the garage.
  - Lefty Gomez, New York Yankees pitcher

- I prefer fast foods. - infielder Rocky Bridges, when asked why he would not eat snails.

- There's a lot of heredity in that family.
  - Ralph Kiner, broadcast voice of the Mets

- Today is Father's day, so all you fathers out there, we'd just like to say, Happy Birthday!
  - RALPH Kiner

- Sometimes big trees grow out of acorns - I think I HEARD THAT FROM A SQUIRREL.
  - Jerry Coleman, New York Yankees infielder

Every parent has heard the challenging statement from their children, "I'm bored!" Well, the next time you hear those words, how about recruiting some help with the family tree. You may have to disguise your request with something like "Let's scrapbook", or "I would love it if you could draw a beautiful (family) tree for me. I want to use it for a project, and we can work on it together." Ask them to help you label photographs while you talk with them about who various family members are. There are many ways to enlist their help while they learn a little history at the same time. Once you get their interest, there are oodles of genealogy websites for children. Check with the library to learn more.

Marcy Jacobs

Marcy Jacobs has a job that requires a very special kind of person - a person who is truly committed to helping others through times of great difficulty. Marcy is a Client Services Coordinator at the Oasis Women's Center which provides shelter for women and their children who are victims of domestic violence. (Note: The Oasis Women's Center is not affiliated with the OASIS Alton Center. The latter provides activities for seniors over 50).

Marcy, a native of Brighton, Illinois, attended Southwestern High School and Western Illinois University. Upon graduation, she moved back to the Alton area, where she has lived ever since. Marcy's introduction to working at Oasis was somewhat serendipitous. She was managing a used book store when a friend of hers, Margarette Trushel, came to browse the store for some home improvement material. Margarette is the Executive Director of Oasis. he relayed to Marcy the story of a battered woman who had recently left the shelter for her own apartment but was terrified because of the lack of security in the building. The woman was not able even to lock her flimsy door properly. Marcy, who had recently repaired the door lock in her own home, immediately volunteered to help the woman secure her apartment. Marcy was so moved by the brave woman's struggle to get back on her feet while living in constant fear that she immediately knew Oasis was an organization she wanted to be involved with.

In 1984, she started volunteering at the center in the Night Staff position. This position was only staffed by one person and required Marcy to be available for emergency calls that might come in after hours. She also was responsible for tracking the hours of employee and volunteer services provided by the center. The Department of Human Services provides funding for the center based on service hours. These funds cover approximately 30 percent of the center's operating costs. The other 70 percent is raised locally through the center's resale operation the Caravan Shop, direct mailing, individual contributions and organizations such as the United Way.

Back when Marcy first started volunteering nights, there was a bar, The Buchanan Tavern, not far from the center. When cleaning up, the staff at the bar would toss the empty beer bottles into a large barrel out back, shattering many of them. When Marcy first experienced this, alone at night, she understandably assumed someone was breaking through windows into the center. However, Marcy was not to be intimidated and searched the center from top to bottom to make sure all was secure. All was fine.

Marcy moved on to the position of Volunteer Coordinator, recruiting, training and scheduling volunteers as well as providing direct services to women and children and today is employed as a Client Services Coordinator.

The shelter can support 8-9 women and children as family groups and get two to three times that number of walk-in clients daily. The Client Service workers (of which there are currently five working at the center) all meet with the walk-in clients on as-available basis. They also have direct responsibility for one to two of the families being housed by the shelter to coordinate special services for them. The Client Service workers' responsibilities include counseling on a broad range of topics including emotional counseling and support, developing a safety plan or order of protection, job placement, living arrangements and whatever other personal and financial arrangements must be made to allow the woman to support herself independently of the shelter. There is also a children's therapist available as necessary. Usually the woman's biggest challenge is developing financial independence. This challenge grows exponentially if she has children. The women who seek shelter at Oasis are evaluated every 21 days to determine their progress against a Service Plan This plan tracks the progress they are making in finding employment. The 21-day evaluation period can be extended up to four times. The next challenge after finding a job is to find affordable housing and child care. The Welfare Reform Act during the Clinton administration did increase the subsidy available for child care, but many women have to rely on family members to help care for their children while they are at work. Oasis will provide for the children while the mother is looking for employment, but unfortunately the facility is too small to provide full-time day care.

Many of the women who seek the aid of the shelter are from our local communities; however, the shelter has also provided refuge to women from New York, Mexico, even Ethiopia. One woman from Washington state was summarily dumped at a truck stop in Troy by her boyfriend with no ride, ID or money. The shelter helped her return to her family. The shelter also is aided by interns from the local colleges and universities, including SIUE and Principia College. Marcy remembers with interest one intern who was of great help and kindness and had grown up in China during the Mao regime.

Marcy confessed that sometimes the stress of dealing with the horrors of domestic abuse day after day can become depressing. However, she finds the strength and caring of the women who come to the shelter to be amazing and uplifting. The women remain open and empathetic to each other in sharing their incredibly painful stories. Marcy says that seeing women make real changes in how they view themselves and their lives is encouraging and really helps keep her dedicated to her job. Marcy observes that "these women are not just battered victims; they are strong, funny and caring people. They need to be recognized for their whole being, not just by what has happened to them."

Marcy also commended the Riverbend community for its outstanding support of the shelter. Currently about 20 volunteers help out at the shelter and an additional 100 volunteers help run the Caravan shop. If you are interested in volunteering at either the shelter or the shop, Brenda Nord is the volunteer coordinator and she can be reached at 465-1978. The Caravan shop is at 114 E. Broadway and has an endless supply of clothes and "treasures" for you to purchase. If you would like to donate items to the Caravan shop, call 462-6434.

In addition to her tireless efforts at the shelter, Marcy has found time to read almost every book in the library, mentor a friend's little girl who was adopted from Guatemala and co-author four mysteries.

Thank you, Marcy, for your generous work. You have touched the lives of many who will not forget you.

Come Visit the New Caravan Shop!

The Caravan Shop has moved from its previous home on Piasa Street to a new location at 114 East Broadway (right across for the Telegraph building). After many long hours of volunteer work, this charming new facility has a boutique like look inside and out and conveniently affords lots of parking. Open Monday through Saturday from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm, the shop offers gently used clothing (men/women and children) as well as housewares and furniture. All items are extremely affordably priced ("priced to sell") and inventory is refreshed every day. Quality clothing available for men and women include business suits, shoes, casual clothing, designer and vintage clothes, even wedding dresses. There is a huge selection for children especially in summer clothes. Now is the perfect time to stock up on the play clothes that will see your kids through summer vacation. Of course, Easter is right around the corner. Why pay high prices for an Easter outfit that will only be worn a few times? Be sure to visit the shop often because, even with their already reasonable prices, they also hold sales.

Donations are accepted the last week of every month and donation tax receipts are available. Caravan staff is extremely thankful for the overwhelming generosity of our community in their ongoing support and donations.

Currently there are over 100 active volunteers to run the shop, some of which have been there over 25 years... Volunteers are asked to work a three hour shift. There is no requirement on the number of shifts worked. Volunteer activities include: running sales at the register, helping shoppers, creating displays and price marking. Marlene Beemer is chair of volunteers. For more information call 462-6434. Overall operation of the shop is managed by Stephanie Mendenhall. All profits from the shop go to the Oasis Women's Center. Stop by today for tremendous bargains!

Fun with Words –Contradictanyms

Contradictayms are words which have opposing meanings depending on the context in which they are used. The following examples came from in Shott's Original Miscellany, Ben Shott, Bloomsbury, 2002.

You must BOLT the door ..... or he will Bolt for the door
GARNISH that dish ..... or I will GARNISH your earnings
Please SCREEN us from ..... the film they are about to SCREEN
Though CRITICAL in his comments .... he was CRITICAL to our success
You can see the stars are OUT ..... once the lights are OUT
In is everyday CUSTOM ..... to have suits CUSTOM made
It was an OVERSITE ..... to give him OVERSITE of the project
I will FIX the gate ..... in order to FIX the race
Bind him FAST to prevent..... a FAST getaway
He was only a QUALIFIED success ..... although he is fully qualified

Shott's book is a great collection of essential trivia that we should all bone up on! Trivia is always fun and as Oscar Wilde said "It is a very sad thing that nowadays there is so little useless information".
Find the book in non-fiction at 031.02 SCH.

Enjoying Books Together: Reading to Early Readers

When a child goes to school, his world begins to grow away from you. Continue to share books with him. It is a good way to stay close.

- Don't stop reading to children who are learning to read themselves! Young readers still need to hear you read. Children can understand books that are too hard for them to read. For several more years, they can enjoy hearing you read books that they can't read.
- Hearing you read will help them learn to read better. They can follow along in a book as you read. They can listen to how your voice stops between sentences. They can hear how you read to give meaning to words. Your child will listen carefully for "tips" to help him in his own reading.
- Listening to you read interesting books will teach him why he should learn to read. He will want to read well enough to read those books. It will motivate him!
- Listening to you read takes the pressure off. Many early readers feel pressure to read well. This can be frustrating. When you read to him he can relax and enjoy the book. He will love books instead of fearing them.

Has the library changed your life? Share your story with Woman's Day magazine!

Libraries can change lives. They are places of lifelong learning and opportunity that can help people discover the world. If you have a story about how the library has changed your life, send it to Woman's Day, and it might be one of four chosen to be highlighted in an upcoming issue of the magazine! Tell your story in 700 words or less and send it to womansday@ala.org by May 10. For more information and for the official rules, visit www.womansday.com/ala. Put it in Writing @ your library is sponsored by American Library Association and Woman's Day magazine as part of The Campaign for America's Libraries. The Campaign is a multi-year public awareness and advocacy campaign designed to promote the value of public, school, academic and special libraries and librarians in the 21st century.

A Little Tongue in Cheek...or maybe not?

"Reading for pleasure, reading a novel while you are on the bus or the train or the subway, reading a biography instead of returning all your boss's e-mails, reading philosophy in the back of a seminar that your corporate team sent you to, reading a short prose poem translated from Spanish by your favorite Chilean playwright in the coffee shop, reading a movie review on line at the place where you pay bills when you are too late to mail them- just reading novels and books in general will greatly aid you in your pursuit not to be rich, if only in the sheer time-as-money-wasting capacity. It makes a practicing nonbazillionaire like myself tremble too consider how much money I could lose reading Anna Karenina."

Hayner Program Events... Something for Everyone!

It's been almost eight years now since The Hayner Public Library District started offering a programming series for our community's enjoyment and enrichment. Starting quietly in 1998, the library would sponsor two to three programs a year featuring local talent. These programs, held in the Reading Room of the Main Library, attracted 25-30 patron attendees and were generally musical in content. Slowly but surely, program attendance started to grow. More events were being added to the quarterly calendar, and more diversity was included in the schedule. By fall of 2000, the quarterly calendar of events included four musical programs, a tribute to Will Rogers, basic auto mechanics, and a ventriloquist. Nationally-known pianist, band leader and vocalist Jean Kitrell performed her one-woman show, The Roots of Jazz. Response for reservations for this show was so overwhelming that we decided to try and find a larger venue for the performance. That's how we discovered what a wonderful stage and acoustics the Benjamin Godfrey chapel at Lewis and Clark Community College provided (not to mention a beautiful Steinway grand piano)—and the chapel could accommodate over 300 attendees.

Performances continued to grow in popularity. Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band became an annual event to help us celebrate Mardi Gras. Three-time Emmy award-winning storyteller Bobby Norfolk brought us character performances of Scott Joplin, Duke Ellington and Sergeant York. Harriet Tubman, Sacagawea, Emily Dickinson, Mark Twain, Teddy Roosevelt, FDR and JFK have all visited us. And of course we all enjoyed the multiple shows that Elvis (Steve Davis) performed. The popularity of the musical programs grew quickly. From classical to swing to folk to Creole to bluegrass to Broadway show tunes to gospel, even yodeling—the music crosses all genres.

By the winter of 2001, agents from Chicago, St. Louis and the East Coast were calling the library to book their acts. We have had talent from Arizona, Minnesota, Canada, California, Maine, New York, Oregon and more. We've learned about Civil War medicine; how to protect ourselves against identity theft; how SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) can help us grow our small business with free confidential counseling. Resumé workshops, Internet classes and how to participate in eBay Online Auctions and genealogy round tables have been offered. Local historians and authors have taught us much about the colorful history of the RiverBend.

Most of our programs are held in the Reading Room of the Main Library downtown with audiences numbering from 100-130 (room capacity). All the programs are free of charge to the public and funded through private endowments or grants from the Illinois

Arts Council or The Illinois Humanities Council. Today at the Main Library we offer an average of four or more different programs every month. In 2005 the Branch Library started sponsoring programs held in the OASIS meeting rooms in Famous-Barr. Particularly popular have been the Family Game Nights when patrons, friends and families meet to enjoy some healthy competition and many laughs playing board or card games. Of course, the Youth Library has many wonderful activities for children, including story times for various age groups, Read-n-Rant, after-school fun (crafts) and many special events such as an Easter egg hunt, Santa and Mrs. Claus for Christmas celebrations, clowns, performers and storytellers. The Summer Reading Program is extremely popular. Last year more than 400 children participated, reading throughout the summer to acquire reading hours that earned prizes. They also attended the End of Summer Reading Party at Hatheway Hall on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College, enjoying treats and special surprise events. The Youth Library also hosts the monthly Bow-wow Pow-wow. Certified therapy dogs come to the library with their handlers every second Saturday of the month. Children of all ages are welcome to pick out books and stories to read to the dogs. Reading to these gentle, nonjudgmental animals gives the kids a chance to grow confident in their reading skills and makes reading great fun. Children also learn that when they treat these wonderful animals with love and respect, the dogs return it to them, tenfold. Even for kids who are not readers, the Bow-wow Pow-wow is a great way to promote coming to the library as a unique and fun-filled experience.

In the fiscal year 2004/2005, The Hayner Public Library District entertained more than 10,000 library patrons at our program events. Remember, all these events are free of charge and do not use tax dollars for funding. Our quarterly calendar of events for all three Hayner locations is published in our newsletter. To register, simply call 1-800-613-3163. Since registration for many of the events fills up quickly, we do maintain waiting lists. PLEASE remember, if you can not make a performance you are scheduled for, let us know by calling the 800 number, allowing someone else to use your reservation.

We like to think that the quality of the performers and variety of programs has enriched the cultural climate of our community. We are always anxious for your feedback and suggestions. And, we are always looking for new talent!

Keep Reading Skills Growing!

Don't let your child's reading skills slip over summer vacation. Studies show that children who continue to read throughout the summer months get off to a much faster learning start when school is back in session. Come to the Bow wow Pow wow sessions held in the Hayner Youth Library on Saturday, June 10, Saturday, July 8 and Saturday, August 12. Certified therapy dogs and their handlers will be in the library waiting to be read to by the kids. What a fun way for kids to practice reading and they love being with the dogs. Each Pow Wow is held from 10:00 am until 11:00 am. All ages are welcome. Questions? Call 462-0677.

Food For Fido

During the month of April, all three library locations waived current fines on Hayner materials with a contribution of an item of pet food. By the end of the month, we had collected over 350 items, which were delivered to the 5A's Animal Shelter.

The dedicated staff of 5A's works hard at this no kill shelter to place animals in caring and loving homes. The facility is always chock full with abandoned or unwanted dogs and cats. As you walk around the facility, which the staff encourages the public to do, you see all shapes, sizes and ages of both mixed breeds and purebreds. The animals are pathetically eager for human company and attention.

The 5A shelter is supported solely through private donations. Operating costs to support the shelter average $20,000 a month and usually incoming funds fall far below that amount. Please help this wonderful organization as best you can, whether it be through cash donations, by contributing items to their resale shop or by providing pet food or cleaning supplies.

Of course, a great way to help the animals at the shelter is to adopt one. Hayner Library has an extensive collection of materials to help you decide what is the right pet for you and how to train and care for your "new best friend."

The exciting news at the shelter is that they are on their way to building a larger, more modern and functional facility. The City of Alton has sold 2.6 acres in the old landfill area of Alby to the shelter, and has agreed to assist in their relocation. An agreement has been reached with the Mungenast Automotive Family, of which Alton Toyota is a member, for the purchase of the current shelter. Additional funds will be needed for various construction projects, one of the biggest being the installation of an outer perimeter fence.

Each section of the perimeter fence is 6' high and 8' wide. You can have a section of fencing dedicated to your loved ones or pets with a donation of $100.00. The loss of a pet can be devastating but memorializing them may help relieve the pain. A plaque will be permanently affixed to the fence with your dedication. To participate, send a check for $100 to the shelter and the memorial wording you wish to be printed on the plaque. This will be a wonderful way to remember your dear animals as well as a way to help the future's beloved pets housed by the shelter. For questions or futher information, contact the shelter at 462-3721.

The current shelter is located at 501 East Delmar, Godfrey, IL, 62035. Remember, all in-kind gifts and donations are tax deductible.

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

The Conjuror's Bird by Martin Davies. Fiction
The Conjuror's Bird takes the reader on a modern-day search for the elusive, rare specimen of a bird that was discovered in the South Pacific on Captain Cook's natural history expedition in 1774. Now, noted expert on extinct birds John Fitzgerald is drawn into a hunt to find the only preserved specimen of the extinct Ulietha bird. An alluring story unfolds, one that deftly intertwines the historical past of naturalist Sir Joseph Banks and his mistress, with the present-day intrigue of a search for something so rare. – Jean S.

gener@tion DEBT: Take Control of Your Money– A How-to Guide by Carmen Wong Ulrich. Non-Fiction
Ulrich focuses on helping young people overcome or resolve huge debts. Her writing style is simple, easy to understand, and well organized. Chapters cover such topics as credit card debt, student loans, housing, vehicle purchases, insurance and taxes. She provides many valuable definitions, explanations, charts and illustrations in easy-to-understand formats. A strong feature of this book is the many websites included at the end of each chapter. This is a good "survival aid" for all ages. – Sharon S.

The Minotaur by Barbara Vine. Fiction
Barbara Vine is a pseudonym of the prolific author Ruth Rendell, who Time magazine has hailed as "the best mystery writer in the English-speaking world". In this novel, a young nurse, Kerstin Kvist, arrives at remote, ivy-covered Lydstep Old Hall in Essex, hired for a position with the Cosway family, residents of the hall for generations. Her charge, John Cosway, is a 39 year-old man whose strange behavior is vaguely explained by his mother and sisters as part of the madness that runs in the family. The dynamics of this backbiting family, the secrets that Kerstin uncovers and the tensions of romantic trysts and betrayals make the Wuthering Heights crowd look wholesome. This is very satisfying reading, a sort of blend of Edgar Allan Poe and Anthony Trollope. – Bernie D.

Texas Hold 'Em by Kinky Friedman
Every now and then you need a diversion and this book gives it to you. It is hilarious, off-the-wall, and right on the money all at the same time. The book is a series of little stories, a bit of philosophy, a bit of wisdom and a lot of humor. Most of his commentary relates to Texas. I particularly liked his analysis of Texas drivers. He claims the traits he identified are all native to Texans but I know I have seen lots of them in other states! – Bernie D.

Dollar Stretcher

http://www.stretcher.com/index.cfm
As gas prices go up, people are trying to cut back in other areas of their budget. This site offers plenty of tips on relatively painless ways to save money on just about everything - automobiles, food, family activities, banking, home decorating, etc., as well as general financial advice.

Patrons Establish Scholarship Fund

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keller have been wonderful supporters of The Hayner Public Library District for many years. Both share a love of books and learning that manifests itself in their frequent use of the library's facilities and consistent attendance at library programs. Both Kellers are long-standing members of Friends of the Library, and Mrs. Keller also volunteers for the Homebound Department.

This spring the Kellers notified the library that they wished to further their patronage by establishing a scholarship fund for library staff education. This fund, The Edward and Genie Keller Scholarship Fund, would be available to Hayner Library staff members interested in pursuing a Masters of Library Science or other library-related training courses. The fund would be used specifically to offset education costs to grow staff skills in various areas of library service. Each year the Executive Director and management team would identify the deserving recipient on staff at any of the three Hayner Library locations. This is a wonderful gift. Pursuing an M.L.S can be an expensive venture and may be cost-prohibitive to many likely students.

The Hayner Public Library District and Board of Trustees are extremely thankful to the Kellers for their many contributions to the District, and especially for this most recent expression of their interest in helping the District to maintain and accelerate a high level of staff training and services.

Getting a Head Start

Riverbend Head Start is an extremely important resource for our community. Hayner Library has partnered with Head Start on multiple projects and Head Start children and their parents regularly attend story times at the library. We greatly appreciate Head Start's support of all the library's reading programs.

Riverbend Head Start Enrolling Students for Pre-K Education

Riverbend Head Start and Family Services is accepting applications for its comprehensive early childhood development and family strengthening Head Start program. At the Essic Robinson Center on Broadway in Alton, children from birth to age 5 and their parents benefit from part-day, infant/toddler childcare and home-based program options.

Head Start is a federal program serving at-risk families on the cornerstones of child development, literacy, parent involvement, health and nutrition services and many other social services. Riverbend Head Start and Family Services has six centers throughout Madison County. If you have a child or know of a child in need of free or affordable services, please call 463-5950.

Tom and Jeana Hutchinson to be Honored at Circle of Care Event

In addition to being wonderfully supportive of the Hayner Public Library District, Tom and Jeana Hutchinson have given many hours of their time supporting many varied aspects of our community. They are to be recognized at the 2006 Annual Circle of Care event. Please join us in celebrating the caring spirit of this generous couple.

Guns and Roses is the theme for the 13th Annual Circle of Care Dinner in acknowledgement of Tom's penchant for guns and Jeana's fondness for gardening. It's sure to be an evening of bang' up jokes and "snips" of humor at the Hutchinson's expense, compliments of their friends and family. The event celebrates the caring spirit of this generous couple.

The 2006 Circle of Care dinner will be held June 1st at The Commons at Lewis & Clark Community College. The evening starts with cocktails at 5:30 p.m., continues with dinner at 6:30 p m. and wraps up with a lively program from 7:30 - 8:30 p.m.. Reservations are $60 per person and may be made by calling Judy at 463-5946. Live entertainment, cash bar, silent auction, and a raffle round out the event.

For the past 12 years, Riverbend Head Start & Family Services has presented Circle of Care, an event designed to recognize and honor those who have made a significant contribution to Madison County through volunteerism, profession and/or philanthropy.

Riverbend Head Start and Family Services provides services that enable children and families to discover positive solutions to life's challenges.

Michael Smith
Award-Winning Singer/Songwriter

Tuesday, June 6, 6:30 pm

Michael Smith "wowed" us in previous performances in 2001 and 2002. We are so excited to finally bring him back to Hayner. Michael's work has been recorded by such diverse performers as Jimmy Buffet, Jerry Jeff Walker, The Four Freshmen, The Kingston Trio, Steve Goodman, Tom Rush and more than 30 other artists. He has won four prestigious Jeff awards (Chicago equivalent of the Tony) for his 1993 autobiographical play, Michael, Margaret, Pat & Kate. Chicago Magazine wrote, "One of the best songwriters in the English language…an enchanting and riveting performer." Sing Out! Magazine writes "Michael Smith stands as one of the few undisputed geniuses among singer-songwriters." To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Curtis and Loretta
An Eclectic Musical Journey

Tuesday, June 13, 6:30 pm

Minneapolis-based folk music duo Curtis and Loretta have been acclaimed across the country for their exquisite harmonies, incisive songwriting and skill on an array of string instruments. They have delighted audiences with their unique blend of their own original songs and traditional Celtic songs, all underscored by their winning stage presence. They have been named "Best Acoustic Performer of the Twin Cities" by City Pages entertainment newspaper. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Dennis Suttles
Genealogical Roundtable

Wednesday, June 21, 6:30 pm

Join us on Wednesday, June 21, 2006 in the Reading Room to hear Dennis Suttles from the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library. He is a Genealogical Research Librarian there and will talk about the resources they have available. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Christian Misner
Christian the Magician

Tuesday, June 27, 6:30 pm

You might think magic shows are not your cup of tea, but you haven't seen Christian the Magician. He had us rolling with laughter! A seasoned performer – he was a major attraction in Disney World until he and his family were blown to St. Louis by Hurricane Charley–he brings his rabbit "Stew" and performs a high-energy family show that emphasizes laughter and fun. (In fact, his contract actually guarantees it!) Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Judy Hoffman
Local Women Pre-Civil War

Tuesday, July 18, 6:30 pm

Author Judy Hoffman will discuss the lives of three local women during the pre-civil war era highlighting frontier class distinctions. Judy will tell HERstory instead of HIStory. Her discussion will bring to life the story of Abby, an indentured servant, Lattie Scarritt, a farm wife and Phena Fobees, a Yankee blue stocking while discussing class distinctions. Judy will describe what life was like for these three very different women, all who lived in Godfrey. Judy will also have copies of her book, "God's Portion", a fascinating history of Godfrey, Illinois to purchase. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Jim Kanas
American Folk Music

Tuesday, July 25,

American music through its ethical roots and incorporate a large assortment of conventional, homemade and world instruments. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Rogers, Nienhaus & Crawford
Acoustic Music and Three Part Harmonies
Tuesday, August 8, 6:30 pm

Three professional musicians…three distinct voices. If you love the music of The Byrds; The Beatles; Crosby Stills & Nash and Carol King to name a few, you will love the music of Terry Jone Rogers, Scott Nienhaus and Karen Crawford! . Talented songwriters themselves, Terry and Scott have toured worldwide with their respective careers. Karen Crawford's performance and recording background make her the perfect addition to this talented duo, with her beautiful, powerful voice, steady rhythm guitar and natural rapport with an audience. Join us for an evening of quality entertainment with outstanding harmonies from artists with a strong following. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Annette Harrison
The Orphan Trains
Tuesday, August 15, 6:30 pm

A forgotten part of American history comes alive in Annette's high energy, interactive style. You will learn about the 75 year practice of "placing out" orphan children. This amazing show will chronicle the saga of 100,000 children transported from the streets of New York to the rural farms of Missouri (1854-1929). You will experience the journey through heartbreaking and heart warming stories. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Kim Massie
A St. Louis Diva
Sunday, August 20, 2:00 pm

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel, Lewis and Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL.

Kim draws her audiences to her versatile web of Blues, R & B, jazz and Gospel. Singing since age two on her Momma's knee to the church choirs, Kim has been singing ever since. Says Sean Hicks of Sauce Magazine, "Massie mixes the voice of God with growing nuances of Etta James adding the blonde hair and attitude of little Kim". Kim will grab, hug and capture the rhythms of your heart. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Alton Symphony String Quartet
Tuesday, August 29, 6:30 pm

You're invited to a special concert presented by the principal string players from our own Alton Symphony Orchestra. This highly-talented and versatile group of musicians forms a classic string quartet that has performed styles ranging from Bach to "Rock". They are also active professional musicians and music educators in the Bi-State area. This concert's eclectic play list will include selections by Haydn, Mozart, Cole Porter, John Lennon and Argentinean master of the Tango, Astor Piazzolla. Register at 800-613-3163.

Jacquie Manning & Rich Prezioso
Small Potatoes
Tuesday, September 12, 6:30 pm

The Chicago-based duo, Small Potatoes, has been touring the folk circuit since 1993. They describe their music as "Celtic to Cowboy" and say it has taken them "years of careful indecision" to come up with a mix of music that ranges from country, blues and swing to Irish. They even yodel. They also pay attention to the warmth and humor that creates a great rapport with their audience and makes for a memorable performance. Dirty Linen Magazine called them "one of the most polished, inventive and entertaining shows on the circuit". Register at 1-800-613-3163.

The Original Boneheads
A Little Bit of Everything
Tuesday, September 19, 6:00 p.m.

The Original Boneheads, a.k.a. The St. Louis Trombone Quartet (yes, TROMBONE Quartet!) was founded in 1998 and have in the years since played at art fairs, concerts, casinos, university ceremonies, private events, parades, museum and corporate events and many church services, to glowing reviews. Each of the players is conservatory trained and experienced in musical settings from symphony orchestras to bar bands. This breadth of musical experience is reflected in the quartet's song list, which contains marches, jazz and swing, rock, doo wop, classical, R & B, polkas, blues, Americana and more. This evening's performance will be an eclectic mix of jazz, swing, blues and classical. This is a return performance of The Boneheads-don't miss them! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Hayner Branch Library Events at OASIS Alton Center

The following events are sponsored by the Hayner Branch Library at Alton Square Mall. Thank you to OASIS Alton Center for partnering with us and providing the meeting rooms where these events will be held. The OASIS center is located on the second floor of Famous Barr at the Alton Square Mall- follow the hallway to the right of Famous Barr Customer Service. All the programs are free of charge but do require registration. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Family Game Nights

June 21, July 19, August 23
All game nights begin at 6:30 pm

One night each month in the summer, the Branch Library at Alton Square will host a family game night. We will have board games for families to play, or you may bring your own games. Have fun playing with members of your own family, or play with some other great library patrons! Program will be held at Oasis.

Let's Go to the Movies!

June 9, July 7, August 18
All movies begin at noon and are approximately one hour long.

We would like to invite you to join us for the viewing of three great documentaries from the Hayner Library collection. Each documentary is sure to entertain patrons of all ages. The first documentary, "National Geographic Presents: The Last Voyage of the Lusitania" takes a look at one of history's most mysterious tragedies with the help of scientists and an underwater camera. The second documentary, "The Statue of Liberty", takes viewers on a spectacular tour of one of the world's most recognizable landmarks and tells the history of how the statue came to be. The third documentary, "The Greatest Generation", tells the stories of the men and women who came of age during the Great Depression and the Second World War and went on to build modern America. Refreshments will round out the movie experience. Get your "ticket" today! Program will be held at Oasis.

Memories and All the Fixings

Janet Riehl
August 16, 1 pm: Talk and Poetry Reading
2-4 pm Workshop: "Writing Memories"

Memories – and our choices in how we live with them–shape our lives. Janet Grace Diehl reflects on the power of memory and reads from her debut collection of poems Sightlines: A Poet's Diary. Janet is an eloquent, insightful speaker and workshop leader.

Sightlines: A Poet's Diary offers a frank portrait of a family not only coming to terms with its grief, but also celebrating its past and difficult present. Her poems offer a vision of life filled with little treasures that carry us back to what is truly important in our lives.

Following the talk and reading, Janet will lead a writing workshop for those who want to write their own memories. Janet has led hundreds of workshops world wide. Go home with the start of your own memory book.

Join us for the 2006 Hayner Youth Library Summer Reading Program

Registration begins Saturday, June 10 -- Open to ages birth - 15
This is a 6 week program ending Saturday, July 29.
There will be an End of Summer Reading Party on August 3, The Commons, LCCC.
Awards * Prizes * Entertainment * Surprises

Registration for summer reading club and activity programs opens Saturday, June 10th unless otherwise stated Register in person at the Hayner Youth Library for summer reading club and activity programs or the Hayner Branch Library for the summer reading club only. We regret we cannot accept registrations by phone. Children under twelve must be registered by a parent or guardian. Teens, ages 12-15, may sign up on their own. Summer reading club registration closes Saturday July 15th. Registration for activity programs close when all available places are filled. All programs at the library are provided free of charge. Due to space limits only residents or cardholders of the Hayner Public Library District may attend summer activity programs at the library.

Kids from birth through fifteen are invited to participate in the Voyage to Book Island Summer Reading Club at Hayner Public Library this summer. Pre-readers may participate if an adult agrees to read to them.

Participants agree to read at least six hours to complete the program and win a free paperback book of their choice. Time sheets must be returned to the Youth Library no later than Saturday, July 29th, in order to qualify. There are additional prizes for those who read 12, 18, 24, and 30 hours. Those who read 30 hours or more are listed on the Wall of Fame display at the Youth Library all summer.

Award books and other prizes will be distributed at the End of Summer Party on Thursday, August 3rd, 6-8 pm at Lewis & Clark Community College. If you cannot attend the party you can pick up your award book at the Youth Library any time between August 4th thru August 31st.

Summer schools and other community agencies can participate as outreach sites for the summer reading club. Please call Gloria Mitchell at 462-0652.

2006 Hayner Adult Summer Reading Program June 10-July 22

Summer reading isn't just for kids. Our Adult Summer Reading Program was such a hit with patrons last year that we'd like to offer it again. While the children "Voyage to Book Island" this summer, adults can journey wherever their imagination and reading will take them, earning chances to win a beautiful gift basket.

Tackle your to-be-read stack or simply enjoy your favorite beach reads. From June 10th through July 22nd, for every book or audio book you read, you can enter a drawing to win a gift basket stuffed with goodies. Thanks to the generosity of private funding, there will be a grand prize gift basket at each of our three Hayner branches. Every time you finish reading or listening to a book, fill out a slip and drop it in the entry box by one of the baskets. The more titles you read or listen to, the more chances you have to win.

The rules are the same as they were for last year's program: you must be a Hayner cardholder at least 18 years of age; all reading and listening materials must be checked out from Hayner and should match each reader's skills; register at any Hayner circulation desk to participate and pick up entry forms. Grand prize drawings for these baskets will be held on Saturday, July 22nd.

Basket winners from Hayner's Adult Winter Reading Program were: Bethany Albert, John Retzer and Janice Counts. You can't win unless you enter. Give it a try!

Grammar Traps

Do you suffer from Grammar Anxiety? Do you worry about your choice of words and their usage in a sentence, especially one that will be made into a paper (hard) copy to be read by many of your peers? Save yourself unnecessary embarrassment, use "Grammar Traps" to save the day!

Go to www.agriculture.purdue.edu/agcom/ontarget/grammartrap. Yes, it is a long URL, but once you get there, you can always make it a favorite link from your computer. Grammar traps lists nearly 100 common grammatical problems that will help the average writer to be as confident as an English major. Try it today and ease your stress, while avoiding the complications of being comma-tose, or suffering from the embarrassment of Irritable Vowel Syndrome, forceful Semicolonescopy or chronic logorrhea. And PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE look up the entry for responsible vs. irresponsible. Irresponsible is NOT a word. Sorry….just a personal pet peeve…..

Patron Profile John Dunphy

When I first moved to Alton there were several establishments critical to quality of life that I had to check out right away. One was the library and another was local bookstores, which is how I first met John Dunphy, the owner of The Second Reading—a wonderful, second-hand bookstore. John is an Alton native. He attended Marquette High School and graduated from SIUE as a history/political science/philosophy major. After college and graduate school, John decided to take time to "find himself" and follow his lifelong passion to write and become a published author. John's great-uncle, Joe Dromgoole, was assistant editor for The Alton Telegraph for many years and was responsible for nurturing John's love of writing. John had no trouble finding work as a freelance writer and has been published in many national magazines and newspapers. His first book, published in 2003, is titled "Lewis and Clark's Illinois Volunteers." This book brings to life the Illinois volunteers who played a pivotal role in the success of Lewis and Clark's expedition to seek the Northwest Passage. It is a fascinating portrayal highlighting both the virtues and vices of the brave men who formed the Corps of Discovery. Hayner Main Library has a circulating copy of the book, shelved at 917.8042 DUN, and a noncirculating copy is kept in the Illinois Room.

John is an internationally recognized haiku poet and has also authored two chapbooks (a chapbook is a short collection of poetry). Currently published is "Old Soldiers Fading Away" featuring poems about military veterans, particularly Vietnam vets. This spring, his second collection, titled "Stellar Possibilities," was published. This is a collection of a new literary genre called scifiaiku, a hybrid of haiku and science fiction.

Along with writing, John has another great love— his bookshop, The Second Reading. The shop was founded in 1979 by Mike Crivello and was located at 117 Market Street. Mike sold the shop in 1985 and ultimately John acquired the business in 1987. From 1992-2002 the business was located in the Mineral Springs Mall, and in 2002 it was moved to its current location at 16 East Broadway. It is a wonderfully comfortable shop. Books in every nook and cranny, soft comfortable chairs, and three cats who live there 24/7, serving as goodwill ambassadors.

John's love of reading was nurtured by his family. His parents kept him supplied with books, and even before attending school, John was an avid reader. His shop reflects his love of reading—every imaginable genre of writing sits on his shelves. The shop has become an institution in the Metro East, drawing customers from all the local Riverbend communities, St. Louis and out of state, as well as Australia, the United Kingdom, Germany, Canada and more. John serves two generations of customers. Many that used to come to his shop in the 1980s still stop by, and their now-grown children also patronize the shop. John foresees yet a third generation of patrons in the near future!

John acquires his stock from donations, as well as by frequenting area book sales. Though John does carry some new books from local authors and CDs from local musicians, his primary objective is the recirculation of used books (thus the name, The Second Reading). The books are very economically priced, and John has been known to trade books with his customers. He does often find valuable editions that may have been donated unknowingly. He remembers one donation that was published in 1795 and contained George Washington's address to congress regarding foreign policy. It was ultimately sold on eBay for several hundred dollars. John regards Hayner Library as an unofficial partner in his bookselling business. Many times customers will have read a book from the library and enjoyed it so much, they want to own a copy—and John helps them find one. "A good library is a book shop's best friend" says John.

John is a great advocate and supporter of local artists, regularly sponsoring book signings, musical concerts and art shows in the shop. He holds two events per month, primarily on Saturday afternoons. He posts notice of these events in The Telegraph, but he also encourages you to call the shop for the current calendar of programs (618-462-2830).

John also holds classes at the bookshop. From 1997-2005 John taught writing courses at Lewis and Clark Community College. He also taught a class on the collecting and care of books. Today both these classes are held at the bookshop on an ongoing basis.

John also has been an activist for many different causes. In 1990 he cofounded the Piasa Area Habitat for Humanity. From 1990 to 1998 he served as secretary of it's board. Members of this organization built houses in the Alton area that were sold, at cost, to the underprivileged. John describes his time with the Habitat as eight wonderful years. He also served on the Alton Human Relations Commission, an organization whose charter was to battle bigotry and uphold human rights. From 1988 to 1995 he was a Precinct Committeeman, canvassing neighborhoods to urge people to get out and vote in local and national elections. In the late 1990s he volunteered to staff a temporary homeless shelter at Elm Street Presbyterian Church. John was on the night shift at the church providing aid and support, as needed, from 2:00 am until 5:00 am. He recalls that books and black coffee were requirements for getting through his shift.

In 1992 John founded the Metro East Writers' workshop. The workshop is designed for published authors to meet on a regular basis and critique each other's works-in-progress. The very popular Writers' Workshop still meets regularly at the bookshop and draws authors from throughout the metro St. Louis area. A true patron of the arts, John regularly takes in art shows and is a film and music buff. He also can be regularly found enjoying a woodland hike. John has many passions and says he feels so fortunate to realize his dream as a published writer and as owner of The Second Reading Book Shop. John closed stating, "The bookshop has so enriched and blessed my life and brought me so many friends—it is truly a magical place." Be sure to stop by and visit John at 16 East Broadway in Alton, open daily from noon to 6 pm, and share the magic! John also has a web site at www.johndunphy.com.

Jazz in the Park

The second annual Jazz In The Park series will run June through August, 2006. Sponsored by The Hayner Public Library District, The North Alton Godfrey Business Council and the Village of Godfrey Parks and Recreation Department, this series will present musical entertainment under the stars. All the concerts will run from 7:00 – 9:00 pm and will be emceed by Ross Gentile of WSIE Radio.

The first concert will be held on Wednesday, June 7 at the Whispering Winds Gazebo in Glazebrook Park in Godfrey. This free concert will feature The Gary Dammer Big Band. This is a 17 piece swing band accompanied by vocalist Sherri Drake. No reservations are required. Rain location is the Commons at Lewis & Clark Community College.

Then get out your dancing shoes because on Wednesday, July 12, The Sentimental Journey Big Band will perform for your listening and dancing pleasure at The Commons on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College. There is an admission charge for this event, $15 per couple or $10 single admission. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 1-800-613-3163.

On Wednesday, August 16, we return to the Gazebo in Glazebrook Park for a performance by Tom Heitman & The Steve Schenkman Orchestra. They will entertain us with a night of Frank Sinatra's favorites. This is a free program and does not require reservations. For the concerts held in Glazebrook Park, you will need to bring a lawn chair. Rain location for this performance is the Trimpe Building at Lewis and Clark Community College. At each of the three concerts there will be a 50/50 drawing with the proceeds going to the Madison County Area Council, Jacoby Art Center, Alton, IL. For additional information, call 466-1483 or 466-6110.

Lovejoy Museum Opening

In May, Lovejoy Elementary school, with the help of Hayner Library staff, completed an ambitious project they had started in January 2006. Grades 3 through 5 were given the ambitious task of researching different aspects of Alton to build a museum in the school. Each class was given a different theme to build upon. The variety of topics ran from entertainment to transportation. The teachers worked with Hayner Library staff and the Youth Library and used the Illinois Room to develop the research material the kids could draw from in creating their individual classroom's museum display. The evening of May 4, 2006 was the grand opening for the public to tour the museum. Over 400 people attended! Congratulations to all the children (and teachers) on such a successful and valuable project.

Did You Know:

The Simon and Schuster publishing house owns the unusually brief correspondence between Victor Hugo and his publisher. To inquire how the editors liked the manuscript for Les Miserables, Hugo composed the following letter, quoted here in its entirety: "?". The publisher responded: "!". Such brevity is all the more remarkable when one considers that Les Miserables contains one of the longest sentences in the French language- 823 words without a period.

The Hayner Public Library District

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Foster Township — Fall 2006 Vol. XIV, No. 4

The Hayner Public Library District Receives Significant Bequest

The family of local artist Dorothy J. Lindblad Roper has most generously gifted The Hayner Public Library District with several of her paintings, as well as funding to be used for the establishment of an art gallery/events room in future library facilities.

Mrs. Lindblad Roper was a local Altonian, well known and respected for the beautiful artwork she created, many pieces depicting scenes of our local area. She also was a strong advocate of the artistic community in the Riverbend, promoting shows and guiding other artists in their work.

Mrs. Lindblad's family had previously donated to the library two scenes of the river road and bluffs. They have since augmented this gift with the donation of a large oil, painted from the vantage point of the river facing the bluffs, in vivid fall colors. Another work they contributed is a watercolor of the old Alton Train Station, which stood in what today is Riverfront Park. Dorothy's daughter, Pat Wendel of West Grove, Pennsylvania, had the pieces reframed, and they make a stunning series.

Additionally, Pat announced that she and her brother, Dr. Randall Lindblad of Puyallup, WA were to gift to the Hayner Public Library District, $40,000 from the Dorothy J. Roper Revocable Living Trust.

Pat indicated that she and her mother often enjoyed attending the library's ongoing program series, which features free musical and educational events. Pat was very complimentary about the library's efforts to stand as a cultural center for the Riverbend community. To this end, the family has set up a bequest from their mother to support the arts. Hayner Library staff has long had a goal of providing a venue to showcase the work of local artists. Currently, the library does not have any available space to facilitate this goal

The agreement between Pat, her brother, Dr. Lindblad, and Hayner management is that the bequest be put in trust in the Library Building and Construction Fund to support the design and development of an art gallery/events center in a future library facility. This gallery would permanently exhibit the donated works of Mrs. Lindblad Roper and pieces from the library's own collections, many of significant historical value; as well as rotating collections for the public to view and enjoy. The room will be dedicated as the Dorothy J. Lindblad Roper Cultural Events Center in recognition of her wonderful preservation of art and beauty of the Riverbend and her support of the artistic community. Ultimately, The Hayner Public Library District hopes that this collection will grow to feature the works of the many talented local artists, showcasing our historic community and river scenes.

This incredibly generous gift of the Lindblad family will be greatly appreciated and enjoyed by many for years to come!

A Tribute to Hayner Librarians

When Dennis Flinn was a young boy growing up in Alton, he was an avid user of the Hayner Public Library on State Street (today, the Youth Library). Dennis was from modest beginnings, and as a teenager, his father wanted him to drop out of school and go to work in the mills. He was encouraged by the Hayner librarian to stay in school at all costs. Not only did he stay in school while supporting himself in his own apartment, he graduated with a scholarship to the University of Missouri. He moved to Washington, and after a variety of jobs, he became personal assistant to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Dennis had aspirations to become an FBI agent (which at the time required a law degree) so he put himself through law school and joined the Bureau as an agent in 1934. In fact he was the first agent sent on a foreign assignment during World War II. Throughout his career, Dennis worked in high-level positions for NATO and the State Department. He also worked at American embassies in Stockholm, Sweden and in Canberra, Australia. Dennis Flinn died in 2003 at the age of 92. After he passed away, Hayner Library was contacted by his widow, Anne Flinn of Summerville, S.C. Mrs.Flinn said that Mr. Flinn's life successes were rooted in the encouragement and support he received during his youth from a Hayner librarian. Accordingly, she commissioned a memorial mosaic, which was created by Dennis Flinn's daughter, Lenore Lyons, of Centreville, Massachusetts. Lenore designed a memorial of three panels depicting items of significance in Mr. Flinn's life that reflected his enthusiasm for life, love of world travel and passion for reading. The mosaic is made of more that 5000 pieces of colored glass and the three panels are set in the garden of the Hayner Youth Library. On the front of the memorial is a plaque that reads:

IN TRIBUTE TO THE HAYNER LIBRARIANS
AND IN MEMORY OF
DENNIS A. FLINN
1910-2003
"As a young boy, the librarians of Hayner developed in me a lifelong love of reading"

Three New Databases Ready To Help You

Hayner patrons have three new online databases they can use to find the answers to quick questions or to research topics for papers and reports. The library recently added an antiques pricing database, a science database, and a literature database that includes biographical information about authors and literary criticism of their works.

P4A Antiques Reference Database— Prices for Antiques-- provides prices, descriptions and background information for all types of antiques and collectibles. Every record includes at least one picture, making it easy to tell if the item listed is really similar to the one being researched. Estimated values and realized prices are given for items listed in the database, along with the date of sale and auction house information. Patrons can use this database to estimate the value of similar items they may wish to buy, sell or insure. It can be accessed both at the library and from home. A Hayner barcode is required for home access.

The Science Reference Center is a comprehensive science reference database geared toward middle and high school level students It is completely full-text and covers all disciplines of science, including life sciences, physical sciences, and earth and space sciences. Its information sources include magazines and journals, books, encyclopedias, and other reference works. It also offers both home and in library access.

The Literary Reference Center is a literature reference database that patrons can use to find information on literary authors, their books, and literary criticism about their works. It is also full-text, and covers a time period from antiquity to the present. Information sources for this database include literary journals, books, reference works and literary encyclopedias. It can be accessed from both home and the library.

Hayner also offers a variety of other online subject databases, including:

General Magazine Articles Search-- MasterFILE Select
Antiques-- P4A Antiques Reference—Prices for Antiques
Auto Repairs-- Auto Repair Reference Center
Books and Authors—NoveList and Novelist K-8 (fiction guides for readers of all ages)
Business Information-- Business Source Elite and Regional Business News
General Information Search—FirstSearch (contact library for details)
History-- History Reference Center
Health-- Health Source Consumer Edition
Health and Medicine-- PDR Electronic Library (in library use only) Literature-- Literary Reference Center
Science-- Science Reference Center
Topics for Students-- Student Research Center and TopicSearch
Tests-- LearningExpress Library (practice standardized and licensing tests)
Writing Skills-- LearningExpress Library. Job, Career and Business Writing Help Center

To learn more about these databases and how to access them, visit Hayner's new and updated web site coming soon at www.haynerlibrary.org.

Why More Bow wow?

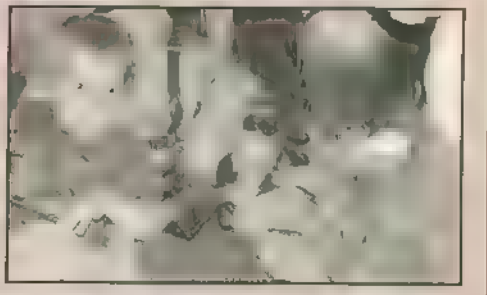
Upon entering the little country store the stranger noticed a sign saying: DANGER! BEWARE OF DOG! posted on the glass door. Inside he noticed a harmless old hound dog asleep on the floor besides the cash register. He asked the store manager, "Is THAT the dog folks are supposed to beware of?" "Yep, that's him," he replied.

The stranger couldn't help but be amused. "That certainly doesn't look like a dangerous dog to me. Why in the world would you post that sign?"

"Because," the owner replied, "before I posted that sign, people kept tripping over him."

This pup sounds like a candidate to join our happy band of (very relaxed) therapy dogs that, along with their handlers, come to visit the Hayner Youth library the second Saturday of every month. On those Saturdays, from 10 -11 a.m., kids of all ages come to the Library and read to the dogs.

Someone inquired as to why we included an article about the Bow wow Pow wow in every newsletter. Several reasons- 1) to recognize the generosity of the handlers, most of whom work full time during the week yet willingly give up hours of their free time – time to make sure the dogs are groomed to strict specifications, time to make sure the dogs fulfill the rigorous therapy dog certification requirements and time donated to the library 2) We truly believe in the significant value of this program. When a kid says "I love coming to the library and reading to ALL the dogs"- that is a huge program achievement. When a mother tells me "my son can't sit still in school – I can't believe his concentration and calm when he's reading to the dogs"– that is a huge program achievement, when a set of grandparents tell me it's one of their favorite outings to share with their grand child- spending special time together in the library- that is a huge program achievement. So for those reasons and many more, we will continue to maintain the visibility of this program as much as possible. Besides, the pictures are so darn cute! So we invite you all to come, the second Saturday, each month, and share in the achievement!



NOTE: The Youth Library is closed on November 11 for Veteran's Day so we will meet Saturday, November 4. All other months we will stay with our second Saturday schedule.

Subscriptions always growing

The Hayner Public Library District subscribes to over 300 different magazines so you don't have to! The subscriptions run a gamut of topics from politics to entertainment, fashion, art, architecture, gardening, literary, photography, travel, sports, hobbies, home care, cooking and many, many more. Except for the most current issue, the magazines and newspapers can be checked out. We archive back issues of most magazines for up to two years and some, like Consumer Reports, are held in hard copy for up to ten years.

We are always evaluating our subscriptions and adding new publications. Examples of some of our latest additions include:

Bow-wow Pow-wow

Saturday, September 9
Saturday, October 14
Saturday, November 4
Saturday, December 9
10:00-11:00 a.m.

Join us for a Bow-wow Pow-wow. Certified therapy dogs will be in the Youth Library for your child to read stories to. It's a great way to increase your child's reading skills, and absolute fun for everyone. This is a great way to keep up your child's reading skills over summer vacation. Register at 1-800-613-3163. *The library is closed on 11/11 for Veterans Day. The November Pow Wow will be held on the first Saturday, November 4.

Jacquie Manning & Rich Prezioso
Small Potatoes

Tuesday, September 12, 6:30

The Chicago-based duo, Small Potatoes, has been touring the folk circuit since 1993. They describe their music as "Celtic to Cowboy" and say it has taken them "years of careful indecision" to come up with a mix of music that ranges from country, blues and swing to Irish. They even yodel. They also pay attention to the warmth and humor that creates a great rapport with their audience and makes for a memorable performance. Dirty Linen Magazine called them "one of the most polished, inventive and entertaining shows on the circuit" Register at 1-800-613-3163

Genealogy Roundtable
Lost in the Forest When Searching Your Family Tree?

Thursday, September 14, 6:30 p.m.

Join us in the Hayner Main Library Reading Room for our Genealogy Roundtable Discussion Group. We will work as a group to help you with your "brick wall" problems researching your family history. Call 1-800-613-3163 to register.

The Original Boneheads
A Little Bit of Everything

Tuesday, September 19, 6:00 p.m.
Note Start Time

The Original Boneheads, a.k.a. The St. Louis Trombone Quartet (yes, TROMBONE Quartet!) was founded in 1998 and have in the years since played at art fairs, concerts, casinos, university ceremonies, private events, parades, museums, corporate events and many church services, to glowing reviews. Each of the players is conservatory trained and experienced in musical settings from symphony orchestras to bar bands. This breadth of musical experience is reflected in the quartet's song list, which contains marches, jazz and swing, rock, doo wop, classical, R & B, polkas, blues, Americana and more. This evening's performance will be an eclectic mix of jazz, swing, blues and classical. This is a return performance of The Boneheads- don't miss them! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

About Becoming a SCORE Volunteer

Thursday, September 21, 6:30 p.m.

SCORE provides free confidential counseling to help grow new and emerging small businesses and we need YOUR skills! Learn how you can help stimulate the creation and growth of small business in our community while working with a great group of people. Says a SCORE volunteer "SCORE gives me a unique and exciting opportunity to give something back to the community in a way that captures my unique business experience."

"My volunteer work at SCORE challenges me and keeps my mind active".

Everyone has different skills to contribute. Join us in the Main Library Reading Room to learn more about SCORE and meet local volunteers. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Robin Shuba
Maggie Day's 1950 Sunshine Radio Broadcast

Thursday, October 12, 6:30 p.m.

Robin Shuba is a story teller and character actor who appeared before us last spring as Molly Brown of Titanic fame. It was a fascinating reenactment. Now she returns in a lighter vein as Margaret Day, a fictitious radio announcer of the 1950's era. Maggie Day reports daily from her 'extra bedroom/den' located in Paducah, KY. Maggie delivers the news with humor and homespun advice...so, y'all should just drop by! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Fiddleback
Blue Grass and More

Tuesday, October 17, 6:30 p.m.

Fiddleback is a string trio that blends jazz, bluegrass and classical influences into their original music. The release of their first self-titled album has received rave reviews. The key to their unique new sound is the diverse experiences of Fiddleback's members. Both guitarist Grant Krener and violinist Andrew Driscoll come from jazz backgrounds. Violist/violinist Victoria Brannan is a fiddle player at heart. All three have also played in groups ranging from classical orchestras to rock and roll bands. Join us for an evening of "swinging, grooving and hot fiddling!" Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Special Events at Hayner

Broadway on the Driveway
Retro Broadway-Style Variety Show
Tuesday, October 24, 6:30 p.m.

We enjoyed the performing troupe Broadway on the Driveway so much last winter, we couldn't wait to bring them back. This high energy song and dance revue takes you on a sentimental journey that reunites you with some of Broadway's greatest hits as well as those of the Andrews Sisters, Judy Garland, Fred Astaire, Doris Day, Frank Sinatra and more. The entire show is performed in full costume and features some of the best music of the 20th century. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Flu Clinic
Saturday, October 28,
11:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

The VNA of Southern Illinois will be at the Main Library to deliver flu and pneumonia vaccines. Flu shots are $30 and pneumonia shots are $40. Cash or checks are accepted. If you have Medicare Part B, there is no charge.

Bucky Halker
Ain't Gonna Be Treated This Way
Thursday, November 2, 6:30

Singer-song writer Bucky Halker has toured extensively in the U.S., Canada and Europe and is an expert on folk music and protest music in the USA and Illinois in particular. Bucky currently serves on the Board of Directors for the Woody Guthrie Foundation and Archives in New York City. He holds a PHD in American history is a published author and has recorded many musical cds. In his musical program, Ain't Gonna Be Treated this Way, Bucky performs and offers commentary on the songs of American workers from 1865 to 1950. He will devote particular attention to those songs written by Illinois workers as they struggled to create better conditions for workers in the state and found their collective voice in music. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

This program is partially supported by a Grant from the Illinos Arts Council.

Rob Ritchie
Songs far from the Road
Wednesday, November 8, 6:30 p.m.

Rob Ritchie hails from Canada and brings us a musical program based on unique observations of small town life. He sets the tone right of the bat incorporating wit, humor and insight into his musical story telling. Rob has a keen eye for detail and walks through everyday life capturing moments of beauty and reality in his songs- all woven together with his unique piano accompaniment. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Terri Ryburn-Lamonte
Marked for LIFE: My Travels on 66 in '53
Thursday, November 16, 6:30 p.m.

The year is 1953. With her parents, four brothers and two hunting dogs in a pickup, Terri Ryburn-LaMonte embarked on a cross country trip along Route 66 from Bloomington, Illinois to the coast of California. The adventures left her "marked for life." Terri recounts her youthful excursion in humorous and insightful detail. In the process of telling her story, she also recalls the importance of Route 66 in the nation's history and family vacations. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Limited Edition
Sounds of the Holidays
Sunday, December 3, 3:00 p.m.

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey Il.

This is one of our favorite events of the Holiday season. Join Musical Director Susan Parton-Stanard and the incredibly talented choral group Limited Edition for a program of beautiful Holiday sounds. This talented ensemble always receives a standing ovation and Susan has been known to throw in a surprise or two. Guaranteed to fill you with holiday cheer. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment. Photos may be taken during library programs. Your enrollment in our programs will be assumed as your consent to allow the library the right to use these photos in promotional material.

Banned Books Quiz

Each of the following works was banned either in a school, library or by a court of law. Can you match the work with the reason it was banned?

1. Leaves of Grass, Walt Whitman
2. The Canterbury Tales, Geoffrey Chaucer
3. Confessions, Jean-Jacques Rousseau
4. The Age of Reason, Thomas Paine
5. Twelfth Night, William Shakespeare
6. The Wizard of Oz, L. Frank Baum
7. Guinness Book of World Records
8. A Light in the Attic, Shel Silverstein
9. The Lorax, Dr. Seuss
10. Little Red Cap, The Brothers Grimm

Match to correct reason

a. injurious to public morality
b. sexually explicit
c. criminalizes the foresting industry
d. use of profane language
e. glorifies Satan, suicide and cannibalism
f. lewd, obscene, filthy and indecent
g. use of alcohol
h. alternative lifestyle instruction
i. argues for Deism against Christianity and Atheism
j. promotes communism

See page 8 for answers

Note: apologies to all- we had some typos in the answers to last quarters quiz "What's my Story". The correct answer to question number four (in what book do we find the characters Jake Barnes, Lady Brett Ashley, Robert Cohn, Mike Campbell and Pedro Romero?) is The Sun Also Rises. And, of course, William Golding wrote Lord of the Flies- not Lord of the Rings as identified in question 10. Most embarassing!*

Refreshments will round out the movie experience. This program is in partnership with OASIS and will take place at OASIS.

Did You Know??

An integral part of Alton's past is its industrial history. One of the major industries that helped to make Alton a growing and progressive city was the Owens-Illinois Glass Company. Owens stood in the spotlight as one of the areas largest employers, and once the largest glass manufacturing plant in the U.S. It produced many of the collectible Avon bottles, Coca-Cola and Pepsi Cola bottles, canisters, milk bottles, insulators, not to mention processing and producing many unique requests for customers.

Thanks to a generous donation from Harold Meisenheimer, we have in our Illinois Room a good amount of history about the plant as well as a record of many of the people who worked there. Come in and see if your family member is listed among the many local folks who made a good living at the Alton plant. The books are kept in our Illinois Room at the Main Library downtown.

Important Words

"We can choose to recognize libraries for the kingdoms they truly are. In each small brick, stone, or stucco outpost, we find the ultimate protector of democratic civilization. In each outwardly humble structure lies the words of kings, gods, presidents and prisoners. The dreams of children are nestled in one corner, in another the tools and realities of grown men and women wait."

– Columnist Danielle Nagelberg from "Wisdom Shortchanged" Daily Pennsylvanian, July 7, 2005.

"If you cannot read all your books, at any rate, or, as it were, fondle them – peer into them, let them fall open where they may, read from the first sentence that arrests the eye, set them back on their shelves with your hands, arrange them on your own plan so that if you do not know what is in them, you will at least know where they are. Let them be your friends; let them at any rate be your acquaintances."

– Sir Winston Churchill

"Great Stories" Grant Reaches Teens

The Hayner Public Library's Youth Division was recently awarded a mini grant through The American Library Association. The grant entitled the "Great Stories Club", is a national book club program that targets troubled teens. The grant awarded the library 3 books (3 sets of books, 10 books per set) selected by the ALA. The Hayner Youth Library teamed up with the Even Start Program through Lewis and Clark College. This program offers GED, Parenting and Job Skill classes for young adult girls. The girls read each day during their GED class. After each book the group would meet and discuss their feelings about the book. The teachers' comments after the book club were outstanding! The girls made great progress in reading and comprehension. The girls were so enthusiastic, they couldn't wait to find out what book they would be reading next! The book club was such a success that the Library and Even Start will continue the book club monthly

Patron Profile
Jim & Marcella Clasby

Jim and Marcella Clasby are a wonderful couple who are most obviously devoted to each other. Jim grew up in Wood River, and Marcella grew up in Alton. They met in high school and started dating, though they did break up at one point. Marcella's brother advised Jim that they would get along better if he didn't treat her so nicely. Fortunately, Jim did not take this advice, and this past August the Clasbys celebrated sixty-two years of marriage.

The year before Jim and Marcella were married, Jim joined the Army Air Force. He served for two and a half years during World War II as a member of the crew of a B-29 aircraft. The B-29 "Superfortress" was one of the largest aircraft to see active service during World War II. One of the most advanced bombers of its time, it featured such innovations as a central fire-control system, a pressurized cabin and remote-controlled machine gun turrets. The Enola Gay and the Bockscar that carried the atomic bombs that destroyed Hiroshima and Nagasaki were B29s. Jim served in 28 combat missions over the Japanese mainland. He remembers that after a flight crew returned from a mission, each crew member was issued a double shot of whiskey. Commonly, these men had been without sleep for 25–36 hours. Jim laughs that many of the exhausted pilots would be "laid flat" by this ritual. Jim and his crew did not drink, so they saved their rations and served them—with grapefruit juice— to visiting servicemen.

During Jim's service overseas, Marcella recalls how hard it was for both her mother and her to handle the stress and worry. Marcella had four brothers, two of whom were in the Navy and two in the Marines. She did get a phone call from Jim after a particularly "rough" mission, though he admitted that particular mission was really some well deserved R & R time for his crew in Hawaii. Shortly after VJ Day, Jim's crew flew over Tokyo Bay. There were so many battleships in the harbor that it created the illusion that you could walk across the bay crossing from ship to ship. He said it was an amazing sight, certainly one he will never forget. At that point, in lieu of bombs, the B-29 was loaded with supplies to be dropped at POW camps throughout the mainland. Jim noted that the actual aircraft he crewed was retired after the war and is now in a museum in Seattle.

At the end of his enlistment, Jim returned home, ready to settle in to a quiet life of comfortable domestic routine. Or so he thought. In 1950, Jim and Marcella had just built their house and had a son, not yet a year old. Jim was out in the yard putting in a clothesline when the mail arrived. Jim will never forget his shock upon opening a dispatch from the U.S Government and seeing the word "Greetings…." He could scarcely believe it—he had been recalled to serve in the Korean conflict! Jim just hated to leave Marcella and their little boy, but leave he did. He served as a radio operator and flew to such places as Tripoli, Saudi Arabia, Iran, and Baghdad and throughout Europe.

After a year of service, Jim finally returned home for good. He stayed in the Reserves for the next 16 years while he also went to work in the shipping department at Amoco Oil, from which he retired 38 years later.

Jim and Marcella have one son, who is currently the Superintendent of Schools in Effingham, Illinois. They also have five grandchildren ranging in age from 16–29. The oldest grandson is writing his doctoral dissertation on the Holocaust while teaching at Indiana University. The second grandson has been in Peru working as a "digger" (archaeologist) and will be attending Yale University this fall to work on his doctorate. Another grandson is a senior at Illinois University. The oldest granddaughter is married and teaches early childhood classes and the youngest granddaughter is a junior (and cheerleader) in Effingham High School.

Now retired, Jim enjoys playing golf and swims daily at Lewis and Clark Community College. Marcella used to play golf, but a shoulder injury made her give up the game. Jim and Marcella walk the mall every day and often end up their walk in the Branch Library. Marcella enjoys gardening, and they both enjoy traveling. They have visited all four Hawaiian Islands. They took a trip through New England to enjoy the beauty of the fall colors and also went on a cruise to Alaska. Jim loved the cruise, observing the Alaskan wildlife and wilderness. Marcella was a little less enthusiastic. Jim was headed up to the deck to see glaciers and asked Marcella to come up. Not being a fan of the water, Marcella told Jim, "You've seen one glacier, you've seen them all!"

Both Marcella and Jim delight in frequent visits from their five grandchildren, who all seem to converge at once. They admit that with a houseful of children and grandchildren it can be hectic at times, but they love it. Marcella says that the grandchildren will tell you that Jim is "spoiled rotten," at which they both laugh, and Jim replies, "She spoils me with her strawberry rhubarb pie!"

Jim and Marcella are a delight to visit with. They laugh and tease and clearly take much joy in each other's company. They are both extremely fond of the library staff members; and laughter from lots of gentle kidding and easy repartee between the Clasbys and staff show that the feeling is certainly mutual.

SCORE Needs You!

Are you looking for an interesting and rewarding way to add value to our community? Join SCORE as a volunteer counselor and you will accomplish both of these objectives! SCORE, "Counselors to America's Small Business" is a non profit nation wide association that offers advice, mentoring and training to new and emerging small businesses.

We all have developed different skills throughout our professional careers. Whether you have worked building a small business or have been employed by a large corporation, you have valuable skills and experiences that would support local small business growth. By becoming a SCORE Volunteer Counselor, you will work with other SCORE members to help local entrepreneurs execute successful strategies to achieve their small business dreams and goals.

The Alton/Godfrey SCORE chapter #423 is housed in Alden Hall on the Campus of Lewis and Clark Community College. There you will receive training on the counseling process and meet with other SCORE members. Counseling is provided to small business owners on a free and confidential basis as requested by the business owner. SCORE volunteers counsel in person, by email and telephone.

Whether you are retired, semi retired or a working professional, SCORE needs your skills. Find out more about SCORE and meet local SCORE members. Join us Thursday, September 21 at the Hayner Main Library, 326 Belle Street, 6:30 p.m.

Find out what other SCORE volunteers know:

- "SCORE gives me a unique and exciting opportunity to give something back to the community in a way that captures my unique business experience."
- "My volunteer work at SCORE challenges me and keeps my mind active."
- "I have an opportunity to help shape SCORE'S future and contribute to producing visible tangible results."

Learn how you can help stimulate the creation and growth of the small and emerging businesses in our community, while working with a great group of people. Register for "About Becoming a SCORE Volunteer" on September 21 – call 1-800-613-3163.

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Foster Township — Winter 2006 — Vol. XIV, No. 4

Mission.... Recognition!

In November 2006, The Hayner Public Library District rolled out a new program to recognize the youth of our Riverbend communities. As reflected in news headlines, TV, movies, popular music and literature, kids grow up in a very different world today. Violence, crime and substance abuse are rampant throughout our culture and affect all ages. The concept of carefree and innocent childhood has long been displaced by the reality of kids growing up too quickly and having to make decisions and choices based on peer and media pressures instead of a positive value system.

However, there also are a lot of great kids out there - we just don't hear about them. Everyone likes approval and recognition We all know that positive feedback is critical to reinforcing good work. Thus, The Hayner Public Library District has developed "Mission: Recognition" to applaud the contributions of the youth of our community. Each month a committee of library staff and community volunteers will evaluate nominations identifying local young persons who have acted in a praise-worthy manner. Nominations may be submitted by a relative, neighbor, teacher- anyone who observes an action that has a beneficial impact on another individual or on the community at large. The impact does not have to be extraordinary but should demonstrate an admirable, unselfish value judgment Three categories of nominations will be evaluated: individuals 0 to 6th grade, middle school age and high school age. Nomination forms are available on The Hayner Public Library District Web site (www.haynerlibrary.org) or in hard copy at all Hayner library locations. Monthly winners will be featured in our local news media, and each will receive an award certificate, a medal and a gift certificate to a local bookstore.

In early November this program was announced in a special media event to the press, educators and community leaders. Victor Pacini, a motivational and inspirational speaker and performer from Chicago, has partnered with the library on this program. To kick off the project, Victor performed at assemblies at our local public and private schools, generating excitement and enthusiasm for kids of all ages to participate in "doing the right thing."

Please join us in making the "Mission: Recognition" program a success. No deed is too small to be recognized. Let's tell the youth of our community that we value them and appreciate all their contributions to making the Riverbend a great place to live!

The "Mission: Recognition" program is funded through a private endowment to The Hayner Public Library District.

Visit the new Website!

This fall, The Hayner Public Library District launched a new website that we are very excited about. Through the website, www.haynerlibrary.org, you have access to Hayner Library's online catalog to search for and reserve library materials. You also have access to the online catalogs of public and academic libraries throughout Illinois. You have free access to many valuable databases ranging from auto repair to health issues to college prep information and more. There are links specifically for kids, teens, teachers and homeschoolers. We have included links to community organizations and schools, government sites, tax forms and key reference sites.

You can access book news and reviews, view our quarterly newsletter, and find a current schedule of programs and events. We've added photos and decreased the busy graphics. You can reserve forthcoming bestsellers, including books and DVDs that have not yet been released by the publisher. You also can ask online reference questions by clicking on Ask a Librarian. Check out the new site and let us know what you think! Comments and suggestions are always welcome.

Computer Classes

Thank you to all who participated in the survey for computer classes. Due to timing conflicts, the class schedule will be announced in the Spring 2007 newsletter (published in early March.) The first series of classes will include Computer Basics, Email Tips and Microsoft Word. These classes will be free of charge and open to Hayner library card holders.

Win a Holiday Gift Basket!

On December 20, WBGZ radio (1570 am) will draw, live on the air, the winners of holiday gift baskets displayed at each of the three Hayner Library locations. The baskets, provided by WBGZ, will contain all kinds of goodies to enjoy over the holidays and beyond. The baskets will be displayed and entry forms will be available at each library location (Main, Branch, Youth) beginning December 1. Stop by any Hayner location and enter! Winners will be announced on Wednesday, December 20 on WBGZ 1570 AM radio and will also be contacted by phone.

DON'T Miss this Exciting Musical Event

On Tuesday, March 20, 2007 at 7.00 PM, The Hayner Public Library District and the Music Department of Lewis & Clark Community College jointly present a wonderful musical event in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL. This program is free of charge but attendance registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

BACH TO THE FUTURE -- The Bach that rocks!

The time machine hatch glides smoothly open... Johann looks at the lighted display. he has landed in the early twenty-first century. "Good," he thinks. "It is the age of electronic instruments. What will my music sound like in this new Millennium?"

BACH TO THE FUTURE is an exciting classical/jazz quartet, transforming the famous classical melodies of Bach and other composers into jazz, Latin, and other contemporary rhythms. The four musicians play cutting edge instruments, including the Drumitar, the MIDI electric violin, and synthesizers. They've sold over 100,000 CDs on their own label, Time Machine Records, and have opened for David Sanborn, Peter Cincotti, the Rippingtons, Eric Marienthal, Al DiMeola, Stanley Jordan, David Benoit, Michael Franks, and the Yellowjackets.

In addition to concerts, the group performs master classes and music education clinics, and has several instructional books and CDs published by Mel Bay Publications.

Catch their new CD, "Bach to the Future," available now on Tower Records and iTunes. For more information, visit www.bachtothefuture.net. Bach to the Future -- the Bach that rocks!

Here's a funny one...

What did the hungry Dalmatian say when he had a meal?
That hits the spot!

Why don't dogs make good dancers?
Because they have two left feet!

Why do dogs run in circles?
Because it's hard to run in squares!

Ok, Ok, maybe these aren't so funny. If you are really looking for a laugh and a smile, come to the monthly Bow wow Pow wow held every second Saturday in the Hayner Youth Library at 401 State Street. Children get to read to certified therapy dogs, increasing their reading skills and have so much fun playing with these wonderful dogs. The library really IS a cool place to be! All ages are welcome. Register at 1-800-613-3163. The next sessions will be Saturday, December 9, January 13, February 10 and March 10. All sessions will run from 10:00 am to 11:00 am. See you there...and feel free to bring your cameras!

Family Game Nights

December 13
January 10
February 21
All game nights begin at 6:30 pm

One night each month in the fall, the Branch Library at Alton Square will host a family game night. We will have board games for families to play, or you may bring your own games. Have fun playing with members of your own family, or play with some other great library patrons! Program will be held at Oasis.

Let's Go to the Movies!

December 14
January 11
The movies will begin at noon and are approximately 1 hour long

We would like to invite you to join us for the viewing of two wonderful documentaries from the Hayner Library collection. "The Homes of Frank Lloyd Wright" will take viewers into the personal homes of America's foremost architect. Free from the constraints of clients, Wright designed the three featured homes to his specifications. The second film, "The Journey of Sacagawea" highlights the history and mystery surrounding one of America's most famous women. Follow scholars as they follow the adventures of Sacagawea from the accounts of historical journals and Native American oral history. Popcorn will round out the movie experience. Get your "ticket" today! Program will be held at Oasis.

Movie Potluck

February 2
February 23
All movies will begin at 10:30 and end at noon

Come "sample" the offerings of the video collections of Hayner Library and OASIS as we offer viewers a movie potluck. Will it be a historical documentary? A feature film? A travelogue? Only we know, but one thing is for sure—you will definitely be entertained! Come "sample" the offerings of the video collections of Hayner Library and OASIS as we offer viewers a movie potluck. Refreshments will round out the movie experience. This program is in partnership with OASIS and will take place at OASIS.

The Hayner Public Library District Receives Illinois Centennial Award

On October 13, 2006, The Hayner Public Library District was awarded the Illinois Centennial Award by the Illinois State Historical Society. The award was presented at the 22nd annual Centennial Awards Banquet at the Palmer House Hilton hotel in Chicago. This annual award is presented to Illinois businesses and not-for-profit corporations celebrating 100 or more years of continuous operation, in recognition of their economic and cultural contribution to the state of Illinois for more than a century. The Hayner Public Library District (originally the Jennie D. Hayner Memorial Library) was founded in 1891 and celebrates 115 years of continuous operation.

In addition to the banquet at the Palmer House, award winners received a plaque signed by Governor Rod Blagojevich and Society president Marvin W. Ehlers, use of the Centennial Awards logo on business letterhead, a year's free membership in the Society and statewide recognition.

Other award-winning organizations honored this year include The State Journal Registers (175 years), the Chicago History Museum (150 years); Illinois State University (150 years,) the Lincoln Park Zoo (138 years) and the Chicago Cubs (130 years.) Twenty-seven Illinois organizations received awards in 2006. The Hayner Public Library District Executive Director, Jeff Owen, said "We are honored to be recognized by the Illinois State Historical Society and to share this award with many very prestigious institutions. Hayner Library is proud of its 115 years of continuous operation and anticipates many years of future service to the community as the premier library district in southern Illinois."

Dan Brannan/Marion Ray
Damn Cold and Starving
Tuesday, December 12, 6:00 pm

Note: This program starts at 6:00 p.m.

Alton High School graduate, Marion Ray, will discuss his survival of a five-month encampment in Nazi Germany during World War II. During the encampment, he kept a daily diary, which still exists 60 years later. The diary is the key component of the newly published book, Damn Cold and Starving, coauthored by Marion Ray and Dan Brannan. The book also contains illustration s by the well-known national graphic designer, Erin Frew, of Alton. During his trials and tribulations, Ray lost nearly 50 pounds, was starved and frozen and almost lost one of his feet. Upon his release from the camp, Ray met General Dwight D. Eisenhower. Jack Rain, an Alton man, and some other Alton World War II prisoners are also mentioned in the book. Copies of the book will be available for purchase after the program and both authors will be available to sign your copy. Be sure to hear this remarkable story of surviving a prisoner of war camp. Register at 1-800-613-3163. Dan Brannan will also be signing copies of the book on December 23, at the branch library at Alton Square Mall from 1:00 pm until 3:00 pm.

Troy Taylor
Haunted Illinois
Tuesday, January 23, 6:00 p.m.

Note: This program starts at 6:00 p.m.

Meet Troy Taylor, president of the American Ghost Society and author of more than 40 books on ghosts and hauntings. Take a trip through our area's dark side with a collection of stories about the Lemp Mansion, Alton haunts, the St. Louis exorcism case, ghosts on the river and more! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Configurations, accompanied on piano by Theresa Crane
Dvorak Piano Quartet in E Flat Major, opus 87
Tuesday, January 30, 6:30 p.m.

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Ill.

By the time Dvorak composed his Piano Quartet in E Flat Major, he was an international celebrity, already famous for Slavonic dances. The Piano Quartet in E Flat is a work in four movements, with complicated rhythmic transformations and scoring that is original and inventive. The work features exceptionally moving string writing especially for cello in the second movement, followed by gypsy flavored themes in the third and fourth movements. Join us to hear this beautiful work performed by the extraordinary string ensemble Configurations and popular local pianist Theresa Crane. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Curtis & Loretta
Folk Music from the Heart
Tuesday, February 6, 6:30 p.m.

Award-winning husband and wife duo Curtis & Loretta delivers poignant original songs of angels and regular folks looking out for each other, along with timeless traditional pieces and fun songs of lutefisk, bugs, and more. Along with vocal harmonies, they accompany themselves on Celtic harp, mandolin, mandocello, guitars, banjo and ukulele. Cited as "best acoustic performers of the twin cities" by City Pages, they also were recognized by Dirty Linen Folk Magazine for their "extraordinary harmonies "and "acoustic virtuosity." Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Wanda Mountain Boys
Best Southern Gospel
Tuesday, February 13, 6:30 p.m.

Bud Shultz and the You Can't Beat Experience Jazz Band
Celebrate Mardi Gras
Tuesday, February 20, 6:30 p.m.

Note: This program will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Ill.

A Hayner tradition and highly anticipated yearly event, Bud and his band are back to help us kick off the festive Mardi Gras season. The band plays New Orleans–style jazz in this raucous celebratory event of fun, swing and soul. A local favorite in the St. Louis area, the band always packs the house. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Carole Shelton
Elizabeth Hobbs Keckly
Tuesday, February 27, 6:30 p.m.

Elizabeth Hobbs Keckly was a slave, seamstress and author. In her historical first-person portrayal, Carole Shelton portrays Madame Keckly, remembering her years in slavery and four unforgettable years she served in the White House as seamstress and confidante to Mary Todd Lincoln. She relives the highs and lows of her life with no bitterness except regretting not having learned to read as a child. Elizabeth Hobbs Keckly was an extraordinary woman in her day. This program serves as a wonderful tribute to her and a fitting conclusion to Black History Month. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Karen Stoeber
Wild Women of the West
Thursday, March 8, 6:30 p.m.

Women played a vital role in the shaping of the western United States, and historian Karen Stoeber explores the life and times of several well-known "Wild Women of the West," including Belle Star, Calamity Jane and Annie Oakley. Karen has samples of the types of clothing they wore and tells us what life was really like for these famed women of western lore. Join us for a fascinating evening. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Irish Xiles
Celebrate St. Patrick's Day!
Tuesday March 13, 6:30 p.m.

The ever-popular Irish Xiles return to Hayner Main Library to perform the best songs from their vast repertoire. Come and join the Duffy clan as they showcase tender ballads mixed with rousing battle songs and a jig thrown in for good measure! Full of humor and high energy, this program is not to be missed. The band is open to requests, and you can contact them in advance at dec@xiles.biz or by phone at 314-359-0590. Register for this program at 1-800-613-3163.

Bach To The Future --
The Bach that rocks!
Tuesday, March 20, 7:00 p.m.

BACH TO THE FUTURE is an exciting classical/jazz quartet, transforming the famous classical melodies of Bach and other composers into jazz, Latin, and other contemporary rhythms. The four musicians play cutting edge instruments, including the Drumitar, the MIDI electric violin, and synthesizers. They have sold over 100,000 CDs on their level and we are so excited to have them bringing a performance to our community! Stylistically similar to Manheim Steamroller, you will love this event! This program is presented jointly by The Hayner Public Library District and the Music Department of Lewis & Clark Community College and is free of charge, however registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment. Photos may be taken during library programs. Your enrollment in our programs will be assumed as your consent to allow the library the right to use these photos in promotional material.

Literacy Grant Helps Distribute Free Books To Head Start Preschoolers

Riverbend Head Start & Famiuly Service provides many vital services to our community and The Hayner Public Library District has been pleased to partner with Head Start over the years on multiple projects. The following provides you an overview of just some of the terrific programs Head Start contributes, benefiting children and families throughout the Riverbend.

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services has been granted $5,350 by Reading is Fundamental, Inc., a national program that provides free books to needy children. Founded in 1966, Reading is Fundamental (RIF) is the oldest and largest children's and family nonprofit literacy organization in the United States. RIF's highest priority is reaching underserved children from birth to age eight. Through community volunteers in every state and U.S. territory, RIF provides 4.5 million children with 16 million new, free books and literacy resources each year. RIF has put 163 million free books in the homes of children since 1966 and is ranked by Parenting magazine as one of the 15 charities, "that really help kids." www.rif.org.

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services' RIF program is into its eighth year. Last year the agency distributed 3,500 books to over 900 at-risk zero to five-year-olds it serves each year through Head Start, a comprehensive early childhood education program. Family literacy is at the heart of the program's goal to teach children and strengthen families.

The agency strongly believes that a family must value reading in order for a child to succeed in school and life The agency's Head Start program emphasizes parent involvement in their child's preschool reading education by hosting Family Reading Night which is planned by parents and staff. The planners are responsible for carrying out the Reading is Fundamental program and placing free books in the hands of Head Start children. In addition to books, the event offers families dinner and entertainment centered around reading and storytelling.
Riverbend Head Start & Family Services is a nonprofit organization that provides child development and counseling services to families in Madison County. Through its Head Start, Transitions Counseling, and Family Foundations programs the agency enables children and families to discover positive solutions to life's challenges. Created in 1965, Head Start is the most successful, longest-running, national school readiness program in the United States. It provides comprehensive education, health, nutrition, and parent involvement services to qualifying children and their families. www.riverbendfamilies.org.

Riverbend Head Start & Famuly Services must raise $1,750 to match the RIF grant. Donations can be made by calling the agency's Central Office in Alton at 463-5946 or by mailing a check to 550 Landmarks Blvd., P.O. Box 250, Alton, IL 62002.

The Library of Congress -- Year at a Glance

The Library of Congress is one of the Nation's oldest federal cultural institutions and it serves as the research arm of congress. It is also the largest library in the world with more than 130 million items.

The Library of Congress was created in 1800 to provide "such books as may be necessary for the use of Congress." Over the succeeding years, and supported largely by funds appropriated by Congress, it has grown to become the national library of the United States, serving all government branches and the public at large. Since the 1870s it has also administered the American copyright system. It publishes the National Union Catalog--a cumulative record of the books housed in 2,500 libraries in the United States and Canada--which serves as a basic bibliographic and catalog source; prints and distributes cataloging data for subscriber libraries; and has developed and popularized a numerical system of subject classification. The library's Congressional Research Service prepares reports on any topic at the request of a member of Congress.

The library's collections include over 14 million books and 36 million manuscripts, including the personal papers of most U.S. presidents up to Calvin Coolidge. It also holds maps, music, art prints, photographs, motion pictures, videotapes, newspapers, pamphlets, recordings and other materials--for a total of more than 88 million items. Because of its copyright function, it receives a copy of every book copyrighted in the United States. The American Folklife Center, administered by the library, collects and preserves American folklore; it supports research projects and presents performances and exhibitions of folk music, arts, and crafts.

The library was originally housed in the Capitol, and most of its books were destroyed when the British shelled the building during the War of 1812. The major step in rebuilding the collection was taken in 1815, when Congress purchased the 6,000-volume personal library of Thomas Jefferson. The main Library of Congress building was erected in 1897; the library also occupies the Thomas Jefferson building, formerly called the annex, and the new James Madison building.

The post of Librarian of Congress, appointed by the president with the advice and consent of the Senate, has often gone to eminent scholars and artists, as well as to professional librarians. Recent Librarians of Congress include Archibald MacLeish (1939-44), L. Quincy Mumford (1954-74), Daniel J. Boorstin (1974-87), and James H. Billington (1987- ).

In fiscal year 2005, the library welcomed more than 1.4 million visitors, provided reference services to over 667,000 individuals, registered over 530,000 claims to copyright and completed over 906,000 research assignments for Congress through the Congressional Research Service. Additionally 3.7 billion transactions were recorded on the Library's public computer systems. The library employs a permanent staff of 4,000 and operated on a total fiscal 2005 appropriation of $ 584,870,304.

If you search the internet on "Library of Congress", you will fine many web sites available pertaining to different facets of the library and its collections. Go to www.loc.gov for an overview of the library, its collections and exhibits. Also, www.americaslibrary.gov is a lot of fun. This site was design to be entertaining and fun (and educational) particularly for young people but there are great stories for people of all ages. This is a great site for families to explore together.

SCORE Contributes Small Business Reference Material

SCORE, Counselors to America's Small Businesses, is a volunteer organization of business people that provides free confidential business counseling to small business entrepreneurs. The local Alton/Godfrey chapter of SCORE serves seven counties with Alton as its center and is made up of more than 40 counselors with expertise in 55 areas of business. Over the last few years The Hayner Public Library District has enjoyed multiple opportunities to partner with SCORE on various projects. Programs held at the library have included SCORE Volunteer Recruitment Seminars, introductory seminars of SCORE services to local small business owners, job interview clinics and more. SCORE also has made generous contributions to the Hayner Public Library District to help build the small business reference collection.This fall, SCORE made a financial donation to the library that allowed us to update current critical volumes in the collection as well as to add important new titles. Those titles include: Employer's Legal Handbook, 7th ed.; Form a Partnership 7th ed.; How to Form a Nonprofit Corporation, 7th ed.; How to Run a Thriving Business; How to Write a Business Plan, 8th ed.; Legal forms for Starting & Running a Small Business, 4th ed.; Legal Guide for Starting and Running a Small Business, 4th ed.; Marketing without Advertising; Small Business Start-Up Kit; Small Time Operator, 31st ed.; Tax Savvy for Small Business, 10th ed.; Whoops! I'm in Business; Your Limited Liability Company: An Operating Manual 4th ed.

A Definition of Technology

From The Salmon of Doubt: "I've come up with a set of rules that describe our reactions to technologies:

1. Anything that is in the world when you're born is normal and ordinary and just a natural part of the way the world works.
2. Anything that's invented between when you're fifteen and thirty-five is new and exciting and revolutionary and you can probably get a career in it.
3. Anything invented after you're thirty-five is against the natural order of things."

- Douglas Adams

Novelist Douglas Adams was the creator of all the various manifestations of The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy, which started life as a BBC Radio 4 series. Since its first airing in March 1978, it has been transformed into a series of best-selling novels, a TV series, a record album, a computer game and several stage adaptations. Adam's books sold more than 15 million copies in the UK, the US and Australia and were also best sellers in German, Swedish and many other languages Adams, winner of numerous prestigious writing awards, achieved record breaking sales with his Hitchhiker's Guide books. He also achieved and has maintained a cult-like popularity among readers of all ages. Sadly, Douglas Adams passed away in 2001. He was only 49 years old. Whether you are a science fiction fan or not, Adam's books are laugh-out-loud funny and absolutely sparkle with wit. Check them out from the library and enjoy.

Importance of Punctuation

As avid readers, we all know the importance of punctuation in determining the meaning of the written word. The following is a great example:

Dear John: I want a man who knows what love is all about. You are generous, kind, thoughtful. People who are not like you admit to being useless and inferior. You have ruined me for other men. I yearn for you. I have no feelings whatsoever when we're apart. I can be forever happy—will you let me be yours?
Gloria

Dear John: I want a man who knows what love is. All about you are generous, kind, thoughtful people, who are not like you. Admit to being useless and inferior. You have ruined me. For other men, I yearn. For you, I have no feelings whatsoever. When we're apart, I can be forever happy. Will you let me be? Yours,
Gloria

Patron Profile
Tammy Galloway-Jackson

Often, I receive suggestions from library staff regarding possible candidates for the Patron Profile. One day this fall, Mary Cordes, Branch Manager at the Hayner Library Mall location, called and mentioned a woman who patronizes the library with her children on a weekly basis. "This is such a great family", Mary said "the kids are the sweetest most well behaved children you've ever met". Mary laughingly recalled one incident. The family had just arrived at the library and one of the young boys, as all boys do, excitedly started to run to use the computers. Mom just said quietly "walk" and the little boy absolutely stopped on a dime. Mary said "you could practically smell rubber burning and see smoke coming from the back of his sneakers" as the little boy replied "yes, maam".

It was a delight to meet Tammi Galloway-Jackson. She is a soft-spoken woman with a quick, warm smile. You can immediately sense Tammi's strength and positive determination particularly in matters that concern her children. She certainly needs that strength to keep up with her six children, all under the age of 12!

As an only child, Tammi grew up in Alton until, at age 15, her parents moved to California. Tammi attended Pacific Coast College and Concord College, graduating with a degree in nursing. While in college, Tammi met her husband, Noah, who originally hales from Pensacola, Florida. After completing her degree, Tammi ran her own licensed day care center during the day and she worked evenings as a private duty nurse. As Tammi and Noah's family began to grow they made two important decisions. One, Tammi was going to devote herself to raising her family as a stay at home Mom and two, they would move back to the Alton/Godfrey area. They both felt that the Midwest provided a much safer and secure environment for the children. Also, Tammi's father had moved back here, some years ago, after her mother passed away. Tammi loves the beauty of this area and certainly appreciates the much more reasonable cost of living!

Tammi's husband is a hard working over the road truck driver and is often only home one or two days a week. The children are twins Breaunna and Bryaun (age 11), Noah (age 9), Jordon (age7), Aaron (age 5) and Malachi (13 months). Tammi said since she is often the sole parent at home with six young children, she has a strict set of 7 rules for the children starting first thing in morning: Rule #1: As soon as you get up, say your prayers; Rule #2: Attend to your grooming, wash and brush your teeth; Rule #3: Make your bed and get dressed; Rule #4: Eat breakfast; Rule #5: Clean up your mess, put your dishes away and straighten the table; Rule #6: Read for thirty minutes. Tammi sets a timer to make sure each child completes their reading. During the school year, the children complete their homework as soon as they get home in the afternoon and then complete their reading requirements. There is no TV or playing until the child has read at least 30 minutes. Rule #7 : You must ask to play. The children are given the goal of getting to rule 7 every day-and only after completing rules 1-6. Tammi is proud that the children are all great readers as well as strong students. While attending West Elementary school last year, Breaunna was one of four students in the district to receive an Excellence award. This award recognizes students who excel in their grades, behavior, leadership skills and are overall high achievers. Jordan tested so well that he skipped kindergarten and first grade and instead was placed directly in second grade. Noah won The Young Author's award after he wrote his own book, titled "Me and My Dad". In fifth grade, Brian tested at the Seventh grade reading level and Aaron, the five year old is already learning to read (Tammi is teaching him at home). The first year the family moved back to Illinois, Tammi home schooled the children. They all tested extremely well after the year of home schooling but they now all attend public school. Tammi said she will allow each individual child to decide for themselves if they want to remain in public school but if they indicate a preference for home schooling, Tammi would take on that responsibility. Tammi has transferred her nursing license from California to Illinois and someday may go back to work but not until she is confident the children are all old enough not to need her 24/7.

Tammi takes all the children to their respective schools in the morning (otherwise they would have to be ready to catch the bus at 6:30 in the morning). They do ride the bus home (which can take up to an hour) so, Tammi encourages them to multitask by starting their homework while on the bus. Tammi knows they have to have a certain amount of freedom. Breaunna loves taking gymnastics at Mid–Illinois Gymnastics and Dance and studies piano and violin. Aaron is also taking piano lessons and the boys all play after school sports.

When Tammi is asked how she juggles caring for 6 young children, and all the activities of feeding, clothing, transporting and maintaining the home she laughs and admits she never seems to get enough rest. If she has a particularly trying day, Tammi turns to her faith for strength and peace. Tammi also encourages the children in building their faith and they all pray together every night. She is proud that the children have all demonstrated strong morals with faith as the center of their lives. She has taught them that if they observe something they know to be wrong that they must separate them selves from whatever the situation..

Tammi makes sure the children know how much they are loved. She makes sure she tells them "I love you" several times a day and is always ready to dole out hugs and comfort. She also encourages the children to love each other. She instills in them the importantance of family and makes sure the kids hug each other every day.

Tammi said the kids love the weekly family trips to the library – and it a treat for us to get to know this lovely family!

Some Old Expressions And Where They Come From

Libraries are all about combinations of words, aren't they? The meaning of some word combinations have very interesting origins. Here, for your education and enjoyment, are some examples.

By Tim Lambert
www.localhistories.org

I should point out that this list of old sayings gives their most likely origin. Unfortunately it is very often impossible to say for certain where an old expression comes from.

AM I MY BROTHERS KEEPER?
Like many phrases in the English language this one come from the Bible. In Genesis Cain murdered his brother Abel. God asked Cain where is your brother. Cain answered 'I don't know. Am I my brothers keeper?'.

APPLE OF MY EYE
This phrase also comes from the Bible. In Psalm 17:8 the writer asks God 'keep me as the apple of your eye'.

BAKERS DOZEN
Means thirteen. It is said to come from the days when bakers were severely punished for baking underweight loaves. Some added a loaf to a batch of a dozen to be above suspicion.

BITTER END
Anchor cable was wrapped around posts called bitts. The last piece of cable was called the bitter end. If you let out the cable to the bitter end there was nothing else you could do, you had reached the end of your resources.

BOBBIES, PEELERS
Both these nicknames for policemen come from Sir Robert Peel who founded the first modern police force in 1829.

CHOCK-A-BLOCK
When pulleys or blocks on sailing ship were pulled so tightly together that they could not be moved any closer together they were said to be chock-a-block.

COCK A HOOP
This phrase comes from a primitive tap called a spile and shive. A shive was a wooden tube at the bottom of a barrel and a spile was a wooden bung. You removed the shive to let liquid flow out and replaced it to stop the flow. The spile was sometimes called a cock. If people were extremely happy and wanted to celebrate they took out the cock and put in on the hoop on the top of the barrel to let the drink flow out freely. So it was cock a hoop. So cock a hoop came to mean ecstatic.

CODSWALLOP
In the 19th century wallop was slang for beer. A man named Codd began selling lemonade and it was called Codswallop. In time codswallop began to mean anything worthless or inferior and later anything untrue.

COLD ENOUGH TO FREEZE THE BALL OF A BRASS MONKEY
A brass monkey was a brass rack on which iron cannonballs were stacked. If it were very cold the brass rack would contract faster than the iron balls. The balls would fall off.

COPPER
The old word cop meant grab or capture so in the 19th century policemen were called coppers because they grabbed or caught criminals.

CROCODILE TEARS
Comes from the old belief that a crocodile wept if it killed and ate a man.

CUT AND RUN
In an emergency rather than haul up an anchor the sailors would cut the anchor cable then run with the wind.

DIFFERENT KETTLE OF FISH
In the past a kettle was not necessarily a device to boil water to make a cup of tea. A pot for boiling food (like fish) was also called a kettle. Unfortunately nobody really knows why we say 'a different kettle of fish.

DIRT POOR
This saying comes from Tudor times when poor people had floors made of dirt beaten hard. They were literally dirt poor.

FAST AND LOOSE
Traditionally it you wanted archers to halt and not shoot arrows you shouted 'fast!'. Archers also 'loosed' arrows. So if you played fast and loose you said one thing and did another.

FEET OF CLAY
The Old Testament prophet, Daniel, dreamed of a statue. Its head was of gold, its arms and chest of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze and its legs of iron. However its feet were a mixture of iron and clay (which weakened the statue).

FLY IN THE OINTMENT
This comes from the Bible. In Ecclesiastes 10:1 the writer says that dead flies give perfume a bad smell (in old versions of the Bible the word for perfume is translated 'ointment').

GET THE SACK
Comes from the days when workmen carried their tools in sacks. If your employer gave you the sack it was time to collect your tools and go.

GIVE SOMEBODY THE COLD SHOULDER
When an unwanted visitor came you gave them cold shoulder of mutton instead of hot meat as a hint that they were not to call again.

GO TO POT
Any farm animal that had outlived its usefulness such as a hen that no longer laid eggs would literally go to pot. It was cooked and eaten.

HUMBLE PIE
The expression to eat humble pie was once to eat umble pie. The umbles were the intestines or less appetizing parts of an animal and servants and other lower class people ate them. So if a deer was killed the rich ate venison and those of low status ate umble pie. In time it became corrupted to eat humble pie and came to mean to debase yourself or act with humility.

KICK THE BUCKET
When slaughtering a pig you tied its back legs to a wooden beam (in French buquet). As the animal died it kicked the buquet.

KNOW THE ROPES
On a sailing ship it was essential to know the ropes.

LET THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG
Is probably derived from the days when people who sold piglets in bags sometimes put a cat in the bag instead. If you let the cat out of the bag you exposed the trick.

LILY LIVERED
Means cowardly. People once believed that your passions came from you liver. If you were lily livered your liver was white (because it did not contain any blood). So you were a coward.

A LITTLE BIRD TOLD ME
This phrase comes from the Bible. In Ecclesiastes 10:20 the writer warns us not to curse the king or the rich even in private or a 'bird of the air' may report what you say'.

MAD AS A HATTER
Some people say the phrase comes from the fact that in the 18th and 19th centuries hat makers used mercury nitrate in their work. Exposure to this chemical does indeed send you mad. However according to some people the origin of this phrase is much older. Hatter is a corruption of the Saxon word 'atter', which meant adder or viper. Furthermore 'mad' originally meant poisonous. So if you were mad as an atter you were as 'poisonous' (bad tempered or aggressive) as an atter (adder). It goes to show that often it is impossible to be certain where old sayings come from.

MOOT POINT
Comes from the Saxon word moot or mote, which meant a meeting to discuss things. A moot point was one that needed to be discussed or debated.

The Hayner Public Library District

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Elsah Townships — Spring 2007 — Vol. XIII No. 1

Mission Recognition Recipients

In January, The Hayner Public Library District recognized the first three Mission Recognition achievers. Mission Recognition is the program the library system has developed to recognize the value that kids contribute to our community. The first three recognition recipients were great examples of the positive impact individuals can contribute to the welfare of others.

Kassie Herrmann, a senior at Alton High School, volunteered her time during the hectic holiday season to chair the Christmas Child program at Main Street Baptist Church. This program purchases and packages gifts for children in poor countries who are not likely to receive a gift otherwise.

Kassie ensured that enough gifts were purchased for the children and organized the packing of each box to be mailed to the collection center. Kassie's hard work brightened the day for many children she will never know and certainly rang of the spirit of unselfish giving.

Chelcie Holliday is in the sixth grade at Alton Middle School. After hearing of the tragic passing of the daughter of a local family, Chelcie was deeply touched. She had never met the girl who passed away but she knew she wanted to reach out and help the family. Completely under her own volition, Chelcie raised over $400 to help the family defray expenses. Chelcie's kindness and compassion greatly touched a family in their very dark hour.

Kaih Yocius is a second grader who is being home schooled. On Thanksgiving, he gladly joined his father going door to door throughout Alton to deliver 19 turkey dinners to those who were without during the holiday. He brought a smile to many faces, as he handed them their bag of goodies. Even at his young age, Kaih understands the real spirit of the holiday season can be found in giving to those less fortunate. During a trip to Minnesota, he met Jordon, an American Indian boy on an Ojibway Reservation. Kaih knew that Jordon's family did not have much so he wrapped numerous gifts to send Jordon to help brighten Jordon's holiday

The recipients where recognized before their family and friends, each receiving a framed recognition certificate, an engraved bookmark, a medallion and a gift card to B.Dalton's Bookstore.

Congratulations to all three recipients. We are all proud of you!

The Bob Graul Project

Many of you know the name Bob Graul. He was the staff photographer for the Alton Telegraph from 1936 the when he retured in 1978 and took literally thousands of photographs chronicling the beauty, history and events of daily life in the River. His first assignment at the newspaper was to photograph the Alton High graduating class of 1936. Robert Wadlow was a member of that class and Bob went on to take many more pictures of Wadlow and chronicling the last four years of Wadlow's life before he died in 1940. Throughout his career, Bob photographed presidents Franklin Roosevelt, John Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter. Bob took care to archive the negatives of every photo printed by The Telegraph from the 1930's though the 1970s, whether it was his shot or not. This carefully sorted collection of over 50,000 negatives have been housed and maintained as property of The Telegraph.

Then, approximately two years ago, community leaders Mary Lou and Steve Cousley met with Jim Shrader, publisher of The Telegraph. Over time, photographic negatives can deteriorate even with the most careful preservation methods. Mary Lou, Steve and Jim agreed that preserving Bob's photos electronically for public viewing would be of significant value to the community. Hayner Library, as a cultural center and keeper of local history for public access was determined as the natural repository for these electronic photos. The library couldn't agree more and was anxious to partner in the project. After procuring funding for private endowment, the library purchased a specialized scanner for reversing the negatives image to photo quality viewing as well as a computer with specialized software to build the application. These were installed in an office at The Telegraph in proximity to the archived negations. Telegraph employee, Charlotte Stetson, using her experience as a local historian and author set to work with the arduous task of sorting through hundreds of negatives. She judged the negatives based on quality, topical interest and historical importance. Charlotte scanned the photos, combining them in specific subject files, numerically indexed the photos for easy retrieval and added information identifying the subject of the photo, the date taken and the name of the photographer. After a year of this painstaking work, the system was set to go live in its first installment. On dedicated pc's at the Branch and Main Library, you can log on to this pictorial data base and explore the different categorical groupings which include: Alton City Hall; Buildings- Historic/landmark; Buildings-Miscellaneous; Lincoln-Douglas Debate; Old Homes; Piasa Bird; Streets; Streets – Buildings; Robert Wadlow; Waterways and Boats. May of these categories have several hundreds of pictures for you to view. Also, this is a ongoing project and additional pictures and new categories will be added over time. You can select photos to be printed at the Circulation desk. There is a $25 fee per photo. Since these photos are copyrighted and owned by The Telegraph, they cannot be reproduced for reproduction without the written permission of The Telegraph.

If you are curious about your family home, doing research for a book or paper, or just interested in traveling "memory lane" come to the library and view the Bob Graul Photo Archive Collection. It is a fascinating trip back in time.

Amazing Dog Facts
From www.coopsjokes.com

World's largest dog...The world's heaviest as well as longest dog ever recorded was an Old English Mastiff named Zorba. In 1989, Zorba weighed 343 lbs and was 8 feet 3 inches long from nose to tail!

World's tallest dog...The tallest dog on record was named Shamgret Danzas. He was 42 inches tall (at the shoulder!) and weighed 238 lbs.

World's smallest dog...The smallest dog in history was a tiny Yorkie from Blackburn, England. At two years of age and fully grown this little dude was an incredible 2.5 inches tall by 3.75 inches long! He weighed only 4 ounces! He was approximately the size of a matchbox.

World's oldest dog...The oldest dog that has been reliably documented was an Australian cattle-dog named Bluey. He was put to sleep at the age of 29 years and 5 months!

Bow-wow Pow-wow

If you are looking for a laugh and a smile, come to the monthly Bow wow Pow wow held every second Saturday in the Hayner Youth Library at 401 State Street. Children get to read to certified therapy dogs, increasing their reading skills and have so much fun playing with these wonderful dogs. The library really IS a cool place to be! All ages are welcome. Register at 1-800-613-3163. The next sessions will be Saturday, March 10, April 14, May 12 and June 9. All sessions will run from 10:00 am to 11:00 am. See you there…and feel free to bring your cameras!

Raven Moon
A Musical Mixed Bag

Thursday, April 19, 6:30 p.m.

Raven Moon is one of the hottest acoustic bands right now in Missouri and Illinois. Christine Peick from Columbia formed the band ten years ago. They put on an incredible high- energy live performance. The energy put forth by the soloist will have you toe tapping and jumping to your feet with excitement. Christine has a voice like shining gold, and these musicians are masters of their craft.

Raven Moon music is welcome wherever they go. Their fresh approach to the many styles of music that they perform has made them very popular around town and has given them opportunities to perform at the best venues and concert halls. Their music spectrum includes bluegrass, Irish, blues, country, rock & roll, and even jazz. They play it in a fun, upbeat style that really gets the crowd going. The music of Raven Moon has even been played on the national syndicated radio show "A Prairie Home Companion." Regster at 1-800-613-3163

Bobby Norfolk & Blake Travis
Conversations with Simple
Tuesday, May 1, 6:30 p.m.

Langston Hughes, nicknamed "The Poet Laureate of Harlem," was among the first to give voice to the African-American Experience. "Simple" is one of Hughes' finest literary creations. From the 1940s to the 1960s, Hughes wrote of Jesse B. Simple roaming the streets and clubs of Harlem. This "Everyman" or street philosopher gave advice and opinions on nearly everything, including politics, race, economics, and matters of the heart. Humorous and often outrageous, these tales established Simple's place as one of literature's great treasures. Emmy Award-winning story performer Bobby Norfolk brings the uproariously funny Jesse B. Simple to life in this theatrical production through a series of dialogues with Langston Hughes, as portrayed by master storyteller and musician Blake Travis. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Chris Vallillo
Abraham Lincoln in Song
Tuesday May 8, 6:30 p.m.

One of Illinois' preeminent prairie poet-singer-songwriters, Chris Vallillo, has developed a unique program under the auspices of the Illinois Humanities Council. With Abraham Lincoln in Song, Vallillo weaves historic narratives with period music and contemporary folk songs in a celebration of the life and times of one of our nation's favorite sons! The life of Abraham Lincoln spanned a period of great change and growth in Illinois. From his days as a flat boater, through his time at New Salem, his years as a circuit lawyer and on through his presidency, Lincoln's life is a microcosm of the development of Illinois during that period. Come hear award-winning folksinger Chris Vallillo bring these years to life. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Dennis Stroughmatt and L'Esprit Creole
French Creole Musical Tour
Tuesday, May 15, 6:30 p.m.

While many people know of the French-speaking Cajun and Creole culture that thrives yet today in the state of Louisiana, few know the story of the French Creoles of "Upper" Louisiana, and the remnants of still-thriving French culture in towns like Sainte Genevieve, Missouri, and Vincennes, Indiana. Dennis Stroughmatt has gained wide acclaim for his work in bringing their songs and stories, and the charming Upper Louisiana Creole dialect, to the attention of the world once again.

Let Dennis Stroughmatt and his band, L'Esprit Creole, take you on a musical tour of French settlements in North America. Emphasis is on the French Creole settlers' music, language and history from Illinois, Missouri and Indiana. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

RhythmAires
Swing Music
Tuesday, May 22, 6:30 p.m.

For nearly 60 years, the RhythmAires have performed and entertained throughout the metropolitan St. Louis area. The original trio of musicians began the group after returning from World War II. Today, the quintet of musicians continues the tradition of great swing music for listening and dancing. Join us for a great evening of musical memories. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Misty Ridge
America's Music
Tuesday, June 5, 6:30 p.m.

Misty Ridge is an acoustic group playing a variety of country, bluegrass and American folk music. Utilizing a variety of instrumentation and harmonies, the trio, made up of family members, entertains with a blend of music and storytelling related to the selections being performed. Although having its origins in bluegrass, Misty Ridge has expanded its repertoire to include both contemporary and classic country selections set in the ambience of an acoustic genre. Brothers Carl and Jim cover instrumentation that includes guitar, banjo, mandolin, and dobro, while Jim's son, Jeremiah, drives the beat on both the upright and the acoustic bass. The tightness of the three-part harmonies from this family group is remarkable. Come join Misty Ridge for an evening of song and stories commemorating the tradition of America's music. Call 1-800-613-3163.

The Mavenettes
A Musical Comedy
Tuesday, June 12, 6:30 p.m.

The Mavenettes, a musical comedy group, are energizing, laugh out loud funny and refreshingly different. The Mavenettes entertain audiences with a variety of humorous songs and parodies, as well as funny stories, all based on their belief that laughter is great therapy. They tackle such topics as jobs, men, stress, household chores exercise and more. The group's original lyrics are set to many familiar tunes and a few originals musical compositions. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Jim Two Crows Wallen
Two Crows Fur Company
Tuesday, June 19, 6:30 p.m.

"I'm half horse, half alligator and a little touch of the snappin' turtle." Are you tough enough to survive the perils of the Rocky Mountain Fur Trapper of the early 1800s? Jim Two Crows will take you on a death defying trip from St. Louis to deep in the heart of the Rockies. The captivating history of the extraordinary mountain men Jim Bridger, Hugh Glass and others will be discovered through Two Crows' spellbinding stories. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Riverbend Head Start- Vital To Our Community

Family literacy is at the heart of Head Start's goal to teach children and strengthen families so they can better succeed in life.

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services is a non-profit organization that provides child development and counseling services to families in Madison County. Through its Head Start, Transitions Counseling, and Family Foundations programs the agency enables children and families to discover positive solutions to life's challenges. www.riverbendfamilies.org. Head Start also facilitates a national school readiness program for low-income families. In Madison County, six Head Start centers provide early childhood education and comprehensive health and social services to nearly 1,000 children under five and their families. The Hayner Public Library District is proud to partner with Head Start in it's service to our community.

John Dunphy, award winning Haiku poet, author and proprietor of the Second Reading Bookshop shared this interesting anecdote with us:

The Fall 2006 issue of the Authors Guild Bulletin noted that the average vocabulary today is about 2,000 words. Most authors, however, have a vocabulary of about 7,500 words.

Now wrap your minds around this.
In Shakespeare's time, the average vocabulary was under 500 words...but the Bard used a vocabulary of more than 20,000 words.

Was Shakespeare writing for the audience of his day?

Get Your Teenager Reading

Looking for ideas to interest you teen in reading? There is a wonderful new resource for you available through Hayner Library titled 500 Great Books for Teens by Anita Silvey. Anita Silvey is one of the nation's leading authorities on books for young people. She has interviewed teenage readers all over the country and immersed herself in young adult books, with an emphasis on books published in the last five years. The result is an invaluable and very readable guide for parents, teachers, librarians, booksellers, reading groups and of course teens themselves. The book is divided into twenty-one sections, including adventure, and survival, politics and social history, horror, romance, war and conflict, fantasy, plays, graphic novels, poetry, memoirs and spirituality. Every section offers up classics but the majority of titles are new. CHECK OUT CALL NUMBER.

Pat and Bill Kessler Will Receive Accolades

Circle of Care award will be presented May 31, 2007

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services will present Pat and Bill Kessler with its Circle of Care award at a ceremony on May 31, 2007. Annually, Riverbend Head Start & Family Services bestows its Circle of Care award on an individual or couple who exemplify the spirit of caring through their profession, volunteerism and philanthropy.

This year, the agency will honor the Kesslers at its 14th annual Circle of Care event at The Commons at Lewis & Clark Community College. Highlighted will be the positive impact the couple has had on the community through their family, faith and work.

Pat Kessler, "an extraordinarily loving gift from God," according to her husband, is a woman of remarkable spirit. A devoted wife and mother of eight, Pat gave her husband unwavering support for his career at Saint Anthony's Health Center and shares his aspirations. Her generous love gave each of her children confidence, a love for learning and strong character.

Bill Kessler retired as president and CEO of Saint Anthony's in July 2006 after 35 years of exceptional service. His impact on the health of the community, both physically and economically speaking, is profound. In a note to Kessler, RHSFS president Chuck Parr said, "Nurturing the community through attention to housing and community development needs in addition to healthcare needs required remarkable vision and leadership. Presenting you with the Circle of Care award, which recognizes contributions like yours, would be a privilege."

Kessler is studying to become a permanent deacon in the Church, a position that did not exist in the Springfield Roman Catholic Diocese until 2002.

"As a family we want to make the River Bend better than what we inherited from those who went before us," said Bill Kessler. Since the Kesslers consider their work to far from finished, the event will look ahead at their goals for the community in addition to a look back at their accomplishments.

For an invitation or more information about the event, call 463-5946.

Staff Picks—What We're Reading

The Sea Captain's Wife
by Martha Elizabeth Hodes Nonfiction
The author presents Civil War era historical events retrieved from over 500 family letters. After growing up in New Hampshire, Eunice Richardson works in the local textile mill and later follows her husband to the Deep South prior to the Civil War. She suffers homesickness and separation from her family after the war prohibits travel. Her family is torn apart when its members take sides between the North and the South. After being widowed, she moves back home where she resorts to becoming a washerwoman and servant. The story becomes fascinating after she meets Smiley Connolly, a wealthy black sea captain from Grand Cayman Island. After they get married and move to his home (the local people see it as a mansion), she is estranged from family and friends, but finally finds happiness for herself as a wife and mother.—Sharon S.

An Incomplete Education: 3684 Things You Should Have Learned But Probably Didn't by Judy Jones and William Wilson Nonfiction
You'll find everything you forgot from school – as well as plenty you never even learned- in this all-purpose reference book, an instant classic when it first appeared in 1987. This updated (2006) version takes a whirlwind tour through 12 different disciplines, from American studies to philosophy to world history. Think of it as finishing school for your brain. It's guaranteed to provide you a lifetime's worth of cocktail conversation.—Bernie D.

Birds in Fall by Brad Kessler. Fiction
Off the coast of Nova Scotia, a plane plunges into the ocean, and from around the world the victims' family members gather at an inn on Trachis Island in hopes of finding their loved ones. The beautiful landscape of the remote, windy island evokes isolation from the world; a place to grieve and to hope. It is where subtle changes in the disparate group of lives begin to take place under the gentle care of the innkeeper who offers the families comfort and nourishment. This is a story that stays with the reader long after the final word.--Jean S.

Try by Lily Burana
When Daryl Heatherly heads to Wyoming country to help sell her family's property, she's leaving all civilization and going back to the mountains and sky. In Denver, Daryl is a promising artist who paints Western scenes and landscapes; at her family homestead in Red Hill, she lives them. She has a chance meeting with J. W. Jarrett, a rodeo champion, but Daryl doesn't want all the dust and drama that dating a cowboy implies. J.W., however, isn't going to give up easily in this rodeo. This is an insightful and fast-paced look into the world of rodeo cowboys and the women who love them.—Michele K.

Hornswoggled: An Alafair Tucker Mystery
by Donis Casey. Fiction
Alafair Tucker is back. Oklahoma in the early 20th century is the place. Daughter Alice has her heart set on widower Walter Kelley, but Alafair doesn't trust him. It doesn't help that his wife was found dead eight months earlier. With the victim apparently sending her olfactory clues and no lack of suspects, Alafair searches for the culprit to protect one of her many children. The entire family is a joy to get to know—all dozen of them.—Jan H.

Water for Elephants by Sara Gruen. Fiction
The arrival of a circus next to the nursing home where he lives leads nonagenarian Jacob Jankowski to reminisce about his years as a veterinarian for the Benzini Brothers Most Spectacular Show on Earth, a traveling circus he joined during the Great Depression. Jacob's story is a love story full of circus lore, unique and compelling characters, and true events. Don't let the title fool you—this is becoming a book club favorite.—Katie S.

Patron Profile – Cynthia Williams

Cynthia Williams was born in Springfield, Mo., and went to eight different schools in eight years. After she met her husband, Ronald, in college they settled down in the St. Louis area. Ronald was a structural engineer who worked on the design of the Lewis Bridge, which spans the Missouri River between St. Louis County and St. Charles County, Missouri.

Ron and Cynthia had two children, a boy, Brice, and a girl, Becky. Cynthia stayed home to raise the children but also finished needlepoint at the Sign of the Arrow, a philanthropic retail needlepoint and gift shop founded by the St. Louis Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity. Cynthia was always interested in handwork, learning how to knit and crochet as a girl, but in 1980 she was introduced to a craft for which she truly had a calling. She met a woman at a shop, Yarns Unlimited. This woman was selling fleece that she had spun and invited Cynthia to a spinning demonstration.

Cynthia was hooked (no pun intended). She took to spinning her own yarns immediately and soon found herself progressing to weaving. Today she has eight spinning wheels in her house and three looms (60 inches wide). Cynthia became so involved with her craft, she went back to Illinois State College in Bloomington – Normal, completing a Bachelor of Science degree in Studio Art.

In 1999, Cynthia's husband passed away. At the time they were living in Garland, Texas. Since her best friend lived in Alton and her children were both living in St. Louis, she decided to move back to Alton. The first thing she did, with her friend's help, was find a house to buy, and the immediate second activity was to find out the location of the library. Cynthia says, "I have to have a library by me— I can't live without the library." She frequently uses Hayner's interlibrary loan services to obtain patterns for her weaving projects and to study other forms of the craft. Recently, she was reading an academic work on how the sciences of physics and mathematical theory can be translated into creating new weaving patterns.

Cynthia has a computer hooked up to one of her looms that controls the shaft of the loom, creating patterns and texture. Historically, looms made use of punch cards which were borrowed by mathematicians to code programs for the first computers. The technology has now come full circle with computers now running looms.

Cynthia also makes bobbin lace, a delicate lace that uses wound spools of thread (the bobbins) to weave together the shapes in the lace. Many styles of lace were made in the heyday of lace making (approximately 1500–1700) before machine-made lace became available. The advent of machine-made lace at first pushed lace makers into more complicated designs (ones the machine couldn't handle) and then eventually pushed them out of business almost entirely. Cynthia showed me a sample of lace she had made, and the fragile beauty of it was amazing. She said it takes about an hour to create a one-inch square of lace.

Cynthia also showed me samples of Shibori and Kumihimo that she made. Shibori is a Japanese method of dying cloth with a pattern created by binding, stitching, folding or twisting the cloth. This technique dates from the 8th century. Today, you would recognize it as tie-dye.

Kumihimo is a form of Japanese braiding originally used to secure Samurai armor. Today these braids are used to secure the obi, or sash, worn over a kimono.

I was most amazed by the collection of Temari balls that Cynthia had made.Temari balls are a folk art form that originated in China and were introduced to Japan five or six hundred years ago. The balls were originally made by mothers and grandmothers for children to play with. Historically, they were constructed from the remnants of old kimonos. Pieces of silk fabric would be wadded up to form a ball, then the wad wrapped with strips of fabric. The silk threads would have been removed and saved and used to first wind around the ball, then to stitch the ball firmly together. As time moved on, traditional Temari balls became an art, with the functional stitching more and more decorative and detailed, until the balls displayed very intricate embroidery. Temari balls became an art and craft of the Japanese upper class and aristocracy, and noble women competed in creating more and more beautiful and intricate objects. They now represent a highly valued and cherished gift symbolizing deep friendship and loyalty. The brilliant color and threads used also are symbolic of wishing the recipient a brilliant (happy) life.

Traditionally, becoming a craftsman in Japan was a tedious process. To become a Temari artist in Japan today requires specific training, and one must be tested on one's skills and technique before being acknowledged as a crafter of Temari. Today, these balls are used for many artistic display purposes, ranging from Christmas tree ornaments to jewelry, and make wonderful gifts. The delicacy and kaleidoscopic beauty of the Temari balls that Cynthia creates are incredible, showing amazing artistry.

Cynthia sometimes sells her work at the annual meeting of the St. Louis Weavers Guild, as well as at the Jacoby Art Center in Alton. Often, though, she just gives completed projects to friends and family. She calls spinning and weaving her therapy and does it every day.

Cynthia has taught bobbin lace classes in Edwardsville but would like to teach more in Alton. She would teach out of her home, with students using her own looms. If you are interested in taking classes from Cynthia, contact a library staff member; they will take your information and pass it along to her.

Piasa Bird Author to visit Hayner Branch and Hayner Youth Library

Hey kids, have you ever wanted to learn about the Legend of the Piasa Bird? If so, join us for a fun afternoon as local author Phyllis Bechtold reads her book "Seymour Bluffs and the Legend of the Piasa Bird". After the book reading, we will have a fun "eagles and Piasa Bird" themed craft. You can also get your picture taken with Seymour, Phyllis' 5 foot tall eagle mascot. Ms. Bechtold will also have copies of her book available for sale and will also hold a book signing. We hope to see you there!

Schedules: Hayner Branch Library,
Saturday April 7, 1:00 p.m.
Hayner Youth Library,
Thursday, April 12, 4:00 p.m.

Holiday Generosity

Thank you for another generous year collecting items for the Alton Crisis Food Center. During the month of December, we waived current fines on Hayner materials in return for non perishable food products. This year we collected over 1000 items to benefit area families. Thank you for your generosity and support.

Food For Fido

April is Prevention of Animal Cruelty Month and in commemoration of this, all three locations of The Hayner Library District will collect pet food and supplies that will be given to the Alton Area 5 A's Animal Shelter. This no-kill shelter is completely dependent on donations and is run by a dedicated staff who work tirelessly to provide care for an overwhelming number of unwanted animals. From April 1 through April 30, if you have an overdue item, you can pay your fine with an item of pet food. This amnesty applies to Hayner material only. Library materials must be returned with the donation and at least one donation for each fine.

Please remember that 5 A's also has a thrift shop at 632 Wood River Ave., Wood River, Il. It is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 am – 3:00 pm. They have a large collection of used books (hardcover for $1.00, paperback $.25-$.50), puzzles, clothes, collectibles, household goods, furniture, toys and seasonal items. Donations are accepted and pick up is available for large items. To arrange pick up, call the shelter at 462-3721. For questions regarding the shop, call 254-0635.

Please help our friends at the 5 A's – they work so hard to care for the sadly constant stream of unwanted, neglected or abused animals brought to the shelter. Remember, the new shelter is now open at 4530 North Alby Street. Stop by and visit this wonderful new facility, perhaps find a new BFF (Best Friend Forever) and, of course, volunteers are ALWAYS welcome.

Mission Recognition is an initiative sponsored by The Hayner Public Library District to reinforce positive behavior of the young people of our community. The program recognizes kids up to 18 years of age for acts of good value judgment, a high standard of character and positive community impact. Kids can be nominated by anyone (family and non-family) and will be recognized on a monthly basis. Nomination forms are available online at www.haynerlibrary.org or in hard copy at any library location.

The February recipients are Kyle Plummer, Travis Kopsie and Curtis Stillwell.

Kyle Plummer, a seventh grader in Alton Middle School, lives in Godfrey, Illinois. Kyle studies Tae Kwon Do in Alton and during class one day he found a wallet with over $200 in the men's bathroom. Rather than keep the money, Kyle turned the wallet into his Tae Kwon Do instructor. A comment from the nomination form identified that "[Kyle} showed leadership and set an example to the other kids about doing what is right."

Travis Kopsie is a tenth grader in Marquette High School. Travis was in the Hayner Youth library when he found an expensive ipod left behind by a previous patron. Travis did not keep the lost item but turned it in to the library's Lost and Found. Travis' nominator noted that he showed "honesty and integrity by choosing the right thing" in the face of temptation. On an added note, several days later, Travis inquired at the library whether anyone had claimed the lost ipod. He was told that no one had claimed it and, if it was still unclaimed in two weeks, he could have it. Travis said he would pass it on to a needy neighbor who didn't receive gifts at Christmas.

Curtis Stillwell is in the eleventh grade at Alton High School. Curtis has a mentally and physically challenged sister who is 15 years old. Curtis is an essential part of Sara's care. He always forgoes his own interests and activities to care for his sister He babysits for her often during which he feeds her, helps her dress and entertains her. He takes care of her through her seizures and never complains about his responsibilities. He has missed out on events and opportunities that most kids enjoy at his age, in order to care for his sister. Curtis is considered a "blessing to his family"

The March recipients are Drew Schwartz, Steve Burdick, Blake Forgy, Jordan Broyles, Damuelle Womack and Koran Mason-El.

Drew Schwartz is in 12th grade at Marquette High School. He works with a class of 17 Head Start preschoolers who adore him. He reads stories to them and a calls them all by their names. Drew boosts all the children's self esteem and energy for the rest of the week in the 30 minutes he spends in their class. For example, when he read books about playing baseball he dressed like a baseball player and brought his own bat and ball to play with the kids. Drew always goes beyond what he is asked to do. The Head Start students and staff always look forward to Drew's visits

Steven Burdick and Blake Forgy are both in 5th grade at East Middle School. During a DARE dance on February 16th Steven and Blake found some money in the restroom that they turned into DARE officer Doug Schaefer. This display of honesty and trustworthiness was immediately recognized by Officer Schaefer who attended the Mission Recognition presentation for the boys.

Jordan Broyles attends Alton Middle School and is in the 7th grade. While leaving Alton Middle School Campus with friends Jordan found a cell phone lying on the ground. He stopped and made a comment that someone had lost their phone. As he was reaching down to pick it up, one of the kids with him said "why don't they just stomp on it." Jordan quickly picked up the phone and said "no, how you would like it if someone did that to your phone!" Jordan took the phone and found the owner. Jordan did not give in to peer pressure and showed great strength of character by his actions.

Damielle Womack and Koran Mason-El are both 4 years old, attending the Step by Step Learning Center. This winter, Preschool Director, Kristal Null, was walking through the Pre-K room towards the office when Damuelle Womack stopped her to let her know that Damielle's friend, Jada, had her hair stuck in the loft and could not move. Null and Damielle ran to the loft to find Jada being comforted by Koran Mason-El. Koran told Jada "it's ok, Ms. Krystal is coming." Koran was also trying to comfort Jada by giving Jada Koran's own baby doll. Null untangled Jada's hair and the child was fine. Danuelle and Koran saw a friend in need of help and took control. Both these young girls demonstartaed compassion and kindness.

The April recipient is Madison Bohn of Alton, IL. Madison is in first grade at West Elementary School in Alton. She has grown her hair all her life and decided to cut it so she could donate the hair to Locks of Love. Locks of Love provides human hair wigs to kids who have gone through chemotherapy and lost their hair. Madison's 15 inch braid will likely help two children who have lost their hair. Madison lost her grandfather to cancer which inspired her charitable action. Says Madison "I will continue to help people the rest of my life." Madison's mother, Bethany Bohn, said "we give a lot to the cancer society and I am glad she is giving back at such a young age". The Mission Recognition Committee was excited to acknowledge Madison's charitable and caring contribution to those children stricken with this devastating disease.

The May Mission Recognition recipients were Gralan Alexander, Andrew and Julia Campbell, Bradley Everage and Tommy Sykes.

Gralan Alexander is in the 5th grade in East Elementary School. On his way to school one morning in April, Gralan noticed a suspicious container tucked under some bushes. As soon as he got to school, Gralan reported to the principal what appeared to be a rusty suitcase hidden by the bushes outside the school. The local authorities were notified and discovered the case to be empty and harmless. Thanks to Garlan's astute awareness and conscientious action, he identified a potentially dangerous situation. Had it been a real emergency, Garlan protected hundreds of children and adults.

Andrew Campbell is a 4th grader in West Elementary school and his sister, Julia, is in second grade, also at West. The children had just arrived home from school when they discovered their grandfather was choking on some medication he had taken. Using his grandfather's emergency phone, Andrew reported the emergency, giving their name and address then went outside the house to flag the ambulance. Julia stayed with her grandfather trying to calm him and as soon as the paramedics arrived, Julia rushed them to her grandfather's aid. Fortunately, their grandfather was fine and the paramedics told the grandfather and the children's parents how well the children had handled the emergency and that they should be very proud of Andrew and Julia's quick thinking and responsible actions.

Tommy Lee Sykes is a second grader in North Elementary School and one who cares very much about his fellow students. This spring, a book fair was held at Tommy's school and Tommy asked his teacher if he could attend the fair and he also requested permission to take another student with him to the fair. The teacher asked the other student if he had any money for the fair and Tommy spoke up. "I have some change and I am going to buy him something because he (the other boy) was crying yesterday because he didn't have any money." Obviously generous and compassionate, Tommy demonstrated a very caring attitude to his fellow student when he recognized that the other little boy needed a friend.

Bradley Everage is a senior in Alton High School. One evening this spring, Bradley stopped at the MacDonald's on Broadway. Suddenly, a man armed with a knife approached a server at the counter, demanding "give me your money." Bradley said "I didn't think of anything except getting the knife out of his hand and helping my friends". He instinctively took a swing at the man and knocked him down. The robber fell to the floor and dropped the knife which Bradley immediately kicked out of the way. Bradley turned the man on his stomach, put the man's hands behind his back and with another customer, kept the man pinned until the police arrived. The man was subsequently arrested and charged with armed robbery. Without a thought for his own safety, Bradley heroically eliminated the danger to the MacDonald's employees and manager. Bradley says his immediate response to thwart the robber came from his upbringing, "my parents (Ronald and Wendy Jones) taught me to do what is right." Alton Police Chief Chris Sullivan says "what he did was an extraordinary, decent act of citizenship. He showed an extraordinary amount of quick thinking"

Following college, Bradley is planning a career in law enforcement.

Another New Service - Coming Soon!

The Hayner Public Library District will be offering a new service we think you will be excited about. All three Hayner locations will be installing Disc Cleaning machines at their respective circulation desks. Studies have shown that the functional life of CD's and DVD's made available for public use averages only about 10 plays. Replacement of media and consequent catalogue handling costs makes a significant impact on the library's non print material budget. The Disc Cleaning machine removes scratches and extends the life of the various media. Once the equipment is installed in the libraries (early summer) we will be evaluating how to make this service available to patrons at a nominal fee to repair your own discs. Watch for more information!

A Great Sorrow for the Library and the Community

On February 24, 2007, June Walker passed away to the great sadness of many. June ran Walker's Wee Glen Training facility in Godfrey, offering classes ranging from puppy socialization to agility training. June was also an evaluator for Therapy Dog International and trained and certified dogs through this organization. June established the therapy dog group Touched by a Canine, in memory of her husband, Chuck Walker, who preceded her in death in 2002. June described Chuck as her constant companion, and all who knew them observed their devotion to each other.

Touched by a Canine is a local group of therapy dog handlers whose dogs have been certified by June. Both as a group and individually, the handlers and their dogs voluntarily visit nursing homes, hospitals, schools and the library, bringing out smiles, laughter and well- being wherever they go. They also participate in such activities as local parades and Dog Olympics. Touched by a Canine today is composed of twenty handlers from all walks of life, closely bonded by their love of animals and their devotion to June.

June was an integral partner with The Hayner Public Library District in establishing the library's youth reading program, Bow wow Pow wow. Bow wow Pow wow's inception began after an article appeared in the magazine Public Libraries (volume 41). The article detailed the success of one library in particular, the Salt Lake City Public Library, which had developed a program for young children to read to therapy dogs. The program resulted in a dramatic improvement in children's reading skills as well as a strengthening of their self confidence. Interested in starting a similar program, Hayner

Library began searching for a therapy dog group to participate. Serendipitously, two days into the search, The Telegraph ran a feature describing June's development of the Touched by a Canine group. Inspired and excited, Hayner staff contacted June and a meeting ensued. With June's support and participation, Bow wow Pow wow was created.

Since 2003, on the second Saturday of every month, June and the dog handlers have come to the Hayner Youth Library at 10:00 am. Kids of all ages and all reading skills are invited to join us and read to the dogs. What occurs is an hour of fun, excitement, laughs, reading and wagging tails. The kids learn to love reading, love the library and love and respect these wonderful animals. Parents, grandparents and neighbors come because it is so much fun to observe the children interacting with the dogs. Cameras are always welcome. At times, there have been up to 30 children and over fifteen dogs. June never missed a Saturday and coordinated all the activities with the attending Touched by Canine members.

June would bring her Great Dane, the gentle giant Blue Bayou, and/or her wire haired Dachshund, Oliver. Kids gravitated to Blue, leaning against him like a warm furry pillow as they read contentedly. It was so obvious the connection June had with her animals and all the animals she certified as therapy dogs. June's gentle soul and loving heart were reflected in the dogs' adoring eyes and attentive respect. The members of Touched by a Canine are committed to working to continue the Bow wow Pow wow program at The Hayner Public Library every second Saturday of the month; but it will take a long time, if ever, to adjust to the loss of June's leadership and, even more importantly, her friendship and kindness.

Should you care to make a contribution in recognition of June, her work and her many gifts to the community, memorials are being accepted. Contact Bernadette for more information at 462-0677. Any funds will go to support the continuation of Touched by a Canine. Should you want to contact Touched by a Canine to set up a visit to your organization, call Patrick Murphy at 462-9511.

Board of Trustee 2007 Elections

This April, elections were held to seat three out of the seven positions on The Hayner Public Library District Board of Trustees.

Elected to the board for the first time was Mary Lou DeGrand Watson. Dan St Peters, who served a partial term in 2006/2007 was elected to a six year term. Also re-elected to a six year term was Rick Lauschke.

Mary Lou is an Alton native and the mother of four children. She works at Lewis and Clark Community College as an Internet Course Technician and Adjunct Education Instructor. Mary Lou is the daughter of the late Nancy DeGrand. Nancy served as the Chief Financial Officer for the library from 1974-1996 and was a member of the Board of Trustees from 1997 to 2006. Mary Lou notes she is very excited continuing her mother's tradition of service to the library district. Dan is also an Alton native. He works at St. Peters Hardware and Rental Center and has four children.

Additional board members include Susan Huber, Kevin Chapel, Sue Fitzgerald and Kevin Botterbush.

Saturday, September 8
10:00–11:00 a.m.

Join us for a Bow-wow Pow-wow. Certified therapy dogs will be in the Youth Library for your child to read stories to. It's a great way to increase your child's reading skills, and absolute fun for everyone. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Jim Two Crows Wallen
Two Crows Fur Company

Tuesday, June 19, 6:30 p.m.

"I'm half horse, half alligator and a little touch of the snappin' turtle."

Are you tough enough to survive the perils facing the Rocky Mountain Fur Trapper of the early 1800s? Jim Two Crows will take you on a death-defying trip from St. Louis to deep in the heart of the Rockies. The captivating history of the extraordinary mountain men Jim Bridger, Hugh Glass and others will be discovered through Two Crows' spellbinding stories. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Mark Dvorak

Old Songs and New People

Tuesday, July 10, 6:30 p.m.

Folk singer Mark Dvorak presents an intergenerational program of American folk songs—many recognizable, some new. Mark uses humor and anecdotes to familiarize the audience with his music. Mark is an instructor at the famed Chicago Old Town School of Music and has released multiple award-winning CDs. The Chicago Tribune has identified Mark as "a commanding vocalist and masterful banjo player." Mark also has been distinguished as "one of today's most important folk artists." We are so excited about Mark's return to Hayner. Don't miss this opportunity to enjoy an evening of music, humor and fun. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Sandi Sylver

More Stories and Songs of Life, Love and Laughter

Tuesday, July 17, 6:30 p.m.

Sandi Sylver, storyteller-ventriloquist-songstress (from the Chicago area), will perform with her all-new adult show, "More Stories and Songs of Life, Love and Laughter." Sandi last visited us two years ago, to a standing-room-only audience who appreciated a performance that was warm, creative, fun and inspiring. This time around, Sandi is bringing her newest puppet-family member, "Shari Cary," a teenager from "LongGyland, like, in New Yawk, like, ya'know, whatevah"! Of course, the rest of "the Girls," "Toodles" and "Mrs. Adelia Rose Honeycutt, of the Atlanta, Georgia, Honeycutts," will be along for the ride. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Randy Erwin

Cowboy Music, Folklore and History

Tuesday, July 24, 6:30 p.m.

Award-winning performer and yodeler Randy Erwin has been described by the Los Angeles Times as "one of the most versatile, far-ranging voices this side of Bobby McFerrin." He has performed at Carnegie Hall, London's Queen Elizabeth Hall, The Library of Congress, and all over the U.S., Canada and Great Britain. He has four critically acclaimed CDs and provided the yodeling score for the Walt Disney animated film "Home on the Range." Randy also discusses the origins of cowboy culture: how they lived, worked and spun tall tales. He may even do some rope tricks! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Special Events at Hayner

Forest Bevineau
The Singing Sheriff

Thursday, August 9, 6:30 p.m.

Well known Deputy Forest Bevineau (a.k.a The Singing Sheriff) has a huge following throughout the area. His incomparable singing voice and incredible repertoire of all types of music has brought him fans of all ages. Also a king of karaoke (he has won first prize on three different cruise vacations), his performances are often a mix of musical styles and can run the gamut from gospel to country western, popular to R & B and more. He says sometimes he just looks at the audience to decide what to sing. He loves to have the audience sing along. Join us for what promises to be a great evening of song and surprises. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Wanda Mountain Boys

Best Southern Gospel

Tuesday, August 14, 6:30 p.m.

NOTE: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL

The Wanda Mountain Boys are an extremely popular local group that performs Southern Gospel music. They have traveled around the country performing to packed houses. Their musical repertoire is one of devotion and inspiration. Come hear their beautiful harmonies as they sing favorite gospel pieces. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Ron Asbeck

Guitar Ron Songs and Stories

Tuesday, August 21, 6:30 p.m.

Ron Asbeck, otherwise known as Guitar Ron, has been active in music venues since childhood. During his childhood years, Ron began his guitar studies and has loved performing in various community and university groups. Today, one of Ron's favorite pastimes is playing with the Homestead Pickers at Silver Dollar City. Ron has been a featured performer at area schools, Head Start and senior citizens programs, telling stories and singing songs concentrating on what life was like before television. Ron consistently receives great reviews because of his friendly personality, enthusiasm, sense of humor and connection with the audience. For this performance he will be joined by his granddaughter, Kirsten, who is a Suzuki-trained violinist and also an enthusiastic storyteller! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

George Portz

Friends of Bluegrass

Tuesday, September 11, 6:30 p.m.

George Portz & "The Friends of Bluegrass" are one of the most versatile performing groups in the area as they blend their fiery Bluegrass roots with some traditional Irish and Louisiana Cajun music. Their "Cajun Set" has won raves from crowds throughout the Midwest. This five-piece musical group's enthusiasm, top-notch musical ability, wit and humor are always evident during their performances. George, the group's leader and founder, has won more than 130 first-place fiddling championships, played for two presidents and performed at the Grand Ole Opry. George's "musical philosophy" is to always "leave 'em wanting more"…and they always do! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Judy Hoffman

The Legend of the Piasa Bird:
A New Look at the Old Bird

Tuesday, September 18, 6:30 p.m.

The Piasa Bird is our area's most famous antiquity. It's image has inspired poetry, legends, folklore, paintings, and a host of scholarly theories and disputes. Yet, it's an image about which we know very little. For instance, who painted the Piasa Bird? What did the original painting look like? Do we know when it was painted, where it was painted, or why it was painted? Do we know how the extraordinary feat was actually accomplished? Indeed, do we even know if it ever really existed? The mysterious case of the Piasa Bird presents us with the ultimate local history mystery. Local author Judy Hoffman will examine these questions, helping to define the history of the Piasa bird, separating fact from fiction. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment. Photos may be taken during library programs. Your enrollment in our programs will be assumed as your consent to allow the library the right to use these photos in promotional material.

Hayner Branch Library Events

Held at OASIS Alton Center

Family Game Nights

June 20, July 18, August 22
All game nights begin at 6:30 pm

One night each month in the summer, the Branch Library at Alton Square will host a family game night. We will have board games for families to play, or you may bring your own games. Have fun playing with members of your own family, or play with some other great library patrons! Program will be held at OASIS.

Let's Go to the Movies!

June 15, July 13, August 24
The movies will begin at noon and are approximately 1 to 1-1/2 hours long

We would like to invite you to join us for the viewing of three great movies from the Hayner Library movie collection. The first, After the Funeral, is a murder mystery featuring one of the world's most famous detectives, Hercule Poirot. The second movie, Under St. Louis, will take you deep down into the caverns, tunnels, basements, sewers, and underground passageways of St. Louis that most people never get to see! The third movie, Versailles: The Visit, will take you on a tour of one of the most famous palaces in the world—with access to little seen areas of the palace, garden, and park. Popcorn will round out the movie experience. Get your "ticket" today! Program will be held at OASIS.

Reading Machine Donated to Hayner Library

Earlier this spring, the library received a "The Reading Edge—A Kurzweil Reader" machine as a donation from Mr. Ray Thompson. The machine has the capability of scanning pages of print material (letters, books, magazines, etc.) and then reading the information back via an electronic voice. The Reading Edge was designed by Xerox Imaging Systems as an aid for the visually impaired. This machine will be available for use at the Branch Library. Patrons interested in using the machine should ask for assistance at the Circulation Desk.

Thank You OASIS!

The Hayner Public Library district would like to thank OASIS (Older Adult Services and Information Systems) for allowing us to use their facility inside Macy's for Branch Library programs throughout the year. Because of limited space inside the Branch Library, we would be unable to hold our monthly programs if it were not for their kindness. We would also like to thank De Harris, the Center Manager of the Alton OASIS for her kindness and flexibility when it comes to scheduling the dates and times of our programs! Thanks again to De and OASIS!

Keep the Kids Reading!

Just because school is out, doesn't mean the books have to be put away. Keep your kids reading for the fun of it! Come to our Bow wow Pow wow the second Saturday of each month at 10:00 am. Children of all ages are invited to come and interact with certified therapy dogs. The dogs love being read to and your child's confidence and reading enjoyment grow dramatically. Join us Saturday June 9, July 14, August 11 and September 8 in the Hayner Youth Library and help your child understand that reading is more than just homework.

Hayner Participates in eScrip Program at Schnucks

Schnucks Market Inc. has instigated a new fund raising program called Schnucks eScrip Community Card. Every time the eScrip Community Card is presented at the checkout, Schnucks will give a percentage of the total grocery bill to the consumer's designated organization (school, church or non-profit youth group). You can sign up for the card at any Schnucks Customer Service desk. You then present the card as you check out and Schnucks will donate a financial contribution (a percentage of your total purchase) to the organizations of your choice.

According to Larry Maggio, Schnucks Director of Marketing, each cardholder can earn funds for his or her favorite organizations without doing anything extra. "The meter starts and ends each month. Our customers earn one percent for the first $300 in sales, two percent on the next $301-$600 and three percent on sales between $601-$999," Maggio says.

Customers can earn from out of pocket Schnucks Pharmacy purchases as well. However, money cannot be earned on the purchase of Schnucks Gift Cards, special services or taxes.

Once you pick up a card at the Schnucks customer service desk, you can then call 800-931-6258 to sign up and designate up to three different organizations as beneficiaries. Organizations will receive their funds monthly, making it an on-going, year-round fundraiser. Churches, schools and non profit organizations are eligible recipients. The Hayner Public Library District is listed as a potential recipient.

The eScrip website www.escrip.com provides additional information and also allows you to sign up on line. When you sign up, you can use the Hayner Library group number 500006202. You can also pick up an informational pamphlet at the store's service desk.

Here's a great (and easy) way to support the community organizations of your choice. The Hayner Public Library District is excited to be able to participate in, and benefit from, this program. We hope you will keep us in mind when you sign up!

In the past, the Hayner Public Library District has been the recipient of several sizable bequests. Please be aware that the Library District is a 501-c3 tax exempt organization which is of benefit to anyone interested in gifting to the library through honorariums, estate planning, etc.

Food for Fido

During the month of April, all three library locations were accepting pet food to waive late fines on currently overdue material. The food was donated to the Alton Area 5 A's Animal Shelter. Over 10 cartons of food were collected. The 5 A's is completely dependent on community donations. Please remember to help.

2007 Hayner Adult Summer Reading Program June 2 – July 14

Win $100 in area restaurant gift certificates just for reading this summer—that's right, just for reading! How? It's easy--just sign up for Hayner Library's Adult Summer Reading Program. From June 2nd through July 14th, for every book or audio book you read or listen to, you can enter a drawing to win $100 in area restaurant gift certificates. Two $100 sets of certificates will be awarded, one from Hayner's Downtown branch and one from Hayner's Alton Square branch. Every time you finish a book or audio book, fill out an entry form and drop it in an entry box. The more you read, the more chances you have to win! The rules are easy too: you must be a Hayner cardholder at least 18 years of age; all reading and listening materials must be checked out from Hayner and should match each reader's skills; register at Hayner's downtown or Alton Square circulation desks to participate and pick up additional entry forms. Drawings for these sets of restaurant gift certificates will be held on Saturday, July 14th. Come on—it's easy! We've even included your first entry form here!

The date for the party is Thursday from 5-8 pm, on July 26, 2007.

New Tool for Antique Lovers

Antique lovers—Hayner has a new tool to help you become your own Road Show detective. If you want to learn more about a treasured antique or see if a collectible or garage sale find might be worth something, the first place to turn is Hayner's new online database, p4A Antiques Reference database.

P4A—Prices for Antiques—provides prices, descriptions and background information for all types of antiques and collectibles. You can use this database to estimate the value of similar items you may wish to buy, sell or insure. Every record includes at least one picture, making it easy to tell if the item listed is really similar to the item you are researching. Since the database is easily accessed from home, you can have the item right in front of you while you do your research. Estimated values and realized prices are given for items listed in the database, along with the date of sale and auction house information.

P4A is used by personal property appraisers, museums, and auction houses. The information in p4A is drawn from about fifty leading regional auction houses in the U.S., along with other selected specialist auctions. Each record is presented in a standardized format that is easily searchable with a few keystrokes. About 87% of all the information in p4A Antiques Reference is unique to this site, and much of the remaining information is not searchable using standard web engines.

P4A can be accessed both at the library and from home. A Hayner Library card barcode is required for home access. To access from home, go to Hayner's website at www.haynerlibrary.org. Click on Online Databases and then click on p4A Antiques Reference.

Adult Education Program Working to Change Lives

For more than 27 years, the Adult Education Division of Lewis & Clark Community College has been reaching out to Madison, Calhoun, Jersey, Greene and Macoupin counties to provide literacy and educational support to more than 1, 200 students each year.

The Adult Education Department is comprised of various free programs that each aim to provide support services to adults. One such program, Project READ, helps to combat illiteracy and aims to recruit volunteer tutors for learners whose literacy needs have been assessed. These learners might be individuals from the community who are trying to improve their job marketability, read bedtime stories to their children/grandchildren or read their prescriptions more accurately Other learners may be adult students presently attending classes who find that they need one-on-one support. If you are a high school or GED graduate who has two hours a week to dedicate to helping a learner, or if you know a potential learner who wants to improve his reading or math skills, call Nancy Johnson at 618-468-4144.

"The economic viability of a community depends on an educated and literate workforce," Val Harris, director of Adult Education, said. "Our programs at Lewis and Clark serve those who have limited resources or who have simply struggled to find academic success. After completing our programs our students go on to post-secondary education or put their literacy skills to use in the workplace. It is critical that we bring educational services to all members of our community and stop the cycle of illiteracy."

Programs at LCCC in addition to Project READ include the GED program, which prepares students to take the GED test. Nearly 200 adults graduate from this free program each year, and many go on to post-secondary education opportunities. The Enriched GED program is designed for a select group of students, age 16-18, who are getting a GED while transitioning into college classes. GED Illinois offers students who cannot attend class a chance to earn their GED online. Family Education is a service of the division that gives parents in the GED program tools to help their children succeed in school. The English as a Second Language program helps individuals learn to speak better English through classroom instruction. Community Technology makes computer labs and basic instruction available within targeted communities to help bridge the digital divide.

Services are offered at multiple locations throughout our five-county area. For more information about the programs and services offered, contact Val Harris at 618-468-4100.

Patron Profile – Donna Behle

Donna Behle has lots of energy—make that LOTS and LOTS of energy. She needs it, since she spends her days walking, walking and walking some more. As a professional pet sitter and dog walker, Donna gets lots of fresh air! She started her business, Noah's Nanny, in 2005 and just loves it. It is a perfect fit for Donna, who is an avid animal lover and also owner of a certified therapy dog, Gryphon. Donna was born in West Virginia and spent most of her young life in the Pittsburgh area. After school, she worked as a dental assistant until 1979 when she was hired as a flight attendant for Ozark airlines. She flew with Ozark for one month when they went on strike and she was furloughed.

It was a year and a half before Donna was flying again. She flew with Ozark for 2 years, based in Chicago. Then she was transferred to St. Louis and flew for an additional 21 years out of Lambert, initially for Ozark Airlines, then for TWA (which acquired Ozark) and finally for American Airlines, after it acquired TWA.

Donna loved her job and loved the traveling. She met her husband, Larry, through flying. He flew for 32 years as a captain with Ozark/TWA. Because of the perks of free airline employee travel when a flight was not fully booked, Donna and her husband loved to drop everything for a weekend out of town, particularly in San Francisco, one of her favorite cities. Donna has also visited Rome, Yugoslavia, Hawaii (several times) and Vancouver among numerous other locations.

Donna related one flight incident that she will never forget. It occurred during a flight from St. Louis to Chicago. The flight Donna was working (with two other attendants) had taken off and was still in its ascent when there was a horrendous noise and the plane, a DC9, filled with the smell of burning oil. The lights flickered and the oxygen masks dropped. People were grabbing their ears in pain due to cabin pressure changes. Donna couldn't tell where they were in their flight path, and the captain did not have time to contact the flight crew. Donna knew she and the other flight attendant had to determine which of two emergency exits they would need to use. She grabbed a flashlight and began helping to direct passengers. Miraculously, the plane made a safe landing.

As Donna worked her way to the cockpit, she couldn't believe what she saw. The entire front windshield of the plane was covered in feathers and blood. The plane had hit a whole flock of Canadian geese! Emergency vehicles streamed to the plane, and the mechanics who were checking the damage were incredulous that the pilot was able to land the plane safely. The collar around the engine was beaten in as if by sledge hammers. The geese apparently had also entered the plane through the radar area in the plane's nose. The pilot said he could feel them beating against the forward buckhead at his feet. As Donna was helping shaken passengers to deplane, she looked to the front of the aircraft and saw a worker pulling geese out of the nose and dropping them onto a pile that looked like a haystack of feathers!

In 2000, Donna, though still flying, started volunteering her time at St. Anthony's Hospice. She says, "It was the best thing I've ever done, and it was one of the hardest things I've ever done." One day, Donna attended a conference addressing hospice issues and she saw a "goofy-looking" dog with a hat and sunglasses wearing a sign that said "I'm a hospice dog."

Donna was immediately excited with the concept and approached St. Anthony's Hospice staff. They agreed that if Donna trained and certified a dog for hospice work, they would give it a try. Donna carefully researched breeds. She knew she wanted a small dog that could get in a patient's hospital bed and one that had an extraordinarily calm temperament. Her studies led her to the Papillon breed. Papillon is French for butterfly, and the breed is so named because its ears look like butterfly wings. Interestingly, the hospice program is divided into different stages; the last stage is "butterfly," symbolizing the spirit going to heaven. Donna says it felt like karma that she had found her breed of choice.

Donna procured her puppy (Gryphon) and at 16 weeks old, started him in training at the late June Walker's Wee Glen Training School. June was authorized by Therapy Dogs International to certify therapy dogs after rigorous testing. Under this program, many facets of a dog's training and performance are tested. Two of the more challenging things the dogs must learn are (1) never to flinch at loud noises—hospitals and nursing homes can be loud sometimes because of the machinery and/or ambulance sirens, and (2) to perfect the "leave it command." If the dog goes for an object on the floor and hears "leave it" he is to stop in his tracks and ignore the object. This is invaluable in nursing homes, where patients often may unknowingly drop their pills in their beds or on the floor.

Gryphon passed his therapy certification the first time he tested, and Donna was soon accompanying June Walker on her visits to nursing homes and hospitals, helping cheer up patients and brighten their day through visits with the little wonder dog Gryphon, a.k.a. "Master of the Earth and Universe," says Donna.

In 2002, Donna retired from the airlines and devoted herself to therapy dog work, often helping June during June's training classes. Some of the dogs in Donna's classes were "special needs" dogs, requiring medicine or special care. Donna started thinking about how she could help these dogs and their owners and hit on the idea of starting her own pet-sitting service. With strong encouragement from June, Donna decided to pursue her dream. Cutting through the red tape of bonding, insurance, setting up her books, etc., almost defeated her, but the success of the thriving business June had established was an inspiration to Donna. Today, Donna's pet-sitting service, Noah's Nanny, is in its second year of business and thriving! Donna has grown a strong base of repeat customers and is receiving many referrals from highly satisfied clients.

Noah's Nanny Pet Sitting is truly full service. Donna will visit a client's house as often as desired each day. She spends 45 minutes to an hour with a pet on every visit. She will feed animals, give them medicine, check their water and take them for walks, or just play with them in their yards. Her service helps to avoid the stress pets go through if they have to be kenneled when their humans are away, particularly for older dogs. It is also a boon for people who have to work long hours, or for a pet that needs daily medication.

Donna has cared for dogs that are blind, deaf, paralyzed, three-legged —you name it. She conducts full interviews with new clients to understand their wishes and the dog's needs and, of course, to get vital information such as emergency phone numbers, vet's name and number, and so forth.

Donna also is always happy to go the extra mile. If clients are delayed in returning home, they need only give her a call and she will ensure their pet is cared for. Donna recalls one evening when she was at a clients' home and a terrible storm came in. Since the house was off a long dirt road that tended to wash out, Donna was concerned that she would not be able to get back to the house for her morning visit. Rather than risk leaving the animals unattended the next day, she stayed at the house overnight!

Donna's non-human customer set has ranged from crabs (yes, crabs) to hamsters, rabbits, cats, dogs and horses. Donna is fully insured and a certified member of Pet Sitters International

Staff Picks –What We're Reading

Liquid Jade: The Story of Tea from East to West by Beatrice Hohenegger. Nonfiction.
Learn about the origins of tea drinking in Asia, or of penny universities and coffeehouses in Europe, and more in this engaging book on the historical and cultural events surrounding tea as it grew to become the world's most consumed beverage. In this well-written narrative, each chapter can be savored; so sit down with a nice cup of tea and enjoy this delightful book. – Jean S.

Posh by Lucy Jackson. Fiction
In Posh we get a glimpse into the privileged lives of the rich, as seen through the students attending the exclusive Griffin School in New York City, and their relationships with their parents and the headmistress of the school who goes by the name of "Lazy." More than designer fashions and lavish spending, this book is about relationships, both loving and troubling. With its good mix of humor, Posh makes for an enjoyable read. – Jean S.

The Quilter's Homecoming
by Jennifer Chiaverini. Fiction
This is the 10th title in the Elm Creek Quilts series. In 1925 newlyweds Henry and Elizabeth Nelson leave Pennsylvania to begin a new life in California. Henry discovers that he has been swindled out of his life savings after "buying" a cattle ranch sight unseen. Destitute, they end up working for the owners of the ranch they had hoped to own. The Nelsons make a home out of an old abandoned cabin, where Elizabeth finds two old quilts. A surprise ending involves these quilts but left unsolved is whether or not Elizabeth recovers her own beloved Wedding Ring quilt. Hopefully, we'll find out in her next book.—Sharon S.

Finn: A Novel by Jon Clinch.
In this darkly luminous debut, Finn, the namesake of the title, is not Twain's illustrious Huck, but Huck's father, "Pap". "Finn" begins and ends with a body floating slowly down the Mississippi. In between, Clinch tells us the story of Finn's life on and near the river. His life is one of a continual fear and danger of violent death; the life of a man, solitary, poor, nasty, brutish and violent. Huck is presented as the mulatto son of Finn and his common-law wife, Mary, a runaway slave girl. Finn, however, has a hatred of slaves (inherited from his father, a judge) and cannot rationally coexist in his relationship to Mary. The book also brings us snapshots of characters from Twain's "Huck Finn" such as the Widow Douglas and Judge Thatcher Clinch's writing is so evocative and visual you can literally hear, smell and experience life living on the banks of the Mississippi prior to the Civil War. Clinch presents Finn as a tormented soul both loathsome and pathetic. We feel sorry for him as much as we abominate him. This is a riveting first novel, already receiving a flood of critical acclaim. – Bernie D.

Crimson Portrait by Jody Shields. Fiction
It's 1915. A young British war widow agrees to have her estate become a military hospital for patients whose faces have been damaged almost beyond repair. When she falls in love with a patient, she is tempted to have his face remade to look like that of her dead husband. Shields's writing weaves dark mythical symbolism with the matter-of-fact medical nitty-gritty to reveal what happens when class, ignorance, hopefulness and despair coalesce. This is a spellbinding book. – Bernie D.

New York Life in the Big City – Will Eisner
With an unparalleled eye for stories and expressive illustration, Will Eisner, the master and pioneer of American comics art, present graphic fiction's greatest celebration of the Big Apple. No illustrator evoked the melancholy duskiness of New York City as expressively as Eisner, who knew the city from the bottom up. This new hardcover presents a quartet of graphic works (New York, The Building, City People Notebook and Invisible People)and features what Neil Gaiman describes as "tales as brutal, as uncaring as the city itself. - Bernie D.

Local Program Has More Than Doubled Its Service To Keep Seniors In Their Home

The Community Care Program at Senior Services Plus, Inc. in Alton provides Homemaker services which keep senior citizens living in their own homes throughout Madison and St. Clair Counties. These services include light housekeeping, meal preparation, transportation, daily health monitoring, bathing and laundry. Homemakers also socialize with their clients by playing cards, baking, going on walks, etc.

The Homemakers program was founded in 1979 and is funded by the Illinois Department on Aging. The focus of the program is to enable individuals age 60+ to remain in their home environment as they develop medical conditions of debilitation diseases that limit their functional capacity to perform daily living activities and tasks. Last year Ms. Bryant doubled the Homemaker's program to over 66,000 hours of service per year for 220 clients within the two counties.

To receive this state funded service seniors must be at least 60 years of age, live in Madison or St. Clair counties and be on a limited income as determined by the Southern Illinois Visiting Nurses Association (SIVNA). For those that don't qualify for services due to high income, private pay is available for $13.00 per hour with a minimum of four hours per week. Anyone interested in services should call Ms. Bryant at 618-462-1391.

For patrons residing in the Hayner Public Library District, the Homemakers program can also be complimented by Hayner's Sunshine Express Service which delivers libraries materials (Books, videos, DVDs, CD etc) to homebound patrons. For more information regarding Sunshine Express, call Stephanie at 462-0651. Hayner Library also maintains a satelite library at the center.

Senior Services Plus, Inc. offers many other wonderful programs to help enrich the lives of seniors through programs and services that encourage independent living Programs and services offered throughout Madison and St. Clair counties include. Handyman Program, Transportation Service, Community Care Program, Foster Grandparent Program, Information and Assistance, Meals on Wheels Other activities this summer include trips to Busch stadium, theater evenings in St. Louis, day trips, and at the center (2603 N. Rodgers, Alton) you can sign up for massage therapy, fitness classes, movie afternoons The general public is also welcome three days a week, to a soup and salad bar for only $3.00 For more information on any of these programs please call Senior Services Plus, Inc at 618-465-3298.

Mission Recognition

Mission Recognition is an initiative sponsored by The Hayner Public Library District to reinforce positive behavior in the young people of our community. The program recognizes kids up to 18 years of age for acts of good value judgment, a high standard of character and positive community impact. Kids can be nominated by anyone (family and non-family) and will be recognized on a monthly basis. Nomination forms are available on line at www.haynerlibrary.org or at any library location.

Michael S. is a delightful 5 year old who just finished his first year of school in kindergarten. His teacher notes that he comes to school each day happy and ready to learn with a smile for everyone and a bright disposition that serves as a great example to students and staff alike. Michael has been blind since birth but refuses to allow anything to impact his desire to achieve and excel in and out of the classroom. Michael's quick laughter touches all around him and can turn a gloomy day into a joyous occasion. Michael was presented his Mission Recognition certificate at a luncheon held at Senior Services Plus in Alton this past May. At the presentation, he sang his special song, "Be Patient", carrying the message that trust will open doors and good things come from endurance. Though only a young boy, Michael is a great inspiration to all who meet him.

In July, two recipients, Caroline Thompson and Joshua Gross were recognized for their positive community contributions. Caroline starts ninth grade at Alton High School this September. She has frequently demonstrated a commitment to service in her community, participating in extracurricular events for her school and charities. Recently, she designed a power point presentation of trivia questions for the Oasis Women's Center trivia night, saving the center the $100 fee quoted by a professional firm. She also made and decorated dozens of cookies to sell for her relay for life team. She succeeded in raising $85 which she donated to the cancer charity.

Joshua Gross attends Alton Middle School. During the last quarter of the past school year, Joshua freely volunteered his time to help out a fellow student who is handicapped and in Special Ed. The young girl needed help navigating between the Main school building to the Annex when her classes changed. Every day, Joshua would escort her across campus and took her up the elevator, of which she was afraid. He always had a smile on his face and a super attitude that helped brighten the young girl's day. Several weeks before the end of the school year, she had the misfortune to fracture her leg and had to use crutches. Joshua voluntarily assumed more responsibility escorting her around campus and helping her whenever he could so she didn't have to miss classes.

Congratulations to Carolyn and Josh- your thoughtfulness and kind deeds are very much appreciated.

Digital Audio Books Available

The Hayner Public Library District now has over 100 titles available on digital audiobooks by Playaway.

These audiobooks merge digital audio content and player technology in a single format. With books on tape losing relevance and contents on CDs still cumbersome, Playaway is the simplest way to listen to digital content on the go. Playaway units are self-contained devices roughly the size of a deck of playing cards and weighting less that 2 ounces (pocket size). Each unit comes with earphones and a lanyard that enables users to wear the unit around their neck if desired. The device comes permanently pre-loaded with an entire book in audio format. One player can hold over 40 hours of content! The single device replaces multiple CDs or cassettes. All you need to do is plug in the earphones and play. The players will check out for a two week lending period and there is a wide variety of titles, both fiction and nonfiction, offering premier content from leading publishers and authors. Check out the displays at the downtown library. This is a great new way to enjoy listening to books when you are commuting, exercising, traveling or simply relaxing.

Don't Miss Friends of the Library Book Sale

In October, the Friends of the Library will hold their regular fall book sale. Thursday, October 11 will be the preview sale from 6:00 pm-8:30 pm There will be a $5.00 admission charge this day only. Friday, October 12, the sale will run from 9:00 am-7:00 pm and on Saturday, October 13, from 9:00 am until 3:00 pm. This sale will be held at 327 State Street, Alton. For additional information, contact the Friends at 462-8342.

Food for Fines

In past years, we have waived current fines on Hayner material if you contributed a nonperishable food item for each fine during a holiday time amnesty period. This year, we will start spreading the holiday spirit a little early. From October 1 through October 31, 2007, anyone who has an overdue item can pay their fine with a canned goods food item. Library materials must be returned with food donations, at least one food item per fine and Hayner materials only. All food items collected throughout the month will be given to the Crisis Food Center in Alton. Of course, even if you don't have fines, feel free to donate items to help others in our community.

There are several reasons we decided to move up the fine amnesty program.

During the holidays, many different organizations support centers such as the Crisis Food Center but as we get wrapped up in our everyday lives, we sometimes forget about helping those in need at other times of the year. We are hoping this amnesty calendar change can help people immediately without waiting for the support of "holiday generosity". It may also help make Thanksgiving a happier time for families in need. Last year we collected over 1200 items for the Crisis Center. Let's see if we can beat that!

Banned Books Week, Sept. 29- Oct. 6

Celebrating the Freedom to Read is observed during the last week of September each year. Observed since 1982, the annual event reminds Americans not to take this precious democratic freedom for granted.

Banned Book Week celebrates the freedom to choose or the freedom to express one's opinion even if that opinion might be considered unorthodox or unpopular and stresses the importance of ensuring the availability of those unorthodox or unpopular viewpoints to all who wish to read them. After all, intellectual freedom can exist only where these two essential conditions are met.

Reflect on your freedom to read, cherish it, and, by all means, read what you want to read. As the author of Fahrenheit 451, Ray Bradbury, said "You don't have to burn books to destroy a culture. Just get people to stop reading them."

To see what books where challenged this past year or for more information, go to www.ala.org/bbooks. Help spread the word! Encourage your friends and colleagues to celebrate their freedom to read. It's one of our most important democratic freedoms!

Vintage Voices Returns

Alton City Cemetery at 5th and Vine Street is once again the host site of Vintage Voices – a unique event jointly sponsored and produced by the YWCA and Alton Little Theater. Alton Little Theater actors and other local talent will greet guests at the gravesites of previous residents of Alton, re-enacting in character, the individual stories of the different personalities. This year some of the personalities you will meet are Dr. George Samuels and his wife, Mary – Dr. Samuels was Alton's first black doctor; Carl Levis Hartman who owned the Hartman building and was a successful businessman and civic leader; Captain Henry Leyhe, a riverboat captain and co-founder of the Eagle Packet Boat Company in 1880; Major Matthew Reasoner, a surgeon and medical officer who serve 34 years in the army and the last American to leave from the army of occupation after WW II; William Martin who served as judge at both Lovejoy trials; Samuel Wade, who served four terms as mayor of Alton; Flora Gray, the mother of six sons who all served in the armed forces at the same time; Senator Charles Herb, born in Germany, emigrated to Illinois and became a very successful businessman. He served as mayor of Alton and went on to become state senator.

There will also be a historian as part of the tour who will talk about some of the unique burial customs of the past. Vintage Voices will run every Saturday in October, from 1:00 pm until 3:00 pm. Tickets are $12 for adults, $6 for children 12 and under (accompanied by an adult) and children under five are free. Tickets are $10 each for groups of 10 or more. Call 618-465-7774 for reservations and ticket information.

The Pack Horse Librarians – The Original Homebound Program

Kentucky in the 1930's was in rough shape. The stock market had crashed and this already poor state was feeling the fallout. With factories closing down across the nation, the demand for coal decreased and hundreds of mines closed, which meant unemployment and desperation for thousands of mountain families. And, if that weren't enough, in 1930 the Ohio River flooded. Besides killing over a hundred people, it washed away topsoil, making agriculture practically impossible. Shantytowns appeared and, lacking any sanitation, became breeding grounds for disease and death.

Along came Franklin Roosevelt and his New Deal and The Work Projects Administration (WPA), creating jobs to get America back on its feet and off the dole. Special efforts were made to place women in positions that would not be unseemly for the "fairer sex" and the Pack Horse Library was born.

Pack Horse Librarians regularly traveled extremely rugged and isolated mountain terrain that could only be traversed by horse. Along an eighteen mile route, they would exchange and deliver donated print material (books, magazines, pamphlets, church bulletins) to one room schoolhouses, post offices and private homes. In all weather, pack horse librarians covered between twenty and fifty miles a week, through treacherous routes and along creeks with names such as "Troublesome", "Hell-for-Sartin", and "Cut Shin". The carriers were, in effect, delivering free public library service to rural areas for the first time. The librarians' familiarity with the people along the routes and what materials they would enjoy was crucial to the success of the program, because many rural residents were wary of worldly "book learning", and librarians had to be careful to choose appropriately conservative materials. In fact, the librarians won the people over so completely that some patrons along the routes shared highly prized family recipes and quilt patterns in reciprocation for borrowing books. The librarians took to compiling these in scrapbooks that were circulated as well. Since the government paid only the salaries, collections consisted mainly of used books, which started out ragged and then went on to more battering through hard travel and frequent handling. The librarians had the difficult task of maintaining these worn materials and transforming them into viable collections. Kentucky's pack horse library program is often cited as a paragon of the WPA. From 1935 to its dismantling in 1943, over 100,000 people were served. Your whole family can join a pack horse librarian en route by reading Down Cut Shin Creek: The Pack Horse Librarians of Kentucky by Kathi Appelt and Jeanne Cannella Schmitzer, available at the Hayner Youth Library, call number J027.0769. This remarkable tribute includes priceless photos and breathtaking descriptions that will carry you into the mountains of Kentucky.

Celebrating Twenty Years of Homebound Service!

This November marks the 20 year anniversary of the Homebound Delivery Service of The Hayner Public Library District. This important program delivers library materials to senior centers, nursing homes, extended care facilities and individual patron's homes. The service is managed by Stephanie Munson, Hayner Homebound Coordinator. Stephanie also relies on a group of wonderful library volunteers who help in a variety of different functions.

In the early 1980's, Stephanie joined the library staff and worked in the Hayner library bookmobile. Unfortunately, the bookmobile vehicle was becoming cost prohibitive due to increasing repair and maintenance fees. Stephanie was given the charter to research alternative services and to that end she started researching homebound programs. The Quincy Illinois library had a well established program so Stephanie worked with them to understand how to go about setting up a program for Hayner. The Hayner Homebound program began serving patrons in 1986. Though not on a pack horse (see above article), Stephanie delivered library materials to patrons driving her own "buggy"- a 1968 yellow Volkswagen Beetle. Today, you will see the library van out and about helping deliver materials to patrons. On the van you will see the logo and name "Sunshine Express". Hayner Library decided to rename the Homebound Program several years ago. Anyone who is housebound, even temporarily, is welcome to call the library to request delivery of library materials – and remember, you can receive books, magazines, videos, DVD's, audio books, music CDs– delivered right to your door!

Helping Stephanie is a group of twenty volunteers, seven of which have been working with Stephanie since the inception of the program. The volunteers deliver books to individual patrons and some go to nursing homes to read to the residents. They also help maintain a satellite lending library that was started two years ago at Senior Services Plus and will be establishing one this year at the Hillcrest apartments.

The volunteers have become a close group of friends who share a love of books and enjoy helping the community. Stephanie says she has worked with a wonderful group of people through the years and credits the volunteers as responsible for the success of the homebound program.

Stephanie has organized several different events to celebrate the program's anniversary. In June she put together displays at both the branch and main library recognizing the different high rises and senior centers to which she and her volunteers deliver library material. Also, each month since June, Stephanie has drawn the name of one of her homebound patrons to win an audio DVD or a large print book. On November 9 from 2:00 to 4:00 pm, Hayner library will host a reception at Senior Services Plus celebrating the program's anniversary. Patrons, library volunteers, center directors and coordinators are all invited to join Stephanie and Hayner staff for cake and punch and a small token of appreciation for making our homebound service such a successful program.

If you are interested in information on volunteering for the homebound program, or learning of other volunteer opportunities at the library, call Stephanie at 462-0677.

Lucky Winners!

Doretha Wendt and Mary Steward are the lucky winners in Hayner's 2007 Adult Summer Reading Program. Almost 300 patrons participated, overflowing the entry boxes with hundreds of entry slips. Doretha was Hayner's Downtown winner and Mary was the Alton Square winner.

Each received a $100.00 grand prize that included $50.00 gift certificates from two area restaurants. All prizes were made possible through the generosity of private funding. We will be offering this program again, so be on the lookout and remember to sign up. Win $100.00 in area restaurant gift certificates just for reading–it couldn't be easier!

Congratulations, again, to our lucky winners!

Unless otherwise stated, all programs are held at the Hayner Main Library, 326 Belle Street, Alton, Illinois.*

REMINDER
Often program registration fills up and rolls over to a waiting list. If you are not going to attend a program that you are signed up for, PLEASE call 1-800-613-3163 and let us know so we can fill your reservation from the waiting list.

Bow-wow Pow-wow

Saturday, September 8
Saturday, October13
Saturday, November 10
Saturday, December 8
10:00–11:00 a.m.
Join us for a Bow-wow Pow-wow. Certified therapy dogs will be in the Youth Library for your child to read stories to. It's a great way to increase your child's reading skills, and absolute fun for everyone. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

George Portz

Friends of Bluegrass
Tuesday, September 11, 6:30 p.m.

George Portz & "The Friends of Bluegrass" are one of the most versatile performing groups in the area as they blend their fiery Bluegrass roots with some traditional Irish and Louisiana Cajun music. Their "Cajun Set" has won raves from crowds throughout the Midwest. This five-piece musical group's enthusiasm, top-notch musical ability, wit and humor are always evident during their performances. George, the group's leader and founder, has won more than 130 first-place fiddling championships, played for two presidents and performed at the Grand Ole Opry. George's "musical philosophy" is to always "leave 'em wanting more"… and they always do! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Judy Hoffman

The Legend of the Piasa Bird: A New Look at the Old Bird
Tuesday, September 18, 6:30 p.m.

The Piasa Bird is our area's most famous antiquity. Its image has inspired poetry, legends, folklore, paintings, and a host of scholarly theories and disputes. Yet, it's an image about which we know very little. For instance, who painted the Piasa Bird? What did the original painting look like? Do we know when it was painted, where it was painted, or why it was painted? Do we know how the extraordinary feat was actually accomplished? Indeed, do we even know if it ever really existed? The mysterious case of the Piasa Bird presents us with the ultimate local history mystery. Local author Judy Hoffman will examine these questions, separating fact from fiction. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Dr. David Cornell & Addie Cox Gramelspacher

A Classic Afternoon

States and also in England and Zimbabwe. In 2000, he was invited to participate in the second Van Cliburn International Piano Competition for Outstanding Amateurs. Ms. Gramelspacher teaches voice at Illinois College in Jacksonville. She holds a master of music degree in vocal performance from SIUE. She has won numerous singing competitions and in 2006 she won the Southern Illinois Young Artist Competition and Graduate Division of the Illinois National Association of Teachers of Singing Competition. Register at 1-800-613-3163

David Massengill

A Tribute to Dave Van Ronk

Thursday, September 27, 6:30 pm

David is a critically acclaimed folksinger and songwriter who has performed throughout the U.S. and Canada including Carnegie Hall and the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. Currently living in New York City, much of David's original music divulges his Tennessee roots and an affectionate remembrance of his rural south upbringing. The New York Times cited him as "one of the most talented young singer-songwriters of the Village-based circle." The Halifax Herald wrote "Massengill gets into the same American tradition of ironic exaggeration and humor that gave rise to Mark Twain and Garrison Keillor" David's latest CD is a tribute to Dave Van Ronk, one of the best folk blues musicians of the 20th century. Performing the great music of Van Ronk as well as his own work, David's stories and song are guaranteed to keep you mesmerized. Register at 1-800-613-3163

Dana and Sue Robinson

Our Musical Heritage

Thursday, October 4, 6:30 pm

On tour from their home state of North Carolina, Dana and Sue Robinson will perform a concert during which you will hear great songwriting, rich harmonies, intricate and powerful guitar and banjo playing and real old time mountain music. Dana writes songs and tells stories about America, the land and its people. Their performance will provide an understanding of our musical heritage and convey its significance to our culture. Register at 1-800-613-3163

Michael Smith

Award- Winning Singer/Songwriter

Tuesday, October 9, 6:30 pm

Michael Smith "wowed" us in previous performances at the Hayner Main Library. We are so excited to bring him back to perform for you. Michael's work has been recorded by such diverse performers as Jimmy Buffet, Jerry Jeff Walker, The Four Freshmen, The Kingston Trio, Steve Goodman, Tom Rush and more than 30 other artists. He has won four prestigious Jeff awards (Chicago equivalent of the Tony) for his 1993 autobiographical play, Michael, Margaret, Pat & Kate. Chicago Magazine wrote, "One of the best songwriters in the English language…an enchanting and riveting performer." Sing Out! Magazine writes "Michael Smith stands as one of the few undisputed geniuses among singer-songwriters." Register at 1-800-613-3163

Visiting Nurse Association

Flu Clinic

Saturday, October 13, 11:00 am- 1:00 pm

Jared Hennings

Soothing Sounds

Thursday, October 18, 6:30 pm

Vocalist Jared Hennings is well known in the Riverbend for both his beautiful voice and engaging personality. For this performance, he will be accompanied by pianist Susan Travers and they will perform a program of jazz pieces, Broadway standards and soothing ballads. Register at 1-800-613-3163

Adventures of a Ghost Hunter

Tuesday, October 23, 6:00 pm

(note 6:00 start time)

Gary is a professional paranormal investigator who has been involved with ghost hunting since 1994, during which time he also conducted haunted history tours of Alton with Antoinette's Haunted History Tours. He has also completed a documentary on ghost hunting for KHQA TV in Quincy, IL. Gary has a unique ability which allows him to catch a spirit with his bare hands and immobilize it. Come hear Gary talk about his ghost hunting experiences just in time for Halloween! Register at 1-800-613-3163

Norman Shaw

Genealogy Roundtable

Wednesday, October 24, 6:00 p.m.

Mr. Norman Shaw will join us in the Reading Room of the Main Library to talk about the historic Bruch-Guertler house at 101 Blair Street in Alton. Mr. Shaw has completed his thesis on the life of Ignatz Bruch, a stone cutter in Alton. He will share with us what he has learned about this German family and their life in early Alton. Please call 1-800-613-3163 to reserve your seat.

Vince Kwiatkowski

The One Man Band

Thursday, November 1, 6:00 pm

(Note 6:00 start time)

Vince spent 20 years on the road performing with different bands, then decided to go it alone as his own band! After he sets out all his instruments, he's been known to tell the audience "sorry, folks, the band hasn't gotten here yet so I'll start without them". He dramatically changes music style and instruments between each song from Doo-Wop on the piano…to Charlie Daniels on fiddle…to Tex-Mex or Cajun on accordion. Vince adds great humor to the different songs with stories and anecdotes. Join us for a fun filled musical mix-up! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Lee Murdock

Christmas Ship Concert

Tuesday, November 13, 6:30 pm

Imagine a tall ship sailing down Lake Michigan with a bright evergreen tree tied to her topmost mast. You can smell the scent of pine as the ship is laden with fresh cut pine trees, headed for southern ports such as Chicago and Milwaukee. Imagine picking your fresh cut Christmas tree right off the boat and taking it home to start your holiday season. This was the scene in November in many Great Lake cities from the end of the nineteenth century until the early 1930s. Join balladeer Lee Murdock as he celebrates this holiday tradition in song, along with many other songs and stories about the Great Lakes. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Peter Fletcher

Classical Guitar

Tuesday, November 20, 6:30 pm

Of classical guitarist, Peter Fletcher, Fanfare Magazine reported "Fletcher plays it all with a gracious virtuosity that makes for a very pleasing (performance) of unaffected musical poetry. A native of Atlanta, Peter made his formal debut at the age of 15 with the Brasstown Concert Association in North Carolina. Peter has won prizes at many national levels and was twice the recipient of an Eastman Graduate Award from the Eastman School of Music. Peter has performed in Cincinnati's Memorial Hall, St. Philips Cathedral in Atlanta, the Chicago Cultural center and many other musical venues. He had a special guest engagement in 2005 at the World Music Series in Oceanside, California. He made his New York City Debut in Carnegie Hall in February 2007 and will return to Carnegie again in April 2008. He has four CD's all of which have received critical acclaim. This performance will include the works of Handel, Bach, Crespo, Tarrega, Reusner and more. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Limited Edition

Sounds of the Holidays

Sunday, December 2, 3:00 p.m.

Note: This program will be held at the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL.

This is one of our favorite events of the Holiday season. Join Musical Director Susan Parton-Stanard and the incredibly talented choral group Limited Edition for a program of beautiful Holiday sounds. This talented ensemble always receives a standing ovation and Susan has been known to throw in a surprise or two. Guaranteed to fill you with holiday cheer. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

All library special events are funded by grants and/or private endowment. Photos may be taken during library programs. Your enrollment in our programs will be assumed as your consent to allow the library the right to use these photos in promotional material.

The Hayner Teen Summer Reading Program Comes to an End

This year the Hayner Library hosted its first ever Teen Summer Reading Program. The program kicked off June 16th and ran until July 24th. Each week, teens were invited to participate in a game of book bingo, enter a drawing for a weekly prize and attend teen events. At the end of the reading program each participant was invited to an awesome end of the summer reading party were they were entered for a grand prize and enjoyed soda, pizza, door prizes, and a DJ karaoke. The lucky winner of the grand prize was Meghan Korte who received a dinner and a movie basket worth $100.00. Because of the success of this year's program, we are already thinking of and planning for next year. See ya then!

The Smartest Card is @ your library®: Get it, use it at Hayner

September is Library Card Sign-up Month, and the The Hayner Public Library District wants to make sure that your child is among the two-thirds of Americans that carry the smartest card of all – a library card.

Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning.

"A library card has always been the most important school supply of all," says Jeff Owen, the library's Executive Director. "Kids can come to the library to get homework help and check out books, but they can also check out free music, DVDs and use the Internet to make after school life a little more fun. We have created the position of School Curriculum Liaison staffed by Sharon Windham. Sharon works with the schools to tailor library programs to school activities. She has also started a very successful Teen Advisory Council and has organized great activities and programs that were very popular with teens over the summer months and she continues to expand programming directly geared for this age group. There's a lot happening for all ages at all three Hayner library locations."

A recent study by the American Library Association also showed that families use libraries to spend time together. Forty-four percent of survey respondents report taking their children to the library for this reason.

Visit any location to sign up for a library card. The card is free of charge to residents of Alton, Godfrey and Foster townships. You just need a picture id, verifying your current address (additional ID may be required.) For more information, call the library at 618-462-0677 or visit our web site at www.haynerlibrary.org.

It's a great way to strengthen a child's confidence and reading skills. Please join us this fall at 10:00 am, on September 8, October 13, November 10 and December 8 – all ages are welcome.

Test your Poetry Prowess

Following are excerpts of famous poems many of us studied in High School English classes. Can you name the poem and poet?

1. In Xanadu did Kubla Khan
   A stately pleasure-dome decree:
   Where Alph, the sacred river, ran
   Through caverns measureless to man
   Down to a sunless sea.

2. Shall I part my hair behind?
   Do I dare to eat a peach?
   I shall wear white flannel trousers,
   and walk upon the beach.
   I have heard the mermaids singing,
   each to each.

3. O CAPTAIN! My Captain! Our fearful trip is done;
   The ship has weather'd every rack, the prize we sought is won;

4. And you, my father there on the sad height,
   Curse, bless me now with your fierce tears, I pray.
   Do not go gentle into that good night
   Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

5. Two roads diverged in a wood, and I-
   I took the one less traveled by,
   And that has made all the difference.

6. How do I love thee?
   Let me count the ways
   I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
   My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight.

7. Listen, my children, and you shall hear
   Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere,
   On the eighteenth of April in Seventy-five; Hardly a man is now alive
   Who remembers that famous day and year.

8. The caged bird sings with a fearful trill
   Of things unknown but longed for still
   And his tune is heard on the distant hill for the caged bird sings of freedom.

9. Oh, somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright.
   The band is playing somewhere, and somewhere
   Hearts are light.

   And, somewhere men are laughing,
   and little children shout,
   But there is no joy in Mudville- mighty
   Casey has struck out.

10. Take thy beak from out my heart and take thy form
    From off my door!
    Quoth the raven, "Nevermore."

Leopard vs. Poodle

A wealthy elderly lady decides to go on a photo safari in Africa, taking her poodle along for company.

One day the poodle starts chasing butterflies and before long, discovers that he's lost. Wandering about, he notices a hungry-looking leopard heading rapidly in his direction.

The poodle thinks, "Oh, oh!" Noticing some bones on the ground close by, he immediately settles down to chew on the bones with his back to the approaching cat. Just as the leopard is about to leap, the poodle exclaims loudly, "Boy, that was one delicious leopard! I wonder if there are any more around here?"

Hearing this, the leopard halts his attack in mid-strike, a look of terror comes over him and he slinks away into the trees. "Whew!", says the leopard., "That was close! That poodle nearly had me!"

Meanwhile, a monkey who had been watching the whole scene from a nearby tree, figures he can put this knowledge to good use and trade it for protection from the leopard. So off he goes, but the poodle sees him heading after the leopard with great speed, and figures that something must be up. The monkey soon catches up with the leopard, spills the beans and strikes a deal for himself with the leopard.

The leopard is furious at being made a fool of and says, "Here, monkey, hop on my back so you can watch me chew that poodle to bits!"

Now, the poodle sees the leopard coming with the monkey on his back and thinks, "What am I going to do now?", but instead of running, the dog sits down with his back to his attackers, pretending he hasn't seen them yet, and waits until they get just close enough to hear.

"Where's that darn monkey?" the poodle says. "I sent him off an hour ago to bring me another leopard!"

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services

Riverbend Head Start & Family Services is a non-profit organization that provides child development and counseling services to 4,000 low-income children & families in Madison County. Through its Head Start, Transitions Counseling, and Family Foundations programs the agency enables children and families to discover positive solutions to life's challenges. The Hayner Public Library has partnered with Head Start on various activities and enthusiastically supports their critical mission. Thus, we like to help support community awareness of their different activities and programs.

A $4,000 grant from the Alton Foundation to Riverbend Head Start and Family Services will support an education program that teaches parents of babies and toddlers how to properly care for baby teeth. The objective is to decrease and prevent oral disease in order to increase learning.

The training centers around a book called What To Do For Healthy Teeth published by the national Institute for Healthcare Advancement. The easy-to-read book is a useful tool for families such as those living in poverty or with little education. It features instructions on daily oral health care as well as how to handle children's pain and illness tied to teeth and gums.

"A child's permanent teeth may not all come in until the child is six to eight years old," said Chuck Parr, RHSFS President. "There is a lot to learn in those critical early years. If a child isn't healthy, they won't learn it and they will fall behind."

He said that in order to prepare children for success in kindergarten, RHSFS provides health, dental, nutrition and parent education services in addition to quality child development and preschool curriculum.

Patron Profile – D-Ann Kimbro

Having a bad day? Feeling cranky? Spend some time with D-Ann Kimbro and you'll feel better in no time. D-Ann is one of those rare individuals that seem charged with positive energy – it just feels good to be around her.

D-Ann, an Alton native, attended Alton High School before going to SIUE and then to Barnes and Washington University to study cytology (the study of cells.) After an internship at St. Johns Mercy Medical Center, D-Ann was hired, working in the Cytology Laboratory, which is part of the Anatomic Pathology Department. Cytologists diagnose disease and gain other clinically significant information through the examination of cells. D-Ann was fascinated by this new and evolving science and worked at St. John's for 31 years, retiring in 2002. Though she lived in St Louis for about 5 years, in the late 1970's she moved back to Alton. D-Ann also has a brother, Lonnie, living in Alton (and another brother, Delmar, in Oregon) and in 1997, Lonnie bought an old building on Broadway to open as an antique mall. D-Ann, whose parents were avid auction-goers, has always had an interest in, and love for, old things and their histories. She decided to rent one of the booths in her brother's building to sell antiques. To stock her inventory, she began to haunt auctions throughout the area. At one local auction, D-Ann observed a young man who was calling the auction for his first time and asked herself "what is it that creates the fervor and excitement of an auction?". She started to wonder if she could generate that excitement herself. The next day at work in the hospital, D-Ann passed a man in the hall and was surprised to recognize him as the novice auctioneer! She found out that he was a construction worker that had just completed auctioneering school (of which there are 38 nationally) and he agreed to bring her a brochure from his school describing the training process. D-Ann researched and studied about the process of being a successful auctioneer and investigated many different schools. In March of 1999, she enrolled in the Missouri Auction School in St. Joseph, Mo., the oldest school in the country.

Her training consisted of a 10 day intensive study program, running from 8:00 in the morning until 10:00 at night. Her courses covered the legal, ethical and marketing aspects of auctioneering. She spent two hours each day practicing counting drills. She also spent hours practicing tongue twisters to develop the muscles that would allow her to speak at an auctioneer's pace. Today, before each auction, she practices tongue twisters and sings to loosen up her voice. Interestingly, when D-Ann was a child she stuttered so badly she had to undergo extensive speech therapy.

In June of 1999, D-Ann held her first auction and, since 2002, has devoted herself full time to auctioneering. She rents a large space in Mineral Springs Mall (entrance at 301 E. Broadway) where she houses her auction items and holds her auctions. Kimbro Auction Service (465-7564) has two public auctions each month. The first is held on the second Sunday of each month at 12:00 noon and the second public auction is conducted on the fourth Friday of each month at 6:00 pm. Three hours before each auction, D-Ann opens to the public so you can preview the items that she will be auctioning at the event. Food service before and during the auctions is also available from Gelato's in the Mineral Springs Mall.

D-Ann also invites people to stop in anytime when she is open "either by appointment or chance". D-Ann is not a certified appraiser but she is willing to give her opinion of the value of a piece you may be considering auctioning or aquiring. D-Ann holds one or two specialty antique auctions each year but the majority of her sales features items from personal estates. D-Ann also conducts about 25 charity auctions throughout the year. Locally, she has called for the Children's Catholic Home, Jacoby's Art Center, St. Peter and Paul School and the 5 A's. She also does many different charity auctions in St Louis, including one she did for Dance St. Louis, during which she met Tony Larusso.

When not busy covering estate sales or conducting auctions, D-Ann enjoys working in her garden, reading and zipping around town on her scooter. D-Ann always wanted a Vesper with a sidecar and found one this past May. She takes the scooter out 2-3 times a week, often accompanied by her dog, Potter. Potter loves to go riding, proudly wearing his goggles, seat belted in the sidecar. Potter, who D-Ann had classified as a Bulgarian Swiss Retriever ("a new breed"), is possibly one of the cutest dogs you've ever met. D-Ann spotted him as a stray in Haskell park and several days later, when she saw he had migrated to an alley by her home, she knew it was fate they be together (along with her two cats,Katie and Ollie)

D-Ann's love of history, particularly Alton history has gotten her involved in several interesting projects. She accidently stumbled upon CNN's production of the Lewis and Clark debates when they were filming in Alton. They asked her to read for a part and she earned a role in the documentary as a prairie woman- she even got her mother a part as an extra! Also, this past year she observed her first privy dig. Back in the days when people used privies, the privy also functioned as a repository for discarded household items. Researchers use a special probe to test the soil for lime and ash which was routinely tossed into the privy for sanitation purposes. D-Ann attended a dig on 9th St. in Alton and said it was fascinating to uncover the household artifacts of times long past.

Visit Kimbo's auction house to meet this lovely lady. Share D-Ann's fun and excitement in the auction process and perhaps uncover some treasures for yourself!

Note: D-Ann referred me to a great web site: www.auctionzip.com. You can search for upcoming auctions by zip code, (all kinds, antique, real estate, automobile, farm equipment auctions and more.) and view the items that will be available to be auctioned at the event. D-Ann advertises her upcoming auction sales here. But be warned- this site can be addictive!

Log-on to TumbleBooks

TumbleBookLibrary is an online collection of TumbleBooks, animated, talking picture books which teach kids the joy of reading in a format they'll love. TumbleBooks are created by taking existing picture books, adding animation, sound, music and narration to produce an electronic picture book which you can read, or have read to you. The Hayner Public Library District is now subscribing to this collection. You can access Tumblebooks on-line at the Hayner Library website, www.haynerlibrary.org.

The TumbleBook Library is a collection of licensed titles from children's book publishers such as Scholastic, Harcourt, Little Brown, Walker and Company and others. The Tumblebook library is made up of six different activity sites. They include:

Story Books:
This site provides a selection of children's favorite story books. Old time favorites such as "The Paper Bag Princess" by Robert Munch come to life in an educational and interactive way. Kids can also see their favorite fairy tales such as "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Old Mother Hubbard" come to life.

Life Learning:
The life learning site complements and broadens the scope of many themes taught in the classroom. Several of the books cover various holidays and celebrations and can be used to raise awareness of different cultures. Other books in this collection deal with volunteering, aging grandparents, asthma and cultural tolerance. Life Learning also includes non-fiction books and biographies.

Language Learning:
The Language Learning Section comes with a growing selection of books in Spanish and French. Many are bilingual titles which allows the user to read the book in two languages.

Tumble Readables:
These are chapter books and Young Adult novels. Older students can read the growing collection of children's classics like "Black Beauty", "Alice in Wonderland" and "Anne of Green Gables." The TumbleReadable format, with its innovative text size slider allows the reader to adjust to the text size to what is right for them, making reading online fun and accessible.

Audio Books:
Tumblebook Library includes a collection of full length, unabridged, streaming audio books. Perfect for extended story time.

Puzzles and Games:
This site can be used to compliment a book the child just read or as a standalone fun (educational) site.

- TumblePuzzles
A collection of online puzzles using a picture from the book.

- TumbleGames
A collection of concentration games, spelling games, and 'fill-in-the blanks' games, reinforcing concepts from the book.

- TumbleQuizzes
TumbleQuizzes use 5 multiple choice questions to test reading and comprehension in a fun way. The quiz tracks the number of right and wrong answers and produces a report at the end. A round of applause is given to users with a score of 4/5 and 5/5.

- Teacher Resources
This site provides a collection of teachers resources which will aid any teacher or parent in meeting the unique needs of the individual child The objective of TumbleBooks is to instill a love of reading in children. Reading is not only a tool for learning but also a lifelong skill that is a crucial measure for success. Log-on to Tumblebooks with your child and help him discover the wonderful world of books!

The For Women By Women series is produced by a committee of local business women, members of the Growth Association of Southwestern Illinois and volunteers from SCORE, Counselors to America's Small Businesses.

Challenge of the Bluffs Run 2007

For many of us, the crisp, cool, beautiful days of fall are our favorite time of year. It is also the perfect time to participate in the Challenge of the Bluffs Run sponsored by the Alton Marketplace. This annual event is anticipated by runners and walkers alike as a great way to enjoy the colors and the scenic beauty of the bluffs. The run will be held on Saturday, October 6, 2007. The five mile run is up to the top of the Mississippi bluffs through charming Christian Hill area. It will start on Broadway at Alby and finish at Belle Street and 4th Street. Walkers can also participate in a two mile walk up past Riverview Park and back downtown. Registration will be held the day of the race from 8:00 a.m.-8:45 a.m. in front of the Alton Marketplace building at 100 E. Broadway, Alton. You can also register and pay online on the Marketplace's website at www.altonmarketplace.org. The fee for the race is $20 if you register by September 28 and $25 if you register the day of the race. If three or more participants register together, the fee is $18 a piece. The race will begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. and all activities will conclude by 11:00 a.m. (including awards ceremonies). Awards will be presented to seven different age categories of male and female runners. Walkers will be awarded 1st, 2nd & 3rd overall. All participants will receive a goody bag which will include a commemorative long sleeve tee shirt and other great items provided by local sponsors. After the race, refreshments will be available in the garden at Mac's Time Out Lounge. If you would like additional information, you can call the Alton Marketplace at 463-1016. Also, contact the Marketplace if you are interested in being a sponsor or a volunteer the day of the race. This race has been sanctioned by the USTEA. Join us for this wonderful annual event and enjoy the fall beauty of the bluffs. If you're not a participant, be sure to come out and cheer on the runners and walkers! (Maps of the race course are available at the Alton Marketplace). All proceeds of this event will benefit the Alton Marketplace and the Mayor's Beautification Committee.

THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

Foster Township 2007 Vol

Hayner Library gets Ready to Grow!

This past September, The Hayner Public Library District Board of Trustees unanimously approved a plan to expand library space at the Alton Square Mall from approximately 6000 square feet to 24,485 square feet. This represents the culmination of several years of study and analysis by Hayner staff and board members. External library consultants and community leaders also participated in the development of the expansion plan.

The timeline for the development of this plan started in 2000 when an external consultant, Library Planning Associates, conducted an abbreviated Space-Needs Study which confirmed a growing need for additional space to properly house library materials. In 2002, the Summit Planning Group Consultants conducted a random mail survey throughout the library district. The survey results showed that while some respondents would like to see a library in Godfrey or Foster Township, the overall consensus favored the Alton Square Mall for future library growth and development.

In 2004, The Wiseman Consulting was instrumental in guiding library staff, library trustees and 16 diverse community stake holders (Community Planning Committee) through the development of a Five Year Long Range Plan for the library district. From these planning sessions, the Planning Committee determined five key service responses for the library to provide including: tools for life-long learning; general information; current topics and titles; formal learning support; local history and genealogy. Maintaining these service responses would require a growth in space and materials.

From 2005 to 2006, the consultanting firm, Library Planning Associates, conducted a full scale space needs study. The result showed that the Library is short 47000 square feet to provide for CURRENT service needs- future growth is NOT accounted for in this estimate

The Board now was ready to evaluate expansion alternatives. This very thorough evaluation was conducted from 2006 until 2007. Many financial and physical configurations were investigated. Key to all alternatives was sharp attention to maintaining fiscal responsibility. The board unanimously agreed that it did not support a referendum on the ballot for taxpayers i.e.: they would NOT place any additional financial burden on the taxpayer. The alternatives considered included:

- Expand Downtown libraries. Determination: real estate for building/parking expansion not available. Renovation costs were prohibitive.
- Build or buy a new stand-alone library: Distinctly cost prohibitive based on estimates from multiple contractors. Again, the HPLD board does not support a referendum on the ballot for taxpayers.
- Expand at the Mall: Aggressive negotiation between HPLD board and Coyote Management produced a solution to grow services, remain fiscally responsible and benefit overall community growth and development. This plan would expand current library space

Mission Recognition Wins Best in Show

Demco is a large national supplier of library supplies, furniture, equipment and learning material. In October, Demco and Illinois Library System Directors Organization sponsored the Second Annual Diversity Fair at the Illinois Library Association 2007 Annual Conference in Springfield, Il. The Diversity Fair is a chance for library conference participants to learn about programs and initiatives around the state that address diverse user populations and incorporate outreach programs into the community. The Hayner Public Library District participated in the show, presenting the library's Mission Recognition program. Mission Recognition was developed by Hayner Library, funded through private endowment, to recognize acts of positive behavior and good value judgment of the youth of our community. Monthly, the library awards recognition to kids who have been nominated by friends, family, teachers, or neighbors for their "good deeds." The Hayner Public Library District was very proud and excited to receive "Best in Show" as voted by the judges at the event. This is a great recognition for Mission Recognition and the district has been approached by many peer libraries who are now excited about implementing similar programs in their own communities.

If you observe an act of a positive nature (no deed is too small), you can nominate the individual by filling out a simple nomination form available online at www.haynerlibrary.org, or pick up a form at any Hayner Library location.

at the mall from 6000 sq. ft. to 24,885 sq ft. Coyote Management has agreed to contribute $700,000 towards renovation of the mall space. An extremely prudent lease rate cost was negotiated -approximately 5 times less than current market square foot costs. Coyote management laid out very aggressive and exciting plans/upgrades upon receiving ownership of the mall. Coyote felt Hayner's presence at the mall was a critical anchor and thus were very willing to work with the trustees and agreed upon flexible terms and conditions in the lease contract. Conversely, the library felt that not only would this expansion benefit active library patrons, but would have a huge positive impact on the entire community as mall improvements coincide with the library's expansion.

Phase one and two of the expansion plan is to complete the library expansion at the mall by August 2008. Watch in the next newsletter for information on phase 3!

News You Can Use!

If you need author biographies, literary criticism, plot summaries, or even just images of literary figures, Hayner's online database, Literary Reference Center, can help you with your research.

Literary Reference Center is a full-text database that provides users with information on thousands of authors and their works across literary disciplines and timeframes. It was specifically designed for public libraries, secondary schools, community colleges, and undergraduate research. It combines information from major respected reference works, books, and literary journals. Literary Reference Center includes plot summaries, synopses, articles of literary criticism, author biographies, full text from over 300 literary journals, book reviews, poems, short stories, author interviews, and images of key literary figures.

Want more? Literary Reference Center also features a literary glossary and a guide to literary research. Basic search navigation is easy, and requires no product training. Do a simple keyword search or browse by Works, Most Studied Works, Authors, or Most Studied Authors. You can conduct highly targeted advanced searches by such criteria as document type, literary genre or character, and author information. You can also save research results for future online sessions using the available online personal Folder feature.

Literary Reference Center can be accessed at all Hayner Library locations. Hayner patrons may also access Literary Reference Center from home. A Hayner Library card barcode is required for home log-on. This remote access is free of charge and available 24/7. To access from home, go to Hayner's web site at www.haynerlibrary.org. Click on "Online Databases" and then click on Ebsco Literary Reference Center.

Mission Recognition

Mission Recognition is an initiative sponsored by The Hayner Public Library District to reinforce positive behavior in the young people of our community. The program recognizes kids up to 18 years of age for acts of good value judgment, a high standard of character and positive community impact. Kids can be nominated by anyone (family and non-family) and will be recognized on a monthly basis. Nomination forms are available on line at www.haynerlibrary.org or at any library location.

For the month of September, 2007, the Mission Recognition recipients were Jordan Peoples and Ries Lundstom.

Jordan is a 4th grade student at North Elementary School. On September 20, Jordon found a cell phone while waiting at his bus stop. When he arrived at school, he told the assistant principal about the phone and that he wanted to make sure the owner got it back. Jordan is being recognized for acting responsibly, taking overt action to "do the right thing."It was great to see his classmates high-five Jordan and cheer him on when he received this recognition!

Ries Lunstrom is in the 2nd grade at West Elementary. Ries befriended another boy who is three years younger. Ries has always been extremely kind to the younger boy. Two and a half years ago, Ries' friend was diagnosed with leukemia. Ries showed much concern and responded with love and compassion. Ries always inquired about his friend's well being and offered his help in any way. This year, Ries participated in a fundraiser for the Leukemia and the Lymphoma Society called Light the Night. Ries started saving his allowance a month before the fundraiser so he would make a personal donation. When arranging his own birthday party in August, Ries asked his friends to make a donation to the Leukemia Society instead of getting Reis a birthday present. As a result, Ries donated $63 in honor of his friend. Ries' kindness, generosity and care for his friend is a wonderful role model for all ages as acknowledged by his teachers, family, friends and Mission Recognition.

A Bob Graul Tribute

Sadly, Robert (Bob) Graul, retired chief photographer of the Alton Telegraph, passed away on August 31, 2007. A hometown institution, Bob started at the Telegraph in January 1936 and his first photograph for the newspaper was an Alton High School senior class picture that included Robert Wadlow, later to become recognized as the world's tallest man. Bob retired in 1978, after more than 40 years of chronicling events in the Riverbend area, having taken literally thousand of photographs of daily local events. Throughout his career, Bob photographed Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, John Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter. You can view many of Bob's photographs on dedicated pcs at the Hayner Mall and Downtown libraries. Telegraph employee, Charlotte Stetson, has spent over a year of sorting through hundreds of Bob's negatives, indexing the photos, sorting them into various topical categories and digitizing them into a pictorial database, accessible through the library's pcs. You can select photos to be printed at the circulation desk for a $25 fee per photo. Since these photos are copywritten and owned by the Telegraph, they cannot be reproduced for reproduction without the written permission of The Telegraph. Come to the library and view the Bob Graul Photo Archive Collection. It's a wonderful tribute to Bob's lifetime of work preserving the histories of the architecture, events and people in our communities.

The Song Reader by Lisa Tucker. Fiction
In her early 20's, Mary Beth thinks she'd doing okay. Her mother died recently, her father disappeared years ago, so Mary Beth is raising her 14-year-old sister, Leeann, by herself. To supplement her waitress income, Mary Beth puts her unique gift to work. She performs song readings—analyzing the lyrics of songs that people can't get out of their heads for hidden meanings in their lives. When a song reading uncovers a scandal, Mary Beth dissolves, unable to cope when her supportive town turns on her, leaving Leeann to pick up the pieces. This is a book about deep family secrets, what we do in the name of love, and the bond between sisters. The characters are fresh, the writing lyrical—it's a book that will pull you in. –Katie S.

The Golden Compass by Philip Pullman. Fiction
Harry Potter fans or newcomers to fantasy will enjoy the enthralling story of young heroine Lyra and her adventures in two worlds that are closely linked to our own. Lyra starts her adventures living in the adult world of Oxford University, but soon embarks on a harrowing journey to rescue her friend Roger, who has been captured and transported to the Arctic North. A key to survival in Lyra's world are personal daemons, small animals that live outside the body and represent a person's soul. Children's daemons can change; adults are set. Discover your personal daemon on The Golden Compass website at www.goldencompassmovie.com. Movie opens December 7, 2007. –Jean S.

When Ghosts Speak by Mary Ann Winkowski. Non-Fiction
Here is a fascinating new book you can't put down. Not a psychic–but a medium--Winkowski has seen and talked to earthbound spirits for over fifty years. She explains why ghosts stay around us (everywhere and all the time), how to deal with them, and how to protect yourself from those you don't want to live with. Beginning at 4 years of age, her "medium" maternal grandmother would take her to funerals to see the recently deceased ghost. Her grandmother wanted to reassure and comfort the family. Winkowski even tells us to expect to attend our own funeral! The author is the consultant for the CBS TV show Ghost Whisperer. –Sharon S.

Traveler by Ron McLarty. Fiction
Jono Riley, a middle-aged Manhattan bartender and part-time actor, receives a letter telling him that his first love, Marie, has died. A bullet left in her shoulder from an unsolved shooting forty years ago traveled and pinched an artery. The news sends Jono back home to East Providence to pay his respects. Through flashbacks we see a working class neighborhood and a boyhood spent during a simpler time when kids formed bonds that lasted forever. We see, too, how events from the past continue to color the present. The mystery of the shooting anchors the story, but it's the appealing characters, humor and sense of nostalgia that make this book a standout.–Katie S.

Spoon River Reveries

Tuesday, January 29, 6:30 p.m.

In an innovative move toward a new approach to Genealogy, the Hayner Library will team up with members of the Alton Little Theatre to present a new look at ancestors and their fascinating reminiscences from the grave. The program will be entitled "Spoon River Reveries" and will be presented on January 29, 2008 at the Reading Room location of the Downtown Library. The short playlet has been taken from the writing of Edgar Lee Masters' Spoon River Anthology.

Adaptations from Spoon River Anthology have been coalesced into a moving experience which enables the viewer to hear from the residents of Spoon River themselves, and has been shaped by Midge Hallett into a very moving and nostalgic theme that has been interwoven, into a fascinating exercise of contemplation.

Some of the actors and actresses who will appear in these roles are Cliff Davenport, Diana Enloe, Marge Barban, Lee Cox and Mike Krause. Most of these actors have recently completed performing in the October presentation of Vintage Voices. Lee Cox, Ways & Means Chairman, of the Alton Little Theatre, will direct this performance. This program is free of charge. Reservations for this event may be made by phoning 1-800-613-3163.

Meet New "Winter Friends" at Alton Square

Meet authors Carl R. Sams II and Jean Stoick with their new book, First Snow in the Woods! on Saturday December 8th. The new woodland holiday décor in the mall this year was inspired by the charming books Stranger in the Woods, Lost in the Woods and Winter Friends by Mr. Sams and Ms Stoick. The authors will be signing books, CDs and DVDs at center court on the lower level of the Alton Square Mall from 10:00 am until 12:00 noon. Waldenbooks and B. Dalton Booksellers in the mall will both have books available for sale. Also on Saturday, December 8, from 1:00 pm until 3:00 pm, the authors Carl R. Sams II and Jean Stoick will be reading their books at The Hayner Public Library on the second floor of the mall, near Macys. See mall or library staff for reading times. This event is sponsored by WBGZ, The Telegraph and The Hayner Public Library District. Don't miss this opportunity to meet the authors LIVE at Alton Square and stock up on their beautful books as Christmas gifts that will be loved by readers of all ages.

This talented ensemble always receives a standing ovation and Susan has been known to throw in a surprise or two. Guaranteed to fill you with holiday cheer. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Dennis Stroughmatt

La Guillanee: Ancient French Traditions in Music and Food

Tuesday, January 8, 6:30 p.m.

Who would have imagined that a tradition begun centuries ago, one now extinct in western France, would remain alive in "Upper Louisiana," aka Illinois and Missouri. The Guillanee, a Celtic, pre-Christian tradition of sharing food and bounty amongst the entire community during winter, began in Europe as a gesture of charity over two thousand years ago. In France, it also brought the community together to celebrate the New Year to express joy for life. This presentation will explore the European and Canadian roots of this Southern Illinois tradition of food and music. Performer Dennis Stroughmatt is an authority on French Creole music and culture and has lived, worked and played music in south east Missouri where he learned to speak French Creole, play the fiddle and sing the traditional songs that have permeated the region for over 300 years. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

The Buckhannon Brothers

Old Time Music

Tuesday, January 15, 6:30 p.m.

Dennis (guitar) and Curtis (mandolin, tenor banjo) Buckhannon have been playing music together since they were kids growing up in North County. January 15th they will be joined with Vince Corkery (upright bass) and will perform an evening of lovely old time waltzes, reels, schottisches and rags performed mainly on mandolin and banjo. The music they play is from another era and much of it has been handed down from old time fiddlers they had the blessing to know and learn from. Other tunes are obscure rags, learned from old recordings, or even from musicians from the present era.....Every tune is a danceable one and they will certainly open up the floor to allow an occasional waltz, etc...Come and enjoy music from another time and place that will warm your soul on a cold winter's night. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Steven Gerlach

18th Century Medicine

Tuesday, January 22, 6:30 pm

Join Theophratus von Gerlach, Docteur of Physick, (a.k.a. Steven Gerlach) for a discussion of the different tools and surgical techniques that were used and practiced in the 18th century. Many of the medical procedures of that time seem horrific by today's standards but the Dr. will explain how and why the patients endured. He will also discuss those treatments of the time that are still part of medical practice today. A fascinating evening. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Genealogy

Spoon River Reveries

Tuesday, January 29, 6:30 p.m.

In an innovative move toward a new approach to Genealogy, the Hayner Library will team up with members of the Alton Little Theatre to present a new look at ancestors and their fascinating reminiscences from the grave. Celebrate Mardi Gras

Tuesday, February 5, 6:30 p.m.

Note: This program will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Ill.

A Hayner tradition and highly anticipated yearly event, Bud and his band are back to help us kick off the festive Mardi Gras season. The band plays New Orleans–style jazz in this raucous celebratory event of fun, swing and soul. A local favorite in the St. Louis area, the band always packs the house. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

David Marler

UFOs-101

Tuesday, February 19, 6:30 p.m.

MUFON, Mutual UFO Network, is an international scientific organization to investigate and study reported UFO sightings. David Marler is the State Director for the Illinois chapter of MUFON. He will be presenting an introduction to the subject of UFOs and examine the history of UFOs. Key UFO cases will be discussed, particularly those cases which have served to shape our perception of the UFO phenomenon over the years. Discussion will also include the U.S. government's studies into the UFO subject. Also, a landmark UFO sighting will be examined that occurred on Jan 5th, 2000 over Southern Illinois. David personally investigated this case which involved multiple police officers from the surrounding areas. Join us for this fascinating discussion. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Schola

Motown and More!

Tuesday, February 26, 6:30 p.m.

Schola is the wonderful choir from Saints Peter and Paul Church. The ever-popular Irish Xiles return to Hayner Downtown Library to perform the best songs from their vast repertoire. Come and join the Duffy clan as they showcase tender ballads mixed with rousing battle songs and a jig thrown in for good measure! Full of humor and high energy, this program is not to be missed. The band is open to requests, and you can contact them in advance at dec@xiles.biz or by phone at 314-359-0590. Register for this program at 1-800-613-3163.

Jacquie Manning & Rich Prezioso

Small Potatoes

Thursday, March 20, 6:30 p.m.

The Chicago-based duo, Small Potatoes, has been touring the folk circuit since 1993 They describe their music as "Celtic to Cowboy" and say it has taken them "years of careful indecision" to come up with a mix of music that ranges from country, blues and swing to Irish. They even yodel. They also pay attention to the warmth and humor that creates a great rapport with their audience and makes for a memorable performance. Dirty Linen Magazine called them "one of the most polished, inventive and entertaining shows on the circuit" Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Nancy Lippencott and the River City Revelers

An Evening of Swing

Tuesday, March 25, 6:30 p.m.

Nancy is a popular local performer who has entertained us in the past with musical performances of Celtic, American folk and old time country music. Nancy and the River City Revelers is a recent collaboration of musicians that will be performing a program of favorite swing music from the 1930's and '40s. Join us for a great evening and great musical memories. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

• Project Next Generation

The Hayner Public Library has been chosen as the 25th host site for Secretary of State and State Librarian Jessie White's youth technology program Project Next Generation. Project Next Generation gives students ages 11 thru 14 the opportunity to try new computer technology, explore life skills, and have fun at the library. The program will involve a variety of activities allowing the students to interact with each other and dedicated mentors while developing skills they can use for the rest of their lives. The fall of '07 was the kickoff program which was a big success! The students meet twice a week and did a variety of projects including taste testing pizza to make a pie chart in Microsoft Excel, using Microsoft publisher to create a iron on t-shirt transfer, and developing a Microsoft PowerPoint presentation depicting Lincoln's time spent in Alton in the 1800's. We are hoping each student will take what they have learned from this experience and pass it on to their peers, and family member. Hayner will offer this program twice a year with approximately 6 to 12 students in each session. Sessions meet twice a week for approximately 1½ hours. If you are interested in participating in this free program please contact Sharon at 433-2861. The next session will start in February 5, 2008.

Happy Anniversary!

On November 9th, Hayner library staff members, library volunteers and Homebound patrons celebrated the 20 year anniversary of the Hayner Library Homebound program. This program was started by Stephanie Munson after the "demise" of the Hayner Library Bookmobile vehicle. Stephanie grew the program over the years and now manages a group of twenty volunteers who help deliver library materials to individual homes, assisted living centers and nursing homes. A reception was held on November 9 at Senior Services Plus to celebrate the success of the program and to thank Stephanie for her years of dedication to growing this valuable service of The Hayner Public Library District.

E-Pay

The Hayner Public Library District now offers our patrons a payment web site for your convenience. The library has partnered with the Illinois E-Pay Program to provide you with a secure and easy way to make payment for fines and fees, lost materials, or items purchased from the library.

A kiosk has been set up at each library location circulation desk for your payment using MasterCard, American Express or Discover debit or credit cards. Please remember that you can prevent overdue charges by renewing materials by phone or online. To check your library balance or to renew online, access www.haynerlibrary.org and go to Hayner catalog under online catalogs.

To make payment using the epay program, at the kiosk select the type of payment you want to make (MasterCard, Discover or American Express) and complete the online form with the requested information. You will receive a confirmation number by e-mail once your transaction is complete. Print this form for your records. Allow two business days for your account to be updated and the fines to be cleared from your account. If you are paying fees so you can check out today, complete your e-payment and then bring the printed receipt to the circulation desk as proof of payment, so your account can be credited right away.

There is a convenience fee charged for using this system. The fee is not charged or collected by The Hayner Public Library District. This fee is a service charge of the Illinois E-pay program. For payments of $0-$25, the fee is $1.00; for a $25.01-$50 payment, the fee is $1.25; for a $50.01-$75 payment, the fee is $1.88; for $75.01-$100 payment the fee is $2.50. For specific information about convenience fees, go to fee schedule in the e-pay program. If you have any questions or need assistance using the e-pay program, do not hesitate to ask a library staff member for help.

Sanborn Maps

Hayner Library's Genealogical Department is happy to make available to our patrons the Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps. These valuable maps feature 549 city maps in the State of Illinois for your research assistance. Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps are a great resource for architects, urban planners, land-developers and, yes, genealogists, or anyone interested in researching homes, businesses, or land use prior to 1970. Using this database along with our Ancestry Library Edition and Heritage Quest Online will add another dimension to your research. Join us in the Illinois Room for an introduction to the use of this valuable database.

Yes, it's true; our Illinois Room has many volumes, databases, and maps about Illinois. But, did you know that we can assist you with research in other states? Come visit us and see what new items we have in our Illinois Room collection.

My River

In September, Alton was visited by a band of intrepid adventurers- a band of young people from all over the country who were crewing the vessels of the Miss Rockaway Armada. Their fleet of six boats and nine rafts were all created from "trash" that had been discarded by others. They were floating down the Mississippi, from Minneapolis to New Orleans, frequently stopping in different river towns along the way. Their mission, posted on their website (www.missrockaway.org) was to "create, meet people, and finally, for adventure: to reclaim and reinvent the old American urge to strike out and discover the vast mysterious land we inhabit and see it for ourselves." When they stop in various towns along the river route they will parade through town, playing marching music, meeting people and often performing dramatic theater.

The main engines for the boats are Volkswagen Rabbit engines that run on bio-diesel and certainly were a sight to see! The crews frequented the downtown library several times during their visits, using the internet and chatting with patrons. One patron, Genie Keller had written a poem recounting her love of the river and shared it with the crew. They were delighted and honored. The following is Mrs. Keller's lovely poem.

MY RIVER
There is a river
That flows by my door
It's wide and it's long
And it's proud of it's lore.

It's deep and it's shallow
It's cool and it's warm
It's lazy and rapid
And can do great harm.

In beauty- it's amazing
With sunsets – filled hearts
The quiet wonder of evenings
The call of shadowed Lark's

It gives of itself to humans
In the filling of every cup
It creates a lovely nesting
For each foul to rest and to sup

It made of itself- the pathway
Where man could easily trod
To bring forth great beginnings
In a nation led by God

Oh, keep me forever, My River,
On your banks where I lay my head,
You may fill me with happiness, always
But flow by my doorway, instead.

One Thousand Children in Need Will Receive Free Books

300 babies, toddlers and preschoolers in the Hayner Public Library District will receive about 1,500 free storybooks this year thanks to a grant from Reading is Fundamental, Inc. to Riverbend Head Start & Family Services.

Reading Is Fundamental, Inc. (RIF) prepares and motivates children to read by delivering free books and literacy resources to those children and families who need them most.

RIF awarded RHSFS a $5,350 grant this year to buy and distribute 3,000 free books to nearly one thousand children enrolled in its Madison County Head Start program. Created by federal legislation in 1965, Head Start is the most successful, longest-running, national school readiness program in the United States. It provides comprehensive education, health, nutrition, and parent involvement services to low income children and their families. Family literacy is at the heart of the program's goal to teach children and strengthen families facing challenges so that they succeed in school and life.

Together, Head Start and RIF combine three essential elements to foster children's literacy: reading motivation, family and community involvement, and the excitement of choosing free books to keep.

RHSFS is able to provide the required matching funds for the RIF grant thanks to donations from local businesses and individuals. To make a donation with a credit card call 618/463-5946. Or mail your much appreciated gift to Riverbend Head Start & Family Services, RIF, 550 Landmarks Blvd., P.O. Box 250, Alton, IL 62002-0250. And thank you for regarding family literacy as a community concern by supporting The Hayner Public Library District and initiatives like RIF.

More Doggone Fun!

Our fall Bow wow Pow wow reading sessions were great! Lots of kids, lots of dogs and lots of fun had by all! Therapy dogs visit the Hayner Youth library on the second Saturday of every month and kids read to the dogs or just play with them. It's a great way to strengthen a child's confidence and reading skills. Please join us at 10:00 am, on December 8, January 12, February 9 and March 8. October 13, November 10 and December 8 – all ages are welcome. Join us and keep away winter's chill enjoying the warmth of these wonderful animals.

Doggone Fun Facts

Dogs can suffer from tonsillitis but not appendicitis, as they don't have an appendix.

City dogs live about three years longer than country dogs.

A UN survey revealed that postmen in Britain are bitten by dogs far less than in any other country.

Toy dog breeds live an average of seven years longer that large breeds.

Dogs like squeeze toys because they sound like animals in distress.

In the United States, 12,500 puppies are born every hour.

Calling a puppy to punish it teaches it not to come when it's called. It is best to reward a dog by bringing it to you and to punish it by sending it away.

Dalmatians are born pure white. Their spots don't appear until they are three or four days old.

The miacis, the ancestor of the dog, had retractable claws and climbed trees when it roamed the earth forty million years ago.

A normal dog has forty two teeth: twenty in the upper jaw and twenty-two in the lower jaw. A human adult has thirty-two teeth equally divided between the two jaws.

In the United States, forty people every minute are sent to the hospital for dog bites.

Dog food is one of the most profitable items in the supermarket. People spend four times the amount on dog food as they do on baby food.

Get Your Shine On

"You've got a devilish smile on your face," said the merchant to a man who was singing and dancing his way through the market.
"What's her name?"
The man shook his head.
"You just win the lottery?"
"Who needs money? There's so much more to life."
"Hitting the bottle a little early, aren't you?" "Sir, I do not drink! It clouds the mind."
"Sorry" said the merchant. "I didn't mean to offend you. It's just that you're glowing-radiant even.
I don't often see many fellows passing through here looking the way you do without a reason."
"My reason is I've just spent the past two hours at the library reading a recently discovered text by a famous scholar."
"Must have been some book to make your face shine like that."
"Well, knowledge does that to me," said the man
What makes you shine?

Patron Profile – Brandy Kollmar

Brandy Kollmar is a busy young mother of two boys, 6 year old William and Logan who is 18 months. William started kindergarten this year and Logan, Brandy says, has gone from walking just a few steps to running everywhere! The two young high energy boys keep brandy hopping particularly since she is (temporarily) a single parent. Her husband, Billy, is serving his second tour of duty in Iraq with the Army National Guard. Billy is a Sergeant First Class and has been in the guard for over 20 years. His first tour in Iraq lasted 18 months and this second tour will likely last 12-13 months. Brandy says this tour is a little easier than the first time Billy was overseas. She knows more what to expect and is able to "talk" to Billy face to face every day over the internet, with the wonders of web cam. Billy is able to visit with his two young sons also via the internet. Billy is in a camp in the Baghdad area and lives in a CHU (consolidated housing unit) which is really is no more than a two or three room trailer. Billy shares his CHU with the Platoon Leader, he is a Platoon Sergeant. The Lt. runs the missions and Billy makes sure the men are trained and have the right equipment that is needed. Their mission is Route Clearance. The men are in specialized vehicles looking for roadside bombs. One night they were on patrol and the insurgents detonated 8 bombs so that the U.S. Soldiers did not recover them. Only one vehicle was damaged but it was still able to make it back to base camp. Several men in the patrol were treated for concussions but no other injuries, which demonstrates how well these specialized vehicles protect them. Plus, each soldier wears over 30 pounds of body armor.

Billy sends home a monthly newsletter to friends and family which, for security reasons, does not include specific details of their missions and locations. He does highlight in the newsletter that he is proud to serve his country and that the support all service members receive from home make him prouder still.

Upon his return from active duty, Billy plans to resume his job at Barnes Hospital where he worked as a charge nurse in the trauma unit of the Barnes emergency room. The charge nurse charts the flow of care in ER and is the eyes and ears of the department. It was at Barnes where Brandy and Billy first met. Initially, Brandy worked as a patient care technician in ER. As a patient care tech, she had duties similar to a nurse, drawing blood and providing hands on care – the biggest difference was that she was not authorized to give medications. She worked nights for some time then took a new position as data analyst for trauma services. Brandy loved her job and someday would like to return to work in the science field, possibly forensics. Brandy worked at Barnes for nine years, but cut back to working just weekends when Billy got assigned to his first tour of duty. Long days at work were compounded by a long commute (often 1-1.5 hours). She says that books on tape really helped make the commute bearable!

Brandy is now is a full time mom and loves it but it keeps her running! She gets William off to school in the morning and then runs her errands with Logan. She also takes William to Tae Kwon Do classes 2-3 times a week and can't skip a week without taking the kids to the library. The whole family loves the library. When Brandy and Billy were first married they lived in St. Louis, only blocks away from the St. Louis Public Library. Brandi says she wore out several strollers due to her often daily walks to use the library. When they moved to Alton, she remembers how thrilled Billy was that Hayner had three unique locations. Today, William loves the library for its puppets and movies. He is also started to learn to read which he is so excited about. Logan has no interest in TV but loves to look at books and be read to. Unfortunately, Brandy rarely has much time these days to read a book cover to cover because of all the duties of running a household and caring for two little kids. But she says nothing beats being at home with the children. She says it is difficult with Billy in Iraq. She might not hear from him for a week or so at a time when he is on a mission but she says she just takes one day at a time. We sincerely want to thank Billy and Brandy both for their sacrifices and service to our country. We send all our prayers and wishes for Billy's safe, speedy return home.

Voter Registration at Hayner Library

The Hayner Public Library District offers a voter registration service. Patrons 18 years of age and older who live in Madison County are eligible to register to vote. Patrons must bring two forms of identification (one with current address and one photo ID) with them to register. You can register at either the Downtown or Branch library locations. The last day to register for the Illinois Presidential Primary is January 8. DON'T FORGET TO REGISTER!!

New Phone Numbers

This fall the library went to a new phone system for all three locations. Now the Downtown, Youth and Branch libraries and Administrative office can all be reached by dialing 618-462-0677.

Winter is just around the corner and so is Hayner's Adult Winter Reading Program. Curl up with some good books this winter and win $100 in area restaurant gift certificates just for reading! It couldn't be easier. Just sign up for Hayner's Adult Winter Reading Program, which runs from January 12th to February 23rd. For every book or audio book you read or listen to, you can enter a drawing to win $100 in area restaurant gift certificates. Two $100 sets of certificates will be awarded, one from Hayner's Downtown branch and one from Hayner's Alton Square branch. Every time you finish a book or audio book, fill out an entry form and drop it in an entry box. The more you read the more chances you have to win! The rules are easy too. you must be a Hayner cardholder at least 18 years of age; all reading and listening materials must be checked out from Hayner and should match each reader's skills; register at Hayner's Downtown or Alton Square circulation desks to participate and pick up additional entry forms. Drawings for these sets of restaurant gift certificates will be held on Saturday, February 23. It's so easy. We've even included your first entry form.

Read This! You say you don't have time to read? Well, historian David McCullough disagrees. Using research that concludes that the average American spends about 4 hours a day (that's 28 hours a week) watching television, McCullough says that if that same amount of time were devoted to reading, in 7 days a person could read…all the poems of Maya Angelou...one novel by F. Scott Fitzgerald...all the poems of T.S. Eliot...two plays by Thornton Wilder..all 150 Psalms from the Bible. Author and basketball executive, Pat Wilhams, expands on this point of view with a theory of his own: most people can finish an average sized book in a week by reading for only 1 hour a day. That's 52 books in a year's time if you keep it up. And you can become quite knowledgeable about any subject if you read the right five books on it. So why not read more? A brighter, more informed future is within your reach. –Adapted from Read For Your Life, Pat Williams and Peggy Matthews Rose, Health Communications

THE HAYNER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

Serving Alton, Godfrey & Foster Township — Winter 2008 — Vol. XVI, No. 1

Mission Recognition... Congratulations 2007 recipients!

Mission Recognition is an initiative sponsored by The Hayner Public Library District to reinforce positive behavior in the young people of our community. The program recognizes kids up to 18 years of age for acts of good value judgment, a high standard of character and positive community impact. Kids can be nominated by anyone (family and non-family) and will be recognized on a monthly basis. Nomination forms are available on line at www.haynerlibrary.org or at any library location. This program is totally funded through private endowment

In January 2008, a Mission Recognition luncheon was held to recognize the 2007 recipients who were recognized individually throughout the year at their schools. Along with the recognition recipients, also attending the lunch were family members, school teachers and administrators, Mission Recognition Committee members, Hayner board and staff members and members of the Jennie D. Hayner Library Association Victor Pacini, inspirational speaker and Mission Recognition spokesperson, recapped the deeds that had been recognized in the last year and thanked each recipient for their positive contributions to our communities. The 2007 Mission Recognition recipients includedAndrew Campbell, Caroline Thompson, Marissa Vogel, Julia Mae Campbell, Tommy Lee Sykes, Michael S., Jordan Broyles, Cassie Herrmann, Kaih Yocius, Chelcie Holliday, Ries Lundstrom, Joshua Gross, Gralan Alexander, Madison Bohn, Damuelle Womack, Koran Mason El, Steven Burdick, Blake Forgy, Drew Schwartz, Travis Kopsie, Kyle Plummer, Curtis Stilwell and Jordan Peoples.

January also kicked of the second year of Hayner Library's Mission Recognition initiative with the announcement of five new recognition recipients. Jay Hauck is a freshman at Alton High School. A neighbor of Jay's had fallen Jay heard her calls for help. He went to her, called 9-1-1 and stayed with her until the ambulance came and took her to the hospital. Her fall resulted in a broken leg but Jay's quick action prevented her from suffering further, due to exposure to the weather. Jay is recognized for his quick thinking and responsible action, helping someone in trouble.

Fatwan Lock is in fourth grade at North Elementary School. Fatwan attends school with a student with special needs. Every day, without being asked, Fatwan helps this student off the bus in the morning. He checks on him during the day and, in the afternoon, Fatwan helps the student back on the bus. Fatwan's actions demonstrate a compassion and regard for others needs way beyond his years.

Mackenzie Eickhoff is a fifth grader in St Ambrose Elementary School. Mackenzie found out that her teacher was undergoing treatment for cancer and would lose her hair due to chemotherapy. Mackenzie wanted to demonstrate her love for the teacher and had her hair cut and presented it to her teacher at school. The teacher said that she cherishes Mackenzie's gift.

Chandler Bogart is in the 4th grade of Gilson Brown School. Quinn Whitten attends fifth grade at Evangelical School. Chandler was waiting for his friend Quinn to return home so that they could play together. Chandler was watching Quinn's house across the street from his window when he noticed something very wrong. Two boys walking on the street had noticed Quinn's bike inside the open garage. One boy stood guard while the other grabbed the bike and they sped away. Chandler ran to find his father who then recruited another neighbor to track down the boys and the stolen bike. They were successful, the police came and Quinn's bike was returned. Quinn was told of Owen's very good deed and, under his own initiative, took $5 he had received as a Christmas gift to thank his friend and show his gratitude.

All these great kids showed unselfish and compassionate concern for other people. They acted quickly and demonstrated strong value judgment. The Hayner Public Library District and the Mission Recognition Committee thank each one of them for being such valuable contributing citizens in our community.

BACH TO THE FUTURE The Bach that Rocks!

On Tuesday, April 22, 2008 at 7:00 p.m., The Hayner Public Library District and the Music Department of Lewis & Clark Community College jointly present a wonderful musical event in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel at 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, IL.

BACH TO THE FUTURE is an exciting classical/jazz quartet, transforming the famous classical melodies of Bach and other composers into jazz, Latin and other contemporary rhythms. The four musicians play cutting edge instruments, including the Drumitar, the MIDI electric violin and synthesizers. The group is stylistically similar to Mannheim Steamroller and frequently plays to sold out audiences. They've sold over 100,000 CDs on their own label, Time Machine Records and have opened for David Sanborn, Peter Cincotti, the Rippingtons, Eric Marienthal, Al DiMeola, Stanley Jordan, David Benoit, Michael Franks and the Yellowjackets.

In addition to concerts, the group performs master classes and music education clinics and has several instructional books and CDs published by Mel Bay Publications.

Their CD, "Bach to the Future" is available on Tower Records and iTunes. You can also get more information and hear a sample of their music at www.bachtothefuture.net. Bach to the future – the Bach that rocks! This program is free of charge but attendance registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163

We will maintain the current waiting list of those of you who have called for enrollment and contact you when the new schedule is announced. Thank you for your patience.

Casey and Friends

Come join Casey (see this issue's Patron Profile) and his canine pals at our Bow-wow Pow-wow sessions. Our winter Bow-wow Pow-wow reading sessions were great! Lots of kids, lots of dogs and lots of fun had by all!

Therapy dogs visit the Hayner Youth Library on the second Saturday of every month and kids read to the dogs or just play with them. It's a great way to strengthen a child's confidence and reading skills. Please join us at 10:00 a.m., on March 8, April 12, May 10 and June 14 in the Youth Library on 401 State Street, Alton – all ages are welcome.

Food For Fido

April is Prevention of Animal Cruelty Month and in commemoration of this, all three locations of The Hayner Public Library District will collect pet food and supplies that will be given to the Alton Area 5A's Animal Shelter. This no-kill shelter is completely dependent on donations and is run by a dedicated staff who work tirelessly to provide care for an overwhelming number of unwanted animals. From April 1 through April 30, if you have an overdue item, you can pay your fine with an item of pet food. This amnesty applies to Hayner material only. Library materials must be returned with the donation and at least one donation for each fine.

Please remember that 5A's also has a thrift shop at 632 Wood River Ave., Wood River, IL. It is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m. They have a large collection of used books (hardcover for $ 1.00, paperback $.25 - $.50), puzzles, clothes, collectibles, household goods, furniture, toys and seasonal items. Donations are accepted during regular store hours. For questions regarding the shop, call 254-0635 (shop) or 466-3702(shelter).

Please help our friends at the 5 A's – they work so hard to care for the sadly constant stream of unwanted, neglected or abused animals brought to the shelter. Remember, the new shelter is now open at 4530 N. Alby Rd., Godfrey. Stop by and visit this wonderful new facility, perhaps find a new BFF (Best Friend Forever) and, of course, volunteers are ALWAYS welcome.

Irish Xiles

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day!
Tuesday, March 11, 6:30 p.m.

The ever-popular Irish Xiles return to Hayner Main Library to perform the best songs from their vast repertoire. Come and join the Duffy clan as they showcase tender ballads mixed with rousing battle songs and a jig thrown in for good measure! Full of humor and high energy, this program is not to be missed. The band is open to requests, and you can contact them in advance at dec@xiles.biz or by phone at 314-359-0590. Register for this program at 1-800-613-3163.

Jacquie Manning & Rich Prezioso
Small Potatoes

Thursday, March 20, 6:30 p.m.

The Chicago-based duo, Small Potatoes, has been touring the folk circuit since 1993. They describe their music as "Celtic to Cowboy" and say it has taken them "years of careful indecision" to come up with a mix of music that ranges from country, blues and swing to Irish. They even yodel. They also pay attention to the warmth and humor that creates a great rapport with their audience and makes for a memorable performance.

Dirty Linen Magazine called them "one of the most polished, inventive and entertaining shows on the circuit" Register at 1-800-613-3163

Nancy Lippencott and the Nighthawks

An Evening of Swing
Tuesday, March 25, 6:30 p.m.

Nancy is a popular local performer who has entertained us in the past with musical performances of Celtic, American folk and old time country music. Nancy and the Nighthawks is a recent collaboration of musicians that will be performing a program of favorite swing music from the 1930's and '40s. Join us for a great evening and great musical memories.

Register at 1-800-613-3163.

MSchola

Motown and More!
Tuesday, April 1, 6:30 p.m.

Schola is the wonderful choir from Saints Peter and Paul Church. Led by Musical Director, Martha Bockus, the choir has a great following in the community and has been performing together for over ten years. For this program, they will be performing a variety of selections of Be Bop, Do Wop, Motown and more. Take a musical trip back to the 1960s. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Midwest POWs in Nazi Germany
Thursday, April 3 & Friday, April 4,
11:00 a.m.-7:00 p.m.
Location: VFW Post 1308
4445 Alby - Alton

TRACES is a non-profit educational organization which has taken a 40 – foot school bus and converted it to a mobile museum. The BUS exhibit tells the stories of Midwest soldiers and airmen captured in WWII and kept as Prisoners of War (POWs) in Nazi Germany This exhibit explores their experiences topically—e.g., their capture, interrogation, camp life, art/theater in the camps, escape attempts, death marches at the war's end, liberation and return to the U.S. reconciliation. The exhibit includes audio-video components, 22 display panels and 10 display cases--bringing alive a little-known subchapter of U.S. WWII history. The exhibit is free of charge. This unique event is jointly sponsored between the Hayner Public Library District, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1308 and the Ladies Auxiliary.

Johnsmith

Songwriter, Poet, Storyteller
Tuesday, April 15, 6:30 p.m.
A Sing Out magazine review of a Johnsmith performance noted "exceptionally written songs, passionate vocals and intelligent lyrics." John, who now hails from Wisconsin, has spent two decades performing in the U S. and abroad. He has produced half a dozen CDs to critical acclaim and is a past winner of the New Folk competition at the Kerrville Folk Festival. He was also recently featured on the elite "New Dimensions" program on NPR. Come, hear Johnsmith. His songs and voice go straight to the heart. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Bach to the Future

Note: This program will be held in the Benjamin Godfrey Chapel on the campus of Lewis & Clark Community College, 5800 Godfrey Road, Godfrey, Ill
Tuesday, April 22, 7:00 p.m.
Bach to the Future is an exciting classical/jazz quartet transforming the famous classical melodies of Bach and other composers into jazz, Latin and other contemporary rhythms. The four musicians play cutting edge instruments including the Drumitar, the MIDI electric violin, and synthesizers. They have sold more than 100,000 CDs on their own label and we are so excited to have them bringing a performance to our community! Stylistically similar to Mannheim Steamroller, the group is a must see! They will perform some of your favorite Bach as well as Beethoven's 5th (Carlos Santana style) and a Brahms mambo (a Brahmbo!) This program is presented jointly by The Hayner Public Library District and the Music Department of Lewis & Clark Community College and is free of charge; however, registration is required. To register, call 1-800-613-3163.

Don Huber

Local Civil War History
Thursday, April 24, 6:30 p.m.
Join us for the quarterly genealogy round table. You will learn about Alton's involvement in the Civil War from resident authority Don Huber. Registration is required at 1-800-613-3163

Gabie McGarrah

Flamenco and More!
Tuesday, May 6, 6:30 p.m.
"Flamenco is more than a style of music for Gabie McGarrah. It's as if he's using his guitar to channel the spirits of Spanish Gypsies who played it hundreds of years ago" The Belleville News-Democrat. Gabi has been performing as a professional musician for 40 years but it is his rare skills on Flamenco guitar that have helped him create a niche market in the St. Louis region introducing audiences to a foreign genre with an exotic quality. His program will feature a combination of flamenco pieces as well as favorite ballads and folk music. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Configurations

Schubert Quintet in C Major, Opus 163
Tuesday, May 13, 6:30 p.m.
Franz Schubert is considered by many musicologists as one of Viena's greatest composers during the 1820s. One of his most beautiful and dramatic works is his Quintet in C Major, Op. 162. Renowned cellists, James Nicholas wrote "For us cellists, it is THE cello quinteT...it is possibly the greatest piece of chamber music ever written, Beethoven's quartets not withstanding".

Come hear the extraordinary string ensemble, Configurations, perform this remarkable work. Alison Rolf and Jessica Platt will perform on violin, Christine Banda on the viola and James Nacy and Beverly Field on cello. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Victor Pacini

An Evening with Victor Pacini
Tuesday, May 27, 6:30 p.m.
Victor Pacini began performing over 25 years. As a very young boy, Victor ritually put on his own personal tribute to Elvis Presley at family gatherings. This ultimately got Victor noticed by a manager of a local '80's "Tribute to Elvis" show band. At the age of 8, Victor was picked up by the band to be the opening act for a Sunday family show. He performed throughout the Midwest and Canada for the next couple of years with this twelve-piece band. Today, Victor takes the stage every evening with an energy and a commitment to entertain his audience.

Special Events at Hayner

Victor's choice of music spans five decades from rock and roll to pop. His original songs are a hit as well. Victor continues to wow his audience with his interactive style and his ability to entertain. Register at 1-800-613-3163

Behind Barbed Wire: Midwest POWs in Nazi Germany

The Upper Midwest has unique connections to the World War II European-theater prisoner of war (POW) experience. They occurred during the Third Reich, which is what Germany's Nazis defined as the era of their empire. The first U.S. troops sent to Europe came from the Iowa-based 34th "Red Bull" Division. This division consisted of men from Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota. They served for more than 600 days, which was the longest uninterrupted duty of any U.S. unit in the history of the U.S. Army. About 2,000 soldiers from the 34th Division were captured in North Africa in February of 1943. They were captured in February 1943 by German Afrikakorps troops, led by Field Marshall Erwin Rommel.

The non-profit educational organization TRACES is bringing these stories to life through the creation of its BUS-*eum—a 40-foot school bus converted into a mobile museum.

The exhibit consists of narrative display panels illustrated with photographs and documents, audio and DVD documentaries, artifacts and more. This exhibit will bring the stories of Midwest POWs in Nazi Germany to both large and small communities around the region. In conjunction with the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1308 and ladies auxiliary, The Hayner Public Library District will be hosting The BUS-eum on April 3 and April 4, 2008. The exhibit will be open to the public both days from 11:00 am until 7:00 p.m. The bus will be located in the parking lot of the VFW Post 1308, 4445 Alby, Alton, IL. Admission is free of charge. Bring your entire family to view this incredible piece of our history. The privilege to host this exhibit is made possible through funding by private endowment to The Hayner Public Library District and by funding from the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1308 in Alton, IL and the Ladies Auxiliary.

Vocabulary Check

Do you know the definition of: nosism (NO-siz-em) noun

The use of 'we' in referring to oneself.

[From Latin nos (we).]

As it's often used by editors, it's also known as the "editorial we". It's also called "the royal we" owing to its frequent use by royalty.

Mark Twain once said, "Only kings, presidents, editors, and people with tapeworms have the right to use the editorial 'we'."

Staff Picks— What We're Reading

Away by Amy Bloom. Fiction
Separated from her young daughter during a time in Russia of great violence against Jews, Lillian Leyb finds herself alone. Without money or family, she immigrates to America where she immerses herself into the culture of New York City during the mid-1920s and lands a job as a seamstress in a Yiddish theater. When news comes to her that her daughter is alive in Siberia, Lillian is determined to reach her. Away is an epic journey of one woman's desperate quest to find her lost daughter. –Jean S.

Discover Your Inner Wisdom by Char Margolis. Non-Fiction
Margolis has over 30 years of experience as an intuitive psychic. She explains our own ability to tap into--and rely on--our intuition to help make important decisions. She also stresses using logic and common sense along with intuitive feelings to help us listen to our inner wisdom. She tells us about the barriers we must overcome in order to access this wisdom. She believes that if we would learn how to listen, we could make decisions that are intended for our good. Using universal wisdom can help us avoid regretful consequences in all areas of our lives. Making better decisions attracts more good. Margolis says that this will help prevent us from being influenced by negative energy. Reading about the personal experiences of many others who relied on their intuition make this book interesting.—Sharon S.

Tallgrass by Sandra Dallas. Fiction
In 1942, a small town in Colorado becomes the reluctant neighbor to a Japanese internment camp. Rennie Stroud and her family are some of the very few who accept the evacuees in a town full of fear and resentment. When a local girl is murdered, the town is ready to explode. Dallas writes in a clean and simple style, with voices so realistic you can hear them. The camp is based on an actual internment camp that was located in Colorado. –Katie S.

The Center of Everything by Laura Moriarty. Fiction
Ten-year-old Evelyn Bucknow feels she's lucky to live in Kansas, the "smack-dab" center of the United States. But as she grows from a young girl to a young woman, she finds herself in the center of so much more. With a kooky but loving mother, a Bible-thumping grandmother, an unforgiving grandfather, few enlightened teachers, no social status and not the prettiest looks, Evelyn examines the poor decisions of friends whose lives are lost to hopelessness and finds the courage, despite her insecurities, to create a path away from poverty and its limits. –Katie S.

Patron Profile – Patrick Murphy

Patrick Murphy has come to believe in certain phenomena that he did not give credence to B.C. (before Casey.) Casey is Patrick's dog, a Bearded Collie that he acquired through the Bearded Collie Club of America's rescue program. It all started when Pat went to visit a friend in Florida who had two therapy dogs. Therapy dogs are animals that are trained to pass very strict criteria of behavior set by the agency, Therapy Dogs International. Upon successful testing, the dogs and their handlers are qualified to visit nursing homes, hospitals and other institutions where therapy dogs are needed. Patrick who was retired from the elevator business (37 years) and a career as a professional musician (30 years) decided that he was going to pursue having his own therapy dog. He researched breeds thoroughly, and determined the Bearded Collie seemed of perfect temperament and intellect to be a successful therapy dog. Two weeks after Pat filled out his application for a rescue dog adoption, he was contacted that a dog was available (this process normally can take up to a year). Pat was not deterred by the fact that the dog had been rescued after living the first two years of his life in a puppy mill. Pat was not prepared for how traumatized the animal would be. The dog weighed 32 pounds (vs. his current fighting weight of 58 pounds) and his coat was so terribly matted, he had to be shaved. Fortunately, Patrick is a patient man and he persevered in earning Casey's trust and devotion through constant care and training classes.

Several months after Casey was living with Pat, Pat took the dog with him on a short trip to the store. Then the unimaginable happened. Casey was able to slip out of the car and bound off- Pat did not even realize Casey was gone until he finished his shopping. Someone told Patrick they saw the dog run onto the highway and get hit by a car and then run off to some thick woods. Patrick searched frantically for over two weeks and posted over 500 "lost dog" flyers. Several people reported sighting Casey and word spread quickly about the injured dog loose in the woods. Patrick said the amount of help he received from people was astounding- from state troopers, to dog catchers, to local people who had heard of Casey's plight. Patrick would come across perfect strangers looking for Casey at 11:00 or 11:30 at night.

Patrick was also contacted by five different dog psychics each offering their help. Pat describes the first four psychics as less than convincing but the fifth caller, Charlene from California, changed his opinion about psychic communication. Via the phone, she perfectly described the copse of woods where Patrick would find Casey. Pat said it felt like she was standing right next to him. When he could not see Casey in the area she described, Charlene confirmed that was because Casey was too scared to show himself. She channeled her thoughts to Casey, instructing him to bark so that people could find him and bring him to safety. The next day someone spotted Casey in the exact woods Charlene had identified. Patrick found a live trap and set it in the target area. Amazingly, several days later a phone call came to Patrick from the owner of a car lot in the area of the missing dog. The owner told Patrick that he had come to work that morning and heard the loudest and most insistent barking coming from the woods. When the owner went to investigate, he found Casey. The dog immediately stopped barking and lay down in the trap that Patrick had placed in the woods as described by Charlene. This was the first time Patrick was aware of that Casey had barked in all the months they had been together. Patrick and Casey where reunited and have seldom been apart since. Unfortunately, due to his injuries from the car, the vet had to amputate Casey's left front leg. However, this never distracted either Casey or Patrick from their goal to have Casey certified as a therapy dog.

Patrick contacted June Walker who had managed Touched by a Canine, a therapy dog training group (sadly, June has since passed away). To be certified, the dogs must demonstrate fundamental training commands (sit, stay, come, etc.) as well as advanced socialization skills with other dogs and humans. They must not react to sudden loud noises (hospitals can be noisy places) and they must not touch food or put anything in their mouths without their owners express approval. June told Patrick that Casey was ready for his certification tests. Patrick did not think he was ready. Casey had not previously executed some of the critical commands, but Patrick decided to let him try. Casey watched attentively as the other dogs completed their training exercises. When it became Casey's turn, he literally flew through the training without a single misstep. Since his certification, Casey has brought smiles and comfort to many seniors and hospitalized people throughout the area. Casey is also a faithful partner in the Hayner Library's Bow-wow Pow-wow program. He and other dogs come to the library the second Saturday of every month for children to read to. Casey loves it and definitely knows when he is "going to work". Casey used to be so afraid of people, children and adults alike- now he lets the kids use him as a stepstool and he is a friend to all.

Patrick is a multifaceted individual. He raised one son and three daughters. He has been involved (founder?) in the St. Louis Chapter of National Guild of Hypnotists for 14 years. For three years, he maintained an office in Clayton providing hypnotherapy services. Patrick also became a practitioner of Reiki. Reiki is a Japanese technique for stress reduction and relaxation that also promotes healing. It is administered by lying on of hands and is based on using life force energy to promote holistic healing. Patrick is a qualified Reiki master/teacher and has even successfully practiced his healing on Casey! Patrick worked for three years on a suicide hotline and also mastered photography.

This summer, Patrick and Casey will be attending summer camp for Bearded Collies. Held at Purina Farms, for three days over 200 dogs come from all over the country to enjoy each other's company, practice herding and agility training. Patrick first attended camp a year and a half ago and he said it is amazing to see all these dogs together, working, playing and behaving beautifully. We are certain Casey will steal the show. After all, when the story of his being lost hit the press, he received over 500 emails and toys and treats from around the world. He has been on TV, ridden in parades and was the mascot for a teenage rock group that went by the name of "3 Legged Dog". The bond between Pat and Casey is amazing and we have so appreciated their visits to the library and their work in our community.

The following article is condensed from a report published by the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA). To read the complete article, go to www.nea.gov and click on "news". You can also print the full report from this site.

Dana Gioia, Chairman of the NEA, writes:
"Whatever the benefits of newer electronic media, they provide no measurable substitute for the intellectual and personal development initiated and sustained by frequent reading."

"The general decline in reading is not merely a cultural issue, though it has enormous consequences for literature and the other arts. It is a serious national problem. If, at the current pace, America continues to lose the habit of regular reading, the nation will suffer substantial economic, social and civic set backs."

National Endowment for the Arts Announces Reading Study

In November, 2007, the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) announced the release of To Read or Not To Read: A Question of National Consequence, a new and comprehensive analysis of reading patterns in the United States. To Read or Not To Read gathers statistics from more than 40 studies on the reading habits and skills of children, teenagers, and adults. The compendium reveals recent declines in voluntary reading and test scores alike, exposing trends that have severe consequences for American society.

"The new NEA study is the first to bring together reliable, nationally representative data, including everything the federal government knows about reading," said NEA Chairman Dana Gioia. "This study shows the startling declines, in how much and how well Americans read, that are adversely affecting this country's culture, economy, and civic life as well as our children's educational achievement."

Among the key findings:

Americans are reading less - teens and young adults read less often and for shorter amounts of time compared with other age groups and with Americans of previous years.

- On average, Americans ages 15 to 24 spend almost two hours a day watching TV, and only seven minutes of their daily leisure time on reading.

Americans are reading less well - reading scores continue to worsen, especially among teenagers and young males. By contrast, the average reading score of 9-year-olds has improved.

- Reading scores for 12th grade readers fell significantly from 1992-2005, with the sharpest declines among lower-level readers.

The declines in reading have civic, social, and economic implications - Advanced readers accrue personal, professional, and social advantages. Deficient readers run higher risks of failure in all three areas.

- Literary readers are more likely than non-readers to engage in positive civic and individual activities - such as volunteering, attending sports or cultural events, and exercising."

His True Calling

Alan had a head for business, an aptitude for numbers and a song in his heart. He was a gifted musician who played the saxophone, flute and clarinet. While training at one of the most prestigious music conservatories in the country, Alan hoped to make a name for himself in the industry.

When given the opportunity to join a popular swing band, Alan took it. Instead of going to college, Alan toured the country as a musician. But he didn't follow the typical lifestyle of musicians. Whenever he wasn't playing music, he was reading books about economics- even between sets of the band's performances. Clearly, he was different from his fellow musicians.

So, in spite of his talent, Alan never felt that he belonged. Adding emphasis to this feeling was another saxophone player in the band who really had "it." This other guy was so phenomenal that Alan began feeling inferiors by comparison. He realized he'd never be as good as this guy. So Alan quit the band – quit music altogether- and started college.

Now some of you may think, "That's too bad. That kid should've followed his dream." But sometimes it takes another person's greatness to expose our limitations and set us free to pursue our true talents.

Today, Alan says that leaving the band was the "best economic decision" he ever made in his life. After graduating college, Alan found his niche in finance. And for nearly 20 years- serving four U.S. presidents- Alan Greenspan chaired the Federal Reserve Board.

If you're curious about that other saxophone player…
His name was Stan Getz.

The Hayner Public Library District Offers Exciting Powerful New Service!

Through funding provided by private endowment, The Hayner Public Library District now offers you an exciting new service. You can now search the digital archives of the Alton Telegraph from 1836 through present day. This online database contains over 500,000 historical newspaper pages and is searchable by keyword and date. Use the archive for genealogy, to research your family history or simply to learn more about Alton's colorful past. This material is owned and copywrited by The Telegraph and may not be reproduced without express written permission of The Telegraph. You may print off single copies of articles for your personal use. The database will be available to you at all three library locations on our public access computers and also via dedicated computers at the Hayner Library Downtown location (326 Belle St., Alton, IL). It will not be available for remote access.

In conjunction to the Alton Telegraph Digital Archives you will also have access to tens of millions of searchable worldwide newspapers pages, dating as far back as the 1700s. This data base is powered by NewspaperARCHIVE.com, the largest newspaper source online. You can search by country, state, city or specific publication date and/or subject in over 2,858 newspaper titles.

Come into any of the three Hayner Library locations and check out these incredibly powerful research tools- another exclusive local service of The Hayner Public Library District.

The history books are full of stories of gifted persons whose talents were overlooked by a procession of people until someone believed in them. Albert Einstein was four years old before he could speak and seven before he could read. Isaac Newton did poorly in grade school. A newspaper editor fired Walt Disney because he had "no good ideas." Werner von Braun failed ninth-grade algebra. Haydn gave up on making a musician of Beethoven, who seemed a slow and plodding man with no apparent talent.

There is a lesson in such stories: Different people develop at different rates, and the best motivators are always on the lookout for hidden capacities.

MISSION RECOGNITION

March and April 2008 Recipients

Mission Recognition is an initiative sponsored by The Hayner Public Library District to reinforce positive behavior in the young people of our community. The program recognizes kids up to 18 years of age for acts of good value judgment, a high standard of character and positive community impact. Kids can be nominated by anyone (family and non-family) and will be recognized on a monthly basis. Nomination forms are available on line at www.haynerlibrary.org or at any library location. This program is totally funded through private endowment.

We had two students recognized in March and one in April.

Rod'onia Singleton is a 5th grader in North Elementary School. Going into school one day she saw a teacher with an injured ankle struggling with a heavy book bag. Rod'onia inquired if she could help the teacher and carried the heavy bag, herself, into the teacher's classroom. Rod'onia was nominated for Mission Recognition by her principal who wrote 'in a day when children sometimes think of their own needs before others, it is wonderful that this child recognized the need of someone else. Rod'onia displays this helpful caring attitude daily and always has a big smile on her face."

In March, two students were nominated to Mission Recognition. Brian Brey is a sixth grader at Alton Middle School. He found a $20 bill outside the school building. Rather than keeping the money for himself, he turned the money into the school's House Office. Brian's Assistant Principal wrote "Brian has been taught the skills of being a good citizen in school and outside of school. Brian has great qualities as a young person. He is honest, caring and gets along with everyone."

Everlene Fone is an 8th grader at Alton Middle School. She was in the school office to get an ID, waiting behind another student whom she did not know. The first student was $1.00 short of enough money to purchase his ID and was told he would have to come back tomorrow with the money. Everlene reached into her pocket and produced $1.00. She told the student she would pay his bill for him. The secretary said it wasn't necessary but Everlene insisted. Says her Assistant Principal "Everlene always puts others before herself I have never met a more genuine and compassionate person…her goodness brings out the goodness in others.

Paws for an Update

In 2003, The Hayner Public Library District initiated a program called Bow wow Pow wow. The design of this program was to bring certified therapy dogs into the library and have children would practice reading to them. Studies have shown that reading to dogs dramatically helps improve a child's confidence in his reading skills. The dogs are nonjudgmental of the child's reading capabilities and are a calming influence upon the child.

Also in 2003, June Walker of Walker's Wee Glen Training Center had started managing a group of pet handlers to help them achieve certification of their dogs as therapy dogs. With June's guidance and determination they earned their certifications from Therapy Dog International (TDI) and they formed their own social organization, Touched by a Canine. The library contacted June to see if she was interested in helping establish a reading program with dogs at the library. She gladly agreed and organized the handler's participation. The first Bow wow Pow wow was an immediate success! The kids loved it!

Today, the group meets in the Hayner Youth library the second Saturday of every month from 10:00-11:00 a.m. Children can read to the dogs from the books set out by library staff or they can just enjoy visiting. All ages are welcome. Toddlers are often present, with Mom or Dad doing the reading. Not only does the program foster improved reading skills, it teaches kids that respect and love for an animal will be returned many times over. It also teaches the kids that the library is an exciting and fun place to visit, with unique programs for fun and learning.

This program has been wonderfully received by the community. Hayner Library was the first library in the area to initiate such a program, and it has now been duplicated through several libraries in the Lewis and Clark Library System. Hayner staff has been contacted by libraries from Texas, Colorado, Michigan, Delaware, North Carolina, Florida and California for help and guidance to institute similar programs. The Hayner program has been extolled in the yearly newsletter of Therapy Dogs International and even written up by an animal rights organization in China! Consistent readers of our newsletter know that we include pictures and information about the program in every issue. Why? Because we have received such an overwhelming response from our readers regarding how much they enjoy the pictures of the event. We also want to make sure that new families are aware of this offering and will join us. Parents, grandparents and relatives attend, often with cameras, and they have as much fun as the kids.

Very sadly, June passed away in 2007. This past April, a tree was dedicated to her memory in Glazebrook Park in Godfrey. Many of the handlers she trained brought their dogs to attend the dedication ceremony. It was a beautiful memorial and a wonderful gathering of people and animals that June had so deeply touched.

Without June's presence, the group was worried about the lack of a certifier in our area. The dogs have to be recertified (tested) every year. Ultimately, working through TDI, the group was able to facilitate a testing session in Godfrey. The testing was held at North Elementary School. The certification process is a stringent event. Dogs must perform all the basic commands· sit, stay, down, come. They must demonstrate that they are calm and socialized walking among other dogs and strangers. They must not react at all to sudden loud noises. One exercise requires the owner to leave the dog with a stranger. The owner leaves the room for a period of time during which the dog must sit calmly with the stranger and then come when called by the owner.

Wheelchairs and walkers are moved around each dog repeatedly – they can show no reaction. The dogs must demonstrate the "leave it" command. They must not put anything in their mouths without the owner's permission. Food is placed next to them and they must not touch it. They must walk and perform calmly by the owner's side through all activities. Upon successful completion of all these exercises, the dog is approved as a certified therapy dog. This allows him to visit senior centers, hospitals, nursing homes, schools and, yes, libraries, offering emotional support and comfort to all ages. Therapy dogs increase emotional well-being, promote healing and improve the quality of life for the people being visited and the care giving staff as well. It is a wonderful way to volunteer time and effort to enrich the lives of others.

Bring your kids and join us the second Saturday of every month for a Bow-wow Pow-wow! We meet in the Hayner Youth Library from 10·00-11:00 a.m. The summer sessions will be held on May 10, June 14, July 12, August 9 and September 13. Of course, this program is free of charge and open to all ages. And don't forget your camera!

Julian and Antonio, pre-schoolers at Essic Robinson Head Start in Alton, assemble an alphabet puzzle with Diana Enloe. Best-known for being a beloved school teacher and prolific Alton Little Theater volunteer, Enloe is the 2008 recipient the Circle of Care community betterment award given by Riverbend Head Start & Family Services.

'Now, read that one more time, please...slowly."

If this evokes memories of your high school English teacher, it should. For glossophobes (those with a fear of speaking in public) this memory might be a bit chilling. For students of Diana Enloe, it probably provides a delightful blast to the past.

A popular English, Theater and Speech teacher at West Junior, and Alton and East Alton-Wood River High Schools, Enloe retired in 1989, then taught at SIUE and mentored student teachers.

Widely known for her work with Alton Little Theater, a 75-year-old cultural gem, Enloe is one of only two ALT Directors Emeritus.

A popular English, Theater and Speech teacher at West Junior, and Alton and East Alton-Wood River High Schools, Enloe retired in 1989, then taught at SIUE and mentored student teachers.

Widely known for her work with Alton Little Theater, a 75-year-old cultural gem, Enloe is one of only two ALT Directors Emeritus.

An award-winning director, Enloe has been involved in more than 50 productions and serves on the Board of Governors as Public Relations Chair. She has directed musicals for Marquette Catholic High School, auditioned, costumed and coached volunteers in the Vintage Voices program, co-chaired First Night River Bend for its critical first years, and co-chaired the 2004 Heartland Chautauqua. She served on the board of the St. Louis Black Repertory Theater and is an Arts For Life award recipient.

In 1976 Enloe founded the Illinois High School Theatre Festival to enrich the education of high school students and in-service teachers, directors, and theatre sponsors. The 25-year-old festival is now the largest & oldest non-competitive high school theatre festival in the country.

Enloe is active in the Episcopal Parish of Alton, where she serves on the Vestry and in the Alton Community Service League where she raises funds to grant to community betterment projects.

Her beloved late husband, Ron, shared her passions for the classroom and the stage. Through the years they appeared on both sides of the footlights and on stage together. They met while teaching at West Junior and both taught at Alton High.

Her son Gordon Robertson and his wife Christine are the proud parents of Enloe's cherished grandchildren Keenan (13), Sean (11) and Lily (8).

Her closest friends are planning a June 10, 2008 gala to recognize Enloe's lifetime of achievement in education, entertainment and empowerment. # Employee of the Month

Staff member, Patty Stalcup, was awarded Hayner Library Employee of the Month in April, 2008. Patty is responsible for Acquisitions and Media Processing. No small job as the library acquires an average of 2000 new items (books, cds, dvds etc.) each month. The amount of material Patty processes, single-handedly, is amazing!

Patty first started working at the library part-time in 1971 as part of a work-study program sponsored by Alton High School. She took full-time employment in 1973 and now has 37 years of service to The Hayner Public Library District. Throughout those years she has given dedicated service to the Library District. She often assumes responsibility for projects outside her job responsibilities and is always available to help and support other members of the Hayner Library Staff. Patty has a daughter who lives and works in Ct., and a son who recently graduated from Roxana High School and will be attending Lewis & Clark Community College. Congratulations, Patty, and thank you for your many contributions to the library district.

Victor Pacini
An Evening with Victor Pacini

Tuesday, May 27, 6:30 p.m.

Victor Pacini began performing more than 25 years ago. As a very young boy, Victor ritually put on his own personal tribute to Elvis Presley at family gatherings. This ultimately got Victor noticed by a manager of a local '80s "Tribute to Elvis" show band. At the age of 8, Victor was picked up by the band to be the opening act for a Sunday family show. He performed throughout the Midwest and Canada for the next couple of years with this twelve-piece band. Today, Victor takes the stage every evening with energy and a commitment to entertain his audience. Victor's choice of music spans five decades from rock and roll to pop. His original songs are a hit as well. Victor continues to wow his audience with his interactive style and his ability to entertain. Register at 1-800-613-3163

The Original Boneheads
A Little Bit of Everything

Tuesday, June 10, 6:00 p.m.
Note 6:00 p.m. start time

The Original Boneheads, a.k.a. The St. Louis Trombone Quartet (yes, TROMBONE Quartet!) was founded in 1998 and have in the years since played at art fairs, concerts, casinos, university ceremonies, private events, parades , museum and corporate events and many church services, to glowing reviews. Each of the players is conservatory trained and experienced in musical settings from symphony orchestras to bar bands. This breadth of musical experience is reflected in the quartet's song list, which contains marches, jazz and swing, rock, doo wop, classical, R & B, polkas, blues, Americana and more. This evening's performance will be an eclectic mix of jazz, swing, blues and classical. Join us for this unique event. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Switchback
American Roots/Celtic Soul

Sunday, June 15, 2:00 p.m.

"A successful show for us is like an amusement ride - it's a rush," says Brian Fitzgerald of the renowned musical duo Switchback. "Our Irish is a little more aggressive and it's coming at you a little harder because we're coming out of small jaunty Irish bars. There's a lot of enthusiasm and a lot of energy to our show." Fitzgerald and Martin McCormick, the two perform as Switchback, showcasing a repertoire ranging from sentimental ballads to blistering honky tonk. The duo delivers a powerful, riveting sound rivaling that of larger ensembles. They move through a variety of genres but never abandon their Celtic roots. They accompany their music with the rhythmic cadence of their

Michael Mason
Jazz, Sin, and the Demon Rum
Tuesday, June 24, 6:30 p.m.

Multitalented musician Michael Mason presents a look at the prevalent moods and attitudes among the religious communities and the public in general towards jazz, musicians, prohibition, and "The Roaring 20's." There are many insightful, humorous, and sometimes not-so-gracious public responses to the development and spread of jazz, the prevalence of vaudeville theaters, speakeasies, honky-tonks, and burlesque houses, and the predominant mood is of relaxed morality and unmitigated optimism in the "Roaring 20's." Register at 1-800-613-3163

Chris Vallillo
Roots of Rural Music
Tuesday, July 1, 6:30 p.m.

Illinois is unique among all the states in that its access to the major waterways of the Mississippi, Ohio, and Illinois Rivers, as well as the Great Lakes, made it a virtual crossroads of peoples, cultures, and ideas. As railroads surpassed the rivers as a means of transportation, Illinois would become the central hub for the nation's rails. This mingling of people produced a rich body of roots music that paints a colorful portrait of our heritage and gives detailed insight into the people and times that forged the state we have become. From the songs of the first pioneers through the era of steamboats, trains, and early radio, award-winning folksinger and music collector Chris Vallillo brings this rich heritage to life in a lively performance and discussion of the roots music of rural Illinois and its impact on our lives today. ## Forest Bevineau
The Singing Sheriff
Tuesday, July 22, 6:30 p.m.

Well- known Deputy Forest Bevineau (a.k.a The Singing Sheriff) has a huge following throughout the area. His incomparable singing voice and incredible repertoire of all types of music has brought him fans of all ages. Also a king of karaoke (he has won first prize on three different cruise vacations), his performances are often a mix of musical styles and can run the gamut from gospel to country western, popular to R & B and more. He says sometimes he just looks at the audience to decide what to sing. He loves to have the audience sing along. Join us for what promises to be a great evening of song and surprises. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Broadway on the Driveway Swing St. Louis
Tuesday, August 5, 6:30 p.m.

The performing troupe "Broadway on the Driveway" takes you on a sentimental journey that reunites you with some of Broadway's greatest hits as well as those of the Andrews Sisters, Judy Garland, Fred Astaire, Doris Day, Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby and more. Featuring a collection of song and dance routines, this is a celebration of the Big Band era. Enjoy lively choreography, tight harmonies and retro costuming as sisters Emily and Lacy Miller perform some of the best music of the 20th century. Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Plain Label Band
A Musical Mixed Bag
Tuesday, August 12, 6:30 p.m.

Join Martha Brockus, Musical Director of Saints Peter and Paul Catholic Church, for an evening of wonderful music performed by the Plain Label Band. After singing together for many years in the church choir, the band members decided to spread their wings into popular music. As they each brought the own favorite styles to the table, the result is an eclectic blend of musical styles with the common thread of acoustic accompaniment and close vocal harmonies. So come enjoy a little bit country and a little bit rock and roll! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

George Portz
Friends of Bluegrass
Tuesday, September 9, 6:30 p.m.

George Portz & "The Friends of Bluegrass" are one of the most versatile performing groups in the area as they blend their fiery Bluegrass roots with some traditional Irish and Louisiana Cajun music. Their "Cajun Set" has won raves from crowds throughout the Midwest. This five-piece musical group's enthusiasm, top-notch musical ability, wit and humor are always evident during their performances. George, the group's leader and founder, has won more than 130 first-place fiddling championships, played for two presidents and performed at the Grand Ole Opry. George's "musical philosophy" is to always "leave 'em wanting more"...and they always do! Register at 1-800-613-3163.

Project Next Generation

The Hayner Public Library was chosen as the 25th host site for Secretary of State and State Librarian Jessie White's youth technology program, Project Next Generation. Hayner Library has now successfully completed its second session ending in April. The program gives students ages ages 11 thru 14 the opportunity to try new computer technology, explore life skills, and have fun at the library. The program involves a variety of activities allowing the students to interact with each other and dedicated mentors while developing technology skills they can use for the rest of their lives. The program meets twice a week on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:30pm to 4:45pm. The next session will begin June 10, 2008. If you are interested in joining this free class please contact Sharon at (618) 433-2861.

Are You A Wannabe... Ancestor Detector?

Ever wondered about the origin of your red hair, or from whom did you inherit those deep brown eyes? Do you know where your Grandpa comes from, or what was your Great-grandma's maiden name?

Does the thought of researching your family tree sound fun and exciting, but leave you scratching your head and wondering "where do I begin?" Well, you are not alone…we can help! The Genealogy Department of Hayner Public Library can help you get started researching your family tree today.

We will not only help you get started, we will help you keep going and then when it is finished, you can even add your family history to the Illinois Room collection here at Hayner Public Library. It will be archived and preserved for all your generations to come!

Genealogy is a fascinating and fulfilling hobby. Learn about your heritage by documenting the lives of your ancestors. Genealogy is one of the fastest growing hobbies around. With the advancement of technology, more records are becoming available to the public, making family history less stressful and much easier to research. The staff of the Hayner Public Library Genealogy Department works hard to keep up with all the latest websites, databases and research shortcuts to help you in your quest. The Genealogy Department staff is available for appointments. We are located in the Main Library at 326 Belle Street.

So, stop thinking about your family history…and get busy finding it!! You never know where it may lead you….but we think you can have a lot of fun getting there! Genealogy Dept. 462-0677

Staff Picks – What We're Reading

The Translator: A Tribesman's Memoir of Darfur by Daoud Hari. Nonfiction
Daoud Hari, a Zahawa tribesman from the Darfur region of Sudan, grew up in a village where children raced camels and played games in the moonlight: a place where indigenous Africans coexisted with their Arab neighbors. Hari tells of his village life, and how he helped western journalists as a translator, leading them into war-torn Darfur to report on genocide and mass displacement of native Africans. An unforgettable and moving story told with much humanity. Learn more about the author and the people of Darfur at www.thetranslator-book.com. –Jean S.

The Winding Ways Quilt by Jennifer Chiaverini. Fiction
This is the 12th title in the Elm Creek Quilts series. For anyone who was disappointed in the last book in this series, you won't be with this one. Master Quilter Sylvia is the central figure as she pieces a Winding Ways quilt with each of her staff in mind. This is a fast read that recalls the backgrounds of the original quilters. Far from being redundant or boring, new information is provided about their lives. Changes soon to surface will keep this book a favorite. –Sharon S.

A Hole in the Universe by Mary McGarry Morris. Fiction
Gary Loomis returns home after serving 25 years in prison for a murder committed when he was 18. He hasn't forgiven himself and doesn't expect forgiveness from others. He just wants to be left alone, settling into his old neighborhood, now filled with drugs and poverty. Yet his sincerity and acts of kindness draw others to him, and slowly pull Loomis back into a life he feels he will never deserve. Morris has done the impossible, making us care so deeply for Loomis and the offbeat yet very real characters who enter his new life. –Katie S.

Balzac and the Little Chinese Seamstress by Dai Sijie. Fiction
A gem in the guide of a well-crafted fairytale set in the 1970's revolutionary China, two teenage boys explore the boundaries of new experience. The boys, as part of the demographic referred to as "young intellectuals," are sent from China's cities to be re-educated in the countryside in response to Chairman Mao's campaign. While the boys master the hazardous task of toting excrement in back buckets, the peasants spend their days mesmerized by the conveniences of a modern alarm clock and the boys' renditions of city films. Reading forbidden Western literature by lamplight, falling in love with the Little Seamstress, and exploring the bittersweet (and slightly humorous) transition from boyhood into manhood defines the journey of enlightenment á la Balzac. –Emily I.

Does Your Job Consume Your Life?

Does your job consume your life? Is your office plagued by arbitrary edicts? Does every photocopier and fax-machine have a sign posted telling you what to do? Simplify the daily grind by replacing your current office rules with these posted by the owner of a carriage works in 1872:

- Office employees each day will fill lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks. Wash windows once a week.
- Each clerk will bring in a bucket of water and a scuttle of coal for the day's business.
- Men employees will be given an evening off each week for courting purposes, or two evenings a week if they go regularly to church.
- After 13 hours of labor in the office, the employee should spend the remaining time reading the Bible and other good books.
- Every employee should lay aside from each pay day a goodly sum of his earnings for his benefit during his declining years so that he will not become a burden on society.
- Any employee who smokes Spanish cigars, uses liquor in any form, frequents pool and public halls, or gets shaved in a barber shop will give good reason to suspect his worth, integrity and honesty.
- The employee who has performed his labors faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of 5 cents per day in his pay, providing profits from business permit it.

Now back to work…and don't forget your bucket and scuttle!

A Helping Hand

Students attending high school in Germany are required to engage in one week of volunteer work providing community service. This past March, The Hayner Public Library District benefited from this policy as Joe Bartels spent a week working at the library in various capacities. Joe lives in Gross-Umstadt, Germany, a small town about 30 miles south east of Frankfurt, population of approximately 15,000. Joe's mother lives here in Alton and Joe came to visit her for his two week spring break but first spent a week at the library fulfilling his volunteer hourly requirement. Library staff greatly appreciated Joe's help and enjoyed getting to know him.

Joe lived in Alton for 9 years (attending St. Mary's) before moving to Germany. He is currently the equivalent of a senior in high school, but in Germany students attend school for grades 1-13 (as vs. 1-12 in the U.S.) and upon graduation, they have the equivalent of an Associate's degree. The German education system requires each student to study English for seven years and French or Latin for five years. The German educational system schedules student holidays differently than in the U.S. students only get six weeks for summer vacation but they also get a two week spring break, a three week break over the Christmas holidays and another two weeks off in October. Sporting teams are not sponsored by the schools, but clubs funded by the cities offer team sport activities.

Joe anticipates majoring in political science his last year of high school and then will determine where he wants to complete his college education. Joe has dual citizenship between the U.S. and Germany which allows him to vote in both countries but also requires him to file two tax returns! He says there are many considerations in deciding where he ultimately will study and live, whether the U.S. or Germany. In Germany, a college or university education was, until 2006, completely funded by the German government (now the students pay up to about $1000/yr. for tuition.) Joe says that German society considers education a human right as vs. a "product" you pay for.

Universal health care is also funded by the German government and there are many agencies that provide shelter and care to the needy. The homeless population is negligible-much less than major cities in the U.S. Of course, these services need funding and thus the taxation rate is high. Germany has a 19% sales tax and gas is $8.00/gallon of which almost $5.00 is tax dollars.

Joe and his family were taking a trip to Dallas for his remaining time on spring break. Joe said that every time he is in the U.S. they make a point of visiting a different state. He estimates that he has been to at least 25 of the 50 American states. We sent Joe off with our best wishes in his academic achievements and hopes that he comes to visit the library on his next trip to Alton.

Patron Profile – Dr. Lesley Hauser

Dr. Lesley Hauser moved to our area in 1998 and currently practices dentistry at the Bethalto Health Center. Originally from New York, Lesley grew up in Long Island's Levittown. She attended the State College of Buffalo, majoring in the Arts program, specifically print making. She transferred to the University of New Mexico and completed a degree in Art Education. However, the reality of few job opportunities in her chosen course of study sent her back to the University of New Mexico, this time to study nursing. She completed her Registered Nursing Bachelors degree and spent the next eight years as an operating room nurse and working in the cardiac-cath lab. Free spirit that she is, Lesley picked up her roots once again and moved back to Buffalo, New York. There, she attended the State University of New York School of Dentistry graduating in 1993 and spending 1993-94 completing her residency at the VA Medical Center of Buffalo.

Lesley always knew that private practice was not the path she was to take- she wanted to provide care to the underserved – providing care to people with limited access to dental services.

Working in a Community Health Center in upstate New York (Brockport N.Y) the majority of Lesley's patients were low income families and migrant farm workers.

Moving to Godfrey, Illinois in 1998, Lesley worked in both community health care and correctional facilities. At the correctional centers she provided dental care to male inmates and found them to be no trouble at all. In fact, they were extremely respectful and polite to her. She relates how surprised she was that in some facilities the new inmates actually wore the black and white striped correctional uniforms that we associate with old movies. She laughed recalling one inmate that told her "wearing black and white stripes in here is bad but if you are out in the real world, stripes can be quite slimming." Lesley said, it is certainly a universal truth that no matter how big and tough someone may appear, everyone is afraid of the dentist. She also noted that the health care provided to the inmates was excellent and, as patients, they were overwhelmingly appreciative of the dental care they were provided. She enjoyed this job very much but it required many hours of travel. Though she drives a Prius (out of her environmental consideration), the time on the road was becoming prohibitive for her.

Lesley's next career move was to take employment with the Bethalto Health Center, where she currently works. Here, she works primarily with children, two years of age and up. The dental section of the Health Center serves primarily children with medical cards though Lesley does occasionally treat adult patients.

In her down time, Lesley enjoys playing the cello. She was a former member of the Camerata String Ensemble at Lewis & Clark Community College under the musical direction of Pete Pancella. Today she meets weekly at a friend's house for evenings of music, friendship and laughter. She enjoys cooking and reading and she is also an exercise enthusiast, particularly biking and walking. She loves taking walks with her dog bundle of personality- Sunny, an American Staffordshire Terrier

Lesley greatly enjoys living in the Riverbend area but has also purchased property in New Mexico, to which someday she hopes to retire. Welcome Lesley to the community and thank you for the wonderful dental services you provide. We hope that retirement is some years away!

Food For Fido

During the month of April, all three library locations waived current fines on Hayner materials with a contribution of an item of pet food. By the end of the month, we had collected over 350 items, which were delivered to the 5 A's Animal Shelter.

The 5 A's shelter is supported solely through private donations. Please help this wonderful organization as best you can, whether it be through cash donations, by contributing items to their resale shop, or by providing pet food or supplies.

Of course, a great way to help the animals at the shelter is to adopt one. Hayner Library has an extensive collection of materials to help you decide what is the right pet for you and how to train and care for your "new best friend."

The shelter is located at 4530 N. Alby Road, Godfrey, Il. For questions or further information, contact the shelter at 466-3702.

Computer Classes

The Hayner Public Library District is resuming it's series of computer classes. We will be filling the classes with names already on our waiting list. To place your name on the list, call 1-800-613-3163. If you were able to attend the last series of classes, please do not repeat your enrollment. The trainung classes will be small, limited to ten students each. At this time, the classes will be open to Hayner Library card holders only. The classes are:

1. Introduction to computing: (Two one-hour sessions from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and again from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., Wednesday July 2)

In this class, the students will learn about the two main types of computers and their operating systems; how to properly turn the computer on and off; what to look for if purchasing a computer; the differences between desktops and laptops; and, the various peripherals one can attach to a computer (printers, faxers, scanners, etc.)

2. Introduction to Microsoft Word: (Two two-hour sessions from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 9 and again on Wednesday, July 16. You may sign up for ONE session.)

This will be an introduction to using Microsoft Word. The learner will be able to name the various parts of a Word screen; enlarge or shrink text using two different methods; change the type and/or size of the font; align the text; change the line spacing; and perform a spelling and grammar check. The product created in this session will center on the creation of a personal letter.

3. Intermediate Microsoft Word: (Two two-hour sessions from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 23 and again on Wednesday, July 30. You may sign up for ONE session.)

Intended to be a continuance of Introduction to Microsoft Word, this class will work on using creative aspects of Word. The learner will create a sign or flyer that will have a border around its edges, a border around significant areas of the sign, a picture inserted in its midst, a WordArt title that's centered, and a table that will be used to post the dates and times.

4. Introduction to the Internet and Email: (One two-hour session from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, August 6.)

The learner will learn how to sign up for free email; do a basic search; the different kinds of URL suffixes; how to set a home page; where to find free software downloads; how to enlarge the website to make it easier to read; and other aspects of the Internet as the needs of the learner arise.

5. Introduction to Microsoft Excel: (Two two-hour sessions from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, August 13 and again on Wednesday, August 20. You may sign up for ONE session.)

Identification of the various components of Microsoft Excel ; how to set up a spreadsheet one could use to track medical bills; setting up a spreadsheet to use as an address book; and how to import the addresses into Word to print labels. Students wanting to create spreadsheets with actual information pertaining to themselves will need to bring in Cds or flash/USB/thumb drives that contain the necessary files.

6. Introduction to Microsoft PowerPoint: (Two two-hour sessions from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, August 27 and again on Wednesday, September 3. You may sign up for ONE session.)

The students will need to bring in their own CDs or flash/USB drives with photos on them for this class. Using those photos, they will create a slide show. If they bring in a flash/USB/thumb drive of their own, they'll also be able to save the presentation and take it home.

Book Group Favorites

There is a great website for all you fellow book lovers. It is www.readinggroupchoices.com. This site collects information from thousands of book clubs across the country. It lists the books the clubs are reading and discusses what the clubs enjoyed the most. It also features new titles that the site editors recommend to lively discussion. The site has links to interviews with different authors and also has the facility to put your club in touch with the author, in person, for club discussions via teleconversation.

Visit the site and enter the titles of favorite books your club has read and you will be eligible to win $75 to cater one of your next meetings. You may also win a selection of current and recommended books sent to each person in your group

The ten most popular titles chosen by book groups, nationally, in 2007 include:

1. The Kite Runner by khhaled Hosseini (Riverhead)
2. My Sister's Keeper by Jodi Picoult (Washington Street Press)
3. The Memory Keeper's Daughter by Kim Edwards (Penguin Books)
4. The Glass Castle by Jeannette Walls (Scribner Book Company)
5. Snow Flower and the Secret Fan by Lisa See (Random House Trade)
6. Devil in the White City: Murder, Magic and Madness and the Fair that Changed America by Erik Larson (Vintage)
7. The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-time by Mark Haddon (Vintage)
